Courier to arrive Monday

Beginning with this issue, the Charlevoix Courier will change its publication date to Monday of each week

Corporation officers announced the date change late last week.

In the past, the county's leading newspaper has been issued on Thursday, and for the past few years, on Wednesday.

But in an effort to bring readers the news and messages of advertisers earlier in the week, it was decided to have the publication in the mail in time for delivery on Monday. The Courier will also be available on newsstands early Monday morning.

With the change, news and advertising deadlines have also been adjusted.

News items should be submitted by 5 p.m. Thursday. Thursday night or Friday meetings and late-breaking news must be in the Courier office no later than 5 p.m. Friday.

Larry Edwards, Courier advertising director, announced that the general advertising deadline has been moved to 10 a.m. Friday preceeding publication. Classified advertising will be taken until noon Friday.

So, beginning this week and every week thereafter, look for the Charlevoix to help brighten your Mondays.

Countians give more

"Michigan's 1969 Christmas Seal campaign contributions are higher than the previous year," reports Winthrop N. Davey, MD, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. He said general citizen response to the Christmas Seal appeal letter was very gratifying and that as of Friday, December 12, a total of $1,136,240 had been received. Both the number of contributions and the size of the gifts show an increase over previous years.

Charlevoix County citizens has contributed $2,783 through the sixth week, which is slightly ahead of the $2,539 contributed at this time last year.

Dr. Davey asked all of the people who have not answered their Christmas Seal appeal letters to do so with a generaous contribution. He said the Christmas Seals have become an important holiday tradition and play an important part in the never-ceasing sturggle to find, treat, and eradicate tuberculosis.

"Even with all of the modern tools at the hands of the medical team," Dr. Davey said, "Michigan is still finding many persons with active TB." In 1968 a total of 2,618 new cases were discovered in the state. In addition, 262 people died from the disease Christmas Seal agencies keep a constant vigil to help protect the health of Michigan people against TB.

In addition, Dr. Davey described many other ways Christmas Seal funds are used in Michigan, including: breathing-exercise classes for adults with emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma and other respiratory ailments

Challenge seen by superintendent

BY CHRIS CAREY

The job of City Superintendent is to see that the city runs smoothly and effectively, and so far, Charlevoix's new superintendent, Thomas Hanna, has seen to his duties.

To Hanna, the first three weeks in his new office have been satisfying and what he expected it to be. . . an interesting challenge.

The new city superintendent feels that the major problem facing the city is that of the proposed annexation. He feels that the annexation must take place in order to properly assure orderly development of the entire city of "Charlevoix the Beautiful." Hanna stated, "It would be easier to turn our backs on this annexation problem." But, he also feels it will increase the challenge to have a better Charlevoix.

He was also asked what he thought was the most important single problem that will be facing the people of Charlevoix in the future. The superintendent replied that the construction of a new sewage plant is one thing that will have to be done in the very near future. He also stated that "the State has given us no alternative but to upgrade our present sewage system. Therefore, a new plant must be constructed in order to assure proper treatment of sewage."

Another question asked was what his thoughts were on whether Charlevoix is doing enough as a city to promote tourism?

He feels the city is, and that he certainly wants to see Charlevoix remain the kind of tourist center it has been in the past and even to continue to develop in such areas as the summer recreation program.

Hanna was also asked if he had any long range goals or any problems that may arise in the future. The main goal of the Superintendent, at the present, is the passing of the annexation. And also, through his efforts, the city can develop in such areas as roads, tourism, sewage, recreation and industry.

The new superintendent also stated that the past growth in industry proves that there is desire to become involved in the Regional Planning Program.

He also feels that we can achieve a balance between industry and tourism with no sacrifice by either field.

In closing, Hanna stated, "I am happy to have the opportunity to serve the community and I hope I am worthy of the confidence the people have placed in me."

March of Dimes campaign begins

January 1 not only announced the New Year, but also signaled the send-off of the 1970 March of Dimes Campaign, a concerted effort to achieve assurance that no child will need to be born having a birth defect in the year ahead.

"Impossible" some will say as was said in 1938 when the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was founded by Franklin D. Roosevelt to find a way to prevent polio. By 1958 the victory over polio was assured.

Now the Foundation, with the best scientific advice at their disposal, has decided to focus their knowledge on a long-neglected but extremely serious child-health problem: congenital disease, or birth defects.

New jury law is based on lottery

Although the national draft lottery has gained all the publicity, a new Michigan law which includes a similar lottery is important to residents of Charlevoix County.

Now in effect, the new method of selecting juries in the state has left some confused county residents, who never before were considered prime jury prospects.

Through the Legislature's passage of Act 326, which became law last September, the selection of jury roles in the county passed from city and township clerks and supervisors to a three-person Jury Board.

The law established qualifications for jurors, listed several exemptions, and attempted to give the courtroom decision-makers a more equitable, broad basis.

In the past, local assessment roles formed the backbone from which jurors were selected. In most cases, selection was based on "convenience" and the same names appeared time and again.

As a matter of convenience, most of those called for jury duty were retired persons.

Today, however, all that is changed in the state. The County Jury Board meets in May at the County Building. From this initial meeting, others follow, and a list of possible jurors is formulated.

Township and city clerks annually compile a list of voters. The County Clerk in turn presents the list to the Jury Board.

The Board, in consultation with the court, derives an estimate of the number of jurors needed for a particular term, thins out disqualifications and exemptions, and then determines a "key number" on which all selections will be made.

Of course, the initial list is investigated through questionnaires sent to each person named. After the Board receives the completed questionnaires, persons who qualify for jury duty are placed on the "second jury list", and final juries are selected from that compilation.

The actual selection of particular names for duty are made in lottery fashion, with Jury Board members pulling names from the "jury board box".

Each person can only be called to serve once every two years. Anyone who serves on a jury is paid $15 for each full day, plus mileage.

In the first court terms since the new law went into effect, the case load has been light. The December term of District Court, for example, has heard only one jury case. Circuit Court asked for 30 prospective jurors for its October term which lasts through the first week in February. So far, the court has heard just one case requiring a jury.

Annex vote tomorrow

Charlevoix Township voters go to the polls tomorrow (January 6) to decide on the fate of the proposed annexation of the Township by Charlevoix City.

The controversial measure has been discussed by city and township officials for over one year. A public hearing was conducted by the County Board of Supervisors recently and the election date was established.

Following the vote, the County Board will make its final decision. If township voters turn down the annexation proposal, the Board has no alternative but to decide against the move. However, if the vote is favorable, the Board may still rule negatively.

Polls will be open at the VFW Hall, Petoskey Avenue, Charlevoix, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. tomorrow.

'Flag' rule set at course

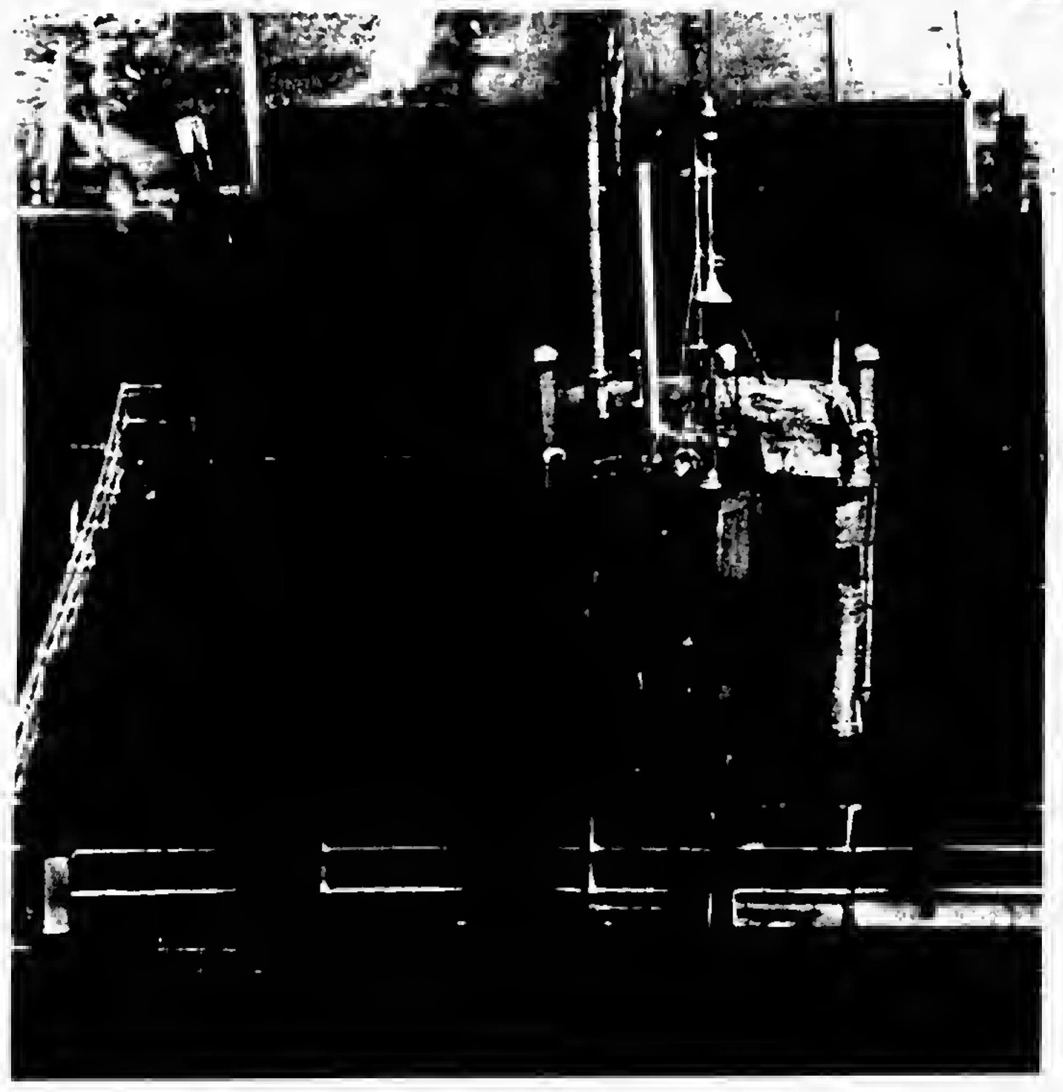
City Superintendent Thomas Hanna announced late last week that most area snowmobilers are obeying the rules and regulations established for use of the Municipal Golf Course.

"For the most part, we are satisfied," said Hanna.

"However, we are adding a 'flag rule' to those already in force.

"Effective immediately, snowmobiling on the course will be allowed when orange flags are flying at the greenskeeper's building and at the clubhouse on the course."

"If no orange flag is flying, snowmobiles are not allowed on the course," he noted.



Ironton Ferry, as seen from above, has concluded another successful year on the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

'Big load' for Ferry

(Ed. note: All of us are familiar with the Ironton Ferry....most of us have been aboard many times. Yet, as the Ferry passes another heavy tourist season, staffer Chris Carey reviews the history of the boat.)

The Ironton Ferry has been chugging across the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix since 1886: That's 83 years of just going back and forth carrying all kinds of people, cars and goods.

When the ferry was first put into use it was used to transport farmers and their goods across the lake. The ferry was hand-pulled by two men. Pedestrians were usually rowed across in a boat by one of the operators of the ferry.

In 1890 Sam Alexander installed a small one-cyclinder engine to power the ferry. Then in 1912, a two-cylinder, 18 horsepower engine was installed.

With the increase of vacationers to Northern Michigan, soon the small engine was not enough. So, in 1926, they installed the ferry that is presently being used.

At one time Captain Alexander used to carry as many as 600 cars across on the ferry in one day. When the trip across was free about 75,000 cars made the crossing in a year.

In 1924 the Board of Supervisors transferred the ferry to the County Road Commission and then the toll was added that is presently charged.

At times there has been talk of building a bridge across the arm of the lake but as yet the federal government has never made any drastic moves in that direction.

One of the favorite topics bought up by the visitors to the Ironton Ferry is what would happen if the cable broke and the ferry swung off into the lake. That, however, has never happened, and if it did the ferry would probably only go off course about one foot.

The ferry cost Charlevoix County $12,000 when it was first purchased. But now the people wouldn't sell it for all the money in the world. The ferry has become a part of the lives of many people and will probably be around for a good many years to come.

Grand opening of beauty shop

The grand opening and open house of the new Wal-Mar Coiffeur and Modern Beauty Shop, 110 Antrim Street, Charlevoix, will begin this Wednesday and continue through Saturday

Refreshments will be served during business hours those days, and visitors are invited to register for the free drawing of a $30 wig, to be given away at the end of the grand opening celebration.

The new shop is owned by Ray and Joan Petitt, who moved to northern Michigan from Tampa, Florida, in 1963. Mr. Petitt managed the Modern Beauty Shop, Petoskey, for 18 months and taught in the Petoskey Beauty Academy before he purchased the Modern at 411 East Lake Street in 1965

In 1968, the couple opened another Modern Beauty Shop in the Crago shopping center in Petoskey. By that time, they employed a staff of 11 persons.

Prior to purchasing the shop, Mrs. Petitt worked at Oleson's Food Center in Charlevoix, and attended the Petoskey Beauty Academy to become a manicurist and also took training in make-up and facials. She later returned to school to become a hair stylist.

The new Charlevoix shop was owned and operated by Marie Loder and did business as the Wal-Mar. Mrs. Loder will remain as an employee of the new firm as will Lynn Persall.

Petitt has been awarded four trophies for second place in hair shaping and hair styling in such competition as the Detroit North American Beauty and Fashion Show, and the Michigan Cosmetologists Association competition in Lansing. He is also president of the Petoskey affiliate of the Michigan Cosmetologists Association, which represents Petoskey, Gaylord, Cheboygan, Alpena, Indian River, Mackinaw City, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs. He also is a member of the Elks and Kiwanis clubs.

Mrs. Petitt, besides assisting her husband in the beauty shop business, is the mother of two sons, a member of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs and is a volunteer worker for the United Fund.

Joann M. Phelps to wed Airman

Mr and Mrs Hudson M Phelps have announced the engagement of their daughter, Joann Marie, to Michael Ray Spencer, presently stationed at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif

The wedding will be held March 15, at Las Vegas, Nevada

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Charlevoix High School and attended North Central Michigan College and Delta College. Spencer, a veteran of 3½ years in the U. S. Air Force, is a graduate of Arroyo Grande high school at Arroyo Grande, Calif

Mind your ABC's

School bells are ringing again after the holiday break and all motorists in Charlevoix should remember their own ABC's of driving where school children are likely to be – Alway Be Careful

And the area where children are likely to be, Robert C. Greening, the Michigan Trucking Association's Safety Director points out, extends far beyond the so-called school zone

"In general," Greening says, "school zone signs are posted about 500 feet in advance of the school as a warning and as a protection for children who must cross the street to get to school. These signs cannot–and do not–provide any protection for large numbers of children who will be walking along the streets–and crossing them–several blocks from the school The protection of these children is primarily the responsibility of each driver."

Also, watch out for school buses, Greening warns Know the laws pertaining to school buses in the area where you are driving And be careful about passing regular buses which are stopped.

"Children who ride school buses are usually taught to cross in front of the bus, since traffic normally halts for a stopped school bus. Sometimes, however, when these same children ride the regular buses, they forget and walk in front of those vehicles, too."

And after school hours and on weekends, watch out for children at play. "Children are always going to do the unexpected," Greening says. "They are going to chase after that ball; they are going to dart out from between parked cars. So anytime we drive in the cities, and towns, we have to watch out for them."

Ruppe Reports

Congressman Philip Ruppe this week hailed the final passage of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 as a "courageous effort to make our tax system fair and equitable."

Ruppe said he was especially pleased about the inclusion of an increase in the personal exemption from $600 to $750 over the next three years and general tax rate reduction averaging five percent. "The combination of the exemption increase and the rate reduction will provide tax relief equal to a simple exemption increase to $1,000 over a four-year period."

The Northern Michigan Congressman added that a significant part of the tax reform package was the increase in the standard deduction from 10 percent to a maximum of $1,000 to 15 percent and a maximum of $2,000 in the next four years. This provision will allow a substantial tax saving for the average family, as well as simplify millions of tax returns.

Ruppe added that he was delighted that the bill included a 15 percent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits "critically and urgently needed by millions of older Americans. Our senior citizens simply couldn't wait any longer for the increase. Now Congress can get on with the task of overhauling other portions of the Social Security system." Another Ruppe bill, providing a minimum Social Security benefit of $100 per month, was rejected in the House-Senate Conference Report after receiving approval in the Senate.

Pat's Reaction

As much as I like snow and skiing I'm going to throw a snowball right in the face of anyone who tells me about his hot weather escape anytime between now and May 15, when we look forward to a break in the Charlevoix winter.

It's not that I don't like my friends. It's not that I don't like to travel. The fact is that I'm just too jealous to hide my feelings and when someone is going somewhere I want to go too.

You understand, it's not that I don't want them to go, I just want to go along.

You know how it is, you're in the grocery store and a happy friend rushes, up, face aglow and says, "Guess where we're going?"

Now you know that she's a skier so you think of a delightful possibility, "The Rockies?"

"No, the Alps!" she triumphs.

Now that kind of answer can take a lot of air out of your balloon. You've said the best thing that you can imagine. You've resigned your own self to skiing strictly in northern Michigan, but this gal is off to the Alps. It's tough to take. Why can't she take you along?

Or it's the end of March and the skiing and snowmobiling season is closed. There's nothing to do but face a dreary April and what does some two faced friend say, "We thought that this would be a good time to go to Florida, so we're leaving Saturday."

Good time! You're darn right it a good time; it's a marvelous time, but here I am safe and snug at home. Remarks like that are enough to make you want to slit your wrists.

Now you might ask, why am I saying all this: Well I'll tell you, because I'm going on a perfectly great trip that will be over by the time that you read this, and the memories of it will have to last me for a whole year, so I don't want to hear about your marvelous trip until you return from it.

Then I'll watch your slides; in fact, I'm such an unconventional person that I just love to watch other people's travel slides.

Perhaps I'm sadistic and now that people are home I'm glad that it's all over for them.

Perhaps I think that the next time it might be my turn to go. In any case I hate to see others leave on a trip, but I'm delighted to hear about it when they're home again.

So, Friends, please don't tell me about any trip that you're planning for the next twelve months for if you do I'm going to take one of those snowballs that I've stored in the freezer and throw it at you, even if your're going to Tokyo Expo in July.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

Being the beginning of the 1970's, the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and myself sincerely extend wishes for a healthy, happy, and prosperous new year. There is nothing we can do now about 1969, that is for sure; but there are many things to be thankful for and there are many things of the past year we can benefit by in 1970. We at the Chamber assure you we will do the very best we can for our community with what we have to do it with.

I am of the belief that our immediate area did have a good share of the $50 million which visitors spent, I understand, in Michigan this past year and I have reasons to believe, among other things, to our advantage, we had a sizable share of those spenders here at Charlevoix.

Be reminded of the 5th annual Moose Jaw Safari will be held at Harbor Springs, Saturday, January 10, 1970. George McKinney, Trail Master, of the 60 mile trip, stated that at least 200 snowmobilers will be making the trip. Registers will be held at West Traverse Town Hall starting at 7:30 a.m. and the Safari will start at 8:30 a.m. "Noon Break" will be held at Larks Lake. Bean soup and hot dogs will be served free to all. After lunch, the formal safari will end and the snowmobilers will be on their own for the return trip. A different trail will be available for the return for those who choose to venture into new territory. The project is that of Harbor Springs Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with Mr. George McKinney.

For your review each Wednesday and not later than Thursday during the winter season, I have available from West Michigan Tourist Association a winter sports review giving current information for the sportsmen, especially for skiing and tobogganing areas.

Taken from a release by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

"A writer-philosopher once said, "I can't give you a formula for success, but I can give you a formula for failure–try to please everyone."

Trying to please everyone is not an essential ingredient for success but here are a few. They have been called the basic tools for saving community problems:

Willpower–or the "will" to do the job. Deciding on a goal to be reached, and working on that goal with determination and dedication.

A Mechanism–or vehicle in which the resources of the community can be melted and to provide effective follow-through.

Money–the allocation of the financial resources to get the job done, and Political Action–to assure governmental cooperation on those programs in which government must, and should be involved.

Many chambers of commerce have been using these tools with various degrees of success for years. If you agree with this list of essential ingredients, go by and talk with the people at your chamber of commerce about what you can do to help achieve problem-solving success in your community."

JAN

1969 year of resource renewal

LANSING—The year 1969 saw, with wide-eyed wonder, men walk on the moon for the first time. With a comparatively lower-keyed resurge of pride, it also saw men put their best feet forward on earth in quest of a better life here "below."

The dream which sent astronauts to the moon was matched, in spirit, by vision of men who strove to upgrade their existence on earth. For those who had their feet solidly on the ground, one of their big dreams was focused upon recouping their heritage of what once was "America the Beautiful."

Call it what you will—an environmental reformation, revolution, or renewal—these undaunted people came out stronger than ever before in a drive for cleaner waters, clearer skies, leisure time outlets from the tension-packed routine of the workday world, and a life purged of the haunting dangers of persistent pesticides.

As the days dwindled down in 1969, it became more apparent that these people were dreaming the "Possible Dream." There was, from the year's course of conservation and other events, a quiet sort of confidence that the same kind of ingenuity and resolve which put men on the moon could also be harnessed to forge out an environmental renaissance here on earth.

DOWN WITH DDT

One of the year's big turning points for that new wave of confidence emerged when Michigan, as a showdown state, became the first to cancel registrations for the general sale of DDT, the prime target in the seething battle against persistent pesticides.

Michigan's lead action, taken by the State Department of Agriculture, turned out to be the beginning of a bigger and broader restriction of DDT. Near the end of 1969, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that all but "emergency" uses of the chemical poison would be eliminated by the close of 1970.

Conservationists waging the war against environmental pollution hailed the DDT crackdown. They applauded, too, when the USDA promised to take steps early in 1970 against other persistent pesticides such as Dieldrin, Aldrin, and Endrin, which, like DDT, pose an insidious threat to Mankind as well as wildlife..

CLEANER WATER COMING

At the polls in 1968, Michigan voters overwhelmingly passed a $335 million bond issue for clean waters in this state, and in 1969 that mandate was being carried out in full swing.

First to be approved for a share of those bond monies were 95 sewage treatment works projects which will be cost-shared under a $30 million bond sale held in October. Also OK'd for part of those bond sale monies were 22 collecting sewer projects, which are tied to the bigger program of cleaning up Michigan's waters by 1980 and serving 3.5 million more people with pollution control facilities.

In addition to these improvement projects approved in the first go-around, another 170 applications were filed in the fall of 1969, calling for nearly $198 million in bond funds to help underwrite sewage treatment construction during the next fiscal year. Also under review at year's end were 65 requests for almost $23 million in bond monies to support new collecting sewer developments during that same period.

While business was brisk for bond funds to attack Michigan's water pollution problems, the Water Resources Commission in 1969 did its job of spelling out exactly what water quality standards should be met in line with this massive program and to curb industrial pollution.

PESTICIDES AND WATER

The goal for clean waters and the purge of persistent pesticides closed ranks in 1969. Teamwork on those common objectives resulted when natural resources agencies of Michigan and four neighboring states mobilized a $300,000 pesticide monitoring program in the upper Great Lakes.

The targets: Tributary streams to pinpoint major sources of pesticide pollution along this big body of water. The stepped-up pesticide probe, joining forces of this state with Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin, stemmed from a conference held in Chicago where Gov. Milliken of Michigan rallied together federal officials and governors of the other four states.

Gov. Milliken called for the high-level meeting to shape action on the problem of pesticides after more than 30,000 pounds of Lake Michigan coho salmon were seized from commercial interstate markets by the federal U.S. Food and Drug Administration because the fish contained excessive levels of DDT residues.

ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY COUNCIL

On a broader scale, Gov. Milliken formed an Advisory Council on Environmental Quality and charged the council to zero in on effects of pesticides, noise pollution, air pollution, water pollution, and solid wastes. Appointed as members of the group were heads of state government concerned with these important areas.

MORE OF THE SAME URGED

Ralph A. MacMullan, director of the Department of Natural Resources and a member of that council, saw tremendous value in the group and urged more of the same on the national level. MacMullan, voicing stout support of the plan to form a Council on Environmental Quality within the President's office, stressed:

"There is a gret need for establishing a council of broad-based scope to develop an ecological concern in high places, which will cope with the sweeping aspects of environmental pollution."

RECREATION NOT WRECKREATION

If 1969 was the year for people to redouble their efforts against pollution in Michigan—and it was—it also was time for them to find a safety valve from the pressures of everyday life—to seek recreation instead of personal or physical wreckreation.

In 1968, Michigan citizens approved a $100 million recreation bond program and this year plans were "on schedule" and moving ahead smoothly to implement that program, earmarking funds for local, urban, and state leisure-time projects.

The Department of Natural Resources cleared with the State Legislature 58 local recreation projects calling for $5.7 million in those bond funds. Actual funding of the first qualified local projects was held up, however, due to a tight money problem which stymied plans to sell the initial series of recreation bonds,

In early December, another flood of local applications reached the DNR. From those, the Department expected to submit to the State Legislature in January a request for community recreation grants comparable to the first one.

Under another phase of the $100 million bond program, the DNR in 1969 sent to the Legislature the first slate of state projects calling for $6.6 million to boost recreation facilities in and near major cities of the state. These projects, for which $25 million of the program has been earmarked, are pegged to developing "close-in" state facilities to provide urban dwellers with broader-based recreation opportunities.

Under the third and final segment of the recreation bonding program, the DNR asked the State Legislature for $14.3 million for the first schedule of capital outlay improvements covering state parks, fisheries, wildlife, and forest-recreation projects.

Of that total request, the DNR sought $7,660,000 in bond money to finance top-priority state park projects and $3,845,650 to boost fishery work and $696,200 for forest recreation projects during the 1969-70 fiscal year.

LAKE MICHIGAN SALMON

In a year when new strides were being made for people to do their "recreational thing," Lake Michigan's salmon fishermen never had it so good. They caught an estimated 175,000 coho and chinook salmon with a total weight figured to approach 2 million pounds.

Both figures were substantially higher than last year's and completely dwarfed angler returns on the Lake Michigan front in 1967, the first, wild year for runs of mature coho in this state.

Of the 175,000 salmon taken by anglers in 1969, nearly half were caught in Lake Michigan streams and DNR fisheries men believe the take there was boosted by the Department's relaxed regulations on foul hooking. Hot spots for stream action on salmon were the Muskegon, Manistee, and Pere Marquette rivers.

For those licensed salmon fishermen who weren't lucky enough to land a fish, the DNR gave away 32,000 "ready-for-cooking" coho and chinook which had a collective dressed-out weight of over 200,000 pounds.

If 1969 wasn't enough to spread smiles across the faces of salmon fishermen, they could look ahead to 1970 when the DNR foresees "vastly improved" returns on both coho and chinook.

GOOD WORK REWARDED

For any year so rewarding to conservationists and so packed with promise for the future, it was only fitting that good works should be noted. And they were.

One of the most esteemed ones came from the Outdoor Life magazine which gave its annual conservation award to Michigan's Department of Natural Resources and its Director Ralph A. MacMullan for their "successful fight to restore sport fishing in Lake Michigan---and their unflagging efforts to curb persistent pesticides in the Lake Michigan watershed."

An article in that magazine backstopping that award and the efforts behind it noted:

"The state's conservation leaders, looking back over the past and taking pride in such major accomplishments as bringing Lake Michigan fishery from cellar to rooftop, are confident about the future. If the job of resource protection can be done (and it must be done;, they believe that Director MacMullan and his department, with public backing, can do it."

Perhaps, that statement more than any other, describes the tone of 1969-the dream for a better life geared to natural resources. To paraphrase it: "The job of resource protection can be done with public backing, and that support was never more evident than it was in 1969."

As footnotes to the highlights of natural resource management this year, here are some capsulized newsmakers which deserve mention:

--New zone management plan covering sport and commercial fishing in Michigan's Great Lakes waters approved as latest, most comprehensive approach toward boosting recovery of fish stocks in those "inland seas."

—DNR officials pledge to come out fighting "harder than ever" in 1970 for legislation to establish the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in Benzie and Leelanau counties after shelving of the measure this year.

—First results of lamprey control work will be seen on Lake Huron in 1970, clearing the way for the DNR to step up its trout plantings in the area's tributary streams.

—Tourist trade in Michigan balloons to all-time high estimated at $1.2 billion.

—State parks in Michigan draw record crowds of over 18 million day visitors and 400,000 camping families.

—So-called "North Slope" of the northern Lower Peninsula shows "great potential" for oil and gas production, spurs $880,000 in bids for state oil and gas lease rights in that part of the state.

—The most efficient fish factory ever built in Michigan, the $1.5 million Platte River Anadromous Fish Hatchery, goes into production for first time.

---Michigan's forest fire losses slashed by 10,000 acres from 1968.

Thus, the year 1969 ends for natural resource-minded people. It ends not without controversy, setbacks, and soul-searching. Those notwithstanding, it bows out with new hope, the kind of we-can-do-it determination that carried men to the moon on that never-to-be-forgotten day of July 20.

MDA Decade of growth

(Special to Courier)

The year 1969 was an eventful one for the Michigan Department of Agriculture, climaxing a decade of growth and transition for the state's $2.5 billion agricultural industry.

New technologies; scientific developments in crop production and harvesting, expansion of transportation and marketing facilities, have all contributed to a changing industry.

Highlighting 1969 was the decision to cancel all DDT registrations in Michigan except for emergency uses related to human health. This decision by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture last April led the nation, with federal authorities announcing similar restrictions in late November.

While screaming headlines focused upon threats to man's environment by pesticides, pollution and various contaminants, the Michigan Department of Agriculture quietly continued to follow the recommendations of agricultural research specialists and environmental scientists in working to improve the quality of man's world.

At the direction of the governor, and in cooperation with other state agencies, the Department provided leadership in developing and distributing guidelines for safe disposal of DDT products. The project received national attention, and nearly 100,000 information leaflets were distributed.

Along the way, some of the other major achievements of 1969 included: New emphasis upon consumer protection in meat, milk and food inspection with a name change for the department's Regulatory bureau. By executive order, it became the Bureau of Consumer Protection in February, and increased focus was given to acquainting consumers of the services provided to them by agriculture and this agency.

B. Dale Ball, department director, was recognized nationally for his leadership in agriculture by election to the presidency of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture in November. In this capacity, he will serve as chief liaison officer between the 50 state agriculture departments and the U.S. Department of Agriculture during 1970.

One of his major announced goals for NASDA is emphasis upon land use planning, as more and more commercial and residential developments encroach upon the nation's and Michigan's prime agricultural land. Governor William G. Milliken, speaking to Michigan Farm Bureau delegates in early November; pointed out farm land is a precious resource that cannot be replaced. He said we can no longer afford to divert prime farm land into other uses without regard for long-range needs.

In the decade ahead, increasing emphasis will be given to the problems of proper land use and the protection of the environment for the benefit of present and future generations.

The State Soil Conservation committee, an agency of the Department of Agriculture with the director serving as chairman, was instrumental in developing a day-long Governor's Conference to study water sediment pollution problems and methods of control. Both state and federal agencies were involved.

In Michigan, Director Ball was honored with a "distinguished service to agriculture" award from the Michigan Farm Bureau, and a similar award as presented in acknowledgement of his work with young people by the state 4-H organization.

World trade moved into the spotlight during 1969, as increasing numbers of food processors looked to markets abroad for their products. Competition for the buying power of foreign countries is increasing, and Michigan is moving ahead in this field from a position as 23rd in total exports among the 50 states. Leading off in 1970 will be the international trade fair at Utrecht, the Netherlands, where representatives of Common Market countries will see Michigan products which are available for export displayed.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture has joined with 11 other midwestern states to form the Mid-American International Agri-Trade Council. MIATCO was created to promote increased use of the states' agricultural commodities in foreign countries.

Computers will be used to match incoming orders with appropriate firms having inventories ready for export. A total of 42 Michigan food processors have already indicated interest in the project.

Considerable time was devoted in mid-summer to an outbreak of hog cholera in southwestern Michigan. Department veterinarians from the Animal Health Division moved in to bring the outbreak under rapid control, but the highly contagious swine disease spread to four farms in the area before it could be halted.

The outbreak cost Michigan its "hog cholera free status" from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and reemphasized the department's concern for control of hog shipments from neighboring states. The disease entered Michigan in a shipment of hogs from Missouri.

Food additives hit the headlines in October, when the federal Food and Drug Administration announced removal of cyclamates from the market. A low calorie sugar substitute, cyclamates were indicted as possible carcinogens although there has been no evidence of human health hazard.

Department food inspection officials launched a state-wide campaign to inform food processors and to check on conformance with the new regulations.

Michigan moved toward a cooperative state-federal meat inspection program under the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967, with progress satisfactory enough to grant the state another year to meet requirements. Under the new program, meat processing plants will be continually inspected as well as packing houses. Previously, only sanitary inspections were carried on at processing plants, and this was done by Food Inspection personnel.

The meat inspection program is under supervision of the Animal Health division. Michigan's present meat standards are the strictest in the nation.

Other projects involving the department this year, and particularly the Plant Industry division, included surveys to determine pesticide residues in treated soil, annual survey which uncovered no gypsy moths in Michigan, and changes in the quarantine regulations for the cereal leaf beetle, a pest harmful to grains.

On the lighter side, the Department prepared an exhibit for the Michigan State Fair using "pop art" and a series of brief entertaining audio-visuals emphasizing department services to the public.

Because of the attention and comment it attracted, the exhibit was later shown at the Saginaw county fair, and requests have been received for several additional showings this spring.

Resolution for parents

The Michigan Heart Association has suggested a new year's resolution for parents. The president of the Association, Dr. Edward W. Green, a pediatrician and Director of Cardiology at Children's Hospital in Detroit, said that parents should resolve:

"In 1970, we will try to turn our children's habit to a pattern which will give them a better chance of continued maturity and old age.

"These habits should include three things: diet, anti-smoking, thru both precepts and example; and exercise, the latter being the easiest to establish with children." he said.

"Diet is the most important, because these habits are best established at an early age. If we, as parents, will set an example, and if we can avoid the over feeding of even very young children, and if we can develop in them a taste for foods low in animal fats, we may set up habits that will give children a better chance of leading a full, healthy and long life."

PUBLIC NOTICE

No primary election will be held on February 16, 1970, because there are no contests.

Wagner; East Jordan, Mrs. Jane Prebble; and Beaver Island, Archie LaFreniere. They will be assisted by a long list of dedicated volunteers from these cities and their outlying neighboring communities.

Charlevoix County's goal for 1970 is $4,500. In 1969 contributions totaled $4,110 or about $.26 per capita, 11 cents more than the state average.

What is the Foundation doing now? On a national scale, the Foundation supports research. Grants are provided to assist in the search for ways to improve diagnosis and device better treatment methods. Other grants aid fundamental research into the underlying causes of birth defects and, ultimately, the means of preventing them.

The Foundation supports 111 Birth Defects Centers and built and supports the Salk Institute for Biological Studies at La Jolla, California. Its funds are used to educate health professionals, providing them with the latest scientific knowledge about congenital diseases, their causes, diagnosis, their treatment, their prevention.

"We have an organized program for keeping the public informed of progress in prevention and of what laymen can do to help science achieve our goal," said County campaign chairman Charles A. Robinson.

"We promote community service programs for health education, prenatal care, genetic counseling and other local chapter-sponsored programs. In this work, chapters work with health departments, medical societies, and civic, social, religious, youth and service organizations," he added.

Presently, at least five young persons in Charlevoix County, the victims of polio or birth defects, are living normal lives and have high hopes because of the scientific progress that has been achieved with the help of the National Foundation and others.

New jury law

According to officials, the new law has given juries a "better cross-section and selection. All age groups are represented, whereas in the past most jurors have been older persons."

Michigan tourism hits record high

With a month to go in 1969, the number of visitors at the nine travel information centers maintained by the Department of State Highways already has reached a record 855,000, the State Highway Commission reports.

A final surge of holiday travelers, hunters and skiers will probably push the total to 880,000 before year's end, the Commission said.

The previous record was set last year when approximately 768,000 visitors stopped at eight centers situated mainly at border points around the state. Part of this year's increase is the result of the opening of a ninth center on Interstate 69 south of Coldwater. It has attracted nearly 87,000 visitors since its opening last January.

Visitor counts to date at the nine centers are: Monroe and Clare, 145,000 each; Mackinaw City, 143,000; Port Huron, 103,000; Coldwater, 87,000; New Buffalo, 80,000; Sault Ste. Marie, 78,000; Menominee, 37,500, and Ironwood, 36,500.

Each center is open seven days a week during the summer, and at least five days a week during the fall, winter and early spring. Each is of different architectural design, ranging from the Cape Cod style center at New Buffalo, opened in 1935, to the contemporary structure of fieldstone, brick and glass at Coldwater.

Since the end of last winter, the information centers have distributed about 2.6 million state and county highway maps, descriptive folders, pamphlets, brochures and other travel literature. Much of it was contributed by the Michigan Tourist Council, the Department of Natural Resources, chambers of Commerce, local development commissions industries, and operators of Michigan travel attraction and facilities. Civil Service employees furnish information and routing advice.

This fall, the Highway Department received another national recognition of its travel information service and its contribution to the state's $1 billion-plus vacation-travel industry.

MISS MICHIGAN

MISS LINDA S. NEWMAN of Lansing is crowned Miss Michigan Highways by Governor William G. Milliken. The 21-year-old blue-eyed brunette, a Department of State Highways typist-clerk, will represent the Michigan road building industry at official functions during the next year. Linda succeeds Cheryl Ann LeBarre Edwards, who was the first Miss Michigan Highways. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Newman of Lansing. (Highway Department photo).

A former Charlevoix High School cager, he was a regular on the freshman team last year. Carey is a good ball handler with better than average defensive ability.

A 5 ft. 10 in. sophomore, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Carey of 104 E. Upright St., Charlevoix.

Councilman in accident

Gill was cited for failure to have his car under control, deputies said. The vehicle, owned by Gill's father-in-law, Earl Young, was totaled. The accident occurred about 4 a.m.

Bulletin

Congressman Philip E. Ruppe announced Friday that the "Coast Guard building and tower at the old Charlevoix lifeboat station has been awarded to the City of Charlevoix. The building and tower are located on 2.8 acres of land."

IN THE OPEN

Endangered species: California condor; trumpeter swan; alligator; timber wolf. A gloomy fate awaits them. But there is one bird we needn't feel sorry about. The crow.

Migration is a mysterious business in general and the seasonal flights of crows are baffling. Large numbers of crows divide their time between northern Michigan and southern Ontario. With the January thaw they begin to drift into the farming country along the Detroit River and Lake Erie. There the crow ceases to be an unpopular member of the wildlife community and is esteemed as a target for scatter-gunners. Some enthusiasts actually eat crow and insist that it is palatable. So, Indians used to tell us, is skunk.

A crow hunter opened the trunk of his car to give us a view of his equipment. Gun of course, a portable net blind and a record player with records of crow calls. Also, bottles of ketchup. For flavoring cooked crow? No. Crows wintering in Ontario visit farmer's slaughter houses. Ketchup, splashed around, especially if there is snow on the ground, looks like blood and attracts crows.

Driving on the Detroit west side we saw a crow on the strip of grass between two lanes of the highway. It happened that in the car was a package of hamburger intended for our dog. The crow was happy to be our guest, eagerly taking hamburger from our fingers. Obviously this was a pet crow on the loose. A small boy was an interested onlooker. We requested the boy to get a carton from a supermarket.

As the kid emerged from the store with a cardboard box, the crow took a quick look and flew to the roof of the market, refusing to be coaxed down, aware of our intention to take him home.

Ostrum in Vietnam

Navy Construction Mechanic Second Class Robert W. Ostrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred D. Ostrum of 401 Petoskey Avenue, Charlevoix, is serving with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 in Vietnam.

In Vietnam Seabees build airstrips, temporary housing, port focilities, fuel storage tanks, drill water wells and construct other facilities as they become necessary.

Occasionally they become targets for enemy snipers. When this happens the builders become defenders and put to use the skills acquired in combat training. The first Navy Medal of Honor recipient in Vietnam was a Seabee.

BigMac bridge traffic up 22%

The 60 percent slash in fares and the increase in traffic stimulated by it were the outstanding events at the Mackinac Bridge, during 1969, according to Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"When passenger car rates were cut from $3.75 to $1.50 last January 1, with proportionate reductions in other classes of vehicles, it marked a milestone in the modern history of Mackinac Straits automobile traffic which began soon after the turn of the century, when the railroad ferries started transporting gas buggies for about $16 per passage," said Chairman Brown.

"Traffic for 1969 (last 15 last estimated) is up 21.6 percent over last year, from 1,506,789 to 1,832,186 crossings, an increase of 325,397 vehicles.

"Revenues are up nine-tenths of one percent from $6,658,725 to $6,721,602, an increase of $62,877. Included in 1969 revenues is a Legislative approporiation of $3,500,000 to subsidize revenue losses due to the fare reduction.

"The Authority's net revenues for 1969 have been more than adequate to cover all requirements under its contract with the bondholders. In fact, during 1969, $5,005,000 of outstanding bonds at par value were purchased in the open market at a cost of $4,160,630, a savings of $844,370. Had these bonds been called instead of purchased in the open market, their call price would have been 4 percent over par. Thus, another $202,000 may be added to the savings achieved.

"Since the Authority began retiring bonds in 1965, $10,992,000 have been purchased in the open market. The premiums on these bonds, had they been called, would have been $499,500, making their total price $11,491,550. Actually, they were purchased at a cost of $9,636,275.65, a savings of $1,855,224.35. Bonds still outstanding total $68,808,000. Purchases during 1970 should be about the same or better than last year, depending on the general rise and fall in bond prices," said Brown.

Passenger cars, which comprise about 77 percent of all bridge traffic, showed an increase of 20 percent over last year. Passenger cars with trailers, which make up 17.4 percent of all traffic, had the largest increase of any vehicle class, up 28.5 percent. Next largest class, 7.5 percent of all traffic, is the 2 axle 4 tire truck, mostly pickups. This class was up 28.4 percent.

"The summer of 1969 saw the completion of the first full repainting of the bridge, which began in 1965 with the repainting of the towers, cables, and suspender ropes. Complete paint coverage may not be required again for several years. However, bridge crews work from May until October constantly scraping and retouching steel where the paint has broken down.

"Bridge personnel handled an average number of unusual occurrences this past year, although there were no lost children to recover as there have been on four occasions during the 12 years since the bridge has been open," said Brown.

Kiwanis Notes

The last regular weekly meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club for 1969 was held in the high school cafeteria on December 29. The speaker for the evening was Colonel Paterson, Commander of the Bay Shore Site, who described the function of that base.

Colonel Paterson's experiences include service as a navigator during both World War II and the Korean conflict.

The method of tracking and scoring the accuracy of the bombing runs over the Charlevoix area was discussed by the Colonel. He also pointed out the fact that the bombers being evaluated did not travel fast enough to create sonic booms.

The noise heard by residents of this area is created by the extra power applied after the simulated bombs are dropped. This is necessitated in order to get the plane away from the blast created by the bomb itself.

Colonel Paterson concluded his presentation by answering questions from the members. He assured those in attendance that no bomber has ever crashed during a low level bombing run.

Mrs. Loder says thanks

For almost eight years I owned and operated the Wal-Mar Coiffeur Shop, first starting in 1962 at Wal-Mar Court on U.S. 31, slightly north of Charlevoix city limits, and when space became available downtown at Oleson's Shopping Center, I moved the business and continued slightly over five years. I most certainly enjoyed the operation and established high regard for my fine clientele, to whom I wish to extend sincere thanks for their support.

The new owners, Ray and Joan Petitt of Petoskey, where they own and operate two very successful beauty salons, I have known for several years and I feel sure they are well-qualified. I intend continuing at Wal-Mar as an operator and certainly hope to yet be able to enjoy the service to my many good patrons.

Twp. turns down annex proposal

By a vote of 147 to 81, voters of Charlevoix Township answered the question of annexation to Charlevoix City with a strong "No".

The vote took place last Tuesday, after a series of meetings, question-and answer sessions, and was endorsed by all the governmental bodies involved.

City voters did not go to the polls, as Council had previously approved the annexation proposal, and acceptance of new property rests with the city government.

With a total of 228 votes being cast out of approximately 260 eligible voters, the turn-out was considered "good".

Had the annexation proposal been approved, population in the city would have been increased by some 600, bringing the total to near the 4,000 mark. In addition, the city's physical size would have been enlarged to 8.2 square miles, making it the largest city, in area, north of Cadillac.

The Township Board of Supervisors had endorsed the proposal, citing city services and utilities as major advantages.

It had been acknowledged that the tax base in the township would have been increased through annexation, but township officials maintained that taxes would have to be increased anyway.

The township may again try annexation next year. But, in the meantime, there may be requests brought to City Council for "piecemeal" annexation.

Law enforcement grant confirmed

Charlevoix County representatives of the Region 10 Law Enforcement Planning Component have received confirmation of a $22,000 grant to enable special training during 1970 for some 200 sheriff and police department personnel in the ten member counties.

These funds were allocated by the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice to enable the employment of a training coordinator who is to survey the training needs of each police agency in the ten counties, and then bring to each department the needed educational program. Thus, every officer in each police agency is expected to gain beneficial training.

The $22,000 grant was issued to the Grand Traverse County Sheriff Department, which is the prime sponsor and fiscal agent for the regional program. The amount represents 60 percent of the entire training program cost of $36,667.

The remaining 40 percent will be forthcoming from participating police agencies in the form of salary reimbursement for their officers while training.

This grant was made available to the region from federal funds authorized by the "Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968". In all, the state commission, chaired by Governor William G. Milliken, allocated 66 grants totaling more than $900,000 for the improvement of law enforcement in Michigan. Several of these grants will indirectly benefit this area according to reports.

The program will begin as soon as a training coordinator can be employed by the officers of the regional planning component. Chairman of that group is Richard P. Weiler, Sheriff of Grand Traverse County. Vice chairman is Ernest Kraus, Petoskey police chief, and secretary is Glenn Aylsworth, prosecuting attorney, Leelanau County.

The coordinator will have an office at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City. The ten counties in Region 10 are Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee and Wexford.

Primary out in city

There will be no primary election in the city of Charlevoix this spring.

That's the word from City Council, announced by the city fathers at their meeting last Monday night.

No contests for any seat is the reason for cancelling the primary.

In other action, Council ordered the police department to enforce more strongly snowmobile regulations.

According to Council, the rash of snowmobile accidents and the testimony of aircraft pilots Don Seelye and Charles Scherping who stated that snowmobilers have been using the runways at the airport.

The pilots told Council that the snowmobilers remain on runways even when airplanes are approaching to land.

Council again noted that runways at the airport are off limits to snowmobiles, and decided to post the area.

County State Bank promotes, hires

Fred Payne, executive vice president of Charlevoix County State Bank, this week announced the promotion of one employee and the employment of another.

MRS. INGMA PONTIOUS

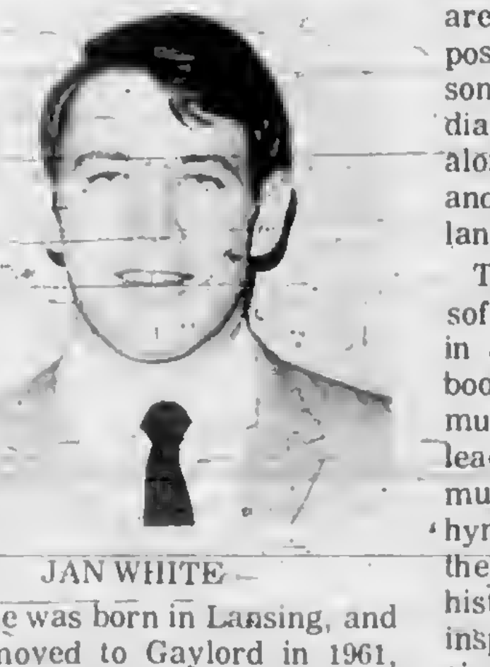
Promoted to auditor was Mrs. Ingma Pontious. Named to the staff was Jan White.

Mrs. Pontious was recently promoted by the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix County State Bank, to the position of auditor.

Mrs. Pontious joined the Charlevoix County State Bank on June 1, 1945, and this year celebrates her 25th anniversary with the bank.

"We feel she is well qualified to assume the position of auditor where she will have the responsibility of providing both internal and external audit functions," Payne said.

White recently joined the staff of the Charlevoix County State Bank, coming from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where he was employed by the Household Finance Corporation as assistant manager of the Fort Lauderdale Branch.



JAN WHITE

White was born in Lansing, and then moved to Gaylord in 1961, where he graduated from high school in 1965.

Greensky gets gift

By Bernice Wexstaff

Greensky Hill Indian Church received a Christmas gift of historic significance in a reprint of the ancient Ojebway hymnal which had been out of print for over a half century. Mrs. Isabell Oliver, oldest living member of the Greensky Hill church has the only known copy of the original hymnal in the Charlevoix area.

First translated by Peter Jones, Indian missionary, there have been several modern translations of English hymns into the Indian language, but the Indians themselves often complained that they were difficult--nearly impossible for them to read due to the difference in orthography and phraseology...

Frequently they expressed the wish to retain what had become a blessing to them in their Christian efforts to sing praises to their new GREAT SPIRIT--the Lord, Jesus Christ.

The Dow Foundation of Midland came to the rescue of the Christian Protestant Red Man and furnished funds through the St. John's Episcopal Church of Midland: Now all Michigan mission Indian Protestant churches have been allotted free copies of the hundred-year-old hymnals.

There are some 6,000 Indians in Michigan---Ojebways, Ottawas and Chippewas, all descendants of Algonqians of the North Country. There are six Protestant Indian mission churches in the northern half of Michigan: Greensky Hill, Kewadin, Northport, Mt. Pleasant, Oscoda and Salem... Greensky Hill received an ample supply of 100 copies, allotted on a basis of membership and summer visitor attendance.

Written in both Indian and English with a comprehensive glossary where the Indian words are divided into syllables it is now possible for the Palefaces who sometimes worship with the Indians to voice the words and sing along with a better understanding and appreciation of the native language of the land.

The hymnals are small with soft black leather covers, similar in appearance to the Episcopal book of Common Prayer. As no music score is included, song leaders and church organists must still rely on denominational hymnals for the melodies. But there's little doubt but that the historic reprints will become an inspiration to those who live to sing as well as those who pray in the hope for a truly Christendom.

CHARLEVOIX HOSPITAL MEDICAL BUILDING

After a long waiting period, the Charlevoix Hospital Medical Building, next to Charlevoix Hospital, now has an identifying sign. Sign was installed last week, listing doctors who have offices in the building.

Snowmobiles cause of local accidents

Though the snowmobiling season is barely a month old, machine operators have started this winter with a rash of accidents, including one fatality locally, which may break all previous records before the snow is melted.

Concern has been expressed by County and City officials, and both have pledged to enforce state and local laws governing snowmobiles more effectively.

In recent accidents, Paul T. Parrish, 20, of Lockport, Ill., was thrown through the windshield of the snowmobile he was operating.

Parrish, a former Charlevoix resident, was visiting along with his wife at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krueger last Saturday, January 3.

He borrowed a snowmobile from a friend and was riding on the high school parking lot when the machine struck a concrete barrier.

He was admitted to Charlevoix Hospital with severe lacerations of the face, a fractured nose, other facial injuries and knee injuries.

The first county fatality of the season was chalked up the following day when J. Edwin Richards of East Jordan R-3 was killed in a snowmobile accident in South Arm Township.

According to reports from the County Sheriff's Department, Richards, 48, was driving a 1969 Ski-Doo westward in the left lane of Nelson Road, off M-66, when he approached a hill.

As a car traveling east and driven by Donald Russell, 31, of R-1 East Jordan came over the crest of the hill, Richards left the roadway for the shoulder of the road. As the car passed, he swung back toward the roadway and the vehicle overturned, pinning him under it.

He was taken to Charlevoix Hospital by the East Jordan Police ambulance where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

A second snowmobiler, James Fuller, of East Jordan was following some distance behind Richards and was not involved in the accident.

Funeral for Mr. Richards were held Thursday, January 8, from the Watson Funeral Home, the Rev. James Larson of the Evangelical Lutheran Church officiating. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Janet L. Klein

Janet Klein to wed Albert W. Solomon

Mr. and Mrs. Archie R. Klein of Boyne City announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet Lorraine, to Albert William Solomon, son of Mrs. Harold DeYoung of Charlevoix, and the late Donald J. Solomon.

Miss Klein is a 1969 graduate of Boyne City High School, and is employed by Essex Wire Company in Boyne City.

Solomon was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1966. He has completed two years at Northwestern College in Traverse City, and is now the owner of the Texaco service station in Charlevoix.

An April wedding is planned.

Letters to the editor

Finch's 'opposition

Dear Editor:

"Destroying Public Schools HEW's Attack on Freedom of Choice".

Having come to this country as an alien, and especially from Germany, Hitler's paradise of raising a superior race, I have been asked why a highly educated intelligent people like the Germans could ever fall for a man like Hitler. My answer always has been and still is; I had no choice, but the ones that did were too busy doing their own thing until it was too late. What really gets under my skin is that the same people that ask questions like this, do not realize they or we are being led in exactly the same direction and in the same way.

Parental rights and the cause of quality public education in the United States suffered a severe new blow recently when the Congress voted against the Whitten Amendment which would have prevented the Department of Health, Education and Welfare along with its plans.

HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch's opposition to the Whitten Amendment–indeed his all-out fight against the freedom of choice principle–also represents a breaking of faith with the millions of voters who heard and believed presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon promise support for freedom of choice school plans. It is deeply dismaying that President Nixon didn't abide by his campaign promise.

Nothing could be more American than the concept of freedom of choice in education. As worked out in practice this concept means that a child attends the school his parents desire him to attend. It is the embodiment of individual freedom. Yet this freedom doesn't satisfy the ideologues in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. They apparently don't believe parents have any rights when it comes to school attendance. And they aren't satisfied with any school attendance plan that doesn't achieve strict racial balance.

Emotion, not reason, lies behind HEW's position. Certainly, there isn't any measure of justice in HEW's opposition to freedom of choice: As a matter of fact, HEW can't point to any standard of logic in espousing its school plans. If it is unjust to bar a student from a particular school because of his race, how can it be just to compel a student to attend a particular school in order to meet a fixed racial formula decreed by HEW? Obviously, HEW's approach isn't grounded in rationality of justice. Instead, it is grounded in politics and fanaticism – the notion that there must be carefully calculated mix of students of different racial groups in order for the ends of democracy, (forgetting we are a Republic), to be served. To be continued next week.

For God, Family, & Country,
Yours truly,

Richard Friske
Rt. 1

Northern Michigan Bible institute organized

In July of 1969 a group of pastors and church representatives met in session at the Wolverine Baptist Church of Wolverine, Michigan to consider the organizing a Bible Institute in northern Michigan.

The following pastors were appointed to act as a steering committee to formulate plans preparatory to establishing such an institute: Rev. Don Jasmin of Onaway; Rev. Bob Steward of Cheboygan; Rev. Kenneth Truman of Petoskey; Rev. Claire Olin of Frederic; Rev. Watson Bilger of Grayling; Rev. John Bell of Eastport; and Rev. Richard Halter of Gaylord.

After many committee meetings and hours of consultation the organization of the institute was completed in November of 1969. Northern Michigan Bible Institute was the name given the new organization, with the Calvary Baptist Church of Gaylord as the place where the institute will be held on Tuesday evenings for a term of 16 weeks. Two terms per year will be held perpetually.

Persons attending the Institute may select three subjects from a total of six. The subjects, times, and teachers are: 6:45 Eschatology-Bell; Doctrine-Truman; 7:30 Christian Education-Steward; Personal Evangelism-Jasmin; 8:30 Music, Mrs. Sarah Hall; Missions-Olin. The purpose of the courses is "To train and equip lay people for effective Christian service in their respective churches." Persons from any church regardless of denomination are invited to attend.

Sessions will begin Tuesday January 27, at 6:45 p.m. A fee of $5 will be charged for each subject studies. An informative brochure may be obtained by writing the Northern Michigan Bible Institute, 207 S. Wisconsin, Route 4, Gaylord, Michigan. Information may be obtained by calling any of the pastors listed, or 732-4001 Gaylord. Persons may also be enrolled by sending the following information with a five dollar fee for each class selected: Name, address, city, phone, local church affiliation, age, sex, marital status, office, if any, in local church.

Garden Club learns of doves

Members of the Charlevoix Garden Club held their annual Christmas meeting with Mrs. Edith Stenman whose home was beautifully decorated for the Holidays. Jeannette Cameron was co-hostess.

The monthly flower arrangement was by Arla Staublin, and was in keeping with the season.

Each month there is a report on some bird and Joyse Totten gave a most interesting paper on Doves, no doubt because there were two Turtle Doves in the pear tree on the second day of Christmas.

The turtle dove and our common morning dove belong to the same group.

Doves are symbolic of love, gentleness, innocence, and peace. They hold a prominent place in our religion, art and literature.

Doves are mentioned frequently in the Bible, both in the new and old testaments. You remember that Noah sent a Dove out from the Ark to see if the water had receded, and the Dove returned with an olive branch. A dove according to Matthew, Luke and John alighted on Christ's head after his baptism.

The parents of Christ as well as other poor people were allowed to sacrifice two turtle doves instead of a young lamb.

The first known law for bird protection forbidding the killing of mother birds on the nest was undoubtedly to benefit doves. This law is found in Deuteronomy.

The morning dove is found in every state in the Union Doves are true lovers. They mate for life but are very poor nest builders. The mother bird lays two white eggs, and the dove like other birds does not lift its head when it swallows food or water.

They leave for the south after the first hard September frost, the young ones going first and followed by the older ones. They are very hardy, self sufficient and wary. Even the blue jay, bulley that he is, cannot intimidate the Morning Dove.

The next meeting will be Guest Night at 6 p.m. January 13, with a potluck dinner in the new State Bank community room with slides to be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Campbell.

Did you make your New Years Resolution? The best one I know is to "Forgive and Forget and work to make this a much better world to live in." A Happy New Year!

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jentzen spent their holiday vacation with their children in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peck are spending the winter in Stuart, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lambdin and son Jeff of Detroit spent the holidays at their local home and entertained friends Christmas Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Enlund of Portage, Michigan, spent Christmas weekend with the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nielsen.

Mrs. Edna Howe is visiting relatives and friends in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sullivan and daughter Karen of Detroit were guests of the latters parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beene.

The lake is frozen. The Ferry closed the day before Christmas and there is a real nice skating area near the ferry that our skaters are enjoying, and the snowmobilers are having a grand time riding over the fields and byways.

Mrs. F. Deigert of Homer was a guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Ed and Lorena Beene; also Mr. and Mrs. H. Deigert and son, two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Engle and son Kam of Homer were Christmas weekend guests.

Sharon Nielsen returned to her school duties in Big Rapids last Monday.

New hours set for Vet counselor

Effective today, the new hours for the Charlevoix Veterans Counselor will be 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Monday.

Bob Wasoski, appointed to the position of Counselor by the County Board of Supervisors at the request of Ed Shanahan, also urges all veterans and their families in the area who have questions or problems pertaining to Veteran's affairs to contact him either at the County Building on Monday or calling 547-4140 anytime.

Anyone who is unable to see him during office hours may make other arrangements by contacting Wasoski.

Wasoski said, "I would also like to remind all veterans and their families that I will do all possible to assist them with any problems or questions they may have regarding benefits."

Winter events abound

Snowmobile races or safaris? Speed skating? Dog sled races? Skiing championships? All-around winter carnivals or festivals? What's your preference for wintertime activity, either as a spectator or participant?

Whatever it may be, chances are you'll find it among more than 40 top events scheduled by Michigan communities through next March.

Skating, snowmbobile events, dog sled races, ski jumping contests, ice fishing, carnivals, a variety of shows, even a sports car ice run—all are included on the state's winter events calendar.

Snowmobile gatherings, either for races or safaris, top the list with at least 16. There's at least one scheduled each week throughout the winter.

A dozen or more all-around winter carnivals also are on tap.

Among the top three Michigan Snowmobile Association sanctioned races is the Thunder Bay 250-mile race, scheduled at the Alpena County Fairgrounds Race Track on January 17. Officials expect 250 machines to qualify for the event before the qualifying cut-off time at 4 p.m. January 13.

The top 35 qualifying speeds will be eligible to compete in the 250-mile, 500-lap race for $4,500 in cash prizes, plus additional merchandise awards. The top 15 finishers will share the purse, with $1,100 in cash going to first place. The Thunder Bay event is limited to 15-inch and wider tracks and under 400cc engine ratings to insure widest possible competition.

The 20th annual Tip-Up Town U.S.A. carnival is a fun-filled tribute to a variety of winter activities, including a Medalion hunt, parade, ice sculpturing, contests, races, carnival of fun on the ice, helicopter rides, banquet and queen's ball ond coronation. There also will be additional features this year, such as aerobatic stunt flying on January 17 and sky dividing the following day.

Cadillac has scheduled a National Ice and Snow Festival for January 10-17. The weeklong program includes dog sled races, queen's contest and dance, figure skating, sled races, torch parade, amateur snowmobile races, ice fishing, snow sculpture and skiing at all winter resorts.

The Clare County Winter Sports Carnival in Clare-Harrison-Farwell, January 28-30, boasts a variety of unique activities from square dancing on the ice to winter golf played in the snow.

Alpena also will be the scene of the Northeastern Michigan Speedskating Championships, February, 14-15, with about 150 speedskaters expected to participate. Speedskating events have been held in Alpena for nearly 40 years.

A top event in the Upper Peninsula is the International 500 Snowmobile Classic at Sault Ste. Marie, a sanctioned race, on February 7. Others include the Michigan Tech Winter Carnival at Houghton-Hancock, February, 5-7, and the Grand Prix Snowmobile Derby at Marquette, February 13-15.

The Traverse Winter Carnival, in and around Traverse City February 20-22, calls itself a carnival that will offer everything that's fun and is done outside in winter. It includes a 250-mile sanctioned snowmobile race with $15,000 in prize money.

March events include a ski carnival at Freeland March, 6, Snowmobile Championship Races at East Jordan, set tentatively for March 7-8, and the Sugarloaf Village Spring Carnival, March 13-15.

Story hour to resume at Library

Story hour at Charlevoix Public Library will resume beginning Wednesday, January 14, at 10 a.m.

The group has been small in the past, but the library staff is optimistic the size of the group will increase.

Mothers with pre-schoolers from age three are invited to attend.

Mrs. James Bell will be the story-teller the first week. Other mothers who will serve are asked to sign up at the opening session.

Tentative schedule has been set through May. Dates are: January 28, February 11 and 25, March 11 and 25, April 8 and 22, May 6 and 20.

This year, story hours will be held on Wednesdays, rather than on Thursdays.

Cartoons can teach as well as entertain

By Barbara Frengel Reeves

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series by a professional observer of children's TV viewing habits. The author is assistant director of research for the Children's Television Workshop, creators of "Sesame Street," the new series designed to help prepare pre-schoolers for formal education.

Your child will watch anything on television? Even the test pattern?

Don't you believe it.

We at Children's Television Workshop have found that just isn't so. We have done research with hundreds of preschoolers from every walk of life. And we've found that—for ones so young—they are a highly sophisticated television audience.

Children are selective not only about what they watch from program to program but from moment to moment within a program.

So children DO watch tests patterns. They like the patterns. They also might like the first show that comes on in the morning.

Some little boys don't like Lois Lane. However they do enjoy and appreciate the super heroes—from Superman to Speed Racer and Underdog. Many little girls, however, don't like Superman. They do like Lois Lane and they also enjoy Casper the Ghost, the Flintstones and Yogi Bear.

Each child has his own tastes but we do know that certain types of programs are enjoyed by all preschoolers.

High on this list are cartoons.

Children seem to sense that cartoons are meant especially for them.

Because cartoons do hold such an attraction, the producers of "Sesame Street" decided to teach letters of the alphabet and numbers with cartoons. A child who watches a cartoon with many J words about a judge, a june bug and a jar remembers the letter J far better than one taught J only using a photograph of a jacket.

When you watch cartoons with your child, take the opportunity to teach him something while he is being entertained. If the cat jumps over a fence, talk about fences and their purpose. Talk about the difference between wood and wire.

Or talk about cats and other animals. How many can he name? What animals live on a farm? What animals live in people's houses? What animals do we see at the zoo? What sounds do they make? What do they eat?

Your child can look through your old magazines for pictures that relate to your discussion. At first he might confuse a large dog and a horse but you can easily teach him the difference.

And at dinner time that evening, he can impress daddy with what he's learned.

He might be so interested in what he's saying that he won't even notice he's eaten all his carrots.

However, that I don't guarantee.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I'm a full-time college student and think I will get a tax refund, if I don't have to count a $750 scholarship as income. Is it income?

A) Scholarships are generally not taxable and do not have to be reported for tax purposes. Since there are many different types of scholarships, you will want to check with the organization that gave you the scholarship to see if they have information on its tax status.

Q) Why did IRS drop the short form 1040A?

A) One important reason was to make it easier for tax payers to claim all the credits, deductions and exclusions they were entitled to under the tax laws. In recent years more and more taxpayers have found it to their advantage to itemize deductions as their income increased.

The new Form 1040 is one basic page and actually calls for just about the same information that had to be entered on the front and back of the old card form. Over 30 million returns will need just the one-page Form 1040 to be complete, while another 22 million will have to attach only one additional schedule. Copies of the schedules taxpayers will most likely need were included in the tax package mailed to some 75 million taxpayers.

Q) I got married in December. Can my wife and I file a joint return for 1969?

A) Yes, if you are married on the last day of your tax year, you can file a joint return. Your wife then cannot be claimed as a dependent on the return of another taxpayer.

Q) Does the new tax form make any difference in the way a farmer handles his credit for gas used on the farm?

A) No, the gas tax credit should be claimed as it has in the past by attaching Form 4136. The amount of credit claimed should be entered on line 21 of Form 1040.

Q) What is the surcharge rate for 1969 and how do you figure it?

A) The income tax surcharge is 10 percent for 1969. Tax surcharge tables are included in the tax packages and can be found on page T-1. These tables show the amount of surcharge based on the amount of tax liability and your filing status.

Remember that Schedule T, the tax computation schedule, will be just a worksheet for most taxpayers and need not be sent in with the Form 1040. Only if the taxpayer claims a special credit such as retirement income, investment or foreign tax, or has to pay self-employment tax, should Schedule T be sent in with the return.

Q) I rent out some land to a farmer nearby. Do I include the rents I receive as farm or rental income?

A) Enter the rents you receive from your land on Schedule E, as rental income, and attach it to your Form 1040 when you file.

Unless there is material participation in the business of farming, the rents you receive are not considered farm income.

Q) Are there any tax benefits for those 65 and over? I'll be able to file that way this year.

A) Yes, there are several benefits for those 65 years of age and over. For example, there is an extra $600 exemption for age, and special provisions covering the sale of a personal residence.

These are explained in Publication 554, Tax Benefits for Older Americans. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Let's celebrate

Happy Three Kings! Happy Three Kings!

These were the words that greeted us everywhere that we went last Tuesday on the Island of St. Croix in the U. S. Virgin Islands, for these Cruzans celebrate in a great way the coming of the Magi to the stable at Bethlehem.

The close of the Christmas holy season doesn't just fade away in St. Croix as it does in Charlevoix. On the contrary it is a national holiday which the natives both black and white celebrate with dances and parades.

Last Tuesday we were in St. Croix and celebrated with the natives by attending a big parade in Fredericksted. Our family had been staying in Christensted which is at the opposite end of the island so we got up early to drive through the dense rain forest in time for the prarade which was scheduled to start at ten o'clock.

"Don't worry," said my husband when we were rushing to pack, "these things always start late in the Virgin Islands. Stop rushing. Slow down. You're in the Virgin Islands now."

But habit is strong and for me to arrive half an hour late for a scheduled public event is practically a mortal sin, so I prodded everyone and we packed and checked out of our hotel in jiffy quick time.

The six of us and all of our luggage jammed into a Volkswagen station wagon and off we went over rutted country roads through the rain forest to the great celebration.

I breathed a sigh of relief when we arrived at 10:20 and the parade hadn't started. Boy were we ever lucky to arrive on time.

My husband dropped us off on the main street and left to park the car. The four children and I stationed ourselves on a bank of stairs and waited expectantly.

We waited until ten-thirty. We waited until eleven o'clock. We waited until eleven-thirty. We waited until twelve o'clock.

Finally at twelve-fifteen the parade started, but only a fool would think that this was the beginning of the parade for the real parade of fashion had been going on in front of us for the entire two hours while we waited for the scheduled event.

That day was a real education for me, and I had fun in the learning. Men, women and children paraded up and down the street for the whole time either wearing new clothes or at least dressed in their best.

Children black and white were scrubbed and gleaming in socks that matched their hair ribbons. Often whole families were dressed in shirts, slacks or blouses of the same fabric. The only dirty person that I saw was one hippie who looked completely out of place in his tattered jeans.

Ladies leaned over the balconies and called to their friends below.

"This is my new festival costume," shouted a happy girl.

Spanish dancers, butterflies and bulls made their way up the street. Men with red shirts and straw hats hung with Christmas bells paraded in front of me. Steel bands costumed and mounted on trucks drove up and down the

MR. AND MRS. J.H. BULLER

Diana Bartlett weds James H. Buller

The Community Church of God was the scene Saturday, December 27, for the wedding of Diana Lynn Bartlett and James Harlan Buller.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bartlett and the groom is the son of Mrs. Harlan Buller of Salisbury, Maryland, and the late Mr. Buller.

Red Poinsettias and lighted candelabra and garlands of greens secured with red velvet bows formed a setting for the double ring ceremong that was officiated by Rev. Charles G. Struthers of Norristown Pa. and Rev. Richard W. Struthers of Three Rivers, Mich., both uncles of the bride. Lighted red candles circled with greens decorated the windows with Christmas accents marked the pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soi which the bride has designed and made. A band of Venice lace trimmed the high neckline, the empire waist, the bridal bell sleeves and the chapel length train. A pillbox with an overlay of matching Venice lace secured her chapel length veil of chiffon. She carried a pinnacle bouquet of white daisey pompoms and pink sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor was Connie Currie of Charlevoix while Kathy Hand of Whitehall and Debra Ann Bartlett, sister of the bride served as bridesmaids. They all wore identical dresses of wine red velvet with high neck and sleeves trimmed with white Venice lace. The velvet bows at the waistline complimented the bows in their hair. They carried white velvet muffs accented with red "Forever Yours" roses.

Flower girl Lee Ann Struthers, wore a dress of avonti trimmed with daisies. She carried a basket arrangement of white daisy pompoms and red and pink sweetheart roses.

Dawn Bartlett, sister of the bride served as junior bridesmaid. She wore a gown of avonti outlined with daisies. She carried a single red rose.

Serving as best man was Frederick Struthers of Bethlehem, Pa., Groomsmen were Bruce Bartlett and Donald Berg. They also assisted Daniel Berg in seating guests.

The brides mother chose a pink sheath ensemble with matching coat and wine accessories for the wedding. Mrs. Buller chose a beige brocade sheath dress and matching accessories for her son's wedding. They both wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

After a honeymoon to the Pacano Mts. the couple will reside at 123 D. Northgate, Cranbury, N.J. where Mr. Buller is associated with the Stoney Mueller Chemical Co. The bride attended Central Michigan University and will continue her studies at Kutztown State College in Pennsylvania.

Officers at Bethany

Sunday, January 4, during the regular service at Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church, seven people were installed as officers. They were: pres., W. Ormsby; vice pres., H. Forbrig; Treas., V. Cunningham; sec., E. Schultz; new trustees, J. Bergman and D. McCandless, and Elder R. Graff. These people will have the opportunity to serve their Lord in special ways during the coming years.

Pastor Duane Imig using the call of Matthew into discipleship as his text pointed out that all people are called into service for God. God has also given each individual disciple different talents. The "kinds" of talents that each has is not the most important thing; but that God's people use these talents to serve in His kingdom. The ability to use these talents does not come from human pride but from giving oneself over into the hand of God; and with God's strength and guidance go forward in service.

Bethany Lutheran Church holds Sunday worship services each Sunday at 9 .. a.m. and Sunday School at 10 a.m. An adult discussion bible class meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30. All meetings are held at the house of worship on S. Bridge St. Members of the community are invited to join us for these opportunities of worship and study.

Miss Potter on Dean's List

Deborah Jean Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Potter of Charlevoix, has been named to the Dean's List for the fall term at Northwestern Michigan College. Her point average was 4.

It's got more re-sale value because it's got more to re-sell.

One of the nicest things about buying an Impala is selling it. That's because selling it traditionally brings back more of what people put into it in the first place. Money. Where does Impala keep getting its higher resale value? From features like those you see below. Features which explain why America's most popular car for the last nine years will undoubtedly make it ten in a row.

Rayders drop to B. City, 67-46

The Charlevoix Red Rayders were upset by the Boyne City Ramblers 67-46 in a ball game played on Charlevoix's home court. The game against Boyne is the first game the Rayders have had since December 23, when they defeated the Traverse City St. Francis Gladiators.

Boyne took the lead early in the game and remained in the lead at the end of the first quarter 15 to 19.

Charlevoix came back with a strong second quarter and outscored the fired-up Boyne team 11 to 6 to make a 26 to 25 halftime score.

The second half found Charlevoix weak and unable to get together. The Rayders ran into foul allowing Boyne to go to the freethrow line and make 21 points. Boyne outscored the Rayders 11 to 20 to total the third quarter score at 37 to 45.

The forth quarter took its toll when sharp-shooter Stewart Coleman and haustler Bruce Meggison went out on fouls. The Rayders seemed to be having a hard time hitting the bucket and Boyne, taking advantage of their height over the Rayders and the Rayders mistakes, kept adding points to their winning margin.

Boyne again outscored the Rayders 22 to 9 to make for a final score 46 to 67 with Boyne coming out on top of the now third place Rayders.

For Charlevoix, Stewart Coleman scored 17 points to lead the Rayder attack. Tim Doan, Norm Ostrum and Kraag Lieberman scored eight with Bruce Meggison scoring four and Carl Novak one.

For the victorious Ramblers Skip Roberts lead all scorers with 21 followed by Kurt Kujawski, who had 7. Bill Korthase and Mike Mueller each had seven with Belford and Guitar hitting on six apiece.

The Rayders will have a tough schedule ahead of them this coming week traveling to St. Ignace on Friday to take on the undefeated Saints then to Alpena Catholic to meet the Thunderbolts and start the second round of the 1969-1970 basketball season.

The Rayder J.V.'s took a first period lead of 13 to 8 only to see the Ramblers chip away at the lead and take a 20 to 18 halftime edge.

The end of the third quarter still found the Rayders in the hole by five points with the Ramblers having a 37 to 32 cushion.

The fourth quarter found the Rayders taking command, gaining the lead and scoring 25 points to the six scored by the Boyne City squad. The final score was 51 to 43 with the Rayders on top.

Larry Potter lead the Charlevoix attack with 16 points followed closely by Jerry Pease who hit on 15. Roger Crain scored 10, Dave Swanson 9, Ned Henley 5 and Rich Donaldson 2 to round out Charlevoix's scoring.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

At the regular Board of Directors' meeting, Tuesday evening, January 6, it was with much regret to have to accept a letter of resignation from Mr. Tom G. Hanna. Mr. Hanna had served one year of his three year term and did lend considerable support. Primarily, he resigned so that he would have more time to devote to his new position as City of Charlevoix Administrator or Superintendent. We hope to be able to soon announce a replacement.

At the above mentioned regular meeting, Bruce Bartlett, Ken DePew, Tom Hanna, Dave Juilleret, Lyle Miles and Charles Themm answered to roll call. Those absent were Ralph Hess, Gordon Neff, and George Richardson. The last duty of the president, Mr. Miles, as President, was to call the meeting to order and to request an election of officers for 1970, which includes President, Vice-President, and Treasurer. He suggested before any nominations that the three newcomers be given opportunity to get right into the swing of things and accordingly, after little discussion, Bruce Bartlett became President, Charles Themm Vice-President, and Ken DePew Treasurer. The vote was unanimous. Before Mr. Miles completely resigned, he volunteered to be the liaison or go-between for the Chamber of Commerce and the Water Front Fair Committee. He also volunteered to be the Venetian Festival Boat Parade Chairman. There was a vote of compliment for the retiring officers and a hearty welcome for all the new ones. Minutes of the November 4 meeting and the December Dinner-Meeting, copies of which were mailed to the Directors, were approved as written. Mr. Hanna's letter of resignation was read into the minutes. Secretary was called for brief remarks as to finances. Loder indicated that December, 1969 total cash disbursements amounted to $1009.50 and that cash received for December 1969 totaled $854.70. Read from an adding machine tapes—cash receipts for twelve months in 1969 totaled $15,033.96 and that cash disbursements for the twelve months totaled $15,342.88. He also indicated from adding machine tapes other various totals taken from the ledger sheets in 1970, with hopes of having a statement available. Loder indicated at meeting time the check book balance was $764.05. He also called to attention the need of some dollars because of being compelled to operate from a general account it is going to be tight going.

street in preparation. Police on motorcycles rode up and down.

We had so much fun and got so famished waiting that Jack scouted around and got us some chicken sandwiches, pop and for me and he drinks of rum and Coca-Cola.

The chicken sandwiches consisted of a fried chicken leg stuck between two slices of bread with mayonaise, lettuce and tomatoes.

I must admit that drinking rum and Coca-Cola before noon made me feel as though I were now right in the swing of things. Every man seemed to have a liquor bottle hanging out of his back pocket and some of them were nearly empty by the time that I swallowed my first drop. I felt like a party pooper.

Finally the parade got underway.

"I wish that Mr. Odmark could see this," said Cathy as the St. Croix high school band paraded past. The only way that I could distinguish the director from the students was that he was white and they were black. The director wore sneakers and a gaily flowered shirt and he danced in and out among the colorfully costumed marching band as they schuffled and tooted their way along the street. The music was unbelievably bad, but everyone was having so much fun and playing with such gusto that it didn't matter a bit.

A few floats later rode the United States Marine Steel Band resplendent in their white dress uniforms, but followed so closely by a motorcycle brigade of youths that their music was practically drowned out.

Queens wore crowns. Negroes wore white face. Whites wore red faces and feathers. Matadors challenged bulls. Dancing girls displayed extravagant head dresses. Everyone did his own thing to the happy encouraging shouts of friends along the parade route.

But undoubtedly the highlight of the Three Kings Parade was the entry of the hot rod cars. The cars were decorated with slogans and information such as; tuned by C. T., Hercules, Blue Bragon; Ford gets its better ideas from Chevrolet.

The whole parade marched ahead and wisely left a space of two blocks for the hot rod cars which gunned their engines at the top of the hill to the cheers of teenage boys and girls who surrounded the cars. They gunned their engines over the encouraging shouts of friends then the cars took off at top speed and raced the two blocks down the hill of the parade route.

After it was all over our family agreed that this was the best parade that any of us had ever seen for paraders and spectators alike participated in the fun.

We could hardly believe Jack when he stated that St. Croix celebrates 27 national holidays a year exclusive of Saturday or Sundays.

One thing for sure, Cruzans really mean it when they say, "Stop rushing. You're in the Virgin Islands now."

It's really not a bad idea.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

Rocket to the moon, rendezvous in space, or orbit the earth, is space talk and isn't strange to hear anymore. The space age is here to stay and is now coming to farmers in the form of remote sensing devices in intricate cameras transport via satellite through space. This "spyin the sky" soon to be circling the earth will be used to detect harmful elements to the farmers business, like crop diseases, insect attack and flood land.

Lift-off for the first agricultural remote sensing "space station" is scheduled for 1971 or 1972 according to Agri-Dynamics, a quarterly agriculture magazine. The story reports that considerable research is still to be conducted here on earth before the blast off date. Purdue University's Laboratory for Agricultural Remote Sensing (LARS) is collecting data of the earth to better judge the accuracy of the reports that later, it is hoped, will be transmitted from the space satellite.

The ultimate aim is to obtain accurate crop reports and see that the information gets to the right person, fast. Present date-gathering services are lacking in both timeliness and accuracy. Some of the many problems according to the report are the many different soil types and the fact that all crops are not planted at the same time.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S ANTI-INFLATION POLICY
WAGE-PRICE CONTROLS, AND GUIDELINES

Guideposts not answer

If you are old enough to remember World War II, you will recall that wage-price controls did not work in that era. Nor did they during the Korean War. And more recently federal guideposts proved to be useless against the strong inflationary forces.

When guidepost enforcement was attempted, a feeling of bitterness was shown on the part of everyone concerned. And as the continuing inflation demonstrated, the guideposts did not work.

Inflation today has its roots in the fiscal and monetary mistakes of earlier years. The cure lies in a reversal of those mistaken policies, and the Administration is doing just this.

The effects of fiscal and monetary changes on price trends are not immediate. We have to stay with this present policy long enough to make it work. There is no easy way to price stability. Seeking a short-cut through wage-price controls or guideposts will only slow down the process.

Regulatory legislation is not necessary, for it would tend to be both arbitrary and discriminatory in its treatment of private citizens, and would not accomplish its objective to stabilize the economy.

A bitter after-taste

We tried a bottle of the new no-cyclamate pop the other day. Not bad, but there was that bitter after-taste that some brands like Fresca didn't have when cyclamates were allowed.

Probably it's not an issue worth getting excited about, but somehow there's ranking bitter taste about the whole silly affair. We appreciate the research that was done on cyclamates. We're glad they told us that a dose equivalent to 50 bottles of pop per day produced cancer in rats.

We wish they had left it right there. After a warning, if we want to drink cyclamates, it's our business. Government should worry about eliminating the hazards which the citizen can do nothing about -- like the pollution in the air and the lakes, the DDT and the 2,4-D

Today's youth just argues more

You hear it all the time: "Today's kids are much smarter than yesterday's." According to the Sarnia Observer, the dogmatic statement usually stands on its own feet without amplification and if it's repeated often enough, pretty soon everyone's believing it.

Everyone, that is, except Dr. Kingsley Smith, 65, who recently retired as professor of industrial psychology at Pennsylvania State University. He firmly believes students are not any smarter. They only argue more he says, which in his view is hardly a sign of higher intelligence.

Dr. Smith is right -- after a fashion. Youth today is more vocal than it has ever been in history but we tend to believe it is also more worldly-wise if not academically superior.

Says Dr. Smith: "There's too great a tendency today to look at someone who is argumentative and say he's bright. I haven't found students today to be any brighter or more inquisitive than those I taught 20 or 30 years ago. And there's no reason to expect that they would be. After all, the evolutionary process hasn't changed that much in 30 years and that controls mental development in man."

However, he does admit there are other, subtle changes. He finds today's students less inhibited, less restrained than their predecessors. But he, too, expresses concern about some aspects of what is commonly known as the Turned-On-Generation. What bothers him is not the attacks on the establishment but the way students go about it.

"If kids wont to change the establishment, that's one thing," he says, "but let them be like Ralph Nader, who led the fight for safer autos, clean meat and consumer protection. He went after the establishment, but he got a law degree first so he'd know what he was doing."

Dr. Smith has a valid point. We are well aware that most of today's student activists resent the sham they see around them. But shouting at it instead of working to erase it shows immaturity.

Viewpoint!

Poisons

In the best of homes there are many poisons that may be fatal to little children who swallow them.

Most of these poisons are not intended as such; they are products commonly found in households-aspirin, sleeping tablets, shoe polish, drain cleaners, charcoal lighter fluid, and so on.

Some 250,000 household products or medicines, the American Medical Association estimates, might cause poisoning if not properly used.

Far and away the greatest number of accidental poisoning victims are children under five years of age.

Each year, half a million of them in this country survive swallowing toxic products, but some die - 300 in 1968 and many suffer greatly and more than a few wind up with permanent disability.

There are essentially two ways of dealing with this problem. Both should be used.

One is to keep potentially dangerous household items out of the reach of small children. That is something parents can do.

The other thing is to assure that, insofar as is practicable, medicines and other hazardous products will be put up in what the National Safety Council calls "child-resistant" packaging.

This will have to be done through legislation, and that is the thrust of the Poison Prevention Packaging Act now before Congress.

This bill, introduced by Chairman Frank Moss of the Senate Commerce Consumer subcommittee, would empower the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to set safety packaging standards on a wide range of products.

Some safety closures already are on the market, notably on bottles for aspirin and other medicines. More are in the design and testing stages.

There is need however, for law to require all manufacturers to do what some are undertaking voluntarily.

Holiday food

The trouble with the joyous Yule-tide-cum-New Year's season is that a fellow tends to get carried away by the celebrative spirit. We have in mind nothing so crass as over-drinking. The theme of this homily is gustatory excess.

Holiday meals do not in themselves comprise the greater part of the problem; they are but, to coin a phrase, the tip of the iceberg. Besides, one can see them coming, and take suitable evasive action-preliminary fasting, for example, and stout refusal of second helpings.

The real sources of dangers are more subtle, and harder to deal with. Seasonal goodies lurk by the wayside, springing out when a man's defenses are down and only a churl would refuse a kind hostess.

The festive aura tends to pervade the lunch table, so that before one is aware of it damage has been done.

The consequences soon become evident. One begins to seek them here and there, the holiday pots in pants. Getting rid of them will be a lot less fun than acquiring them.

Art

The relationship between art and business used to be considered about on a par with that between oil and water. In recent years there has been some mixing of the two. Big businesses have increasingly shown a corporate taste for art, spending lavishly on paintings and sculpture to decorate their offices.

Another facet of the change is that art itself has become rather a large business. The Times-Sotheby Index of Art, which charts such things, shows that art values have mushroomed. The value of Picasso prints has gone up 120 percent in a year. Old books and paintings by old masters have also grown substantially in value, with a 32 percent and 47 percent increase respectively.

Making money in art is not an easy thing, however investors must know how to determine what is good for the art speculator. To do this the investor does what he does in the business world: he finds expert advice. At least four companies have been established for this purpose.

They offer such services as investing in shares of public companies that deal in art objects, or arranging for participation in private investment funds that trade art and evaluate shares like mutual funds.

The trend is a far cry from the days when art was separated from the crass dealings of the marketplace. One can only hope that while all the trading goes on someone takes a little time now and again to look at the pictures.

Should Hazel be drafted?

Lately, probably because I've been hanging around the wrong beauty salons, I've been getting a lot of flack about women's rights.

"You always complain about racial discrimination," these females tell me, "but what about sex discrimination? Name any activity and you'll have to admit that women must do it twice as good as men to get half as much pay."

Most of them stem from the solid fact that it takes only 9 months for a women to do something a man can't do in 90 years. Artificial insemination allows Hazel to reproduce without the direct help of Harry. And in a few years, she won't even need Harry's indirect help. Blue-eyed-boy capsules, manufactured from reclaimed Burpee seeds, will be sold at the supermarket. Hazel can pop a baby pill in her mouth and, as far as the diaper industry is concerned, it won't make a bit of difference if Harry never comes home from poker club.

That's what Hazel can do without Harry. But no one has even suggested that someday Harry might wear a maternity smock.

So this gives Hazel an exclusive perch on the family nest. Without her, there's no family. And while she's home having kids, she might as well melt the food, push the washer button and tell the meter reader to wipe his feet. Let Harry go downtown and earn enough to cover her checks.

That's what the keep-em-in-the-kitchen guys say. Not me. To each his own, and that includes women. If Hazel wants to run for President, or quarterback the Jets, she should be allowed, with no sex strings attached. She should get the same pay as Joe Namath, if she can throw as straight. And she should use the same locker room.

I'll admit I wouldn't want to marry this type of Hazel, but that's a personal preference based on my own quirks. Anyway, the feeling would surely be mutual. President Hazel wouldn't want me watching TV and drinking beer in the Lincoln Room when the guided tours came through.

But I'd vote for Hazel if I thought she was the best candidate. For instance, Spiro Agnew could be a Presidential hopeful someday. I'd rather vote for Hazel Humperdink whose only political experience was as rural mail carrier out of Lum, Mich.

However: Now that I've paraded my liberalism, there are a couple of questions that stump me. . .

There was just a draft lottery. All the birth dates in the fish bowl belonged to males. All you women who want complete equality — do you want to fight the wars, too?

There is currently a terrible stink about the alleged massacre of civilians in Vietnam. One of the most awful things, according to all reports, is that WOMEN were killed. Is it worse to kill women than men? Why? What kind of equality is that?

I'll admit I can't give tough answers to those questions. Probably for the same dumb reason I wouldn't want to kiss the President of the United States behind the ears.

I think all doors should be open to Hazel. But I can't control that urge to open them for her.

Forgive me, girls. But Onward and Upward to you, anyway.

ON THE 'FLIP' SIDE

John Reddy joins us in the following remarks on last week's Rose Bowl.

Those who may be expected to know say students at the University of Michigan were not appropriately excited about the Wolverine football squad's appearance in the Rose Bowl. The old alums, forever tied to the glory of their past, seem more sparked by the upcoming event and the bone-crushing victory over Ohio State than did the present underclassmen.

This serious generation, some of its self-appointed spokesmen argue, do not have time for that grunting kid stuff.

Well, I don't happen to believe that those professing to speak for the present crop of campus students know any more about their total class attitudes than the outspoken students of generations past.

Most of the students always take things seriously. That's the nature of the campus. And there are times when fun and games are part of the life style. Those who would deny this are, I believe, a little flaky.

Furthermore, they probably are the students who take lightly to their studies but take as serious business their role in demonstrations. Watching television reports of this minority's invasion of administration buildings is a little like watching neighborhood kids sneak into the prairie hut of the gang from the next block.

It strikes me that there is a school thought among too many youth that relaxation has no place in life if one must pursue it through traditional athletics, hobbies and leisure time activities. To this group, it would seem that everything is deadly serious.

So, when it comes time for relaxation and a little hair letting, they can't distinguish between the things that should be taken seriously and those which might appropriately be viewed with a little levity.

It's kind of like the fellow who returns to his office over the weekend to work on his moonlighting project. After a while he no longer is capable of distinguishing how much of his fatigue comes from his regular job and that which is produced by a task that has nothing to do with his job.

A man has to have a way of venting his hostile frustrations, and letting out a good yell in a crowded football stadium seems like a pretty healthy place to do it -- so long as one's dressed warm enough.

I hope too many college students don't forget to learn how to relax. Otherwise, there could be a whole new generation of the strung out.

Leslie Howe Rites Tuesday

BOYNE CITY - Final rites for Leslie Howe, 75, long time Hayes township, Charlevoix county resident, will be held Tuesday, January 13, at 1:30 p.m. from the United Methodist Church, Horton Bay. The Revs. Ed Koteskey and Seward Walton will officiate.

Mr. Howe died Friday at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey. His body is at Stackus Funeral Home, here, where friends may call.

Born in Hayes township, Maple Grove-rd., on May 21, 1894, Mr. Howe spent his entire life in that area. He was caretaker at the F. R. Dickinson farm, Hayes township for 42 years, before retirement in 1967.

A World War I veteran he was a life charter member of the Maple Grove and Boyne City Oddfellow Lodge and a member of the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, Charlevoix American Legion.

Mr. Howe married Ida May Milton in 1922 in Hayes township. His wife preceded him in death in 1943. He married Pat Garlock in 1951, who survives.

Besides his wife, he leaves four daughters from his first marriage: Mrs. Lawrence (Elinor) Speigl, East Jordan; Mrs. Thomas (Ardeth) Weiland, Charlevoix; Mrs. Terence (Vonda) McConnell, Petoskey; Mrs. William (Arvilla) Bates, Syracuse, New York; two step-sons, Edward Garlock, Clawson, Mich., Thomas Garlock, Boyne City; one step-daughter, Mrs. Patricia Rosol, Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Clinton (Addie) Groth, La-Canada, Calif., Mrs. Leo (Lela) Allard, Charlevoix; one brother, Walter Howe, Charlevoix and 24 grandchildren.

The family has requested that Mr. Howe's memory be honored with contributions to the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Interment will be at Maple Lawn Cemetery, Boyne City.

Ellsworth buys bus

A new 66-passenger school bus has been purchased by the Ellsworth School Board at a cost of $9,091.87.

The Board accepted that bid from Barnes International Truck Sales of Eastport at its meeting last week. The board hopes delivery will be made within two months.

The bus will be used to prevent overcrowding on present buses. The district has a record enrollment of 320 students this year.

In other business, the board discussed Gov. William Milliken's proposal that school districts be established with a minimum enrollment of 2,000 students.

The treasurer's report showed a balance in the general fund of $27,866.31 and in the debt retirement fund of $16,211.86.

Second concert set for tonight

On Monday, January 12, the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association will present its second performance of the current season. David Bar-Illan, the famed Israeli pianist will present a concert at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Petoskey Junior High School.

Bar-Illan made his debut with the New York Philharmonic in January of 1960 in a performance of the Liszt Piano Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major, and won unanimous praise from the New York press. The New York Times described him has having the "panache of an assured young virtuoso," and the Herald Tribune praised his "thorough technical mastery and polish, constantly musical tone – and sensitive communication of mood." The World-Telegram and Sun summed it up as "virtuoso brilliance – eloquent displays of temperament, tone and technique. This boy can play!"

He has appeared with the great orchestras of Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Baltimore, San Antonio, Atlanta, New Orleans; Washington, D.C., as well as with the New York Philharmonic, and with the great European orchestras: the Berlin Philharmonic, the Amsterdam Concertgebouw and the Royal Liverpool Philharmonic. He has made recital tours of the U.S. and Canada, all the major European and South American countries, and Israel.

His first major appearance on the international state took place in his native Israel, when he introduced Robert Starer's Second Piano Concerto, written especially for him, with the distinguished Israel Philharmonic. The guest conductor at that time was Dimitri Mitropoulos, who immediately and successfully, engage Mr. Bar-Illan for an appearance with the New York Philharmonic the following season.

During the season of 1961-1962, Mr. Bar-Illan made a sensational appearance as a replacement for Emil Gilels in Amsterdam. The Russian virtuoso cancelled his concert, and Mr. Bar-Illan was invited to fill in via trans-Atlantic telephone and arrived the day of the concert.

Auto dealer wants answers on car bid

The highlight of the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors meeting last week was the appearance of Jack Dickout of Boyne City, owner of Jack's Auto Sales. He appeared before the board to question their recent decision to accept the bid of Parcel Oldsmobile for use by the Sheriff's Department when his bid for a Plymouth was less. He made it very clear that he was there as a taxpayer to question the expenditure, not as a defeated bidder.

He asked the board how they could justify the $364 more than the lowest bid they had for a car for the Sheriff's Department. He then read the specification the Board had given the prospective bidders, pointing out that the specifications had distinctly asked for a police package car. Then he stated that only three manufacturers make what is known as a police package car, Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth, and also added that Oldsmobile does not make such a car. He said that he had nothing against Olds as a car of Parcel as a dealer. But, he did say the specifications the committee had drawn up did not fit the car they had chosen.

Though he was speaking to the entire board, Dickout directed most of his questions to Ken Staley, Chairman of the Sheriff's committee which made the recommendation that the Parcel bid be accepted.

Among other things, Staley stated that the Olds would have a

Charlevoix High School again this year has a foreign exchange student. Patricia Bohn of Buenos Aires, Argentina, will be spending the next six months living with the Clem Wagner family and attending Charlevoix High School.

Patricia, 17, lives with her mother in Argentina and attended school in Buenos Aires. She was asked what are the main differences between school here in Charlevoix and her school home. She stated that in Argentina they attend school only in the morning and have to carry a load of 12 subjects, all of which are required. They are also required to wear the school uniform.

While in school here, Patricia will be taking U.S. History, U.S. Government, trigonometry and English.

Why he resigned

Rex Milligan resigns; plans to teach again

When Rex Milligan resigned from his post as Superintendent of the Charlevoix School District, it came as a surprise to many, but was not totally unexpected by those who are most familiar with him.

His decision to leave the spot as the district's chief executive was not a sudden decision.

Why did Milligan quit?

"I have thought about the move for some time," the Superintendent said. "I have a lot of ideas about teaching children, and I want to try them. I'm 54 years old, and decided that if I don't try them now, I might never get the chance.

"My next job will be a return to teaching at the middle grade level," he said.

He hasn't decided where he'll teach, and doesn't plan to announce his decision for awhile.

But, he did indicate he would like to teach in a school system which utilizes teaching aids found in materials centers such as those started this year at the new Charlevoix elementary school.

When asked if a return to the classroom might be a difficult

Hoffman is Bar pres.

NEW PREXY, BOB HOFFMAN

Charlevoix attorney Robert Hoffman has been elected president of the Emmet-Charlevoix Bar Association for 1970.

Hoffman, who has practiced in Charlevoix since late 1965, was installed in the position Thursday night at the organization's dinner-meeting at the Weathervane Inn.

The local attorney also holds memberships in the State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

A graduate of Detroit College of Law, he, his wife, Joan, and their youngsters, Paul, Tim and Lisa, reside on Dixon Avenue.

Other officers installed Thursday were Nathaniel W. Stroup of Petoskey, vice-president; Donald Berlage of Charlevoix, secretary; and Robert Klevorn of Boyne City, treasurer.

Board sets policy for activity trips

The Charlevoix Board of Education met last Monday night and set a policy relating to school activity bus trips, heard a report on the progress of the material centers by Mrs. Joy Mudge, school librarian, opened bids for carpeting the new elementary school library, hired a new elementary teacher and approved policies for the use of school facilities.

Under the new policies for school activity trips, the drivers were asked to keep all other school buses in sight, and if they are not in sight in five minutes they must go to their assistance. If the other bus is found to be disabled, the returning bus will be required to take the passengers on their bus and continue to their destination.

On night trips, the bus drivers will be required to keep two dome lights on inside the bus. Students are to be advised that this is the school policy.

Mrs. Mudge gave a detailed report on the material centers at the schools. The materials in the centers are being purchased with money raised through a one mill tax levy approved by the voters last summer.

Bids were received from three companies on carpeting for the Middle School library. Wickes Co. $852.68, Bartlett Carpet and Tile, $825.50 and Hess Furniture, $794.90. The first two bids included the cost of any floor repair that might be necessary. All three of the bidders presented samples. The bids were referred to he building and grounds committee for evaluation and decision.

The board also approved the hiring of Miss Joan Baumer of Harrison as a teacher in the elementary school beginning in the second semester. A graduate of Central Michigan University, Miss Baumer did her student teaching in the Saginaw Township schools. She will replace Mrs. Patricia Schultz who will be leaving the faculty later this month.

The Board set up rules regarding the use of th school by outside groups. Any abuse of the rules will result in a written warning. After a second violation the group will not be allowed to use the school facilities.

A letter from Senator Thomas Schweigert was given to the members. It was an answer to a letter from Mrs. Francis Hooper, secretary of the Board regarding school re-organization. The letter out-lined the three requirements that might be waived if a school district had less than the 2,000 enrollment that is being considered as the minimum.

He also stated that Charlevoix may be an exception because within a few years the district may contain well over 2,000 students.

The letter also said that since Charlevoix school district's enrollment increased from 930 in 1959 to 1,530 in 1969, it would lead him to believe that the Charlevoix district would be exempt. He doubts that a school such as Charlevoix would be required to annex.

It was decided that the Junior Prom could be held anywhere within a 50 mile radius. This year the junior class is negotiating with Shanty Creek Lodge which is in the 50 mile radius. Last year the Prom was held at Stafford's Bay View Inn because there was no suitable place in Charlevoix to hold such an event.

Charles England reported that the work on the job analysis survey was progressing as was that on curriculum and that the results of the work would soon be available.

It was also reported that principals contracts will be presented at a later meeting.

CHS '69 survey

(Special to the Courier)

Dr. William Ratigan, Charlevoix High School counselor, has released a career and college profile of the CHS graduating class of 1969.

The survey, completed right before the holidays, shows that of the class' 102 graduates, 62 percent entered college.

Dr. Ratigan stated that "the pattern of CHS '69 graduates again is a forceful reminder of the trend toward education beyond high school.

"Counting the students who entered technical schools and armed forces training as well as college, 74 percent went on to some kind of specialized education, whether exploring liberal arts on a university campus, working as an electrician on an aircraft carrier, or practicing hairsetting in a beauty academy," Dr. Ratigan added.

Larry Anders, North Central Michigan College, Exploring Liberal Arts. Tom Anderson, Northern Michigan University, Exploring Liberal Arts. Beth Baldwin, Central Michigan University - Journalism. Sue Bascom, Explored banking career, then two months in Australia. Gary Beitel, Explored Lansing automobile production. Entering MSU Jan. Billie Bergmann, Northwestern College. Accent on fashion design? Dan Bergmann, NCMC, Petoskey. Exploring Conservation. Robert Borths, Exploring World of Work (WOW) at Belvedere Club. Janice Bruce, MRS degree. Mrs. Russell Wiser, housewife, Chx. Tom Burns, Machine Tool Operator program. Alpena Community College. Ellen Buzzard, Delta College. 2-year R.N. nursing program. Nancy Carr, Michigan State University (MSU). Interior Decorating.

Highway money here is $40,849

Michigan Counties and the department of State Highways will receive nearly $10.7 million in Federal Aid Secondary (FAS) highway money in the 1970-71 fiscal year, according to the department.

This totals about $70,000 less than was received this fiscal year because the increase in Michigan's county road mileage was not as great as the increase in the national average, said department officials.

Locally, Charlevoix County will receive $40,849. Other county totals include Antrim, $44,896; Emmet, $45,762; and Otsego, $44,934.

Under a formula established by the State Highway Commission, the counties will receive 66 percent of the FAS money and the Highway Department will receive 34 percent.

FAS money is earmarked by law for use on state secondary (farm to market) and county secondary (major county) highways. The money is administered by the Highway Department.

The county apportionments are based on land area, population and county road mileage.

Ellsworth Co-op Manager retires

Darwin Orcutt, after 26 years of service as the manager of the Ellsworth Farmers Exchange retired December 31, 1969.

Prior to coming to Ellsworth in 1944, Orcutt was employed in Elk Rapids by the Elk Rapids Co-op Marketing Association, first operating a cream-buying station, then as a book-keeper.

Taking over his duties as manager is Harold Jansen who has been with the Exchange since 1946 as bookkeeper. Working in the office now is Marlin Sempert of Six Mile Lake.

A retirement dinner was held Saturday night Jan. 3 at Buds Grill in Bellaire by the board of directors and the employees and their wives in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt. Orcutt was presented with a gift and a bonus at the supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt have two married daughters, Mrs. Harold Petter and Mrs. Glen Woodcock living in Traverse City and four grandchildren. He is a member of the village council, Chamber of Commerce, a charter member of the Ellsworth Lions Club and Farm Bureau, also a member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of East Jordan.

We are most happy that he and his wife Mildred will remain in Ellsworth and continue to be helpful citizens of our community.

Dudik at forum

ROLLIE DUDIK

Rollie Dudik, Administrator of Charlevoix Hospital, was among those who attended a health forum in Gaylord recently to organizae an Areawide Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

The purpose of the forum was to consider organizational matters of the council including basic objectives, governing rules and membership.

According to James Kelley, state health planning consultant, the forum helped to "develop a viable health planning council to deal with area and local community health concerns."

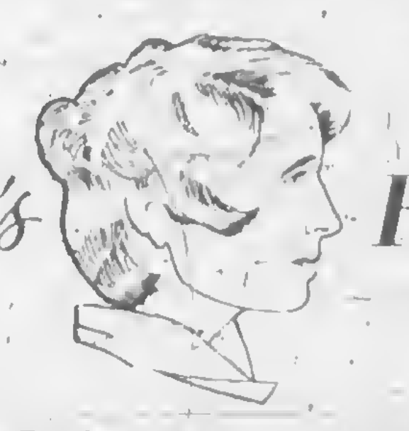
Pat's Reaction



Road Town, British Tortola is a name that has always envoked excitement and mystery in me. Somehow it seems like the end of the earth, a tiny Caribbean island where I might expect to find a lonesome bar with Sydney Greenstreet, Peter Lorrie and Humphrey Bogart in tropical white suits outwitting each other over tepid rum.

You can imagine then, how excited I was when our family chartered a sailboat at St. Johns and started island hopping down Sir Francis Drake Pussage to British Tortola. My husband was the captain and the four children and I were the crew. If the old Spanish and English sailors who navigated those waters 300 years ago could have seen us they probably would have thought that we were a pretty motley crew of undisciplined sailors.

They certainly would have taken a second look if they had seen us drop anchor in coves along the way, don huge fins, masks and snorkel tubes and jump feet first into the water, only to idle away our time watching fish. But this is exactly what we did as we sailed through this beautiful passage of islands.

By the time that we reached Road Town we were low on food supplies and high on enthusiasm to get off the boat and onto some dry land. Foreign soil made the landing seem even more exciting.

Before I left Charlevoix I had checked with Andrew Kan Travel Agency who assured me that only Jack and I would need passports and that birth certificates would be sufficient for our children to land at British Tortola, so armed with these we tied our boat at the dock and disembarked. I kept looking for a customs inspector to challenge us, but none came by so we started walking the mile or so to town. We could have been smuggling heroin and the crown jewels for no one even gave us a suspicious glance. What an opportunity lost!

At St. Johns we had been unable to buy any fresh milk and very little fresh fruit so we needed those items as well as eggs and meat which are also hard to find. Since I was on a lovely tropical isle I planned to buy fresh fish for dinner so I added lemons to my shopping list.

We eusily found the supermarket as it was right on the main drag with a big sign Supermarket printed over the entrance. The entrance led to a ten by twelve room piled high with dusty cans and strewn with empty boxes. To enter I had to jump over a big tub of beer bottles which the proprietor was sorting. I found Heineken's beer priced at two bottles for 47 cents and Hawaiian Punch priced at 85 cents per can. I found a large

Obituaries

D. Fosmore

Funeral services for Dewey Fosmore, 72 who died at Charlevoix Hospital unexpectedly were held Friday at 11 a.m. from the Stone Funeral Home, in Petoskey. Rev. Richard Halter, of Gaylord, officiated and interment was in Carp Lake.

Mr. Fosemore was born April 13, 1897, near Howard City and came to the Carp Lake area in 1924. He married Ruth Struble in March 1925 at Carp Lake and she died in 1960.

Mr. Fosmore worked in the lumber mills in the Carp Lake area and then later farmed in the same area for 20 years.

He was a member of the Bible Baptist Church, in Charlevoix and was also a deacon in the church.

He married Maimie Andersen in Charlevoix August 5, 1961.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nelson (Bernice) Allerding, of Harbor-rd. and Mrs. Jim (Ione) Lugibihl, of Charlevoix; one son, Wilbur, of Pellston; two step-daughters, Mrs. Donald (LoAnne) Brown, of Charlevoix and Mrs. James (Viola) Pettis, also of Charlevoix; three brothers, Bud and Warren, of Coos Bay, Oregon, and Carl of Levering; two sisters, Mrs. Blanche Schnick and Mrs. Hazel Davis, both of Coos Bay, Oregon; 28 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

H.D. Jarvis

Word has been received that funeral services for Harold Dixon (Dick) Jarvis were held from the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church in Detroit on November 10, 1969, with interment at Roseland Park Cemetery in that city.

Dixon, (named for John Sergeant Dixon, original owner of the site of the village of Charlevoix) was the grandson of Robert Miller also a pioneer of Charlevoix. His mother, Agnes Miller Jarvis was a musician of note.

Dixon Jarvis served in Navy Communications during both World Wars 1 and 2, whereby he received the Navy Unit Commendation award, Good Conduct Medal, Victory Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Area Campaign Medal as well as World War 2 Victory Medal.

Mr. Jarvis is survived by his wife, Kathleen, a son Dixon of Minneapolis, Minn., a brother Robert Jarvis, of Bloomsbury, N.J. and a sister, Rita Jarvis, of Englewood, New Jersey.

Charlevoix youngsters grab their ice skates as soon as school is over....and head for the skating rink at the Middle School. There are lots of spills and an occasional collision, but everybody seems to have fun.

Ice Skating's fun!

Join the Party

"I may be a little late, but I'm not gonna' hurry."

Mrs. Jeanette Avery, center, is presented with Gift Savings Account in name of her newborn daughter by Charlevoix Hospital administrator Rollie Dudik and nurse Katherine Boss.

The futility of it all....but, you can bet this skater will bounce up and be off again. Skating at rink is allowed after school hours, on weekends, and evenings.

March of Dimes drive begins

Clement J. Wagner, on behalf of the local March of Dimes drive, has announced that Mrs. Charles V. Clifford and Mrs. Leonard Dubey has been named co-chairmen of the drive.

It was also announced that captains of the Block Mothers will include Mrs. Tony Atkinson, Mrs. Howard Otis, Mrs. Clem Wagner, Mrs. Marge Saunders, Mrs. Roger Coen, Mrs. Thelma Powell, Mrs. Oscar Ward, Mrs. Leonard Staley, Mrs. John Resch, Mrs. Bruce Morgan, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. Wayne Oliver, Mrs. C.J. Fiedler, and Mrs. Roland Peltier.

Mrs. C.A. Odmark will captain the container division for distribution to the local business establishments.

Vane Smith, Raymond Carr and Glenn Snider will head the school drive, with St. Mary's school participating.

Wagner noted that the drive will start today and continue through January 31.

Contributions may be mailed to the Chairman, March of Dimes, at Charlevoix County State Bank.

You, your child and TV

Repetition is key to learning process

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series by the assistant research director of the Children's Television Workshop, creators of Sesame Street, the new series for preschool children.)

By Barbara Frengel Reeves

"Read it again." "Do it again." "Sing it again."

Sound familiar? Many a parent reaches a point where she is convinced her child's vocabulary consists only of "again."

When an adult enjoys an activity he may look forward to repeating it some time in the future. Not so the young child! If he sees, hears or plays something he likes he wants to do it again and he wants to do it again right now.

Offer to read a bedtime story to your child and see which one he'll choose. It won't be the new book his grandmother just bought him but the old one with the cover half torn off. The same book you read to him last night. He knows the story so well he can – and will – tell you if you've left out a word. Yet he still wants to hear it again.

Play hide-and-seek with your child an most of the times you'll find him in the same spot.

What can children possibly get out of so much repetition?

Some experts feel the child gains a sense of power and mastery as he repeats and repeats an activity, each time with more competence. With repetition, activities also become more familiar to the child and so he is less frightened by them.

Whatever the reasons, this love for repetition reaches into many areas of the child's life – whether it's wanting the same sandwich every day at lunchtime or watching the same television program every morning.

Our research at Children's Television Workshop has shown that, within limits, young children like television commercials the more they are repeated. They don't become bored with heavy repetition, us adults do. And most commercials are short and snappy and so easier for him to remember.

Repetition plays a major role in learning. Educators call it "practice."

The producers of Sesame Street have taken advantage of repetition and practice in designing the program. Short "commercials" are used to "sell" letters and numbers. Each commercial is seen a number of times – in the same program and throughout the weeks.

We have found that, by using this technique, children will learn a jingle about the letter "J" just as easily as they learn a song about a cereal or a mouthwash. And they love every repeated minute of it.

One of Sesame Street's first fan letters came from a New Jersey mother whose two-year-old daughter learned to count to ten from watching only a few repeats of "number" commercials.

Now that is the kind of repetition even mothers enjoy!

E.J. chamber meeting to host state rep

"This is your chamber" is the topic to be presented by a representative of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce at the East Jordan Area Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting at the American Legion Hall in East Jordan on January 22 at 6 p.m., according to E.J. chamber president Robert Forsman.

Carl Jorgensen, manager of the Public Affairs and Local Chamber Services division of the state chamber, will present the program, giving some background on the local chamber movement, and will illustrate the work necessary to run a chamber...

The program will be different than most, say chamber officials. Local chamber members will be involved. They will be called upon to develop projects and programs the chamber should be supporting throughout the year.

Tickets are available from president Foorsman or chamber secretary Virginia Carey. Tickets will also be sold at the door the night of the meeting.

The East Jordan chamber has invited members of other chambers in the area to attend the meeting.

greater trade-in value in two years than the Plymouth. Then Dickout said that no one knows the trade-in value of a car until the time it is traded in. He then returned to the point that the original request asked for a police package car.

He concluded by saying that this whole thing was not out in the open and that he felt that the taxpayers had a right to know. "You haven't a police package car and you did not accept the lowest bid," was his parting remark.

The other board members stated that they had accepted the bid with the understanding that the cost of changing over the equipment and the ultimate trade-in value of the Olds would outweigh the lesser cost in Dickout's bid. There were a few other remarks regarding the issues before any other business came to the board.

Before Dickout began to speak, he asked for them to be placed in the minutes of the meeting.

In other action the board approved appointment of Dr. Robert Martin as medical examiner and Dr. John Lignell fof Charlevoix, Dr. J. W. Christie of St. James and J. Van Dellen of East Jordon as deputy medical examiners for terms of three years each.

The board also received a report from S. T. Gerganoff, architect of the new county jail. He said the plans for the new building were proceeding well and that they should be completed soon. He also asked for a $5,000 payment agreed upon earlier. This was approved of by the board.

They also had a lengthy discussion on the Michigan Blue Cross Blue Shield insurance. Three are presently 22 city employees that are on the plan.

Munson hosts area nurses

Munson Medical Center hosted 18 members of the Directors of Nursing Service Association, North Central District Hospital Council last week. This (bi-monthly) meeting was called for 10 a.m. in the Conference Room, by Mrs. Esta vonBargen, RN, Association President. Mrs. vonBargen is Director of Nursing Service at Mercy Hospital in Cadillac.

Serving as hosts for the meeting were Mrs. Gertrude Osterlund, RN, Director of Nursing Service at Munson Medical Center and Edward L.T. Lyon, Assistant Director of Munson and liaison officer between the North Central District Hospital Council and the N.C.D.A of Directors of Nursing Service. Sister Mary Ricardo, RAM, Administrator of Mercy Hospital, Cadillac, is president of the North Central District Hospital Council.

The morning session was devoted to a discussion of pharmacy problems related to nursing service and to the unit dose system. It was led by W.F. Adrain, RPh, Director of Pharmacy Central Supply at the St. Lawrence Sisters of Mercy Hospital in Lansing. Other subjects pertaining to the care of the patient were discussed by Mrs. A. Wrather, RN, Grayling Mercy Hospital, and Mrs. Margaret McChrystal, RN, Traverse City Osteopathic Hospital.

Following luncheon which was held in one of the cafeteria dining rooms, Lyon led a discussion of community-wide disaster planning. He illustrated his talk with a film to point up ways and means of coordinating community resources for a joint disaster plan which it is expected will lead to consideration and development of the proposed plan.

The next meeting of the Directors of Nursing Service, NCDHC will be held on March 13. Members will be notified of the location. Members include Mrs. Esta vonBargen, Mrs. Margaret McChrystal, Vice President; Mrs. Mildred Bishop, RN, Alpena, Secretary; Mrs. Kathryn Boss, RN, Charlevoix Hospital; Mrs. Frances Larson, RN, Paul Oliver Memorial Hospital, Frankfort; Sister Mary David and Mrs. A. Wrather, Mercy Hospital, Grayling; Mrs. Nancy Kalchik, RN, Leelanau Memorial Hospital, Northport; Frances McLachlau, RN, Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey; Ann Mae Stewart, RN, Lockwood General Hospital, Petoskey; Phyllis Langley, RN, Tawas St. Joseph Hospital, Tawas City; Mrs. Gertrude Osterlund and Edward L.T. Lyon, Munson Medical Center, Traverse City and Mrs. Hawthorne, RN, Tolfree Memorial Hospital, West Branch. Other hospitals represented are Otsego County Memorial Hospital, Gaylord; Kalkuska Memorial Health Association, Kalkaska; Russell Memorial Health Association, Onaway; Rogers City Hospital, Rogers City; and Mackinac Straits Hospital, St. Ignace.

Stay off lakes!

Snowmobilers were warned last week that ice on Lake Charlevoix and Walloon Lake, for the most part, is not safe for use.

Conservation officer Frank Dufon said both lakes have patches of ice which were open water less than two weeks ago. His advice is, "Play it safe....stay off both lakes until the ice is thicker."

assortment of Yardley of London false eyelashes and cosmetics, but no meat, no eggs, no fish and no fruit. For that I was directed up the street to another store which was about the size of a kitchen. Here I found fresh fruit and two bottles of sour milk, but no meat, no eggs and no fish.

While foraging further I was offered fresh pigs feet and fly studded pork chops which I declined. I finally settled for chicken frozen and packaged in Wisconsin, canned corned beef, and canned tuna which tasted like cat food. Come to think of it, maybe it was cat food.

In any case the delectable fresh fish that I had been seeking was nowhere to be found, so we loaded our family of six and our boxes of groceries into a jeep taxi and set off on a short tour of Road Town.

My architect husband could hardly get over all of the construction which was in progress. We had expected Road Town to be sleepy, but it was evidently booming. A new hotel was being built, luxury condominiums were nearly completed and the harbor swamp was being filled in for low cost housing. The radio station was expanding its coverage and a new car agency was opening.

Our taxi driver was talkative and informative, two qualities which don't always go together, so he brought us up to date about the island. When I asked him about my difficulty in finding fresh fish he leveled with me as only an islander can do.

"No fresh fish, Lady, make more money driving taxi."

Oh, if only Sydney Greenstreet had been along to hear that.

Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

BY SAM SUPERNAW

The second week of action in the Independent League saw the first week's victors winning all their contests. The U.S. Coast Guard Sundew defeated Andy's Tire World 48-40 in a hard fought battle in which 40 fouls were called. The U.S. Coast Guard Station easily defeated Lexalite 60-37, and in the nite-cap, Martin's Standard Service defeated First State Bank 56-33.

The Sundew jumped out in front of Andy's 17 to 6 in the first quarter. They were led by Dick Middleton's 7 points. The second quarter saw Andy's outscoring the Sundew 15 to 8, putting them within 4 points of the Sundew for a halftime score of 25-21. Sam Supernaw, playing his usual good game, tallied 7 points for Andy's.

In the third quarter Norm Helms hit a hot streak for Andy's with four quick buckets to put his team out in front temporarily by four points. But the Sundew pulled 10 points in the quarter to keep their 4-point lead at the end of the third quarter, 35 to 31. The fourth quarter was plagued by fouls in which Andy's hatchet man, Art Reibel, fouled out and all hopes for Andy's was lost as the game ended with Jim Mausga giving a frug exhibition and a final score of 48 to 40. Leading scorers for the Sundew were Jim Kluge with 17 followed by jumping Jim Mausga with 13 and for A Jim Mausga with 13 and for Andy's Sam Supernaw had 14 and Norm Helms 12.

The second game saw the Coast Guard Station walking over Lexalite without any problem. The Station took a first period lead of 17 to 2 with Frank Hacket getting 6 points for the sand pounders. Rich Plum came alive for Lexalite in the second quarter making 5 bucket and a free throw for 11 points and pulling within 8 points of the Station for a halftime score of 22 to 14.

The third was no match for the men who originated the bell bottoms as they pumped in 26 points to take a commanding lead over the professors by 48 to 25. Hacket once again lucked in 10 points for the swab jockeys. The fourth quarter saw the Station coasting to a easy 60 to 37 victory. Frank Hacket lead all scorers in the evening with 23 points and his teammate daper Don Finely had 10. Rich Plum lead Lexalite with 13 points and Bruce Morgan had 10.

It was speed and experience in the nite-cap in which Martin's Standard Service handed First State Bank its second defeat of the season. The speed was a '48 Ford going up May Street about mid-way through the game, and the experience was seeing Don Brown in gym shorts. In a slow starting game Martin's went out in front of the Bankers 9 to 3 at the end of the first quarter. Stan Martin, showing a little of his form of yesterday, between his shirt and pants, put in 5 baskets and a free throw for the Bankers to put his team 7 points behind at half time, 27 to 20.

The third quarter was kind of boring and most of the spectators left with Martin's ahead 36 to 30. In the final period Martin's put the icing on the game with a 20 points surge and Dwight Boss getting 10. Boss lead Martin's with 17 points and Dave Noventy had 14, Stan Martin greased in 22 for the Bankers. Tom LaBlance made his usual contribution of 2 points and 2 fouls.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE...the first game was held up when the players had to help the refs, Bill Supernaw and Dan Vreeland, to their white canes...It was good to see John Swanson come out of retirement, but some of the rule changes confused him because he still thought there should be a jump ball after every basket....There was a brief argument between the first and second game when the managers of Andy's and First State saw Hal Hill shooting a few baskets on the sideline over who had the draft rights on him. It ended up with First State getting the rights and Andy's getting exclusive rights on Jimmy Bogart and Beanie Russell..Officers of the "See Your Toes Club" were elected prior to tonights games - Bill Supernaw-, President, Henry Wagner-, Vice-president, Art Reibel-, Secretary, Stan Martin-, Treasurer and Dan Vreeland-, Scribe. After each game all members gather to see where the shadows cast on their toes. Suspension from the Club is when you can-see your toes..Rumors are that the teachers are warming up Max Novak for a surprise boost to their team. He'll boost them right into upper division....Also in the rumor mill is that First State is holding back one of their prime players, someone by the name of Meadowlark Hess....Tune us in next week on WJML when Supie is going to do the play-by-play while refereeing the game.

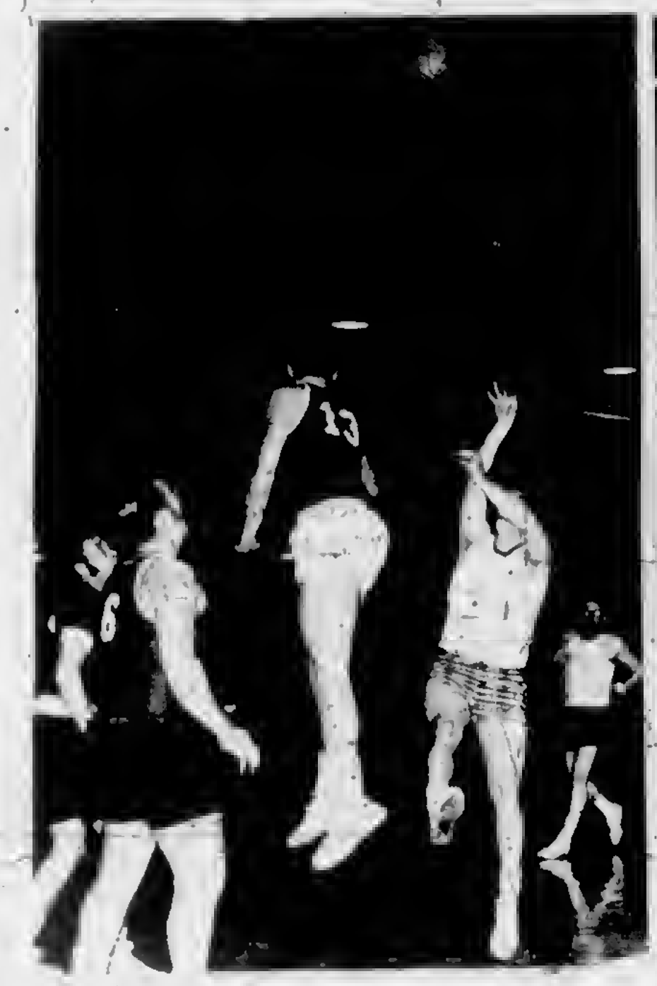
Bren LaBlance of First State Bank puts in his only basket of the night and this is another reason for First State Bank's loss.



Stan Martin of First State Bank goes up for 2 of his 22 points. He was cold in the fourth quarter and his team lost.

Norm Helms blocks the shot of Jim Mausga, but it was in vain as the Sundew beat Andy's Tire World 48-40. Helms hit 12 for the losers.

Sam Supernaw and Dean Mikulski go after a loose ball in Wednesday night's action. Supernaw hit 14 points which is his season average.

Rayders nipped, 77-74

The Charlevoix Red Rayders lost a see-saw battle to the St. Ignace Saints in action at St. Ignace Friday night.

The Rayders took an early lead and held it for the first portion of the first quarter. However, the Saints came back strong to take the lead at the end of the first stanza 17 to 12.

The second period found the lead changing hands frequently and the Rayders or the Saints not letting up for more than a five point difference in the scores.

The Rayders outscored the cagers from St. Ignace 22 to 18, however, the Saints still maintained the lead at half time 34 to 35.

The third quarter proved to be an exact copy of the first half with the lead changing hands numerous times. The Rayders were outscored by the Saints, and St. Ignace had the lead at the end of the third stanza with a 51 to 57 margin.

The Rayders were by no means out of the ball game. Again, the lead bounced back and forth with the Saints gaining a 10-point lead with less than two minutes of playing time remaining. The Rayders were not to be denied. They stole the ball six times in those two minutes and scored six quick points. However, it proved not to be enough to defeat the Saints. St. Ignace won it by three 77 to 74.

Bruce Meggison lead the Rayders with 28 points scoring seventeen in the first half. He was followed by Stewart Coleman with 17, Kraag Lieberman with 11, Norm Ostrom hitting on 10 followed by Tim Doan who scored 8.

For St. Ignace, Donovan lead all scorers with 31 followed by Closs who hit on 17, Savard with 14, Schlchuber who had eight and McKinnon with 3.

In Junior Varsity action, the Charlevoix J.V.'s suffered their second defeat, losing to the little Saints 56 to 45.

Jerry Pease and Roger Crain combined with 17 points apiece to lead the Rayder attack. Larry Potter scored eight and Dave Swanson three to round out their scoring.

Local cancer workers attend Chi. meeting

"We're On Our Way" was the theme for the 1970 American Cancer Society National Volunteers Meeting for education and crusade, held in Chicago Jan. 8 and 9.

Some 1,200 volunteers from all over the country including 184 from Michigan, gathered at the Conrad-Hilton Hotel, for the annual two-day meeting.

Attending from Charlevoix County were Mrs. LeRoy Sorenson, Unit President, Mrs. Maurice Dixon, treasurer, and Mrs. Edward A. Vogler, public information chairman.

Fess Parker, better known to young and old alike as TV's Daniel Boone, is serving as the National Crusade Chairman this year and is especially interested in enlisting the youth of today in the fight against cancer. He feels that their boundless energies and their [illegible] concern for humanity can be channeled into constructive areas and there is a desperate need to conquer this deadly enemy - cancer. In his tours of childrens hospitals, he was made keenly aware of the toll that leukemia has taken.

Also highlighting the meeting was an appearance by the State of Tennessee's Crusade Chairman, "Minnie Pearl". Greeting the delegates with her famous "Howdieee", her usual comic performance took on a somber tone as she told of losing her sister and many dear friends to cancer.

She especially emphasized the many chain smokers among their ranks. Mrs. William Talman, Associate National Crusade Chairman, addressed the Michigan delegates at the Michigan Breakfast on Friday morning. Of special interest to the residents of the Charlevoix area would be her story of fulfilling one of her husband's wishes just before he succumbed to lung cancer. He wanted to visit Northern Michigan and especially Indian Village, where he was born and Charlevoix, where he spent many summers. He wanted his four eldest children to know and love Michigan, as he did.

William Hoffines of Grand Rapids, Michigan Crusade Chairman announced this years Goal for the state as $1,600,000.

A most inspiring and memorable speech was made by Dr. James Grace, Director of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, explaining the effect the recent cutbacks in federal funds for health research, will have on the work being done in the field of cancer research. He stressed that a "breakthrough" seemed imminent until the cutback and that it will now be slowed down and many lives will be lost. Ironically he cited that $125 per year for every man, woman and child, is being spent to support the conflict in Vietnam and only $.91 for medical research. The question posed was, "Are these the real priorities of the American people?". Everyone was urged to write the President and their government representatives regarding the cuts in the cancer research budget.

Encouraging reports were given in regard to the cure for Hodgkins disease and two drugs which are now causing a 70 to 90 percent remission in leukemia patients.

Early detection is the key to cure and again yearly medical checkups are stressed for everyone.

Scouts hit record

For the first time in the history of the Scenic Trails Council, the number of boys enrolled has reached an all time high of 5,706 as of December 31, 1969.

Under the new [illegible] Power '76 program the council has qualified as [illegible] Region Seven Pacemaker Council, having achieved [illegible] goals in membership, units National Standard Units and leaders trained.

Joseph G. Groszek, Scout executive, stated that never before has the council been in such a fine position both in the quality and quantity of Scouting units. Scouting is definitely on the increase in our 18 counties of Northern Michigan, Groszek added, and each year more and more boys will become affected by the program.

The goal of 1976 is to reach 7,560 boys with 75 percent of the units qualifying as National Standard Units which is a measure of quality within a Cub Pack, Scout Troop and Explorer Post.

Senior govt. day plans are made

Thirty-nine seniors and government teachers representing six high schools in Charlevoix and Antrim Counties met Monday, January 12, in the conference room of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, to plan for their annual Senior Government Day.

East Jordan High School will be host for this year's event which is to be held on Monday, February 9. Ed Wodzinski, East Jordan's government teacher, is the chairman for local arrangements.

D. Hale Brake, Director, Education Division, Michigan Townships Association, lead the planning session and will serve as moderator on February 9. The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District office will again coordinate the program and take the responsibility for compiling and printing the programs.

The seniors will be in complete charge of "town meeting" type section meetings. In each of these sections a specific topic is explored with local and state officials serving as resource persons.

This year's topics are: conservation, courts, education, juvenile problems, law enforcement, local government, mental health, political parties, roads and streets, school financing and selective service.

Beaver Island seniors are also planning to participate in Senior Government Day activities even though they were unable to be represented at the planning session.

ELLSWORTH: Mrs. Vera Ikens, teacher (unable to attend); Sharmon Boss, Joel Donaldson, Jake Hoeksema, Jim Jansen, seniors.

New film in library

"A Letter to Jimmy Lee" is a new film that has been added to the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District Film Library, a gift from the Charlevoix County Chapter of the National Foundation.

This film is appropriate for viewing by either adults or high school youth. It should be especially helpful to persons who are planning programs during the March of Dimes annual campaign.

Individuals who are interested may write to the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate office or call 547-6504 to request a booking date.

Our community extends its sympathy to Floyd King and family of Detroit on the death of his mother, Mrs. Florence King who passed away New Years morning at Grandvue, where she had been a patient since the middle of December. The family lived several years on the King homestead, known to us as the Robert Wilson summer home. Selling it they lived in our community several years and were members of our Church and a worker with the Ladies group. After moving to Charlevoix, she never forgot our little church and made many contributions of her handwork for the annual baazar. She leaves many friends in Charlevoix and several who knew her locally.

Word has been received that Harley Perry passed away Saturday in the Lansing Hospital, where he had been a patient several months. Mr. and Mrs. Perry have been summer residents, owning a cottage on Sweetbrier Lane for several years. Their neighbors and community friends extend their sincere sympathy to Mrs. Perry and family.

Mrs. Effie Arthur is on her way to Florida after spending the holiday season with relatives in Detroit.

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official.

Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns.

Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4¼% if you held them for seven years.

The new interest began June 1, 1969. So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time.

Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned.

You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan.

Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself?

It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong.

There never was a better time to take stock in America.

There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

transition after 27 years on the administrative side of education, Milligan laughed and said he would be "the easiest teacher in the world to get along with."

His career in education has spanned 34 years, starting with an $80 per month teaching job in the rural Riverdale school in Gratiot County.

He came to Charlevoix in 1963 to assume the superintendent's job from R.G. Bennett. Prior to his work here, he was superintendent of schools in Sandusky for ten years.

His tenure in Charlevoix has seen unprecedented growth in local schools. When he arrived in Charlevoix, enrollment totaled 900 students.

The first year as Superintendent, Milligan was responsible for a administering a budget [illegible] $403,000. Since that time, the cost of education locally has risen approximately two and one-half times and this year's budget hovers around the $1 million figure.

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS AND HELP WANTED ADVERTISERS

The Courier does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements in violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act.

The ADEA prohibits arbitrary age discrimination in employment for persons between the ages of 40 and 65 and applies to employers, with [illegible] more employees, employment agencies, and [illegible] organizations.

Advertisements containing such terms and phrases as "young," "boy," "girl," or designating [illegible] age such as "age 35 to 55" or other similar specification, indicates discrimination against the employment of older persons and [illegible] in violation of the Act.

"This new business-sport is directly responsible for bringing some $150,000,000 in new revenues into the state. This fantastic shot in our economic arm is worthy of special recognition, Representative Davis said.

The resolution asks the Michigan Legislature to proclaim Michigan Snowmobile Week, February 15-21 in concurrence with a Proclamation by the Governor of the State, "for unique statewide observance of wintertime public health and recreation."

[illegible] They came to attend the 60 mile snowmobile safari of Northern Mich. Mr. Bliss was a former principal of the Community School.

August Postmus received word Saturday night that his brother Clarence had passed away at Sunshine Hospital in Grand Rapids. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Grand Rapids, where he lived since leaving Ellsworth.

Cornie Klooster was a Sunday dinner guest at Jake and Kathryn Timmer. Anne Osterbaan was also a guest of her brother and sister.

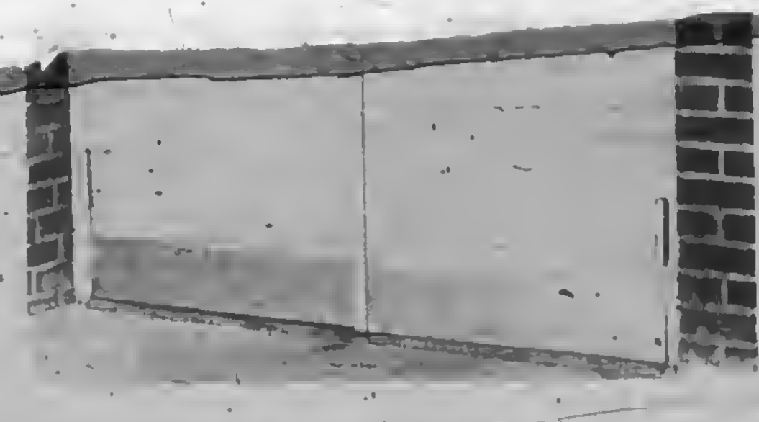
Mr. Krause took 17 of his cadets on a 10-mile hike Saturday. Although these youngsters have been doing some jogging during noon hours, this was quite a test in hiking. They went up the ½ mile hill from town, past Harthorns around to the east side of the lake road, up across town taking the road behind Community School to the Addis farm back to Chellis corner and back to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cooper of Standale were weekend visitors here with the Harry Cooper families. They also called on his mother Mrs. Harry Cooper, who is getting along good at Munson Hospital.

Information, admitting and the cashier are now found in an office off the lobby. After entering Charlevoix Hospital through the front door, a quick right turn gets you there.



Outside of emergency and out-patient entrance.

Groups to meet

The following Interest Groups of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will be meeting on Monday, Jan. 26, 1970:

9:30 a.m. The Home Decorating and Antiques Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Ted Lass, 219 Park Ave. Bring a small antique and tell its history. Also bring books that you would like to share with other members, which might be helpful in identifying antiques.

1:30 p.m. The Book Review Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Laura Courier, 405½ Bridge St. Each member will give a brief report on a book she has read recently.

7:30 p.m. The Discussion Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Duerr, 209 Dixon Ave. The Discussion Topic will be: "Is There an Adequate Recreational Program for Teen-Agers in Charlevoix?" A Panel of High School students has been invited to attend and present their thoughts on the subject.

Any member of the Woman's Club is welcome to attend the Interest Group meetings. Members are urged to be an active participant in at least one group each year. Taking part in these programs is an important aspect of Club membership.

The next regular meeting of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will be Feb. 2, at 1:30 at the Weathervane Inn. The speaker will be Max Ellison, who will present a program of poetry which will include some of his own as well as the works of other poets. Mr. Ellison, who lives in Bellaire, is well known both as a poet and for the entertaining manner in which he makes poetry come alive, before an audience. He will have copies of his recent book "The Underbark" to autograph. The Book Review Group is sponsoring this program. Hostesses will be: Mrs. Robert Winchester, Mrs. Harley Ochs, Mrs. Lee Moerland, Mrs. Richard Wood.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. James Gengle of San Diego are spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Frank Gengle and family and her father, Robert Hamilton. He is stationed there with the U.S. Navy.

Miss Black betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Black of 20[illegible] Antrim Street, Charlevoix, announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Kay, to William Allen Bellinger, son of Mrs. Helen Buckler, Suttons Bay, and James Bellinger of Charlevoix.

Miss Black is a 1968 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a graduate of Petoskey Beauty Academy. She is presently employed by the Modern Beauty Shop in Charlevoix.

Her fiance is a 1964 graduate of Suttons Bay High School and has served two years in the U.S. Army. He is now a student at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City.

The end of the first stanza found the Rayders out in the lead with a 22 to 13 margin.

The Thunderbolts threatened in the second quarter by outscoring the Rayders 20 to 16, and closed the gap to 5 points for a 38 to 33 halftime score with Charlevoix still in the lead.

The third quarter found Charlevoix running away with the game, scoring 27 points to the 12 points scored by the Alpena squad.

From there on it was Charlevoix all the way. Charlevoix capped it off by hitting on 21 points in the final stanza to the 19 scored by the Thunderbolts and wrapped up the game with a 86 to 64 win.

IN THE OPEN

BY LEE SMITS

Nobody can say that Michigan weather is ever monotonous. For the outdoor addict there is always variety, something new on tap as the seasons roll. Before the first of the year there are signs of spring. The horned lark on its nest is sometimes buried in snow. Owls nest in February. The fox, coyote, wolf are courting their mates. Romantic skunks are on the prowl.

When Michigan's No. 1 industry was lumbering, the January thaw had its effect on business and banking. Before the official arrival of spring, migrant waterfowl showed up, from salt water wintering grounds. Before spring shooting was outlawed, gunners greeted the mating ducks with a continuous bombardment. The sneak-shooters, clad in white, plied the drifting ice fields and at times made heavy kills of diving ducks. Now and then they found ducks trapped by a sudden freeze, their legs anchored.

Ducks were mating. They came to decoys fearlessly – except for the whistlers. Whistlers had been under gun fire all winter. A flock of whistlers, spotting a spread of decoys would make a detour of a quarter of a mile to avoid them.

Old-timers discovered that a whistler, with its picturesque plumage, was in great demand where ducks were sold. My friend, Uncle Sidie Dahlka, would in the old days, accumulate a week's kill of whistlers, then on Saturday night, pay night for everybody in those days, he would visit a neighborhood saloon, draped with ducks. There would be a rush of customers. Everybody wanted to buy ducks. Sidie would play hard to get. There would be an impromptu auction, and the bidding might go to two, three, five dollars a pair for ducks that were at the bottom of the list as edibles.

Spring shooting–it was a crime–was outlawed years ago. Forest fires were brought under control 50 years ago. From Washington comes the news that the secretary of agriculture has outlawed DDT, the edict to take effect over the next 12 months.

Foward steps. Progress. Perhaps not as rapid as we might wish. But, progress. And looking back across the years, an old-timer feels great satisfaction with present-day management of outdoor resources.

There remain big outdoor problems to be solved. No. 1: pollution. But the basic need is for education. What outdoor resources need, in Michigan and the nation, is enlightened public opinion. Ecology is certainly as important as arithmetic. When kids become fully aware of their dependence on land, water, air and of the great value of fish wildlife, forests, steams and lakes in the economy of our state, an enormous forward step will have been taken.

There is a serious communication gap between scientific knowledge of natural resources and a popular sentiment, strikingly demonstrated by the argument over deer harvesting.

Nearing the final quarter of the 20th century we see a lot of grave mistakes in the past, a lot of serious liabilities in the present – but also signs of a new day – a progressive department, backed by an informed public, carrying out a program of constructive measures for enhancing the attractions of Michigan, for hunters, fishermen, campers, hikers, bird-watchers and all other out[illegible]

Bowlers [illegible] for charity

The "Bowler's Charities Tournament" will be conducted in virtually every bowling center throughout Michigan. Bowlers can easily enter by paying $1 before they bowl their regular league session.

Men and women compete in the same division, however, men will receive 70 percent of the difference of their current league average and 200, whereas the women will receive 80 percent. Top bowlers in every bowling center will then be gathered together to roll off in seven different areas of the state. The top bowlers on an area level will then go on to compete in the State Finals to be held in March in the Pontiac area.

Fla. vacationers! Picnic, Feb. 1

There will be a "Charlevoix Picnic" on February 1 at Du Bois Park, off A1A in Jupiter, Florida.

Mrs. M. Burke, vacationing in Florida, [illegible] "Let's see how many Charlevoixians there are in this part of Florida. Of course, they all are invited."

The dinner will be served potluck style at 1 p.m. and those who attend are asked to bring a dish to pass, their own table service and swim gear.

The picnic will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burke. For more information, contact Mrs. M. Burke, 418 Center Street, Jupiter, or telephone 746-5698.

Albright promoted

Robert E. Albright, a former Charlevoix resident, was recently promoted to Lieutenant Commander in the U.S. Navy.

Albright enlisted in the Navy following his graduation from Charlevoix High School in 1955. He was awarded a direct commission in 1961 while serving in the world's first nuclear submarine, USS Nautilus. Since he was commissioned, he has served in various diesel-electric submarines and is presently a student at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, in Monterey, California.

LCDR Albright is married to the former Roberta Mayne of Charlevoix and has two children, Shelly and Richard. He is the son of Mrs. Frank Coatta of Charlevoix.

Kiwanis notes

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting at the Charlevoix High School on Monday, January 19.

The program for the evening consisted of the reading of the President's message by vice president Vane Smith. The secretary, Ralph Hamilton, gave an interesting historical description of the growth of Kiwanis, from its birth in Detroit to its present day international strength.

Hamilton recalled some humorous incidences experienced in the Charlevoix Club. These anecdotes were supplemented by pictures depicting the many important events which have taken place at various Kiwanis functions for the last 25 years.

There were four guests representing the Harbor Springs Kiwanis Club present.

Order of Arrow plans meeting

The Indian Drum Lodge of the Order of the Arrow, scouting's honor camping society, will have its 30th annual winter fellowship the weekend of January 30 to February 1 at the local scout camp, Camp Greilick on Hobbs Highway, south of Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. William La Valley are now living in their new home.

Don't neglect to feed the birds this cold stormy weather. Even the fisherman hesitate to venture out to their shanties. This below zero weather has frozen the bay from Petoskey to Kennedy Park and if it keeps up the big lake will freeze, also. I'm wondering when our January thaw will arrive.

Chamber directors meet; plan '70 program

BY WALLY LODER

Be reminded that the new Directors of the Chamber of Commerce are President Bruce Bartlett of Bartlett Tile & Carpet, vice president Charles Themm, who is vice president of First State Bank, treasurer Ken DePew of K & A Lodge Agency, Ralph Hess of Hess Furniture, Dave Juilleret of Juilleret's Restaurant, Inc. James Marshall of Intermediate School District, Lyle Miles of Erber Auto, Gordon Neff of Neff Brothers Quality Foods, George Richardson, who is president of Weathervane Inn Group and Secretary-Manager Wally Loder.

This year there also will be active an Executive Committee composed of the President, Vice-President, Treasurer and Secretary. At a special board meeting, Tuesday evening, January 20, there was a lot of constructive and lively pro and con. It seems to me the boys have taken on a new look.

Accordingly it is hoped our community as a whole will re-evaluate the community's Chamber of Commerce. The Directors unanimously approved an idea first expressed by director Ken DePew, of a reasonably regular bulletin circulate in addition to the Chamber Chat. Your directors also feel, which idea was sponsored by George Richardson, of bringing together what this office does and assemble what was felt to be a workable program for the year, submitting it to the community. Their aim is an effort to attract more support financially as well as physically and involve more individual participation in whatever might be fitting or the choice of the talent we have here in Charlevoix.

The functions of this Chamber, the same as anywhere else, is not designed for any individual, industry or business, but is designed for a whole community. Accordingly, benefits are divided in the community and directly or indirectly, so to speak, the dividends spread themselves. We have a committee of two, which has been working on "parking." They have reported some findings which are workable. At the moment a committee of two is making strenuous effort to get Trans-Michigan Airlines on a regular schedule in and out of Charlevoix's municipal airport. I have established a file covering the progress so far, you are welcomed if interested, to review it.

To meet as close as possible the much-needed budget, there needs to be resurrection of quite a number of past members of this Chamber and the development of one hundred to two hundred, at least, new voting-right members and or associate members. If you have any ideas and or constructive criticisms, we would be pleased to hear from you.

It must be assumed you are proud of your community and, of course, so is the Chamber of Commerce. But remember, "George" cannot be expected to do it all!

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER

1970 budget approval was delayed until next meeting because of request for some clarification and possible increase. It was decided to circulate our community with a type of CC of C news bulletin as often as affordable and the need be, this, of course, in addition to the Chamber Chat appearing weekly in the Charlevoix Courier. It was confirmed that all Directors will be appointed individually as a liaison between the Chamber and the various committees, to attend committee meetings and be promptly accountable to the Board of Directors. Ralph Hess volunteered for the Golf Tournament to be assisted by Dave Juilleret. Dave again volunteered to be Queen's Committee Chairman, etc. Loder volunteered to be the go-between with the Lake Side Hobbycraft Show Committee, etc. Loder pointed out, of course, the need for dollars and indicated there were eighteen voting-right memberships who contributed in 1968 and [illegible] in 1969, which totaled $337.50. Unfortunately, that put us back somewhat in getting started for 1970.

He also indicated there were a few who paid in 1967 and before but not in 68 or 69 to a total of about $225.00. It was concluded in order to fulfill the Chamber's obligation, an effort would be made to stimulate these folks and if humanly possible to add at least one hundred more, which could rise to almost two hundred for support we need, not only to meet the budget, but to give the community what is normally expected. There was pointed out and with good reason a big possibility of the Directors doing more effective jobs if they met more often. Accordingly, there was a motion by George Richardson that the Board of Directors meet every other Tuesday, beginning with Tuesday evening, February 3. This was seconded by Mrs. Hess. All voted "yes" and the motion was carried. There was no new business and accordingly, Mr. Hess motioned to adjourn the meeting, which was seconded by Mr. Themm. All voted "yes." The meeting was adjourned at 10:45 p.m. (the longest and most active meeting since August, 1967.)

Hospital Guild

The women's guild of Charlevoix Hospital met at its monthly meeting on Monday January 13 at the hospital cafeteria. A letter of appreciation from Rollie Dudik thanking the guild for a walnut desk set they presented him over the holidays.

He also announced the hospital now has a direct teletype to Munson Hospital in Traverse City, especially for laboratory result. This enables the patient and doctors quick results, by using the nearest hospital with enlarged laboratory facilities.

The guild also had generously announced the purchase of a color television set for patients' sitting room and also agreed to order fifteen sets of bedrails for the patients comfort and safety.

The annual summer fund raising projects were discussed and some new and exciting ideas will be in the works. A final decision will be reached at he following meetings.

LOCAL

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Sumner arrived Tuesday from Mayport, Fla., to spend a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philo Sumner.

Looking one year ahead, Redeker said that 1970 will be a year to test the mettle of bank management. "This community, and indeed the entire northern Michigan area is one which is looking toward substantial expansion in this decade. Bank management, while being a vital part of this expansion, must also be exceptionally diligent with the customer's deposits, while at the same time maintaining earnings which will be attractive to present and potential stockholders of the bank."

Research notes: Not counting the 3 foreign exchange students (who all continued in higher education), 62 percent of the 1969 graduating class entered junior and senior colleges - 61 students. Junior and community colleges accepted 32 percent of CHS graduates: NCMC 26; Northwestern 3, Alpena 1, Concordia 1, Delta 1 - 32 students. Senior colleges and universities accepted 29 percent of CHS graduates: MSU 8, WMU 6, NMU 4, CMU 4, Olivet College 2, Ferris State College 2, GMI 1, U of M 1, MTU 1 - 29 graduates. (Two students withdrew from junior colleges to WOW, exactly balanced by two who withdrew from WOW to university campus).

Eight percent of the class entered technical school programs - 8 students. (There was one withdrawal, balanced by another's entrance).

Four men went into the Armed Services - 4 percent of the class.

Six graduates received their MRS degrees and the occupational title: housewife. One male student married a classmate.

At Christmas time '69, 23 grads were exclusively concerned with WOW (not counting housewives with jobs or students working while attending colleges or technical schools).

Careers and job titles chosen by CHS '69 graduates include banking, accounting, secretary (including executive), nurse's aide, dietician's aide, fine and commercial arts, registered nurse, assistant surveyor, heavy equipment expert, machine tool operator, teacher (elementary, secondary, and college), assembly line worker, wood craftsmen, clerks (various), food management, salesgirl, bookkeeper, pharmacist, veterinarian, journalist, agribusinessman, fashion designer, interior decorator, engineering or architectural technician, carpenter, carpetlayer, chemical engineer, industrial engineer, restaurant worker, cosmetologist, pilot, airlines ground personnel, electronics, police worker, diesel motor expert, etc., (including housewife).

Comment: the pattern of CHS '69 graduates again is a forceful reminder of the trend toward education beyond high school. Counting the students who entered technical schools and armed forces training, 74 percent went on to some kind of specialized education, whether exploring liberal arts on a university campus, working as an electrician on an aircraft carrier, or practicing hairsetting in a beauty academy – or even taking a correspondence course in heavy equipment mechanics: There were also several graduates who, in effect, were taking apprenticeship training, which would raise the percentage even higher.

There also is further indication of the trend that has put junior and community colleges into offering programs formerly carried on by technical schools. This year's graduates went to junior colleges for secretarial and business machines training, registered nursing, drawing ad design, pilot training, commercial art, etc., etc.

The pattern of CHS '69 also reflects a pattern indicated by CHS '65 as surveyed this past spring, 4 years after graduation: the process of enter-withdraw-return. In their rapidly changing world, graduates who set out on programs no longer regard them as a strait-jackets. They may enter WOW only to; withdraw to campus or technical school, only to go back to WOW to get enough money to advance their education. They may enter college only to withdraw to work etc. The process, as they have begun to realize, is almost endless. Education is a lifelong process, especially these times of abrupt occupational changes when new job titles are being created by the hundreds while hundreds of others are made obsolete by computers and other kinds of robots.

IRS moves

Along with an all new Federal Income tax form being sent to taxpayers this year, the Internal Revenue Service is also announcing a new office location.

Walter Baker, local District Director's Representative said that as of January 13, the Petoskey Office of the IRS is located in the City-County Building.

Baker said that taxpayers will be offered assistance with their new tax forms from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. every Monday through April 15. However, most taxpayers will find that the instructions accompanying the forms furnish all the information needed to prepare complete and accurate returns.

IRS does not prepare returns for taxpayers, Baker said, but does provide assistance so they can prepare their own returns.

"Look, Ma, no hands..." Skaters of all ages are found at public rink at Middle School.

Ruppe Reports

Calling for a notional commitment to bring new jobs and increased industrial opportunity to the poorer regions of America, Congressman Philip E. Ruppe recently introduced major new legislation which he said could have "a massive impact on the economy of rural America."

Ruppe's Regional Development Incentive Act provides a 20 percent tax credit to attract business and industry into certain economically lagging regions of the United States. The areas covered by the bill are Federal economic development regions including Appalachia and the Upper Great Lakes Region which encompasses the northern tier of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. In addition, counties eligible for Federal Eonomic Development Administration aid would also be eligible for the incentive tax credit.

Congressman Ruppe described his bill as "specific, direct and straight to the point". Credits are specified for growth-generating industries, and are excladed for metropolitan areas over 300,000 whose problems, according to Ruppe "require a different approach."

"This bill," the Northern Michigan Congressman said, "could do more to directly stimulate industrial growth in the countryside communities of America than all the other economic development programs the government has attempted in the last three decades." Ruppe claimed the lack of jobs and the decline of agriculture has cut rural America off from prosperity and forced tens of millions of young people to the city. "At the same time," the Congressman added, "our cities are increasingly unable to cope with the massive physical and social pressures of the great rural to urban migration. The only way to take the pressure off the cities and revitalize the countryside is to create job opportunity in rural regions."

Ruppe said his Regional Development Incentive Act will "enlist the ingenuity, technology and resources of private enterprise in the mission to restore a better distribution of economic opportunity and a better balance to the American economy."

Grandview News

It has been quite awhile since we wrote news from Grandvue, but now that he Holidays are over and things are settling back into a normal routine, we hope to keep you posted more regularly.

There have been no new odmissions since the First of the year; however, there have been four deaths. Mrs. Mildred Breakey, Mrs. Florence King, Mrs. May Riness, and Mrs. Mabel Secord all expired recently. Mr. Otis Barlow was discharged to his home in Boyne City on January 2 and Mr. John H. Pringle was discharged on January 12.

Gerald Battjes and Mrs. Margery Reeves, R.N., of Travelers Insurance Company visited our Facility on January 2.

Mrs. Renote Smith, Registered Physical Therapist, spent January 5 here to review the therapy needs of the patients and assist in Physical Therapy. Mrs. Smith takes time out once a month from taking care of her now son to offer her services here.

If you have visited the Facility lately and had occasion to go down the West Wing, you have seen the bright, new colors in the rooms there. This is part of a redecorating plan for the hospital, and has done much to lift the spirits of the room occupants. Just what we needed for these drab winter doys.

on January 8, Mrs. Wutkins and members of the Charlevoix County Board of Social Welfare attended a meeting in Traverse City.

Charlevoix Hospital

Charlevoix Hospital reports the following births:

A son, Jeffrey Ray, was born January 17 to Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] R. Eby of Alba, Michigan.

A girl, Jennifer Ruth, was born on January 17 to Mr. and Mrs. William Fields of Charlevoix.

A daughter, Monica Lynn, was born on January 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Neil Olstrom of East Jordan.

The following patients were admitted to Charlevoix Hospital:

Charlevoix: Diane M. Himebauch, Lisa Finck, Jake White, Jr., William Sharrow, Elizobeth Begrow, Mabelle Graves, Nancy Sonnenberg, Dan A. McSawby, Louise M. Doss, Gladys G. You, your child and TV

TV heroes now stress warmth

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series by the assistant research director of the Children's Television Workshop, creators of Sesame Street, the new series for preschool children.)

By Barbara Frengel Reeves

Only last year, super-heroes were the stuff of children's television.

Super-heroes mean exaggeration, and everything about these characters was exaggerated; their physical powers and their physical prowess. Violent physical action was dominant – a situation easy to show with animation.

Because of the recent crackdown on violence, our children no longer receive such an overwhelming diet of super-heroes. But there is little doubt these programs held a great deal of fascination for youngsters.

Why?

Any adult watching these programs sees the repetition. There are only minor changes in plot and many times it seems to us that some programs are almost identical from episode to episode.

And each super-hero has a distinct power; whether it be Superman's X-ray vision, the mechanical marvels of Batman or the underwater superiority of Aquaman.

All this made it easy for a child to understand. He knew right away who the "good guy" was and what he could do and how he would do it.

We at Children's Television Workshop wanted to provide more realistic heroes for children. Heroes who have more human qualities. Even heroes who have limitations.

In short, the kind of heroes who make the child feel more super.

Teacher Gordon and his wife, Susan, are kindly parental figures who take care of the children on Sesame Street. Bob is just like any friendly neighborhood adult – the kind of adult that children share their secrets with or who brings them presents after a trip.

All three are like real human beings – the kinds of heroes the children see and live with in their daily lives and hopefully will want to emulate.

Sesame Street features a couple of "anti-heroes," too, in the persons of Buddy and Jim. These two classic bumblers, in the spirit of Laurel and Hardy and Abbott and Costello, can't seem to do anything right – even to reasoning that an umbrella won't keep off the rain unless it is opened and held over the head, or discovering that painting the opposite side of a fence requires one's walking around the fence! Parents need not worry about their children's ability to distinguish between the hero and anti-hero. The theory may be sophisticated, but the intent and effect are not lost on the youngsters.

Busybodies

Seven years ago when I moved up north from the Big City many people warned me that I would probably love the climate and the sports, but that I would most certainly find lots of Busybodies living in a small town.

Were they ever right, Charlevoix is just full of Busybodies. Now when I lived in Birmingham I had no idea of what most of my neighbors even did for a living. To my questions they gave such innocuous answers as "General Motors, Accounting," "McCann-Erickson, Sales", The Mafia, Heroin", but they never gave me any further clue. Those men could have been messenger boys or V.P.'s. Come to think of it many V.P.'s are just salaried messenger boys, but in any case we lived in a real bedroom community.

I never knew what was going on just three houses away. Men left in the morning and they returned at night. Talk about scandal. I never knew any because I never knew whom anybody was talking about. I knew about a block of families on my street, Lakeview, and the rest of my friends were scattered for miles. Birmingham was a friendly community, but there were just too many residents to be friends with everybody. One thing for sure, I had lots of privacy in the Big City.

Now Charlevoix is a completely different story. Before I even moved into my house I was made to realize that things would be different. Usually on moving days I had desperately needed a telephone, but none was available since the house had been locked and the phone company couldn't get in to connect the phones, but not in Charlevoix.

On the day that I moved into my new house my telephones were connected and I was able to call the plumber or electrician as I needed them. Later when I got to know Bob Goss our telephone man I questioned him about this.

"Oh," he grinned, "I just got into the house the same way that you did simply by climbing in through the dining room window."

Now I ask you, what kind of a busybody is that?

And just recently I was hospitalized for asthma and three days after I got home my tiny daughter Beth was hospitalized. During that time you should have seen the Busybodies around our house. In hours they passed the news and appeared on our doorstep with salads, meatloaves, cakes and flowers.

They drove our children to ice skating, movies, Mt. McSauba and to church.

The nurses at the hospital asked about my health when I came to visit my sick child.

One Busybody, Camille Greene, took my lunch hour playground duty on a day when the temperature hovered around zero. The silly girl claimed that one day of that fresh air and I would be right back in the hospital.

Another Busybody, Mike Sewell, found my six year old Ann at McSauba terribly upset because she had put on the wrong ski boots and couldn't ski. He had the nerve to drive her all the way back home, find the right ski boots, lace them on her, drive her back again and get her skiing.

What do you think about that?

Well when people from the Big City question me about how I like living in a small town where everybody knows your business I'll be able to answer them truthfully.

I love those Busybodies.

Take your problems to Church this week – millions leave them there!

Home building costs

Why are home building costs so high? One reason was brought out at a recent meeting of the nation's leading manufacturers during a half-day panel session devoted to urban priorities. A vital issue affecting home building throughout the nation was emphasized by a federal official.

Richard C. Van Dusen, Under Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said to the manufacturers: "Many of you have been building new plants, warehouses, and office buildings, and many of you will be doing so in the future. What attitude do you adopt when a strike threatens to delay the completion of your new building?

"Do you tell the contractor to bargain hard and to resist unrealistic wage demands--and that you'll wait for your buildings? Or do you tell him that you don't care what he has to pay. . . you just want your building done on time?

"I suspect that a lot of contractors have agreed to fat wage settlements simply because their customers have adopted the latter attitude. And every one of those settlements eventually results in higher wages in residential construction."

Mr. Van Dusen also urged industrialists to encourage contractors to expand their supply of skilled workers by training and hiring the unskilled. He said that unions are not likely to move in this direction without industry's encouragement.

The elimination of artificially created manpower shortages and skyrocketing wage demands could go a long way to modify the severe housing crisis.

Annexation vote

The voters of Charlevoix Township have, by a pretty sizeable margin, informed countians that they wish to remain a separate entity.

Though we have, in the past, expressed our opinion that the annexation of the township by the city is the only direction in which to move, we respect teir wish to remain independent.

Now that they have indicated a desire to remain "separate", we trust the voters will not be upset when it is announced that the tax rate in the township, at present extremely low, must climb rapidly skyward, to also make them "equal".

Oscar Stroud, township supervisor and county GOP chairman, told us some time ago that no matter what the results of the annexation vote, township taxes must be substantially increased.

Water facilities and sewage disposal, to say nothing of streets and other problems, are sub-par.

These conditions must be corrected by the township, or the state will step in and dictate the procedures necessary.

Perhaps township residents do not believe this. Or, maybe township voters just don't believe that Charlevoix is worth "belonging to".

At any rate, the issue of township annexation is dead for at least a year.

It's a shocker!

There seems to be no end to the ingenuity of people devising ways for other people to quit smoking. Everything from will power therapy to the introduction of nauseous substances in tobacco is recommended from time to time.

Comes now Ernest Hollabaugh of St. Louis with an invention for which he has been granted Patent No. 3,482,580. Hollabaugh's gadget to discourage the habit can be built into cigaret holders, cigar holders and pipes. And what does it do to make the puffer quit puffing?

It's simple. The device provides a shock whenever the smoker draws in smoke. The shock is not enough to deter the really habituated smoker--not right off anyway. If he persists, he can work his way grimly down through a cigaret or cigar or pipeload of tobacco, shock or no shock.

It does take gumption, though. Almost as uch gumption as that other way one hears about (mainly from those who've succeeded at it). In short: Just quit.

Viewpoint!

Conclusions on violence

BY SEN. PHIL HART

Shake any Pentagon official awake in the middle of the night, demand to know the purpose of our military endeavors, and the unhesitating answer will be, "To guard our liberty."

True, liberty is our nation's most precious commodity. But somehow we have convinced ourselves that it really can only be threatened from the outside.

So we have ringed it with missiles and patrolled it wit warships. We have even decided that our defense perimeters should be thousands of miles from our shores.

We seem to have forgotten that the lifeblood of liberty can be lost as easily through internal bleeding as by external wound.

The National Commission on Violence, of which Dr. Milton Eisenhower is chairman and I am a member, has now ended 18 months of meetings and deliberation, studies and reports.

IMPORTANT FINDING

One of its most significant findings is that liberty can be diminished by violence, fear, and neglect more easily than by foreign threat.

If a citizen fears to walk in his own neighborhood at night, his liberty is certainly reduced. If fishermen and swimmers each year find less unpolluted water, their choices are diminished. If anxiety keeps a house wife from shopping downtown or attending a PTA meeting, she has certainly lost a significant measure of liberty.

For 30 years, the main preoccupations of the federal government have been national defense, the conduct of wars, the growth of the economy and the conquest of space.

These problems eat up two-thirds of the federal budget and the Commission concludes that our priorities have grown somewhat lopsided. Its final report says:

"We solemnly declare our judgement that this nation is entering a period in which our people need by just as concerned by internal dangers to a free society as by any probably combination of external threats."

RECOMMENDATIONS

The report recommends: That the nation double its investment in the prevention of crime and law enforcement.

That the nation commit itself to ending hunger.

That there be swift and massive reconstruction of urban life because it is in the cities where the real problem of violence lies. Its recommendations are too numerous and varied to be described here although I do hope that some of you will be interested enough to get the full report from the Government Printing Office (Washington, D.C. 20401.) The price is $1.50.

And how is all this to be paid for? Will, the Commission has a recommendation on that, too. It urges that every dollar saved by our Vietnam withdrawal be devoted to domestic needs. If the war ended today, it would free $20 billion a year–a tremendous sum compared to what is customarily spent inside our borders.

You don't have to be an accountant to realize how much more favorable the cost-benefit ratio would be if that $20 billion could be spent here rather than there.

WILL PUBLIC SUPPORT IT

Some commissioners doubted that the American people will support this plan. Many Americans are not in sympathy with civil rights and most are distressed by high taxes. Maybe it's not realistic to think the "silent majority" will support a relocation of our national resources to deal with social problems.

The Commission was optimistic. Too many of our basic freedoms are under threat, including freedom from fear, freedom of movement, freedom from harm.

And to prevent them, we'll need a lot more than missiles.

If it Fitz

This news wasn't printed

'Tis the season for a columnist to look backward and review for his panting readers the most important things he wrote about during the past year.

('Tis also the season for columnists to start off columns with 'Tis. Actually, 'tis a shame I can't think of anything better. But you should know how cheap I work).

Anyway, here's something different. Picking through my pile of clippings and soggy cocktail napkins, I found a huge store of column ideas which never reached print. So here are the top 7 things I DIDN'T write about. These were chosen because they were on top of the pile:

1. A woman wrote Ann Landers saying it was silly for females to worry about having beards. All you need is a sense of humor, she said. She and her husband go to barbershops and get shaved together, and they laugh and laugh when the barber drops his scissors in shock. I was going to write something about the perils of being a barber, or a husband for that matter. But instead I snuck home in the middle of te day to see if my razor was wet.

2. My youngest sister, a budding old maid at 27, announced her engagement. I was going to write something smart about that. But then I remembered 5 years ago, when she announced her engagement to another guy, I wrote something smart about that. And nobody has seen him since. Big brothers can be a bigger pain than little brothers.

3. A judge in Port Huron, my old hometown, ruled that a white couple could not have custody of a boy they loved, and who loved them, because the boy was a Negro. "He looks black to me clear from here," said Judge Halford Streeter from his bench when he saw the 5-month-old baby in his courtroom. "Who will he date when he's 15?" I was going to write that Judge Streeter looks begoted to me clear from here. But every time I get angry at rednecked public officials, I can't write for the vomit in my throat and the tears in my eyes.

4. The Catholic Church ruled it was ok to go to Sunday Mass on Saturday afternoon. I was going to write a bitterly nostalgic, born-too-soon column about my younger years and the many times I took a sick head and shattered nerves to Sunday Mass out of pure fear — fear of mortal sin and fear of starvation through meals withheld by my mother. But then I remembered that the only Saturday I left the poolroom before closing was the Saturday it burned down. For some of us, there is little hope no matter how sweet the medicine.

5. The Marathon Oil Co. keeps mailing brochures, trying to sell me Lady Pepperell blankets. Standard Oil fills my mailbox with pleas to buy pots and pans. And so on. I was going to write that I accepted gasoline credit cards on the understanding that I'll use them to service my car, not furnish my house. But I was afraid my name might be turned in to the neighborhood gas station and someday I would use their restroom and disappear forever into an oil depletion loophole.

6. Many Agnew boosters rapped newspapers for reporting only bad news, and ignoring the good. I was going to write a column saying that 3 million American boys were NOT killed in Vietnam yesterday; and 4,000 TWA planes did NOT crash; and 6,547 hydrants did NOT wet dogs. But I decided the best news would be to write nothing at all. Instead, I reprinted the entire script of a Doris Day TV show.

7. A reader wrote that I should quit writing this boring nonsense and devote the space to crossword puzzles. I was going to write 300 [illegible] words meaning meathead. I was going to type 150 of them while horizontal, and 150 while vertical. But, while horizontal, I fell asleep.

Onward and Upward.

ON THE 'FLIP' SIDE

A downstate writer sends along the following guest column.

I ran across an item in the Marshall, Minn., Messenger, which showed what school teachers agreed to when they signed their teaching contracts with the local boards in 1923.

Quite a few oldtimers will remember these points vividly and know they were true, and of course quite different than nowadays.

The story didn't say what the salaries were, but it was less than $100 a month, but here are the points a school marm agreed to in her contract:

1. NOT TO GET married. (This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher marries).

2. Not to keep company with men.

3. Be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless in attendance at a school function.

4. Not to loiter downtown in ice cream stores.

5. Not to leave town at any time without permission of the chairman of the board.

6. Not to smoke cigarettes. This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher is found smoking.

7. NOT TO DRINK beer, wine or whiskey. This contract becomes null and void immediately if the teacher is found drinking beer, wine or whiskey.

8. Not to get in a carriage or automobile with any man, except her brother and father.

9. Not to dress in bright colors.

10. Not to dye her hair.

11. Wear at least two petticoats.

12. Not to wear dresses more than two inches above the ankles.

13. KEEP THE SCHOOLROOM neat and clean. (a) Sweep the floor at least once daily. (b) Scrub the floor at least once weekly with hot water and soap. (c) Clean the blackboards at least once daily. (d) Start the fire at 7 a.m. so the room will be warm by 8 a.m.

After reading that list one wonders if the present day school marm could survive without violating most of the items on the list.

Will the 1970 contracts seem as ridiculous forty years from now?

Out of the past

The Charlevoix School Board reached an agreement with the teachers at Charlevoix High School on a salary for the coming school year of 1968-1969.

Charlevoix Public Library received a number of new gifts of art from a local resident. Space for the gifts was becoming a problem.

Rep. Davis says:

Drug abuse grows

Drug abuse is one of the problems that we will be dealing with this year in the Legislature. The misuse of dangerous drugs appears to be one of the most rapidly spreading problems facing our society. This is not simply a legislative problem. All of us have a stake in seeing this menace controlled, and all of us have responsibilities to help realize that goal.

The Legislature does have, of course, the primary responsibility to find solutions in this area. But since a major part of this battle is education on drug dangers, especially to young people, every citizen can participate in this effort.

We've just started to dig into this issue. The new critical health problems education program approved by the Legislature is one example. But there is still much to be done.

To provide a general preview of potential future legislative action in this field, I reviewed the work of the recent Governor's Conference on Drug Dependence and Abuse. Governor Milliken called the conference out of concern for the epidemic-style growth of dangerous drug usage. Over 500 of the nation's leading authorities on drug problems attended.

To impress upon you the seriousness of this situation, I have seen reports that about one-third of college students and about 16 percent of high school students have at least experimented with marijuana. And these figures may be conservative. On top of that you have the problem of adult addiction. So obviously this is an immense problem.

The results of the Governor's Conference indicate four areas in which positive action is needed:

–Education on the results of use and abuse of dangerous drugs.

--Emphasis on rehabilitation to prevent misuse, rather than simple punishment without redirection.

-Research on long and short term effects of drug abuse.

--Revised laws and law enforcement efforts.

On the final point, it seems to me that we need an all-out concentration on stopping the suppliers of dangerous drugs. Illegal drug usage must still be dealt with by law enforcement agencies, of course. But we will never lick the usage crisis until we effectively wipe out the supply. And this ties in with parallel efforts to fight organized crime, which is considered to be very deeply involved in the illicit drug traffic.

Grunch-Bolhuis engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Bolhuis announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel, to Cpl. Roger Grunch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Grunch, all of Charlevoix.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended North Central Michigan College. She is also a graduate of Victor Business School as an IBM key-punch operator. She is presently employed at the Wm. Dunstan Supply Co. in Petoskey.

Her fiance is also a graduate of Charlevoix High School. He is presently serving his overseas duty with the Marines.

Letters to the editor

'Thanks'

Editor:

As we step out into a brand new year we cannot lose sight of our friends who helped to make 1969 a fruitful and rewarding twelve months.

May we take this opportunity to thank you, your paper, and all who helped in any way to assist us. Getting news about this fine institution out to the thirty-nine counties which we serve is of vital importance to us and to those who come to us for treatment. Without your fine cooperation this could not be done.

May we take this way of saying "Thank you so much" for your help and understanding. The story of Traverse City State Hospital is a good one, and you made it possible to share it with thousands who otherwise might have been deprived of this information.

May we also wish for you and your organization a very satisfying and productive 1970.

Sincerely,

Staley praised

Dear Sir:

Good Will is something you read about once in a while, but when you actually come in contact with it, feel it should also be heard.

When the skating and skiing season comes to a family with more than one child outfitting them in equipment can be an expensive project, what with growing feet changing constantly. Staley's Hardware Store here in Charlevoix recognized this problem, and will accept any kind and all skates, sell them at the seller's price, and with absolutely no profit to them.

This is what I call Good Will, and should not only be heard, but shouted.

Charlevoix is fortunate to have a local business man like Mr. Staley.

Sincerely,

Dina England

Krebs talks on sports

Henry J. "Hank" Krebs recently retired as plant manager of the local Medusa branch. This week, in an article in the Medusa Mirror, another side of Hank Krebs was brought to the fore. The Sandusky product was a star on the athletic field. Below are some of his comments on athletics in his youth.

"Well, I was a four-sports man at Sandusky High School. We had pretty good teams. They still do. Almost always ranked near the top. I was about five-eleven--I'm six-two now -- and weighed 160. I was considered big. We played football in a league called the Little Big Seven. I was an end and was lucky enough to make the league all-star team and somebody's All-Ohio team.

"When I finished school in 1922, I joined a semi-pro outfit called the Sandusky Maroons. We always wore maroon shirts. I played eight years of semi-pro ball and made about $1,000 a year. Sandusky was such a good football town, most of our games were at home. Sometimes we'd travel to Canton or down into southern Ohio for a Sunday game. We had to be back at work Monday morning, and the roads weren't much good.

"Basketball was my favorite sport. I was the center. One of the forwards in school was an inch or so taller, but I could jump higher. Remember, we had the center jump after every basket. When I finished school, I played semi-pro five nights a week with, let's see, the Port Clinton American Legion, the Milan Independents, the Belleview American Legion, the Lorain ex-High team, and the Sandusky Collegiates.

"That's not what I had in mind," declares M/Sgt. Ralph S. Hamilton, chief observer with Detachment 32, 5th Weather Squadron, Long Binh Army Airfield, Republic of Vietnam. This "Holiday Inn" is a part of the perimeter defense around the Long Binh Airfield. M/Sgt. Hamilton joined the Air Force in September 1952 and spent four years in Japan (1953-57). For 10 years he has been Instructor in Weather at the Chanute Air Force Base, Rantoul, Illinois, before spending the past year in Vietnam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton of Charlevoix.

Board to ask for early tax

The Charlevoix Board of Education met last Monday night and decided to petition the city to levy school taxes in July.

The board will ask for a millage vote at the time of the regular school election June 8. The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Robert (Fran) Tollas as vocal music teacher and moved to hire a replacement.

Attorney Donald Berlage, who was engaged earlier by the Board to draw up a petition for the board asking the city for permission to include school taxes on the summer tax bills, appeared to report on his findings before being authorized by the Board to proceed with the petition.

Berlage advised the Board that it was possible to levy and allocated or other millage approved prior to the deadline.

If there are additional millage voted that millage may be levied in December.

After the Board heard the report they authorized Berlage to proceed with the petition, asking the city's approval to levy the voted millage in July rather than December.

The council must then give its approval to the proposal before this can be done.

The school will likely have to ask for additional millage for operational costs. The board decided to wait until the June election as there would be more information available.

Dale Boss, of the transportation committee, reported that all buses had been approved by the State Police during their inspection.

Putting us on?

County pop. figures conflict

By Fiske Martin
Courier editor

Depending upon who's totals you use, Charlevoix city and county are either "on the grow" or losing population at an alarming rate.

Two sets of new, supposedly authoritative, figures were released late last week which show opposite trends. In other words, somebody is putting us on.

According to statements by the Michigan Department of Economic Development and the United States Bureau of the Census, Charlevoix County LOST 100 inhabitants in the past year. They claim county population stands at 16,000 as of December 31, 1968 (about one month ago).

They further assert that on the same date in 1967, our county boasted an inhabitation of 16,100 persons.

If these figures are to be accepted, the outlook for the county is not healthy. A downward trend in population is almost always considered economically unhealthy.

Yet, the findings of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, also released this past week, preach an entirely different gospel.

This group forecasts a growth of 2,200 residents between 1960 and 1980.

But, they claim that even with a growth factor of 2,200 over a 20-year period, Charlevoix County will only boast 15,600 residents in 1980.

Obviously, somebody is "putting us on". Just who the culprit is ... we're not sure. One could argue the merits of each particular reporting agency for months and still not be certain which set of figures is correct, if indeed, either is.

Most probably, neither group of totals and projections is correct.

What may be the most valid fact to emerge from these two surveys is that, in reality, state and federal agencies know very little about northern Michigan, no matter how loudly they talk or how large the volume of statistics their computers spew in our direction.

Airline reps plan serious look at city

Donald Ambrose, director of marketing services for Trans-Michigan Airlines, told the Courier Friday that representatives of his company will fly to Charlevoix Tuesday to confer with business and government leaders.

The visit, according to Ambrose, begins a "serious study" by the airline to determine the feasibility of adding Charlevoix to their growing list of communities regularly served by the airline.

Should the results of the study be favorable, the airline will petition state and federal agencies for permission to include the city on its schedule.

A preliminary study took place almost two months ago, spearheaded by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

"We've been on it for some time, working quietly with Trans-Michigan," said chamber manager Wally Loder.

Trans-Michigan is the state's largest commuter airline and has an impressive list of areas served, including Detroit, Chicago, Lake Geneva, Wisc., Flint, Marquette and others.

Ambrose indicated that the airline "is very interested" in Charlevoix.

Their meetings Tuesday will explore the economics, facilities available in the city and potential growth, as well as put airline representatives and community leaders in direct contact.

If Trans-Michigan should select Charlevoix as a scheduled stop, it would alleviate the problems local persons have faced. At present, the closest regularly scheduled air service is found in Traverse City or Pellston.

Sidewalks hard to free of snow

A tour through residential sections of Charlevoix last week pointed out that many residents have neglected to keep sidewalks bordering their property free of snow.

A search of city ordinances points out that property owners are responsible for keeping sidewalks abutting their property accessible and "safe" for pedestrian traffic.

Yet keeping ahead of the snow in the north is a trying project, even for the athletic property owner.

"Keeping at it," is the way one long-time resident put it late last week. "If you plan to keep your sidewalk clean," he continued, "you have to shovel it after each snow. If you let it go, it gets packed down from people walking on it and snowmobilers riding on it. Then, forget trying to shovel it. It's too hard."

Then, there is the problem of the wind blowing a sidewalk shut right after it has been cleaned.

The city has one small plow which is kept busy in an attempt to keep many sidewalks open. But, it seems to be a losing battle, as there are many more unplowed walks that the plow can accommodate each day.

Council this year has apparently not asked that the sidewalk ordinance be enforced. Yet, it is admitted in City Hall that it would be tragic to wait for a pedestrian accident before taking action.

However, enforcement may be difficult as the ordinance on the books dates back many years, and could meet stiff opposition from the public.

Another difficulty confronting the city is the fact that many homes in Charlevoix are not occupied during the winter months. Whether or not the city wants to force those property owners to pay for snow removal is questionable.

Cornie Klooster accompanied Jay Essenberg Sunday evening to visit relatives in Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stedum and Mr. and Mrs. Versal Shooks and children were Sunday afternoon luncheon guests with the Fred Van Stedum family.

Seminarian James Admiral of Calvin College occupied the pulpit in the Christian Reformed Church Sunday morning. He and his wife were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willard VanderArk.

Its the last week in January - temperatures are lots milder and we are looking for that January thaw to settle our many snowpiles.

Mrs. Alice VandenBerg, 60, of 813 State St. Charlevoix and former Ellsworth area resident passed away Tuesday evening in Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids where she had been a patient for about three months.

She was born in Antrim County June 28, 1909, the daughter of the late John and Jennie Wierenga. In 1929 she was united in marriage to Mr. Bert VandenBerg and had made their home in the Ellsworth area until two years ago when they moved to Charlevoix. Mrs. VandenBerg had been an employee at Charlevoix Hospital for fourteen years until her last illness in October 1969.

Surviving besides the husband by three daughters, Mrs. Howard (Jean) Takens of Grand Rapids, Mrs. David (Martha) Potter of Charlevoix and Mrs. Bill (Virginia) Ballard of Peoria, Ill. One son, John VandenBerg of Jenison, 13 grandchildren, one sister Mrs. Nellie DeJong of Martin, Two brothers, Martin and John Wierenga both of Grand Rapids.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Atwood Reformed Church with Rev. Ron. VanderWerff officiating. Burial in Atwood Cemetery. Arrangements were by Hastings Funeral Home.

Credit union plans meet

The Ace Credit Union will hold its 18th Annual meeting on Sunday, February 8, at the 4-H Center (Fairgrounds) in Petoskey, at 1 p.m.

Formed originally by Farmer's Union members, the Credit Union merged with area Granges in 1962.

This small, but successful, credit union has assets of $21,000 and paid a 5½ percent dividend on shares for 1969.

Lynn Fiedorek named '70 D.A.R. Good Citizen

BY BERNICE WEXSTAFF

Lynn Fiedorek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fiedorek of 209 Mason Street has been selected the 1970 Good Citizen by the D.A.R. (Daughters of the American Revolution), which carries an award exemplified by a Good Citizen Honor pin.

Lynn is a petite 5-foot-5, with light brown hair and deep brown eyes. She is vice president of her senior class, a member of the National Honor Society, a musician and band member. She has also distinguished herself on the CHS debate team and is presently engaged on the staff of the CHS annual year book publication.

Outside of school activities, she is a charter member of the local Campus Life club, a local division of the Youth For Christ International.

Miss Fiedorek has plans to enter the University of Michigan's nursing school to continue her education and life work.

LYNN FIEDOREK

Masons hold lead

In the Cribbage Tournament report last week the incorrect winner was listed. Actual winner was George Currie with 948.

This week, the Mason's winner was Ron Geer with 947 points. IOOF winner was Vern Jones with 941 points.

The Masons won by 264 points, and hold a 360-point lead. There were six and one-half tables in play.

Martin's only undefeated team

Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

It was another full house at the Charlevoix High Gym that witnessed one of the best nights of basketball in the young Independent League. In fact, this week's game is already a sellout with standing room only at game time. After Jim Nabors sang the national anthem, which he does for all big sporting events, the spectators prepared themselves for three excitement-filled games. Both Coast Guard teams were upset by First State Bank and Martin's Standard Service, and in the nightcap powerful Andy's Tire World socked it to Lexalite.

The first game saw a real tight battle between First State Bank and the Coast Guard Station. The Bankers jumped out to a 13 to 8 first quarter lead, which they held throughout the remainder of the game. Connie Klooster came off of Medicare to pace the Bankers in the first period with 5 points. The Guardsmen pushed a little closer in the second quarter to pull within 3 points for a half time score of 30 to 27. Crazylegs Frank Hacket paced the men in blue with 6 points, and Ball Hog Martin had four for the Bankers.

After a half time show by the entire cast of "Hair," the second half started just as the first ended, with Tom LaBlance tripping over the foul line. He's been having trouble seeing his feet. Playing a very tight third quarter, the Bankers were able to keep their lead to 43 to 38. Bumbling Bren. LaBlance squeezed in 5 points for the Bankers. The Bankers foreclosed the Station in the middle of the fourth quarter and coasted to a 61-51 victory. Stan Martin paced the Bankers with 18 points (its no wonder the way he hogs the ball and never lets anyone else shoot), and Connie Klooster had 10. For the Guard, Frank Hacket pushed through 15.

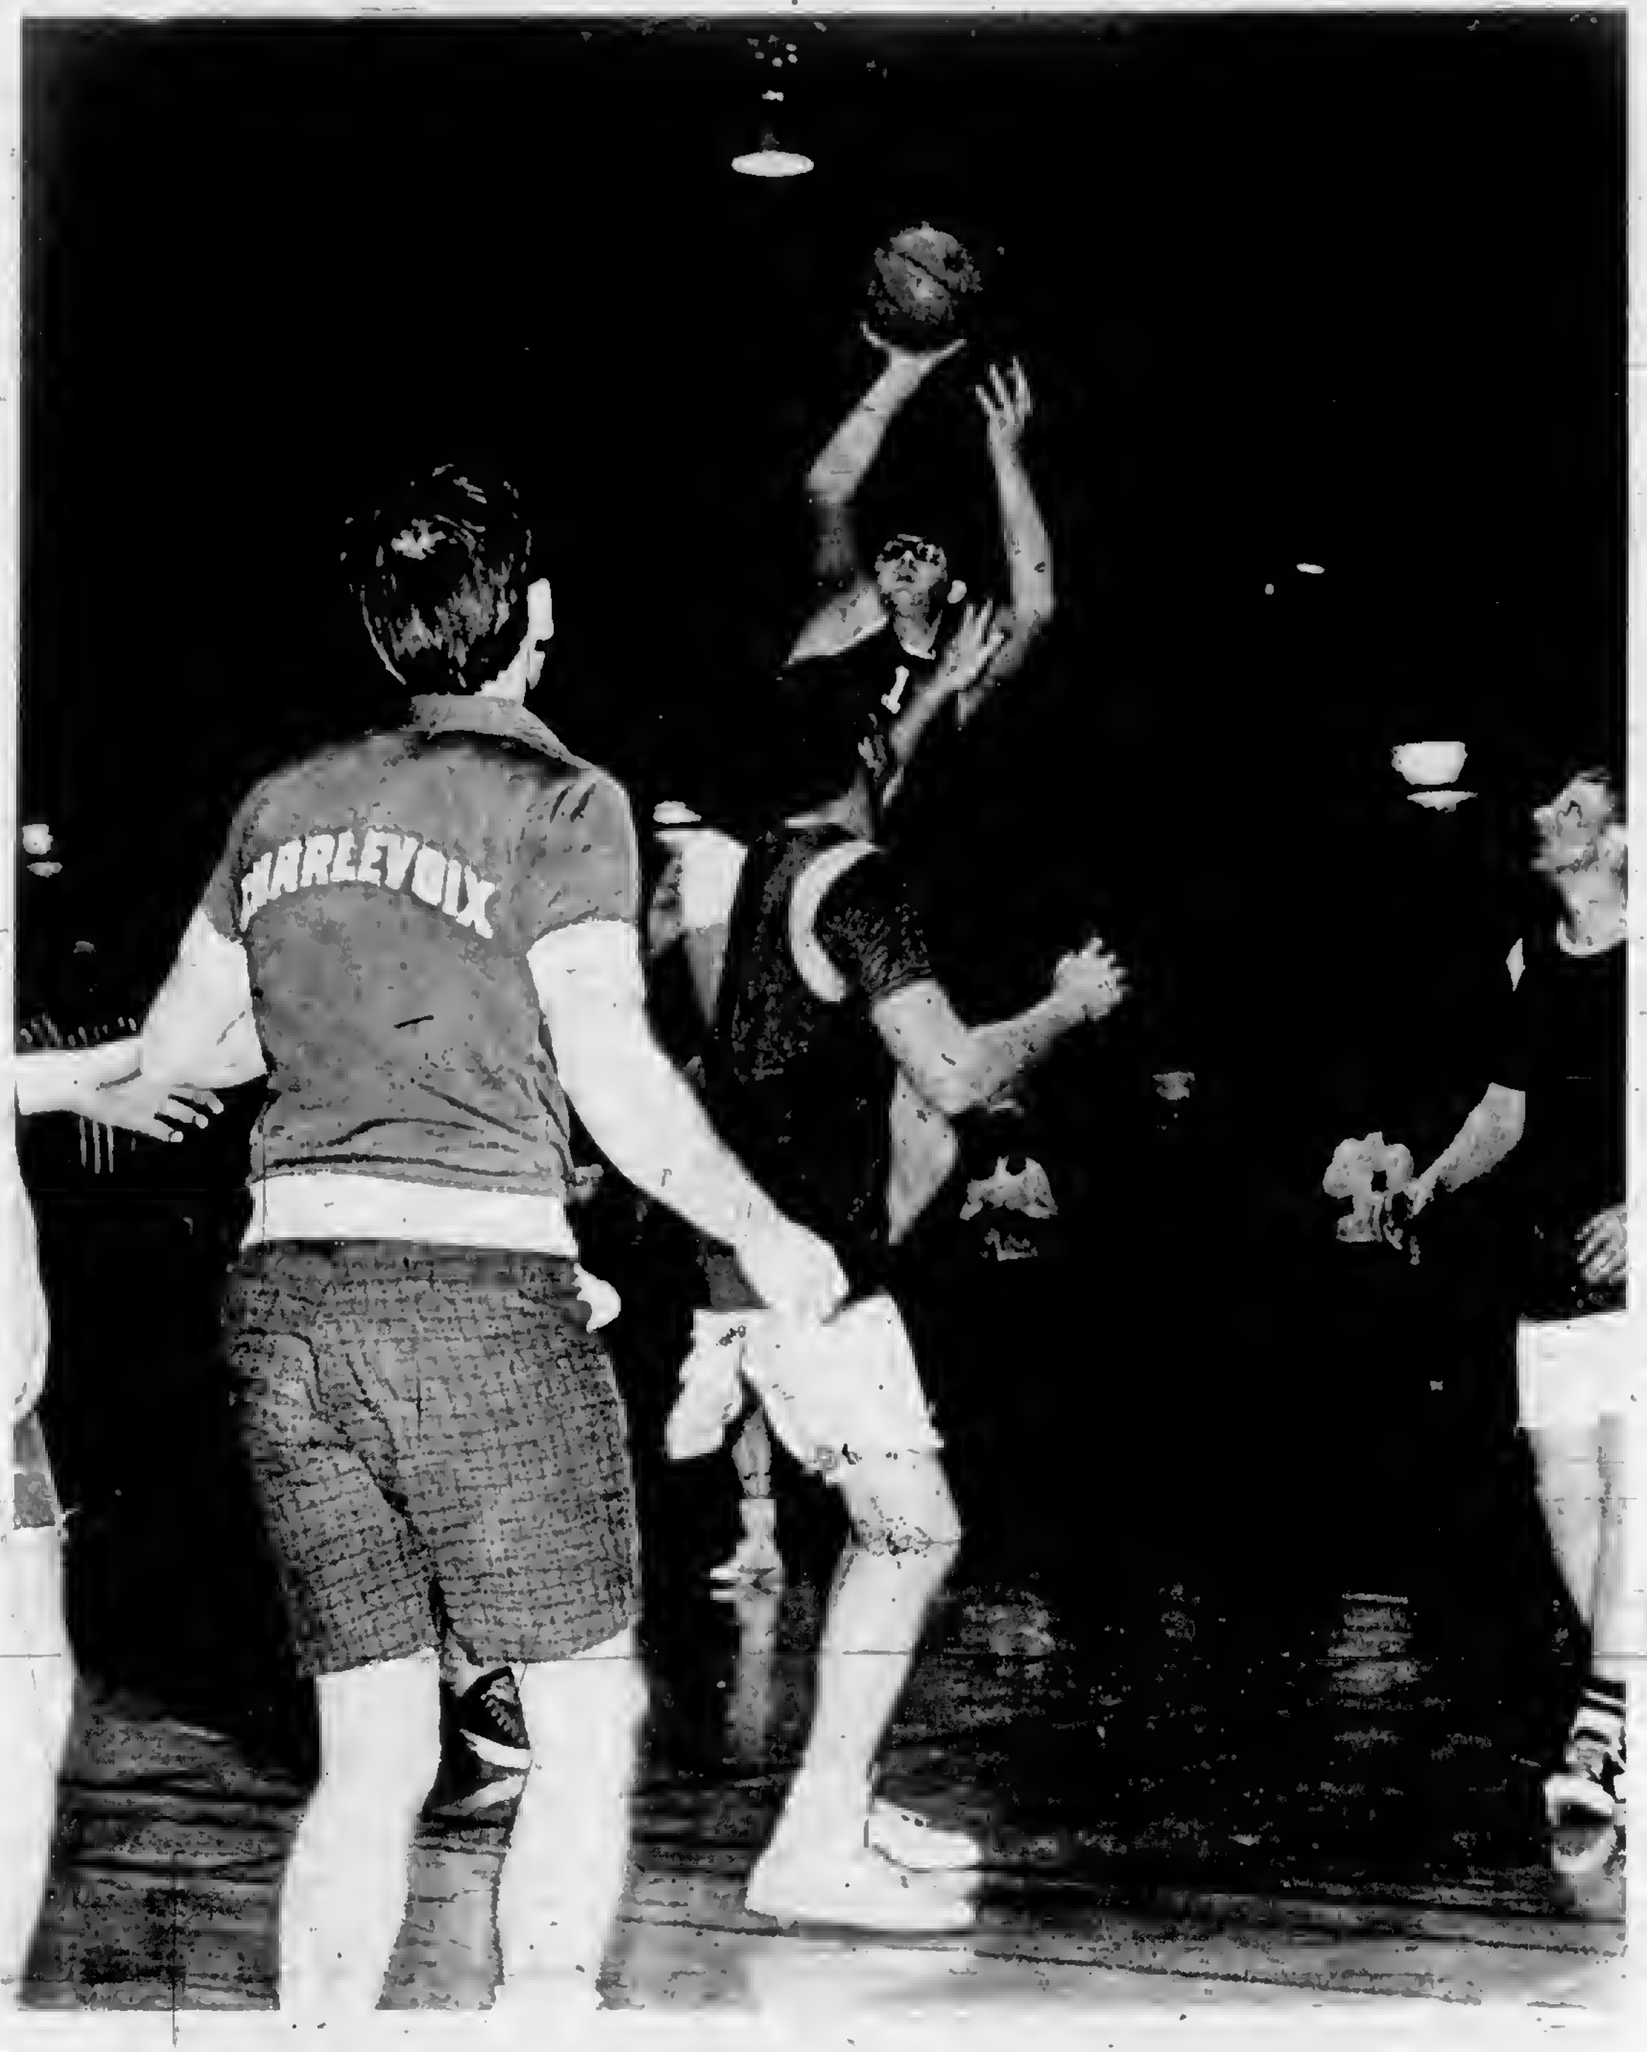
In a defensive battle, which the Sundew is known for, Martin's Standard Service held a second quarter lead to remain undefeated and give the Sundew its first defeat. The first quarter ended in an 8-all tie, with Ike Boss getting 4 for the Gassers. The Second period saw the low scoring continue, and Martin's came out on top with a 16-15 half time score. Steve pushed in an all time high of 3 points for the Sundew.

Not to be outdone by the first half time show, the cast of "Oh Calcutta" put on a brief second half time show which sent Hal Hill home as fast as he could go. Martin's opened up their lead in the third period with Boss's 6 points to 31 to 24. Jumping Jim Kluge came on strong in the fourth period, canning 5 baskets for 10 points, but he couldn't get any help from his other Mates and dropped a close one 46 to 39. Ike Boss put in 9 points for Martin's in the fourth period and also paced his team with 25 for his usual good performance. Jim Kluge had 17 for the Sundew.

The final game of the evening saw one of the years' best performances, with Andy's Tire World easing by Lexalite 62 to 42. Andy's jumped out to a 14 to 6 first period lead, which they didn't lose throughout the game. Sam Supernaw and Norm Helms had four apiece for the Blowouts and Deano Martin, who doesn't hog the ball as much as his brother, had 3 for the Liters. The second quarter saw Andy's hold their 8 point lead to a half time score of 28 to 20. Stan "Santa" Smith had 6 points for Andy's, while Rich Plumm had 4 for the Liters.

Not to be outdone by either half time performance, the final performance saw Roxy's Rocketts put on a sizzling show. This was all Andy's needed, as they opened up a 14 point lead in the third quarter with Sam Supernaw putting in 8 big points for Andy's. Boy, the more I see that Supernaw play the more he looks like Jerry West. There was a scout from the Piston's at the game to try and sign him. The fourth period, Andy's coasted to an easy 62 to 42 victory, with Norm Helms holding down the score by blowing two lay ups. Ken Wojan dunked in 6 points for Andy's, and Pete Spielas also had six for Lexalite. Sam Supernaw paced all scorers with 18 points, playing only 10 minutes of the game, followed by Santa Smith with 14, Ken Wojan with 12. For the Liters, Leroy Buchanan had 10. and WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . . .

. . . .Dan Vreeland spent every available minute in the stands with Jerry Redeker because his car payment was due Tuesday. . . . .Meadowlark Hess is a fake. . . . .There was between 100 and 1,000 at the game as spectators. . . .The Coast Guard teams don't want to wear their new uniforms because they are a jinx. . . . John Swanson didn't make it for his game because he had to pick up his Social Security check. . . . .Racquel Welch will be at this week's games to sing the National Anthem. Dan Vreeland will hold her hand. . Hall Hill is pushing for Vreeland's job-anything is an improvement. . . .The commissioners told the refs to call "no harm, no foul", and they wanted to see blood before there was any harm. . . . .A torpedo will be launched from the CG Station at the Sundew if they get beaten this week. . . Pool Room Toe Board rates the Station-Sundew game a flop of the mop of a toss up. . . . Martin's can't see the end of their bench. . . . .WJML will once again broadcast the play-by-play for this weeks games brought to you by Mother Wooshnuski's mouth wash and bowl cleaner.



Dwight Boss Martin's superstar, goes up for 2 for his 28 points. Boss leads the league with scoring average of 19 points per game.

Rogers rips Rayders, 68-52

The Rayders lost their second game Friday night as they were felled by the Rogers City Hurons 68-52, in action at Rogers City.

The Hurons took an early lead and held it throughout the game with the only Rayder threat coming in the third quarter, which was quickly subdued by the Hurons.

The score at the end of the first stanza was 17 points for the Hurons and a meager 9 points for the Rayder squad.

In the second quarter the Rayders came alive a little and scored 16 points only to have the Hurons hit on 16 too, which left a 33 to 25 halftime score with the 8-point margin going to Rogers City.

The third period was a repeat of the second with the Rayders just not able to take over the lead from the fired-up Hurons. Both teams again scored equally, hitting on 12 points each for a 45 to 37 lead going to the Hurons.

The fourth stanza found the Rayders sinking farther behind as they could just not find the bucket. The Hurons out-scored them 23 to 15 to take the game, 68 to 52.

Stewart Coleman led the Rayder scoring attack, hitting on 19, followed by Bruce Meggison with 11, Kraag Lieberman and Norm Ostrum with 10 apiece and Bill Carey with 2.

Rogers City's big gun, Newhouse, was high point man with 27 followed by Grulke with 21, Stone with 11, Graham with 8 and Paul with 1.

Charlevoix had 21 field goals and hit on 10 out of 16 freethrows, while Rogers City hit on 26 field goals and were 16 for 21 at the freethrow line.

The Hurons took an early lead of 18 to 14 at the end of the first quarter and held it for a 32 to 29 halftime lead.

The Little Rayders could only get 7 points in the third quarter while the Hurons scored 12. However, the Rayders came back strong in the final stanza scoring 15 to the 8 scored by their competition. It proved not to be enough as the Hurons won it, 52 to 51.

Jerry Pease scored 17 for the Rayders followed by Larry Potter with 11, Roger Crain with 8, Dave Swanson with 6, Joe Jones with 7 and Ned Henley with 2.

For Rogers City, Sczckrowski scored 25. He was followed by Santini with 14, Quaine with 10, Idalski with 4 and Hentkowski with 1.

PFC James R. Plumm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Plumm, who enlisted in the Army July 18, 1969, received basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky, and AIT at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, has recently arrived in Vietnam and is now serving with an Artillery unit at Chu Lei.

Baseball and Comments

By L.J. Ford

This article is the first of a series on the local baseball program. If it appears that a little social consciousness is mixed in with baseball, please forgive me. My hang-up is that I feel the two go well together.

We live in an age where the younger generation is criticized quite often by adults. Anyone can read the paper and see that some kids drink booze, take dope, steal cars, etc. I am concerned about this problem, as are you. There is hope for all of us, however, when boys go out and "help themselves" as did a group of Charlevoix youngsters last summer.

When we discussed the problems of starting a Little League Baseball team in Charlevoix last spring, the largest problem, as usual, was money. We didn't have a sponsor, as did most teams, and the kids would have to go it alone. The Charlevoix Courier offered a chance to the boys to help themselves (a new concept for some people now-a-days). The boys accepted this opportunity and sold subscriptions to the Courier on a commission basis. They worked hard, very hard, and the campaign was a complete success. They earned enough money to pay for starter equipment with enough left over to even pay for a trip to Detroit to see the Tigers play.

The editor of the Courier once said in an editorial that I coached the kids though I had nothing to gain. Mrs. Martin was wrong. I have a lot to gain, and so do you, when boys like these help make Charlevoix a better place to live. This is why there will be a baseball program in Charlevoix again this summer!

New maps available

The 1970 Official Michigan Highway Map is ready for free distribution, the State Highway Commission said today.

There are many changes, some a result of freeways opened during the year. Michigan has more than 1,400 miles of freeway.

Copies will be available, soon on the Courier office.

St. Mary's 84, Ellsworth 58

Gaylord St. Mary's opened up its fast-break offense in the final quarter and handed Ellsworth an 84-58 loss Friday night in Gaylord.

The Snowbirds, upping their Ski Valley League record to 5-1, exploded for 30 points in the fourth quarter to turn the game into a rout.

The Lancers stayed close in the first quarter, trailing 14-12 at the buzzer. At the half, St. Mary's had upped the margin to 13, 39-26.

Ellsworth began to close the gap in the third period, moving to within six, 48-42, with three minutes to play.

Then the Snowbird's fast break began clicking and they began moving away.

Other Lancers in the scoring column were Ken Derenzy with 15; Steve Chellis, 7; Joel Donaldson, 6; Jim Jansen, 4; Ed DeGroot, 2; Bill James, 2; and Milt Pott, 1.

Ellsworth now stands at 2-3 in league play and 4-6 overall.

The Lancers will face Boyne Falls Tuesday, on their home court.

You, your child and TV

Child develops by imitation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series by the assistant research director of the Children's Television Workshop, creators of Sesame Street, the new series for preschool children.)

By Barbara Frengel Reeves

How often has your daughter played "dress-up?" Or your son "daddy-at-the-office?"

Many psychologists believe that such "modeling" plays an important part in the development of a child's personality.

One way a child learns is by watching someone else. And imitating. And modeling his behavior on the behavior he sees. Hence a young girl wants to be like her mommy and so plays "dress-up" in mommy's old dress and shoes.

Children learn a great deal by copying their parents. And if a young child has few contacts outside his family, his parents will be his primary models–those models that he imitates.

In today's era of television, children are being exposed to many models other than those in their immediate family. There has been a great amount of research that indicates television characters and personalities have a strong influence on your child.

A child will copy Batman or Lucy or a cowboy on Gunsmoke. Most mothers are aware of this influence.

The producers of Sesame Street have been extremely careful about the characters on the show. They want to make certain that they are the best models for their young audience.

The characters on the show are warm and friendly toward one another. If Oscar, the Sesame Street Muppet who lives in a trash can is grouchy the other people on the street try to understand and help him. And if Mr. Hooper has to leave his store, someone offers to mind it for him while he is gone.

The people who live on Sesame Street are true-to-life characters. Here, children and grownups, blacks and whites, real people and muppets all work out their problems together.

Through these characters we hope to make children more aware of their own and other people's feelings. We're trying to convey to them that it is all right to feel mad, sad or curious – everybody does at one time or another. We also want the children to know the names of these emotions. In fact, these are specific Workship goals, and we will be testing to determine how effectively we have dealt with these topics.

One general suggestion: Anything the parent does to help the child see the relevance of these principles in his everyday life will enhance the effectiveness of the program's education message.

Pat's Reaction

Compass course, of course

Fool that I am years ago before I started sailing I envisioned myself on a sailboat dressed in immaculate white slacks, hair flung back and lounging with a Pepsi-Cola in my hand.

Once I started sailing I realized that there was very little lounging to be done aboard ship and that immaculate whites and a smart hairdo were hard to maintain while scrambling for an elusive spinnaker sheet or changing sails in a windy rain.

Nevertheless after seven years I have somehow managed to conquer the fundamentals of crewing and was just preparing to sit back and take it easy next summer when I found that my husband Jack had signed us up for a navigation course.

"You take the navigation course. Why in the dickens do I need a navigation course?" I asked.

"So that if I have a heart attack while we're out sailing you can get us to shore."

"If you have a heart attack I'll just put orange life jackets all over the deck; the Coast Guard helicopter will spot us and come to our rescue."

"What if I have a heart attack in a fog?"

Jack had me there, I had to admit it, so with a faint heart I started attending classes in navigation.

The first week was a disaster. I found that not even the North Pole stays in the same place all day. It wanders around for about fifty miles. You just can't count on anything anymore. Even the compass course and the true compass course are two different things.

The whole class hour reminded me all too clearly of those disasterous days that I had spent years ago in astronomy class. I elected astronomy in college thinking that I would be the star of all the beer picnics because I would be able to recognize the constellations. Too late I found that my teacher wasn't interested in that sort of elementary study. He wanted me to know how telescopes worked and how to plot the course of stars and planets. The whole semester was one big plot of celestial geometry questions. I hated it with a terrible intensity, and to my horror this is just what the navigation course promised to be.

Some navigotors might err and plot their course to Hawaii, but with my luck I knew that I would probably err and plot my course to the Bering Straits. No wonder that I lost all hope on that first night.

In fact the only thing that brought me back to the next class session was Jack's threat that if I didn't learn to navigate he would find a bikini clad co-ed who could replace me.

That kind of incentive is enough to drive any girl on to greater glory with a compass and parallel rules. So even though navigation isn't my bag I'm going to follow the cub scout motto and do my best.

But if next summer any of you spot a sailboat in Lake Michigan with orange life jackets spread all over the deck don't just stand there, please do something! I'll probably be aboard that boat with my novigation book and charts trying desperately to determine north from south as we sail in circles beyond the sight of land.

Hospital Guild will award 3 scholarships

Three scholarships will be offered by the Womens Guild of Charlevoix Hospital on a competitive basis to high school seniors who plan to enter an approved school of professional nursing in the fall of 1970.

These scholarships are for male or female graduates in practical nursing or any accredited course in hospital training such as physical therapist or lab technician.

The applicant must reside in the area served by Charlevoix Hospital (Charlevoix, East Jordan, Ellsworth), and the applicant must have applied to an accredited school of nursing before applying for the scholarship. These scholarships will not be awarded until all applicants have been informed of their acceptance to the school where they applied.

The scholarship awards will be paid to the recipient selected by the committee at the rate of $100 for a one year course, $200, at $100 per year, for a two year course, and $300, at $100 per year, for a three year course.

Applications for the scholarships maybe obtained through the school offices or from Mrs. Gordon Rower, committee chairman.

Library Notes

Good stay-at-home books are recommended this week. It's the time of year when a fireplace and an easy chair make us want to pick up the serious books neglected during the holiday season.

"Trespass" by Fletcher Knebel is actually not a serious book. It's an exciting suspense story about a wealthy, socially prominent family whose home is suddenly invaded by a strong, well-organized band of black militants. How would you like to come home from a party and find out that your beautiful home has been taken over by strangers who insist that it belongs to them? To young Tim Crawford, it meant four armed men occupying his home; terrifying his wife, threatening his children and tormenting his conscience. The author has topped a career as a highly-successful Washington correspondent with an even more successful careers as a novelist. He is the author of "Seven Days in May", "Convention" and more recently, "Vanished". "Trespass" is a book you won't put down–even when the grate fire goes out.

"The Glass Bead Game" was written by Hermann Hesse who won the Novel Prize for Literature in 1946. Now, more than twenty years later, his work is enjoying the greatest popularity it has ever known in America. His thoughts, his dreams, and his frustrations are so widely echoed in our moment in history that he has become a hero-figure. "The Glass Bead Game" is the most imaginative and prophetic of all his novels.

Within the last few years we have circled the moon, harnessed nuclear energy, artificially reproduced DNA and now we have the biochemical means to control birth. Why must Death itself, the last Enemy, be considered beyond conquest? The new book "The Immortalist" by Alan Harrington deals with the argument. "Death," says the author, is an imposition on the human roce and no longer acceptable". This is an extraordinary book and not easy reading but it is extremely thought-provoking and there is much in it to remember, dispute or agree with.

"Men in Groups" by Lionel Tiger is a highly original and scholarly study of personal human behavior. The author's theme is the universal phenomenon of male groups, from prehistoric man to the complex social potterns of modern communications. This book could decisively change our conception of why men form groups, what they do in these groups; why they take religious orders or join secret societies; why they play games and watch them; and why so few women achieve power in politics or business. It all goes back to man's ancient biological history in a way which sheds new light on the lives of each one of us and on the underlying features of our society.

"Speak for Yourself Daniel" is a thick and enriching book about the life of Webster in his own words. In Walter Lewis's hands, a marble figure comes down out of his niche to live and breathe ogain. In this book, Webster is full of humor and passionate concern for the great issues of the day.

Blast off!!! That's just what happened last Tuesday at the James Tabor home at 204 Elm Street in Charlevoix. Fire Department responded to call and discovered that modern self-cleaning oven "blew its top" while supposedly cleaning itself. Firemen extinguished small fire that resulted and set up exhaust fan to remove smoke from house.

Life expectancy is reduced eight years among young men who smoke heavily.

Scout Sun., Feb. 8

National Boy Scout Sunday will be observed in many of the churches throughout the 18 counties of the Scenic Trails Council of Northern Michigan on February 8.

In many instances, Scouters in uniform will participate in the services of their respective churches and adult Scoutleaders will be honored. In some churches Scouts will be receiving the "God and Country" Sward, the highest a Scout can receive. Many pastors will use this opportunity to speak on a subject closely reloted to the basic purposes of Scouting.

The Rev. Joseph A. Garshaw, jr., pastor of he First Christian Church of Traverse City, is the Chairman of the Protestant Advisory Committee on Scouting. He reports thot over 250 area churches have been contacted concerning this National observance and that some 10,000 bulletins, inserts and envelopes have been distributed for use on Scout Sunday by participating churches.

The Protestant Committee seeks to give special attention to the 12th point of the Scout Law: "A Scout is Reverent." Pastors and churches have been urged to give full support to the Scouting program, to help provide high quality leadership, and to encourage boys to seek the "God and Country" Award. The continuing and important task of the committee is to raise funds for the maintenance of the Chapel and Chaplain's residence at Camp Greilick and to secure a Chaplain to work with the more than a thousand boys who attend Camp there each summer. For this work, several churches include an item on their annual budgets; others take up a special offering on Boy Scout Sunday.

The Scenic Trails Council has more than 5,750 boys active in its program and more than 2,200 adults are helping in the work. The Protestant Committee urges the full support of all who see this as vital to the moulding of tomorrow's men.

Krebs on sports

"Five nights a week was rough when you were working all day. I usually got $10 a game, more than I made from my job. But I could take that schedule for only two years.

"I guess track was my best sport. In the Ohio high school tournament, you couldn't be in more than four events. The whole state went down to Columbus, and I came home with three medals. I got a second – a silver – in the high jump. Funny, can't recall the height. A third place in the shot put – that was a bronze medal. I was disqualified in the low hurdles because I knocked over too many.

"The high hurdles is the one I remember. We had a coach, a talkative southern fellow, who went around advertising how good I was in the highs. He made me sound so great, the meet officials didn't make me run any trial heats. So I was seeded into the finals. Well, in one way this was a disadvantage because I wasn't used to the starter's style. He hesitated an extra instant between his "get set" and pulling the trigger. I jumped the gun and was penalized one yard. That's the way they worked it then. We lined up again, and again I started too soon. Now I was put two yards behind the others. The starter walked over to me and told me not to start until I saw the other guys start. I took his advice and got a bad start. Off stride. But I won by a yard and set a new state high hurdles record, even with the extra two yards tacked on. My mark lasted about ten years, I think.

"Week later, in the Little Big Seven meet at Oberlin, I won four medals. I was beginning to get some offers from colleges, but my father thought I should go to work full-time. Of course I'd been working weekends and summers, so I wasn't a stranger to cement. Then, not going to college didn't bother me. My father and five of his brothers – my uncles – and my brother Arden were in the plant and, well, it was what you did.

"Sure, there was baseball, too. I started out as a 14-year-old semi-pro second baseman who didn't get paid. In practice I wore a catcher's mitt because the fellows' throws stung so much. But in the game I wore a regular glove. In high school, I played shortstop. After my semi-pro experience, high school pitching was easy. I hit homers in four straight games one time. We played in the spring, andn the season wasn't very long: very long.

"Looking back, it seems I didn't pressure myself in sports. I felt it was my duty to play, but I was relaxed and enjoyed it. I didn't get much encouragement from my father. He'd started working when he was 17 – his parents came over from Germany when he was a little boy – and there wasn't much time for sports. I guess maybe he saw two games I played in.

"I saw a story in Sports Illustrated last summer about Arnold Palmer. Told about ups and downs being a part of anybody's life. Well, I've had my ups and downs – any plant manager does – but I've had a good life at Medusa. Charlevoix was a good way to cap it.

"I had 10 months to go on my job in Cleveland, and they asked me to go up to this new plant and run it. You know, I'd never seen a computer in my life 'til I went up there. I'm proud of that plant. We made it the cleanest cement plant in Michigan. The state authorities send people in to show 'em what a cement manufacturing operation should look like.

"Success, I think, depends on treating people right and on living up to your promises. If you do those things, people will come to your rescue when you need help. That's what happened to me.

"We'll move back to a home we had on Cedar Point, near Sandusky. I'll keep on playing golf, shooting pool and watching sports on TV. I gave up bowling a while back. Took too many evenings.

"I'll go into town some, too. I'm happy to say my name still goes around in Sandusky."

We're in debt to wars, floods, health services, life saving and blood banks.

Brothers need men

The Big Brothers Organization of Charlevoix County disclosed that they have matched 15 men with boys in Emmet and Charlevoix Counties and are now in need of Big Brothers to work with boys.

Executive Director John Scorer is appealing for men to volunteer. He said that many of the events that the boys would participate in are being offered free due to the generosity of many operators and owners of recreational facilities.

He also stated that through the Big Brother Organization a man has a chance to do something worthwhile and still enjoy himself while doing it.

Anyone interested in joining the Big Brother Organization can contact any of the following men: Capt. David Amick, Lester Atchinson, Gardner Carpenter, Gary Cuzak, Robert Elliot, John Holec, James Krantz, Earl Lawrence, John McFall, John J. Lipski, M.D., Rev. Eugene Schooler, John Scorrer, Vinton Tompson, Richard Weaver, Davis K. Williams, David Wodek, Russel Wood or call 347-8852 or 347-8191.

Report cards will go home on Thursday, Feb. 5.-Pink copies for 3rd marking period.

Thanks Courier

Editor:

I want to extend the gratitude of our staff to you and your staff for the fine cooperation you gave us with the publicity for the Rubella Vaccination Program in your area. I am sure that the success of the program is due to our combined efforts.

I hope we can continue to work together in the future to provide the best preventative measures and Health Education possible to our children.

Sincerely,

R. S. Libke, M.D.

Seals Soc. holds meet

The general board of directors of the Charlevoix County Easter Seals Society for Crippled Children and Adults met Thursday night at the East Jordan Snowmobile clubhouse.

The members of the board extended their appreciation to all those people who gave of their time and money to see that 87 Charlevoix County handicapped and cripple children had an enjoyable trip to the Shrine Circus.

Also discussed at the meeting was the request from the Arthur McArthur estate and a special board that was appointed to administer the funds.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

Many of you have seen in one parade or another, the beautiful City of Charlevoix street parade float. It has well served its purpose, and now comes the time when the covering or the decoration material needs replacing. By the way, this first material was about what could be afforded at the time this float was purchased even though the manufacturer recommended a more durable and a bit more expensive decoration.

Beyond any doubt, this float should be completely redecorated as it has had a lot of wear and tear, so to speak. The manufacturer has indicated that to completely redecorate or re-cover the float it would cost in the vicinity of $300 or possibly less and that they are using a new type of plastic now available, which costs slightly more, but it is more rugged, water proof, fire proof, and crush proof. Help is needed. Have you any ideas?

It was interesting to note from Small Business Administration, Detroit office, in a recent release that $4,055,225 in business loans was approved by SBA during the last quarter of 1969, here in Michigan, of course. The list shows eighty small firms and/or businesses that were helped. It indicates also that most of these loans were made in cooperation with local banks utilizing SBA's guarantee loan plan. For the year of 1969, 350 Michigan firms and businesses were helped to the total of $17,917,936 plus.

I presume it is characteristic, more or less natural, or one way out, so to speak, for humans to take things for granted. Having to do with this Chamber, in our effort to better develop programs and/or projects, "taking for granted" is one of the obstacles I have observed, somehow or another we must overcome. Like I have often said, we cannot let George do it all, all of the time.

I am about to start proceedings for a new Lodging Place Brochure, which this time will include eating places, also. This is a valuable piece. It pretty much has hand distribution or direct mail, consequently, there is little or no waste. Past advertisers will be contacted, of course, and there will be room for some new ones. Let's hear from you.

It should interest you to know that in every day's mail there is a varied amount of requests for lodging for 1970 season, whether it be motel, motor inns, summer homes, cottages, resorts, etc., and we do need because of so many changes in properties, a new brochure.

This Chamber is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, a well worthwhile situation. In a recent report from the C of C of the U.S., I quote as Follows: "How Chamber Performed." "Forty-nine times during 1969 the National Chamber presented the business view point to congressional committees on pending legislation. Representing 2700 local, state, and regional Chambers of Commerce, 1100 trade and professional associations, and more than 37,000 firms, corporations, and individuals, the Chamber Federation voiced support for three times as many major legislative proposals as it opposed. The Federation's legislative activities were closely tied to the more than 1100 Congressional Action Committees operated by local Chambers throughout the country."

Recently, I had occasion to write to Dr. Wayne H. Tody, Chief of Fish Division, Department of Natural Resources at Lansing having to do with stepped up sports fishery in our area in 1969. Today I have a letter from Dr. Tody expressing appreciation for my communication of January 22, and I should like to quote a part of that letter as follows: "As far as continuing the maintain and improve the sports fishery in your area, I see few areas with a brighter future. With all the fine facilities that you have available and with continued stocking of these prized species of fish, I feel that you will have a steadily increasing fishery, both in quality and quantity for many years to come."

I wish all of you readers could have been here at the office this afternoon, January 29, when two of our new Directors called upon me and related some ideas and asked a thousand and one questions and requested a certain report to be made available tomorrow to assist them with some ideas, having to do with your community which they, I'm sure, will present to the Board at the next regular meeting, Tuesday evening, February 3. In plain language, the fire has been started, so to speak, and they are putting more fuel on it.

Kiwanis Notes

The program for the January 26 meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club was presented by Fred Cohrs of the Medusa Cement Company. Cohrs was introduced by Don Berlage, Program Chairman.

Cohrs, a native of Germany, came to this country from Canada, where he became a naturalized citizen. Cohrs is now a naturalized citizen of this country.

Cohrs' topic of the evening was "Clean Environments". He acknowledged that the citizens of Charlevoix are demanding, and they are entitled, to a clean environment in which to live.

Cohrs pointed out that the Medusa plant produces only about 1 percent of the total cement expected to be produced in 1970 by the Portland Cement Company. This same amount was equal to 33 1/3 percent of all the cement produced by the Portland Company in 1900.

The choice of location for any cement plant is somewhat restricted by the location of one of the major sources of raw materials. Medusa selected the Charlevoix area to be near the supply of limestone and to utilize the inexpensive transportation available on Lake Michigan.

Cohrs explained the historical development of the various techniques used in an attempt to eliminate air pollution. Slides were used to illustrate the growth in production of cement as well as how other sources of air pollution compare to the cement industry's contribution. In 1970 there will be 75 million dollars spent by all cement companies to eliminate air pollution.

Cohrs answered some pertinent questions following the meeting.

Destroying Public Schools
Cont.
HEW's Attack On Freedom of Choice

This is an absurd position, for precise racial balancing won't be in effect in other areas of a child's life or in his existence as an adult. His parents are free to establish his home environment and to regulate a child's friendships. An adult cannot be coerced into making friends on the basis of a sociological formula. Or maybe HEW aspires to do just that - take over the home and plan adult relationships. That's the type of thing George Orwell wrote about in his book "1984," in which he described the horrors of a totalitarian society that controls every moment of people's lives.

The American people certainly don't want a "Big Brother" society, but HEW is doing its best to achieve just that with its school plans. It is tragic but true that Congress is permitting HEW to engage in government by edict, to practice coercion against parents.

Congress has lost sight of the fact that children belong to their parents, not to big government agencies. The final say-so on a child's education should belong to parents, not to some bureaucrat whose mind is full of socialist notions regarding the way people's lives should be managed.

The United States has come a long way down the road to serfdom--to totalitarian government - in the last 20 years. As the 1950's opened, public education was strictly a state and local responsibility. And both states and counties were making progress on upgrading the school systems. The neighborhood was a central feature of the American scene and contributed greatly to community solidarity.

Today the situation is utterly changed. Big Brother in Washington has taken over all the key functions of local school boards and state boards of education. School officials have to spend much of their time checking as to whether they are obeying Washington's latest edicts or answering to the demands of the federal courts.

Parents see the public schools as centers of hurtful sociological experiments in which the best interests of their children are sacrificed to the demands of politics or the peculiar ideas of extremists.

More and more these days, public schools are ceasing to serve in an educational sense - - and are becoming mere custodial institutions. Parents who can afford to do so are enrolling their children in private and church schools where standards are higher and politics don't control.

HEW's latest victory will accelerate the process of ruination of the public schools. Secretary Robert H. Finch of HEW seems destined to preside over the destructin of the traditional system of locally controlled public schools. Big Brother's gain is the nation's loss.

Oh yes, all of us here in Michigan have a real one coming up, if Gov. Milliken's Education Reform passes, I can see the first CZAR (of Russia) put on the throne in Michigan of the U.S.A. Don't say it can't happen here for it is already happening, only the names differ, the methods are the same. Be sure to write Mr. Nixon, HEW's Finch, our representatives in Lansing, and Governor Milliken. Let them know that we oppose dictatorship.

For God, Family, and Country.
Yours truly,

Richard Friske

The 'Mens'- Fellowship meets in the Church Dining Room every other Wednesday evening. Everyone interested is invited. The next meeting will be February 11 at 8 p.m.

Elliot and Mable Bird of Flint were guests several days of Ed and Lorena Beene.

Several local residents attended the Band Dinner in East Jordan this Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fiske and son of Alma spent last weekend in their local home.

The Ladies Fellowship will meet Monday evening at eight o'clock in the church. Everyone is invited to attend.

Our weather is surely fickle and unpredictable. Last week was stormy and below zero, now it is in the thirties with rain and low fog. I doubt if Mr. Ground Hog will know just what to do when he comes out on Monday, but regardless of what he thinks we humans are sure of having six more weeks of winter. I have never known it to fall, have you?

Expectant mothers course is planned

A new series of classes for Expectant Mothers will begin Wednesday February 11, from 1 to 2:30 p.m., at North Central Michigan College, Room 32.

The series will run for a period of seven weeks, meeting on Wednesdays at 1 p.m. All expectant mothers are welcome. An afternoon series is being offered because of the expectant mothers who have been unable to attend the previous evening sessions.

Classes will again be presented by the District Health Dept. No. 3, in cooperation with Lockwood-MacDonald Hospital and Women's Auxiliary, Little Traverse Hospital and Women's Auxiliary, and North Central Michigan College. The classes have been accepted and are supported by the Northern Michigan Medical Society.

Mrs. Dorie Johnson, R.N., and Mrs. Karen Rossi, R.N., will instruct the classes, assisted by Mrs. Marilyn Greene, nutritionist. Also, a class will be offered on breastfeeding by Mrs. Ellen Hubbard, R.N.

Informal discussions, films, and demonstrations to answer questions will be the feature of the classes. The class titles are as follows: Infant Development, Maternal Changes, Health Habits During Pregnancy, Labor and Delivery, The First Year of Life (Physician's lecture), Feeding and Caring for your Infant, and a class on Breastfeeding. A hospital tour is also made available.

More information can be obtained by asking your physician or calling the Health Department at 547-6523 or 347-2421. Transportation can be provided, if needed.

Davis wants $$$ here

Some Northern Michigan Counties could expect enlarged coffers if a bill sponsored by 106th District State Representative Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) is approved.

The bill provides that monies received from leases of state-owned lands would be shared equally by the state and the county.

"This becomes particularly important how that much of the land in the 106th District is involved in possible natural gas drillings," Davis told the Courier.

"A lot of land is owned by the state of Michigan and is now being leased to gas companies for exploration of reported pockets of natural gas under the ground," Davis said.

Davis said that the amount of money now being turned into the state general fund is approximately $1 million. "We have no county breakdown on the current money, but based on these estimates, $500,000 could be returned to the counties for their use. As it stands currently, all of the money from lands leased for gas and mineral rights goes into the general fund of the state," Davis said.

"I can see no reason why the counties should not be able to participate in this money, since the gas and any resulting profits come from county regardless of who owns the land," he said. "For this reason I am asking that the state return one half of the money to the counties for their use," Davis said.

Representative Davis also said that money received from lands acquired with game and fish protection funds would remain in that fund.

The bill is co-sponsored by 104th District State Representative Michael A. Dively (R-Traverse City).

Vocational ed in Charlevoix

A report at last week's School Board meeting by Bob Cook about the future of vocational education on a countywide basis was apparently received cooly by the Board members

As Cook stated, the Intermediate School District is attempting to determine the feasibility of putting a one mill levy on the ballot, the proceeds from which, if passed, would be earmarked for vocational education use in the county.

Though the Board agreed unanimously that the vocational education program in Charlevoix schools must be enhanced, they expressed concern that the local school district, which according to present figures would raise over $63,000 through the levy, would get back less than that amount to use in any program the Board would institute.

Their caution and concern is commendable. However, we urge the Board to begin laying the groundwork for a complete vocational education program in our district now, rather than waiting for the Petoskey District (where most of our students in the program now go) to inform us that there is no longer available space in their schools for Charlevoix students.

Now is the time to begin planning locally. As is oft-proved here, far too frequently a general high school diploma is a ticket only to an unskilled job. Unless significant improvements in the structure of the local program are made, we may see large numbers of our young unprepared to contribute.

We must be willing to respond positively to present day job skill requirements. . .even to the point of passing a realistic, but large, millage request in June.

Clean air from sewers

It is hard to imagine clean air coming from the gutter, let alone the sewers. A citizen of Dusseldorf, Germany, named Manfred Pruss imagined it—and did something about the concept.

He has patented a system using existing underground sewage lines to combat a city's air pollution.

Pruss' idea is to install ventilators underground to suck in air and route it into special water-spraying chambers. The air thus washed would be blown back to the surface, the sewage line carrying off the dirty residue.

The plan has interesting promise for urban areas. Not only is it a new way to meet the ever increasing problem of polluted air, it also embodies significant cost-saving factors. Pruss says the use of existing sewage facilities involves only 40 percent of the cost estimated to achieve the same result through inhibition of fumes from autos and incinerators.

The idea bears looking into.

Courier photos

Editor, Courier:

Two pictures in last week's paper show what we township residents have been saying all along. Medusa Cement Company DOES pollute the air in Charlevoix.

Look at your pictures on page 1 and 3 last week. Both times, there is a lot of smoke filling our air coming from Medusa's stack.

If the people of our area plan to keep our air clean, they better really do something, right now, instead of just talking about it.

Maybe they (Medusa) can make the state believe they are not polluting our air, but photographs don't lie, and those are two beauties in the Courier last week.

Truly yours,
A concerned resident

More of same

Dear Sir:

Enjoyed Mr. Edwards' snow and ice pictures last week, but they seemed a little "smokey." Could it have been a spot of dust on the camera lens? Or background from a local company?

Name withheld on request.

Lesson

Station KTAS-TV in Sterling, Colorado recently made a mistake.

The news announcer reported that a million - dollar motel or hotel and recreation mecca was going to be built in Yuma (which is about 60 miles from Sterling) by Chicago millionaire Swen Laetsi.

When people looked for the story in the Yuma Pioneer newspaper they found no mention of it.

Then the Pioneer made a confession. The paper said KTAS-TV had been broadcasting news stolen from Pioneer columns, so they ran off one copy of the paper with the hotel story and sent it to the station.

Swen Laetsi, the name given the ficitious millionaire, is "I Steal News" spelled backwards.

SDS activities

By John Reddy

Recent developments within the militant Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and the alleged activities of those accused of murdering pregnant actress Sharon Tate and four friends reflects a social sickness that is something more than alarming.

To be sure, those who generate such events are relatively few when compared with the more than 200 million people who make up the populace of the nation. They are, nevertheless, a serious threat to all - conservative, liberal, black and white.

They pose a danger simply because they embrace violence as a means of bringing about what they conceive to be their version of justice. And, as practiced in random California slayings, or wild, vandalous marches through otherwise peaceful business districts, the victims more often than not are chosen by fate.

There is more than just the endorsement of violence as a tool of persuasion that binds groups such as these together. It strikes me that there is a common denominator rooted in an increasingly valueless middleclass background, a form of vacuum that collects those who find cause celebre in revolution and nomadic communal existence.

Spawned in the same valueless environment, and equally though less dramatically dangerous, are the "good" citizens who wreak havoc by drunk driving. Then, too, there are the white-collar and blue-collar thieves, the street-roaming strong-arm robbers and dollar-chasing drug peddlers — all exercising their own form of violence.

Combined, all these factions are creating a climate receptive to a police state, one in which the rights of innocent, law abiding citizens will be crushed in the rush to maintain a semblance of law and order.

In the sense that we cherish our "system," that would be the ultimate in violence.

But how do we combat it?

How can families foster values that create constructive approaches to social problems? How can we foster a feeling of respect for the efforts of others even though those efforts may fall short of desired goals.

Honestly, I don't know.

If it Fitz

But that didn't matter. I know Chrissie; she's my girl. My long-legged, hippie-haired, clothes-horse daughter. She's 13 and Cynthia was 13.

So this latest case of red eyes came easily.

I've confessed to red eyes before, but not often, and always reluctantly, like a little boy admitting he's afraid of the dark.

I usually wear my Humphry Bogart attitude. I kick cats and the Debbie Reynolds show is not allowed on my TV set. I like Frank Sinatra and booze and well-built broads. Let it all hang out, swinger.

But I don't fool my kids much. They watch too close. For instance, on the Mike Douglas show recently, there was this white man explaining why he adopted a black baby boy. And then the boy, now grown to about 5 years, came on camera and hugged his adopted dad. The love reached out of the TV and squeezed your heart.

"Hey, lookit Dad, he's got the red eyes," shouted my son. And my wife and Chrissie looked closely and agreed, yes indeed, I was trying to hide a rather severe case behind my newspaper.

That's how it goes with us psuedo-Bogarts.

The first time I saw Cynthia, she almost fell opening the school door. Chrissie told me what the trouble was. Cynthia had cancer. She'd had a leg amputated and was now learning to walk on an artificial limb.

I saw Cynthia several times after that, and she seemed to be getting along better. And every time I saw her, I was with my own healthy daughter. And I felt what any father would feel - that double-pronged kick in my gut: Sorrow for that little girl and her family, but also a guilty relief that it was someone else's little girl, not mine. Thank you God, not mine.

After the holidays I didn't see Cynthia anymore. The hometown newspaper soon told me why. For Christmas, Cynthia died.

Wow. Things like that remind me I don't know the real meaning of trouble and sorrow. I complain when the steak is tough, or taxes are high, or the roads are slippery.

I never really had anything to complain about in my life.

Thousands of youngsters are dying everyday, all over the world. They are killed by hunger and wars and neglect and cruelty. But I don't see them, so I don't get red eyes for them. It takes a Cynthia, right up close, the same age as Chrissie, to melt this wise-cracker.

Lookin' around

Winter brings the "disappearing act" to Charlevoix sidewalks. Residents seemingly can't keep up with the snow.

Out of the past

2 years ago

The Charlevoix High School Band received their long-awaited new band uniforms. The money for the uniforms was raised by the Band Boosters Association and donations from area residents and various organized groups.

Charlevoix merchants offered $2,000 in prizes at the third annual Charlevoix Snowmobile Races.

The Charlevoix City Council ordered Hal Forbrig, of Lake Construction Co., to raze the Colonial Club on Meech Street because of complaints that it was a fire hazard and a menace to area children.

Frank Tabor took over duties as office manager of the new license bureau. He took the place of Mrs. George LaBlance, who resigned her position.

The Red Rayders defeated the East Jordan Red Devils 100 to 48 with the Charlevoix team hitting the century mark for the first time in the school's history.

5 years ago

The annual drive of the Mother's March of Dimes got under way with a dinner a the Weathervane Inn. Chairman was Mrs. William Fochtman.

Plans for an over-head chairlift across Round Lake were received coolly by the city council. Out-of-town residents proposed to build the lift on city property.

Michigan newspaper publishers cited the Charlevoix Courier as the finest newspaper in Northern Michigan.

The Charlevoix Red Rayders defeated the Gaylord Blue Devils 63-50 to take over sole possession of the league lead.

10 years ago

Plans were rapidly progressing for the annual P.T.A. Fair put on by that organization.

The citizens of Beaver Island raised $126.50 to add their fair share to the Mother's March of Dimes.

The local Band Parents Organization planned a candy sale to benefit the high school band.

Bill Carey joins Colwell

Charlevoix native W. R. Bill Carey has joined the staff of Colwell & Company, realtors, of Petoskey.

Carey, who starred in athletics at Charlevoix High School and in college, had been in the insurance business locally for 12 years, before selling his interest in Charlevoix Agency, Inc., last September 1 to Richard Martin.

In announcing the appointment of Carey, Ed Colwell, Jr., said he "will assist Bill Drenth in the firm's activities in the Charlevoix and Antrim County areas.

"His familiarity with the area and its people make him a natural addition to the Colwell sales staff," he added.

He will operate out of the company's East Jordan office.

Debaters to Regionals

The Charlevoix High School Debate Team traveled to Johannesburg last Saturday to participate in the District Debate Tournament.

Debating for the Charlevoix team was Jeanne Smith, Chris Carey, Pam Fairbanks, Marcia Mason, Lynn Fiedorek, David Hess and Linda Gill. The team combined for five wins and one loss which was the best record there, and qualified them to participate in the Regional Tournament which will be held at Central Michigan University, February 19.

Other teams debating at the meet were Elk Rapids, Leelaneau, Onaway, Lake City, and Johannesburg

Garden Club reviews year

Members of the Garden Club and their guests met with a cooperative dinner in the State Bank community room on Tuesday evening, January 13.

A short business meeting was held by club president Mrs. Nancy Wood, with a review of the club's yearly projects which include litterbugging, an Indian scholarship, the Santa Claus fund, handicapped children, Christmas tray favors for the hospital, the Library planter and Christmas decorations, Gardening of the month to encourage gardening, and maintaining the flower beds on Mercer Boulevard and Michigan Avenue. Also, the club is working on a Nature Trail.

And Nancy Fowler entered a Christmas arrangement at the Traverse City Holiday Flower Show in December and received an award for it. We all appreciated her work and effort in this cooperative club project.

The program for the evening was color slides by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Campbell of pictures they have taken through the years during all seasons, and pictures of Alaska sent to them by their grandson.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Nancy Fowler February 10 at 1:30 p.m.

In brief

Winter picnic

The Charlevoix Winter Picnic was scheduled to be held at Ferry Avenue Beach yesterday, from 1 p.m. until dark.

Included on the scheduled program were games, contests and general fun for all ages.

Free snowmobile rides were planned for youngsters, while ice boat races, a snowmobile treasure hunt and "poker runs" on the snow machines were among the events scheduled for adults.

Highlight of the day was a snowmobile and trailer given away by the sponsoring Lions Club.

Vets get $323,000

Aid to veterans in Charlevoix County totaled $323,131 in fiscal 1969, it was announced today.

Funds spent in Charlevoix County, according to Robert M. Fitzgerald, manager of the Michigan Veterans Administration office in Detroit, also included $31,445 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation, and $41,760 for insurance and idemnities.

The largest amount, $232,926, was used for compensation and pensions.

Foreign students

Charlevoix High School has received its second exchange student for this year. She is Mercia Carolho, a 15-year-old sophomore from Recife, Brazil. Mercia arrived her Hanuary 20 and will be living with the Mrs. Margaret Gengle family.

While at Charlevoix High School, Mercia will be taking General English, speech I, biology, physical education, and world history.

She will be joining Patricia Bohn, who arrived here two weeks ago from Buenos Aires, Argentina. Pat is staying with the Clem Wagner family.

Council considers school tax request

Charlevoix City Council took under consideration a request from public school officials for collection of summer taxes last Monday night.

Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan and local attorney Donald Berlage made the request after the School Board decided two weeks ago to ask the city to collect school taxes in June rather than December.

The request was prompted in an effort to alleviate the financial predicament of the local school system.

Milligan told the Council that the Charlevoix School District was forced to borrow $120,000 last year to meet expenses, and the loan will cost the district some $4,000 in interest.

by collecting taxes over the summer, the borrowing problem will be avoided.

The city is expected to give the school district its answer at its next meeting.

Milligan told Council that smmer collection of taxes would result in $185,000 to $190,000 in school district coffers before the school year begins in September. That sum would remove the necessity of borrowing from local and state sources.

He was appointed two weeks ago by Mayor William Fochtman to fill the un-expired term of Thomas Hanna, who became City Superintendent. Westenbroek will serve as First Ward Alderman.

Council approved a petition from the Kroger Company for a SDM carry-out license for beer and wine and instructed city officials to notify the Michigan Liquor Control Commission of the move.

Council also: Received a letter from Wally Loder, local Chamber of Commerce manager, with an explanation of necessary renovation of the Charlevoix float which appears in many parades throughout the state.

Was notified by the state Water Resources Commission that the city has been placed in 106th position on a list of 167 applications for removal of phosphorous from its waste water.

Paid a total of $8,867.78 in bills, the largest of which was over $30,000 in school taxes.

Council is scheduled to meet again in public session next Monday at 8 p.m. in city hall. The meeting is open to the public.

T-MA visits us; field 'adequate'

Capt. H. James Rice of Trans-Michigan Airlines talks with airport manager Joe McPhillips at meeting last week.

Representatives of Trans-Michigan Airlines visited Charlevoix Tuesday to confer with business, civic and governmental leaders.

What resulted from the meeting is termed "hopeful", though the airline made it clear no commitments have been made.

Don Ambrose, director of marketing services and Capt. H. James Rice, director of operations, looked over the physical aspects and discussed economic possibilities with the city.

Joe McPhillips, airport manager, fielded a barrage of questions from Captain Rice concerning the field and its equipment.

Following the meeting, Ambrose told the Courier that it appeared the airport was adequate for their purposes after the installation of weather observation equipment which would cost in the vicinity of $1,000.

Thomas Hanna, city superintendent, attended the meeting to answer questions and to assure Trans-Michigan that the city would cooperate with the airline where possible.

Ken DePew represented the chamber of commerce at the meeting.

According to Ambrose, a serious study of the Charlevoix-Petoskey area must be completed before any decision is reached. "We have to determine if Petoskey residents would use T-MA facilities at Charlevoix," Ambrose said.

According to reports, area chambers of commerce and industry is throwing its support in back of the attempt to bring T-MA into Charlevoix.

East Jordan and Boyne City chambers have expressed their support, as have many area industries.

If the present T-MA study proves favorable, the airline could start serving Charlevoix in May or June of this year.

Vo-tech expansion needed in area

Area businessmen, industrialists and educators met recently at Petoskey High School in a continuing effort to expand vocational-technical education opportunities in the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

Speaker for the meeting was William Weisgerber of the State Department of Education. He charged that many school districts fail to provide youngsters with the kind of education they need.

"Kids," he said, "are our greatest natural resources and they can be trained to function well in a variety of different jobs. Yet we are trying to turn them all into high-test aviation gasoline through academically-oriented high school programs."

Consultant for vocational-technical education for the intermediate district, Jim Shepard, said that roughly one-third of the school population is college or tech-school bound and is being well served.

Participants discussed the possibilities of a one mill levy to support vocational education, as opposed to the present tuition system, but no decision has yet been reached.

Another session is now being planned, according to Chairman Harry Watson of East Jordan.

Open spaces here for snowmobilers

By Bernice Wexstaff

Now that snowmobiling has become Michigan's second greatest winter sport, the second biggest problem or perhaps the first problem is to find open spaces available to snomobilers.

It is true that private property owners have become irate over damage to lawns and shrubbery and are demanding stricter controls over urban use of the winter sports' machines.

However there is one bright spot on the snowmobiler's horizon and that is the 30,000 acres of trails in the Jordan Valley below Deadman's Hill in Antrim County. These summer trails covered with winter's snows from December throughout March are a clear and unobstructed freeway for those enthusiasts who crave excitement and adventure in the Michigan woodlands.

From Charlevoix the best entrance to the Jordan Valley trails is by way of the Penny Bridge that crosses the river adjacent to highway M66 south of East Jordan. Here it is possible to follow the river road and old state roads eastward to the scenic heights of Deadman's Hill off U.S. highway 131, and all without crossing a main highway.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether the scenery is more beautiful in other seasons of the year but it is certainly true that since the advent of the snowmobile it may be enjoyed at all seasons, including deep winter.

Shot through from vandal target practice, the shabby sign on highway 131 between the villages of Alba and Boyne Falls south of Petoskey gives small indication of the scenic beauty to which it points the way.

To adventuring travelers blessed with artistic perception the view across the valley from the summit of Deadman's Hill the two-mile journey westward down the graveled country road is a small inconvenience to pay for a magnificent panorama on Nature's 30,000-acre stage.

Medusa promotion for George Schultz

Medusa Portland Cement Company announced this week that George Schultz has been promoted to electrical foreman at the Charlevoix plant.

Schultz is a native and resident of Charlevoix. He has been employed by Medusa since 1967, serving as electrician after spending four years in the U.S. Coast Guard.

He is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Lawrence Institute of Technology in Detroit. His wife, Patricia, recently resigned as a teacher in the local school district to await the arrival of their first child.

Announcement of the promotion of Schultz was made by plant manager Fred W. Cohrs.

Feb. 23 - 1:30 Book Review Group at the home of Mrs. John Uhriek, 508 E. Dixon Ave. Mrs. Uhriek will review "My Darling Clementine".

Feb. 25 - 9:30 Home Decorating and Antiques Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Duerr, 209 Dixon Ave. for a field trip to antique shops and exhibits in the area including a "Dutch treat" lunch at a Petoskey area restaurant. Mrs. Duerr and Mrs. James Driggett are planning the tour and arranging transportation. Call one of them if you wish to go on the tour. Any Woman's Club member will be welcome to join the group.

Of special interest was the meeting held by the Discussion Group last Monday. A panel of High School students: Debbie Marshall, Jeannie Smith, Sherry Austin, David Hess and Tim Anders, and one of their teachers, Mrs. Connie Ford, attended the meeting to present their ideas about the need for a Teen Center in Charlevoix. Primary need is for a suitable place where students can meet their friends. Students and adults agreed that Charlevoix does not now have any desirable, away-from-school gathering-place for teen-agers. Minimum requirements, as the young people visualized it, would be:

1. Student management, with one adult, who would be responsible for the facility and its operation.
2. An open area large enough for dancing, and a snack bar.
3. A place that would be open after school, weekends and some evenings.
4. A place centrally located, so that students without cars could go there.

Future plans might include recreational equipment, such as a ping-pong table or pool table. The students would expect to pay for all refreshments from the snack-bar and a small admission charge also, to help furnish and maintain the center. A higher admission charge might be charged for special events. The students would be responsible for keeping the place clean and enforcing the regulations governing the use of the facility.

The suggestion was made that a student committee invite civic groups to appoint one or more adult representatives to meet with their committee to explore possible means of obtaining such a center and providing the adult supervision.

Cribbage results

With six tables at play, the Cribbage Tournament hit the halfway mark last Thursday night.

The Masons are ahead by 604 points. High for the Masons was George Currie with 963, while the IOOF was led by Jack Bergman with 957 points.

Mary Burns Circle to meet Wednesday

The Mary Burns Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Marie Webb, 713 East Dixon Avenue, Wednesday at 8 p.m. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Loraine Goss.

Kiwanis Notes

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting in the high school cafeteria. After a brief business meeting, Ken Harrold, District Manager, Bell Telephone Company, presented a slide presentation on Apollo 8's historic trip to the moon.

This presentation, entitled "Footsteps to the Moon", depicted the trip of Apollo 8 from it's blast off to splash down. The similarities between the actual travel time of Apollo 8 and projected travel time of Jules Vernes space ships were very close.

Through the efforts of Bell Telephone Company, there was nearly constant voice communications between earth and the astronauts during the 480,000 mile trip. The Apollo projected employed 300,000 personnel.

Harrold showed slides of Cape Kennedy the morning of the lift off. The area was filled with interested spectators from every state in the Union.

Some of the most interesting slides were those showing the landing modual, called the Eagle, separating and being reattached to the mother ship, called the Columbia.

The presentation was concluded by comparing the statistics of Apollo 8 to the Apollo 12 shot.

Bill Carey, Charlevoix native and longtime businessman, has joined the staff of Colwell & Co., realtors. He is working from the East Jordan office of the firm.

Concert association to stage 'Barber'

On Tuesday, February 10, the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association will present its third concert of the season. At 8:30 p.m., The Canadian Opera Company will present "The Barber of Seville," in English. The performance will be at the Junior High School Auditorium in Petoskey, as usual, and admission is by membership card in the Association.

The Canada Council in 1958, asked the Canadian Opera Company to tour a chamber style opera with piano accompaniment and little or no chorus, to the Maritime provinces. Its touring vehicle was the "Barber of Seville," by Rossini. This was a four week tour. In 1967 the company was on the raod for 17 weeks, the longest tour to date. January, 1970 marks the opera company's first full-scale tour of the United States. Of six weeks duration, the tour covers the east, southeast and midwest. The company has added seven different operas to its repertory, and for the current "Barber" tours, it has mounted an entire new production of the opera. The full company, plus sets and costumes, travel basically by bus. When necessary, train, plane and boat are used. Distances of up to 300 miles on performance days and 400 miles on non-performance days are quite common.

The Canadian Opera Company is pleased that through tours and the regular eight week Toronto season in the fall of each year, they can offer between 20 and 25 artists and technicians about six months work. Because the company is vitally interested in developing young artists who will gradually take over the important roles from now established singers, one or two advanced opera students with fine voices and outstanding talent but less experience, are absorbed into each new production east.

This policy has been very successful. It gives young artists opportunity to perform regularly; it keeps the east youthful and vital; it guarantees the Canadian Opera Company a continual supply of experienced performers and offers from time time new faces to audiences who see the productions year after year. The company carefully casts most main roles with experienced performers who give strength to the performance and excellent examples by which young performers may learn.

Not only are these artists used in the Toronto season but great European opera houses such as Frankfurt, Germany, England's Saddler's Wells and Covent Garden have also engaged many of these artists.

The sets for the touring company must have many facets. They must be so designed that they can be set up and broken down quickly and packed away in a 41-passenger bus. They must also be flexible enough in design to look well on various sized stages. They must be light in weight but strong, and at the same time create the correct mood and atmosphere of the opera. Finally they should be as inexpensive as possible. This is all very challenging to a designer who must not only have great imagination but understand the problems of touring as well as his job.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH RICHARDSON

Linda Vanderberg becomes bride

Miss Linda Kay Vanderberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob K. Vanderberg of Ellsworth, and Kenneth D. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle C. Richardson of Charlevoix, were united in marriage on Saturday, January 24, at the Atwood Reformed Church.

Green roses, white gladiolus, yellow mums and candlelight formed the background for the 2:00 p.m. ceremony performed by the Rev. Ronald VanderWerf.

For her wedding the bride chose a satin gown in an A-line style. It was trimmed with white rose lace accenting the collar, sleeves, and hemline. Her floor length mantilla hold by a pillbox, was also trimmed with white rose lace.

She carried a bouquet of miniature green and white carnations and white rosebuds set off by ivy.

Mrs. Nathan Carpenter of Grand Rapids, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an empire styled gown with moss green velvet bodice and chartreuse crepe skirt. Her headpiece was a bouffant veil held by a moss green velvet bow. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolus with moss green velvet streamers.

Miss Pat Sova and Miss Diane Geers of Grand Rapids, room mates of the bride, were bridesmaids. Each was dressed in similar attire of the matron of honor.

Elisabeth Rynearson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her floor length dress was of moss green velvet trimmed with chartreuse satin ribbon.

Mike Martin, nephew of the groom served as ring bearer.

Jerry Alwood of Ellsworth, friend of the groom, was best man John Martin, brother-in-law of the groom and Bill Chase, friend of the groom served as groomsmen. Ray Alwood and Lester Essenberg, friends of the groom, served as ushers.

A reception for 165 was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The groom is a Senior at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. The couple will be making their home at 606½ N. Fancher, Mt. Pleasant, Michigan.

Sandra Sundberg

Sandra Sundberg to wed F.B. Keifer

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Sundberg have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Jean, to F. Barry Kiefer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keifer of Ottowa Lake, Michigan.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. She is presently employed as a receptionist at Stewart-Clarke Furniture Shoppe in Kalamazoo.

Her fiance graduate from Whiteford High School, Ottawa Lake, and graduated from Western Michigan University with a B.S. in business education and is presently working on his Masters in guidance counseling.

Keifer is affiliated with the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He is now teaching business education at Hopkins High School in Hopkins, Michigan.

An April 25 wedding date has been set.

Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

Sam Supernaw is on vacation this week (at his Doctor's request) and this article is being written by his ghost writer.

Actually, Sam's physician warned Sam that he had better give up the game for a week before he wears his right arm out. It seems as though Sam has been doing about 90 percent of his team's shooting in hopes of winning the scoring title.

This was our final week of the first round of Charlevoix's young Independent Basketball League, and the first round ended with much unproved playing and three exciting games.

As was expected, First State Bank won their third game of the season by beating Lexalite, 58 to 49. The game was much more exciting than the final score would indicate and league observers feel that Lexalite could be one of the surprise teams in the second round, if they are able to pick up a big man to help with their rebounding. There is a rumor going around that Bob "Bull" Klooster may come out of retirement at any time and this would really bolster the Lexalite attack.

First State Bank was led to victory by Bren LaBlance's 15 points and fine Offensive play - you will notice that we have stressed only Bren's Offensive play and have hopes of seeing some defense in the second round. Lee Cross chipped in 12 points for First State Bank and Connie Klooster added 10.

For Lexalite, Rich Plumm continued his fine play and scored 14 points, followed by Mark Kantola with 13 and Peter Spieles with 12.

The second game of the evening saw the two fastest teams in the league, the USCG-Station and the USCG-Sundew, battle in what may become the biggest rivalry of the Independent League. Both teams played heads-up basketball and league observers feel that both of these clubs will figure strongly in the final standings of the League.

The game between the Station and the Sundew began quite close with the first quarter ending 11 to 8, in favor of the Station. However, as the game progressed, the Station built up a lead of 12 points going into the final quarter and held off a late Sundew rally.

The Station was led, once again, by their two fine scorers, Frank Hackett with 18 points and Don Finley with 12. Keith Engelbretson played his usual stellar game and added 10 points to the cause.

Sundew was bolstered by the return of Tom Berado to their lineup, as Tom scored 11 points to match up with Rick Cashon's 12 to lead to seagoers. The Sundew was at somewhat of a disadvantage, as their big rebounder, Jim Kluge, was unable to be at the game.

In the final contest of the evening, Martin's Standard Service won their fifth game of the first round, but they had to fight off a determinded Andy's Tire World with some nifty shooting by Dave Novotny in the final minutes to preserve their record.

With the absence of "shooting" Sam Supernaw, several of Andy's players were finally able to do some shooting and they responded with one of their best games of the first round. Andy's Tire World was also bolstered by the return of Andy "Stretch" Carey and Gary "Speed" Balch to the local wars. Andy's did suffer a severe blow to their second round hopes when Dean Mikulski fell and broke several bones in his head early in the second quarter. Mikulski was just beginning to hit his stride, as he scored 8 big points to keep Andy's in contention, when he suffered his mishap.

The first round leaders, Martin's Standard, were once again led by their big scorer, and the first round scoring leader, Dwight Boss, with 20 points. Dave Novotny chipped in 18 points, with 8 points coming in the final 3 minutes of the game.

Andy's Tire World was led by 23 points from Norm Helms, who along with Andy Carey, played a strong defensive by holding Ross of Martin's to one lonely basket in the final quarter. Andy Carey also scored 9 points to make his return to the local court outstanding.

First round notes..... Martin's Standard came out of the first round of play the leaders with a 5 won, 0 loss record and a look at their balanced attack back up this record. Martin's scored 278 points in the first round, for a 55 point a game average to tie with Andy's Tire World in this category. Combined with this high scoring average, Martin's held their opponents to 211 and a 42 per game average to tie with the USCG-Sundew for this category.......Sam and I would like to congratulate our fine referees, Bill Supernaw, Dan Vreeland and Barry Anderson, for the outstanding job they did in the first round of play. Refereeing is a tough job, but a look at the records would show that our referee's were quite fair, except for Andy's Tire World. However, since Andy's Tire World include such notorious "hackers" as Art "Hatchet" Reibel, Sam "Slam and Shoot" Supernaw and Ken "Tank" Wojan, it is easy to see why they led the league in thisk category. Andy's committed 85 fouls in the first round for a 17 per game average, followed by the USCG-Sundew with 70 fouls and a 14 per game average, Martin's Standard with 64 and a 13 per game average, and First State Bank and the USCG-Station with 62 fouls each and identical 12 fouls per game averages......The leading scorer in the first round was, of course, Dwight Boss with 99 points and a 20 point per game average. Dwight was followed by Frank Hackett of the USCG-Station with 81 points and a 16 point average, and Stan Martin and Norm Helms with 69 points each and identical 14 per game averages.......Wonder where "Shooting". Sam Supernaw Is?.......Big crowds at this weeks games again, however, do you notice how the stands empty out when the Coast Guard Teams have finished playing.......Enthusiasm is growing in the young Independent League, as several signs appeared on the walls of the Gym during the Coast Guard game, how about that "Welcome Wide World of Sports" sign.......Next week Sam Supernaw will back "Shooting" and writing this column ad I have a feeling this "ghost writer" Is going to take it on the nose for slamming Sam this week.

First half of league play ended last week. Action continues hot and heavy.

Independent League games are drawing good crowds, as witnessed above. Play will continue each Wednesday night at high school for next seven weeks, including playoffs.

Charlevoix's Rayders traveled to Gaylord Friday to defeat the Blue Devils in a real thriller, 68-66.

Gaylord took an early two point lead but the Rayders came back with two quick buckets and took over the lead never to lose it again. The Rayders took a lead of 18 to 15 at the end of the first stanza with Stew Coleman scoring 10 of the 18 points.

The second stanza was slow moving and low scoring. The Rayders worked their hardest but could only round up 11 points while the Devils scored 10 to make for the 29 to 25 halftime lead held by Charlevoix.

The Rayders set a fast pace in the third quarter scoring 20 points but the Devils came on strong too coming on to score 21. However, they were still unable to take over the lead and the Devils still trailed the Rayders going into the fourth quarter 49 to 46.

In the fourth quarter Charlevoix jumped to an 11 point lead but the Devils chipped it away to make it a slim 2 point lead with one second remaining. A Gaylord foul followed but a mix-up under the basket ended with the ball in Gaylord's procession. A full court pass and a short jumper proved futile as the Rayders went on to win the game 68 to 66.

Stew Coleman again lead all scorers with 26 followed by Kragg Lieberman with 21, Bruce Meggison with 16 and Norm Ostrum with 5.

For Gaylord Brad Grein lead the scoring attack with 19 followed by Rick Catt with 18, Kurt Moageau with 15, Butch Lehmann with 9, Dana Hird with 3 and Maury Harmon with 2.

The Charlevoix J.V.'s defeated the Little Devils 38 to 34 to make it a perfect night. They took an early 9 to 8 lead at the end of first quarter and held a slim 22 to 16 halftime lead.

They maintained that lead throughout the rest of the game with a 33 to 27 third period and a 38 to 34 final.

Larry Potter lead Rayder scorers with 14 followed by Jerry Pease with 10, Ned Henley and Rick Donaldson with 6 apiece and Dave Swanson with two.

For the Gaylord J.V.'s Randy Rich was high with 10 followed by Brad Andrews with 9, Bill Jozwiak with 7, Mike Tarbutton with 6 and Mike Norton and Kelly MacDonald with 1 each.

Around defender and two more points for Charlevoix.

Hand in the face didn't stop Rayders defeat Gaylord for the second time this season by a 68-66 score Friday. Photos by Fred Davison.

Cheboygan falls, 84-70

After being upset two games in a row, the Rayders came back strong to defeat the second place Cheboygan Chiefs 84 to 70 here Saturday. It was the seventh win in 12 outings for Charlevoix and only the second loss for the Chiefs.

Charlevoix took an early lead in the first stanza 21 to 12. In the last few games, Charlevoix has had a cold first quarter and then hasn't been able to come back. However, this wasn't the story here last Saturday night. Charlevoix took the lead and held it the entire game.

The closest the Chiefs came to the lead was in the second period when they came back to score 23 points to the 15 scored by the Rayders.

A Chief bucket before the halftime buzzer made the score 36 to 35 in Charlevoix's favor.

In the third quarter, Charlevoix widened it winning gap by scoring 27 points and allowing only 21 points for the Cheboygan squad. The end of the third stanza found the Rayders ahead 63 to 56.

The final period proved to be a mad one for both teams. Bruce Meggison, Stew Coleman and Kevin Swanson all fouled out for the Rayders and Beatty, Nieland and Johnson all fouled out for the Chiefs.

This didn't hamper the Rayder's spirits, as they came on to score 21 points to 14 scored by their opponents and wrapped up the win for Coach Carey and the enthusiastic Rayder fans.

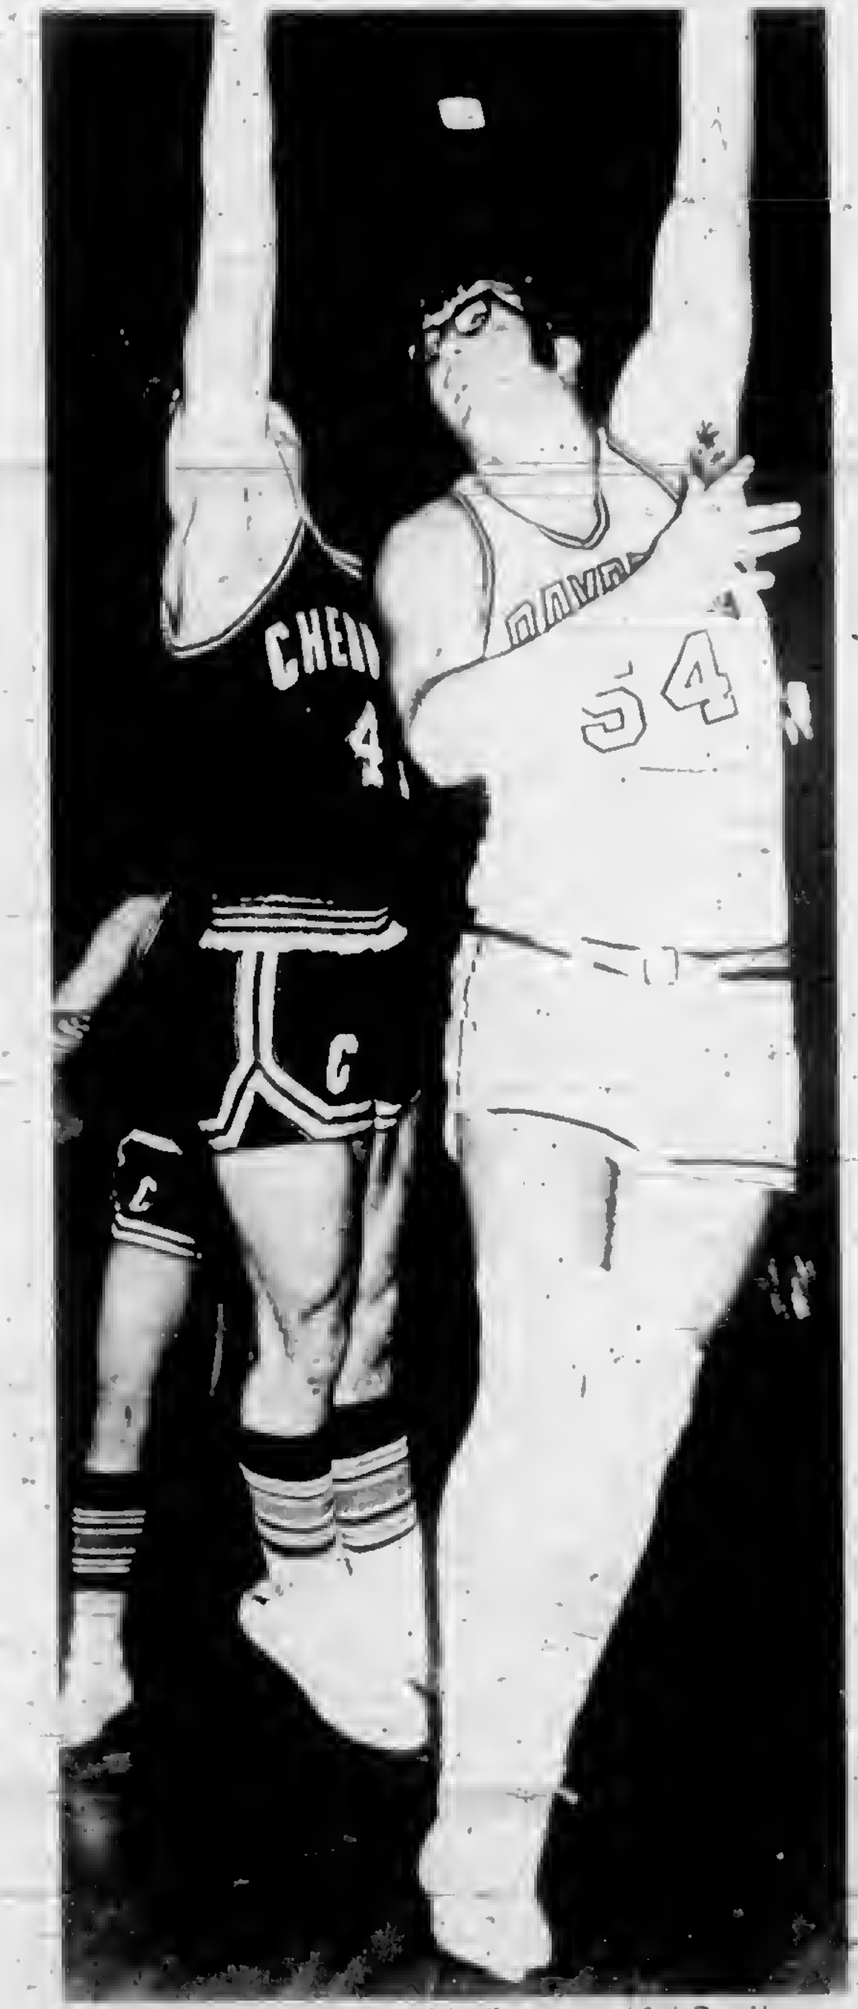
Stew Colenfan again paced the Rayder scoring attack with 22 points, followed by Bruce Meggison and Norm Ostrum with 17 apiece, and Kraag Lieberman with 15. Other Rayder scorers were Kevin Swanson, who started his first game of the season, with 5, Tim Doan with 3, Bill Carey and Tim Carey with 2 and Carl Novak with 1.

Cheboygan's top scorer for the night was Johnson with 19 followed by Nieland with 17, Jewell with 14, Beatty with 11 and Fralik with 9.

In Junior Varsity action, the Little Rayders took a 45 to 42 decision over the Braves. The score was a small 21 to 21 tie at half time but the Charlevoix J.V.'s came back strong in the third quarter and held off a Cheboygan drive in the fourth stanza to take the win 45 to 42. Their record is now 10 wins against only two losses.

Harry Potter scored 17 points to lead to Rayders followed by Jerry Pease with 12, Roger Crain with 7, Dave Swanson with 5 and Ned Henley and Rick Donaldson with 2 each.

For the Braves Herzog scored 14 followed by Martin with 11, Clark and Watkins 6 each and Kitchen 5.



Kevin Swanson started his first game for Rayders last Saturday and came through with a solid performance on the boards.

Located on the southern perimeter of Charlevoix County the rolling hills that surround the Jordan River Valley as well as the valley itself is an impressive sight. in summer the valley is covered in a blanket of greenery that with the advent of autumn becomes a riot of brilliant gold and red contrasting the lavender shadows cast by October's sun. in autumn the Jordan Valley has often been called the Grand Canyon of Michigan.

Spring is, of course, more delicate with pale green of first leaflets contrasting the deep greens of pine and cedar bringing to mind a vision of Mother Earth when all things were young. But, winter is now the big deal in the Jordan Valley as snowmobiles skim over the miles of trails below scenic Deadman's Hill.

Deadman's Hill, one called Mt. Baldy in recognition of the commercial vandalism of early lumbering days when every tree fell before the lumberjack's axe, the summit is presently a picnic park of the Pigeon River State Forest. It is slightly over 1,340 feet above mean sea level, according to statistics on file at the Department of Natural Resources in Michigan State Capitol. However, the Jordan Valley is a mere 910 feet above sea level which makes the total relief between river and hilltop approximately 430 feet-not impressive as mountains go, but still quite a hill.

It was a fateful day that May 21st 1910... Big Sam, as Stana Graczyk was called by his fellow lumberjacks who at that time worked for the White Lumber Company of Boyne City, met his death by a katydid on the eastern bluff of the Jordan River Valley.

Big Sam was a healthy, strong young man barely out of his teens. He had migrated from Poland to swell the ranks of other immigrants who had settled in Elmira Village and the Bohemian Settlement southeast of East Jordan.

Careless of danger, Big Sam, lost his footing and the log-load of several tons on the rig crushed his body as the rig lurched with a sudden stampede of the work horses.

It is said by some that the remains of the rig, the katydid, so aptly described by the humor of rollicking lumberjacks because it did in a sense resemble a giant bug, may be somewhere in the brush below where the spooked horses kicked themselves free. If so, perhaps it will one day be found by some wandering hunter or snowmobiler out for a winter holiday on the trails of the Jordan Valley.

Pat's Reaction

Hail to Heloise

Home is where you use your head and since so many women are getting into the act of passing out "Handy Household Hints" I decided to do likewise and play Heloise for a week.

Actually in spite of the fact that you readers may clamor for more, one week is all that you're going to get because that's all the household hints that I can muster up.

Girls, do you hate to wash potatoes a few at a time as your family eats them? Well don't, next time wash them the same way that I do by emptying the whole gab gull into the washing machine and giving them a cold wash on the delicate cycle. It's just fascinating to watch all of those grubby potatoes bob around in the washer like ping pong balls and then come out shiny clean.

Just be careful to grab them all out before the spin cycle though or you may just find yourself with a washer full of mashed potatoes.

And Girls, do you find that your toilet is not sparkling clean the way that you'd like it to be? Would you be ashamed if your husband's boss or his mother stopped in and asked to use your facilities?

Well you can stop worrying for I have the answer to that nasty little bathroom problem. I keep my toilet bowl clean and sparkling by throwing in a cup of bleach from time to time. Of course I don't know how long my fixtures will last but they certainly do sparkle now.

And another thing, if you find darning a drag use the simple trick that I've used for many years. Buy the socks for the men in your family a dozen at a time and then all exactly alike. When one sock gets a hole in it hide the sock in an empty cereal box and put it in the trash where your husband and sons will never see it.

Eventually, of course, when they get down to one pair of socks they may ask you to darn one. Do it cheerfully while you smirk and think about the ten others that you didn't have to darn.

Last of all, Girls, on wash day do you feel as grey as your laundry? Do you envy your neighbor when you see her clean white laundry hanging out to dry?

Does your neighbor put a box of Tide on the fence post?

Is she trying to tell you something?

Play dumb. Assume that she is. Take action. Take your dirty laundry over to her house, flatter her unscrupulously and let her wash yours just to show you how she does it.

You'll be surprised at what a time saver this is and at how happy it will make your neighbor feel to be neighborly.

Of course if she doesn't feel quite that neighborly she may even give you a few hints which you really don't want.

Lenten services set at Bethany

Bethany Ev. Lutheran Church will observe the Lenten season by holding special evening services at the church on South Bridge Street. The first service will be conducted on Wednesday, Feb. 11, at 8 p.m. This is Ash Wednesday and begins the season of Lent.

At this service, we will celebrate Holy Communion. During this service of Holy Communion we will observe an ancient custom of the elements for communion being brought forward just before the consecration. This ancient custom arose when individual families of the congregations provided the bread and wine for communion; the bread and wine were brought forward as that families offering for the day. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vetting have been chosen to carry out this custom in our service. Mr. Vetting serves as elder for the church.

The first portion of the service will be a hymn sing and informal question and answer period. This will give worshippers an opportunity to learn more about the Lutheran church. We invite people of the community to be with us for these services.

The evening worship services to be held each week until holy week have the general theme "The Abundant Life". Each week we will concentrate on various aspects of this life such as: Service, Prayer, Truth, Consolation, Forgiveness, Penitence, Remembrance of Christ, and Trust in God.

The first service will be held on Wednesday evening, Feb. 11 at 8 p.m.

The following weekly services will be held on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m.. We invite you to join us for these special worship hours commemorating the suffering and death of Christ for the sins of the world.

Peace topic at meeting

Kay Camp, National President of the Womens International League for Peace and Freedom, will speak at a luncheon at the Bay View inn at 12:30, Tuesday, February 10.

She has done many things on the national and international level in support of world peace and freedom.

Tickets for the luncheon may be purchased at the Petoskey News Review or by calling 347-4645 or 347-4439. Men are also urged to attend.

Two local students on WMU dean's list

Two Charlevoix students have been named Dean's List for the fall semester at Western Michigan University.

Joy Ann Pierce of 502 Newman and Michael Lee Vreeland of 120 Antrim Street. have both maintained a B or better average and qualified for the list.

Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pearsall and Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vreeland, all of Charlevoix.

Scout Banquet

The Cub Scout Blue and Gold Banquet will be held Saturday, February 14, at the American Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m.

All Cub Scouts and Eagle Scouts will be attending the event with their parents and guests.

Cub Master Robert Drenth, Den 1 and Den 2 will entertain. Den mother for Den 1 is Mrs. David Stuart, Den 2 is Mrs. Robert Drenth.

Scouts attend Klondike Derby

Five patrols from Charlevoix Boy Scout Troop 11 were entered in the recent Klondike Derby in Traverse City.

Two patrols came home with first place awards and three collected second place ribbons.

Making the journey to Nub's Nob with the Scouts were Scoutmaster Louis Edwards, James Bergman, Mrs. Val Avery and Paul Osterberg.

Ellsworth dumps Boyne Falls

BY DALE VANDERSLIK

A sparse crowd turned out to see Ellsworth start a four game home stand on the right leg by downing the Boyne Falls Loggers by an impressive 65 to 50 score. The final score was a bit different than the previous time when Boyne Falls whipped Ellsworth in their home gym 95-65.

It was a game filled with fouls. At the end of the game, Ellsworth was down to six, half of those having four fouls.

The game began all Ellsworth and ended all Ellsworth. The Lancers put on a slow paced offense right from the beginning. Joe Donaldson, second leading scorer on the Ellsworth team, committed three fouls the first three minutes of the game. Ellsworth pulled out to an 18-8 lead, but Boyne Falls pulled to within six by the end of the first quarter 18-12.

The second quarter saw the pace of the game decrease while the fouls increased. With 3 minutes left in the half, one Ellsworth regular had four fouls and three had three apiece. While they were sitting on the bench, Boyne Falls caught up and went ahead by 2 at the close of the first half 32-30.

Joe Donaldson put in four easy field goals to begin the third quarter and forced Boyne Falls to call a time out and reallign their defense. However, the Loggers again caught up and were only trailing by four at the end of the third quarter 47-43.

The inevitable happened in the fourth quarter as Ken Derenzy, Steve Chellis, and Joel Donaldson fouled out and took their worth by pulling away and winning by 15 points 65-50.

The difference in the game could be attributed to foul shooting where Ellsworth made 24 of 33 while Boyne Falls only hit on 14 of 37.

Hud Drenth again led Ellsworth scorers with 22 points with Joe Donaldson adding 13. Ed Matelski put in 16 for the Loggers.

Ellsworth Lancers continued winning ways with win over Boyne Falls last Tuesday and a big win over Inland Lakes Friday. Friday's score was 56-54, with Ken Derenzy pacing the attack with 16 points.

Lancers have balanced scoring attack led by Denny Drenth, Ken Derenzy, Joel Donaldson and Bill James. They boast a 5-2 league record.

Big Bros. to meet

The Charlevoix County Big Brother Association will meet in the basement of the First State Bank of Charlevoix tomorrow at 8.

All officers and board of directors members are urged to attend. Anyone interested in becoming a Big Brother or anyone interested in having a Big Brother assigned to a fatherless boy is invited to attend.

Wesleyan cage coach re-united with Parrish

Dean Davenport, former coach at Charlevoix, Petoskey and Traverse City, often reminisces about Michigan with former Charlevoix and Cheboygan star Ken Parrish following a workout at Iowa Wesleyan College where Davenport is basketball coach and athletic director and Parrish is a junior and physical education major.

Parrish moved to Cheboygan for his junior year of high school and was selected to the all-state team as a senior. He graduated from Alpena Community College last year and enrolled at Wesleyan to join his former coach.

The 6-1 Parrish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parrish of Lockport, Ill., has provided the IWC Tigers with a versatile substitute who has been able to come in and play at either guard or forward. In a recent crucial game, he made three straight foul shots in the final minutes to enable Iowa Wesleyan to post a narrow and important Prairie Conference victory.

The Tigers needed that win to stay on top of the league. They currently are 5-0 and 12-3 for the year. The chances of improving on last season's 20-5 record appears difficult, but Coach Davenport is hopeful that a strong finish will enable his Tigers a second straight invitation to play in the N.A.I.A. post-season tournament.

Dean Davenport, left, of Charlevoix, talks about northern Michigan with Ken Parrish, former Charlevoix and Cheboygan star. Davenport is head coach of Iowa Wesleyan cage team.

G. M. Elzinga of East Jordan has purchased the home of the late Mrs. Lewis McDonald, and has been making improvements to the interior the past several weeks.

With the severe cold weather we have been having, it is hard to realize that the Lenten Season is approaching. The first service will be on Thursday evening at seven-thirty February 12, followed by the usual choir practice at 8 o'clock. We will look forward to having you join us. It is always a most interesting and worth while service.

Chevy Sevcik is a medical patient in Charlevoix Hospital. She has the very best wishes of her friends and neighbors.

The Weekly Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Bennett with nine members present. A lovely cake was served with ice cream by the hostess honoring the birthday anniversaries of Hilda Crowe, Jennie Duffy, Ada Williams, Lorena Beene, and Hilda Alexander.

Due to the stormy weather Monday, the Ladies Fellowship was cancelled. They will meet Monday evening, February 16 at the church.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER

Last Tuesday evening, the Chamber's Board of Directors started the new schedule of meeting every other Tuesday evening. This has aroused mutual interest and it is felt it to be the best and easiest way to truly accomplish. For the second meeting a number of ideas were expressed and much general discussion to the point where I feel now the boys are in the groove and will be on their way. Last Tuesday's meeting was called to order at 7:45 p.m. and those answering roll call were: President Bruce Bartlett, vice president Charles Themm, treasurer Ken DePew, Dave Juilleret, Jim Marshall, Lyle Miles, Gordon Neff, and George Richardson. Absent was Ralph Hess. Copies of minutes and revised budget were passed to the Directors for their review. President Bartlett called for a motion to accept the minutes as is provided there were no ommissions or corrections. After a pause, Juilleret motioned to accept the minutes which was seconded by Lyle Miles. There was no discussion, all voted "yes," minutes accepted as is. Secretary was called upon for a brief report. Accordingly, he indicated a severe question of funds with hopes of early contributions from the membership and that the bank balance was approximately $400, which he said was much too low to last very long and hoped this service would not have to be curtailed. Secretary indicated the first C of C bulletin had been processed and Ken DePew had but two boys to start the circulation from door to door. Loder indicated he had contacted about six boys to help but to no avail. Loder read a letter from the Chief of the Fishery Division, Department of Natural Resources in response to an earlier letter in January, whhch indicated Dr. Tody was very pleased to have our communication and among other things assured us that their concern with the Charlevoix area would most certainly continue for a number of good reasons. Loder called the attention to the volunteers and appointments to assist with their own committees in our different events for 1970, and that there most certainly was need for some more assistance. Loder read a letter from Bob Meredith of Newman Display Service at Traverse City; the people of the city of Charlevoix purchased a beautiful street parade float from this company. Mr. Meredith indicated that they are now using a new plastic material, the cost of which is $300 or less. This is for completely redecorating or recovering the whole float. The fact that this material is water proof, fire proof, and crush proof should be taken into consideration. For over-the-road hauling and even for storage there should be a tailored, water repellent canvas covering, which would cost approximately $350-- fitted over all and, with fasteners.

Tom Hanna, formerly of the Board of Directors for this Chamber, now City Superintendent, was present as an observer and in response to a letter Loder had sent having to do with redecorating the street parade float.

President Bartlett called for reports from many of the committees. George Richardson reported at considerable length in behalf of Director Jim Marshall, both members of the new Projects Committee for 1970. Reference was made to a truly side-walk sale, and also a Fly-In, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. He spent many minutes having to do with a Junior Achievement Program (Richardson, like many others of us, is interested in youth activities). He also indicated a Farmer Market project, referred to local Chambers of Commerce Golf Tournaments for the junior citizens with enough umph to have many local Chambers involved and eventually involving State Chamber of Commerce golf for the youngsters. He also referred to the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament. He also indicated it would be well to have a permanent recreational facility and he thought there was much need especially in an effort to accomplish a number of recreations, for example-- tennis courts for the local folks as well as visitors. He had his ideas down in black and white and it appeared he and Mr. Marshall spent a lot of time since the last meeting.

Parking was again brought up and several ideas were discussed.

Actually, there were no issues made and settled or pigeonholed. However, for two meetings now there were many ideas and thoughts rolled over and over, so to speak so that now they should be down to business.

Bob R. Rutledge, Pastor, was present to express some ideas well worth considering, in behalf of the Ministerial Association. For instance, during especially the peek two months, July and August, Sunday a.m. church service at the bandstand here in East Park at harbor side and some type glass enclosed bulletin

Truth about photos

Two issue past, several pictures ere published in the Courier which ave drawn many comments, both erbal and written.

The photos, of course, were those inter scenes taken by Larry Edwards hich included in the background what ppeared to be thick, black smoke oming from the Medusa stack..

To set the record straight, and attempt to stand on impartial ground, we ish to present the following facts to ur readers.

First, we do NOT want the following to be construed as a "whitewashing" in behalf of the Medusa Portland Cement Company. Nor do we want it to be considered an indictment against them.

It is an attempt to state several facts and nothing more.

It is our belief that any industry that has a large volume of waste, or produces a by product, creates an amount of pollution. The manner of disposal is the major determinant of the degree of pollution.

Medusa may indeed pollute our air.

However, the photos published two weeks ago present a false conception.

One of the pictures in question was "silhoutted" in our darkroom purposely for dramatic effect.

A good method of comparison is to look at the Page one photo of the snowmobile trails in last week's Courier. Fluffy, white clouds are seen as imposing black monsters.

Yet, inspection of the negatives this week showed that the smoke coming from the Medusa stack was almost exactly the same tint as the clouds over Lake Michigan which were also photographed the same afternoon, on the same roll of film.

The obvious conclusion is that recent Courier photos should be taken for what they are...winter scenes in our area...and nothing more.

F. M.

Snowmobiles

A word to the wise is still sometimes sufficieot.

Take snowmobiles, for example.

One month ago, virtually every municipal governing body in Northwestern Michigan was taking snowmobilers to task on a list of complaints as long as your arm.

Snowmobilers were doing everything from destroying private property to keeping junior awake beyond his bedtime.

Many communities even weighed the feasibility of drawing up local snowmobile ordinances to supplement state law.

Then the ruckus died just as rapidly as it arose.

Charlevoix Mayor William Fochtman feels that the bad press snowmobilers received in Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Harbor Springs might have been just enough to turn the trick: Snowmobile complaints, at least locally, have slowed to a trickle and the problem seems to have taken care of itself.

Whether you are for 'em or against 'em, the snowmobile has brought a whole new way of life to northern Michigan. Families that once dreaded the onslaught of winter now welcome it because of the snowmobile. For some, it is their only life line to the outside world once winter begins in earnest.

For most, of course, the snowmobile is simply a means of recreation, another source of "togetherness" during the long, cold months.

Furthermore, development of snowmobile trails such as the one on Chandler Hill in Charlevoix County has opened up whole new wilderness areas which were virtually inaccessible during wintertime until the arrival of the snowmobile.

Although some game biologists are fearful of what will happen to our wildlife with even their isolated winter habitats now within easy reach of man, local conservation people seem to think the problem may have been overemphasized. They point out that most animals have become accustomed to the sound of chain saws in the weeds, so should not be overly alarmed by the sound of snowmobiles.

Furthermore, they point out that it is a serious violation of Michigan's game laws to chase any animal with a motor vehicle.

The snowmobile is here to stay and its impact on the local economy is greater with every passing winter. It would be a shame to hamstring this growing young industry with unnecessarily restrictive local laws when common sense has proven it can do the job just as well. (B.C.)

Road Commission

Let's hear it out there for Engineer-Manager Jack Fitzgerald and all the boys on the Charlevoix County Road Commission. For our money they're doing a bang-up job this winter of keeping the roads open.

Most of the time, in fact, the roads are in better shape in Charlevoix County than they are in Emmet County, which is something of a switch. Other years, Charlevoixans used to say: "If you can get to the county line, you can get anywhere."

But even getting to the county line is a breeze this winter. Snow plows are out almost before the first flakes hit the ground and they stay out until the storm is over all the shoulders have been rolled back.

Of course, Old Ma Nature has given Fitzgerald and his snow crews a hand this winter. There has been very little wind to create road-plugging drifts. And although the snow depth is probably about average for this time of year, we still haven't had a real four-alarm blizzard yet.

But Fitzgerald and his men have been handling our daily accumulations of from one to four inches in such high style we have no doubts about their ability to deal with the real McCoy when it finally does arrive.

So shake hands with Fitzgerald the next time you meet him. Better still, kiss him on the cheek or blow in his car. His road crews are doing a fine job this winter. (B.C.)

Letters

Medusa

Dear Mr. Martin:

For many years, a small number of citizens have attempted to arouse public opinion to the dangers of air and water pollution. During the past few months that effort has finally resulted in a growing national commitment to preserve the health of people and the beauty of our land and water resources. One can hardly pick up a newspaper or magazine or listen to a political address without being reminded that we are destroying our most precious heritage.

It was, then, both heartening and discouraging to see in your issue of January 26, 1970 the pictures by Larry Edwards on page 1 and 3. Heartening since they seem to indicate the growing realization on the part of your paper of what the filth and smoke of Medusa is doing to the beauty of Charlevoix. Discouraging since there was no editorial comment which seemed to be necessary despite the fact that the pictures speak for themselves. Allow me to congratulate Larry for his terrific pictorial essay.

May I suggest that you send copies of these pictures to former Governor Romney along with the statement made at the dedication of the plant in August 1967, that he would see to it that the new Michigan antipollution law was enforced at this facility. I hope that these pictures represent the beginning, of a determined effort on the part of the city, township, county, state government and citizens to restore the pure air even though the land at South Point has been devestated.

Sincerely yours,
Harry M. Broder

Boosters

Editor, Courier:

It has been brought to our attention that the people of Charlevoix who have donated to the sports booster club would like a little run down on the projects we have had and what has been done with the funds we have taken in.

Over the past year we have had bake sales, handled the concessions at the football and basketball games. We had a coke sale which put us over the top to pay for the jackets with emblems that the basketball team and coaches are now sporting. This project alone cost us 500 dollars.

We are now working on a big project that will have to be brought before the school board before we can go ahead on it in the early spring. Watch for it, it will be interesting to see what it is and maybe offer your help.

Any organization has problems getting under motion, but now that we are in the swing of things and know we can look forward to help from the board and athletic staff I am sure we will not only accomplish many things but will also have fun doing it.

For example Feb. 14 the members will have a sleigh ride at the Driggett farm on Barnard road. Then the club will go to Thistle Downs for refreshments afterwards. So see there is fun along with the hard work.

Our Club meets every second Wed. in the 111 room of the State Bank Building. Which incidentally is a credit to our City to have access to such a clean, modern room.

So why not come out and see what fun and work we have going for the 1970 year. If you are a member or not come on with us and maybe you'll want to join our group.

WATCH FOR OUR SPRING PROJECT!

Sincerely
Club Sec.
Billie Smith

Mother was a chopper

There's one story I tell about my mother that my kids never believe. "Grandma would never do that," they always say.

But she did, honest.

When I was a small boy I had a big sister. I mean big. She was only 18 months older but she was 4 feet taller and a lot tougher. I've written before about how she used to beat me up for lunch every day and I'd rather not go into it again. Just thinking about it raises welts on my nose which is where she used to knee me if I was standing up straight.

But Jean's size is important to this unbelievable story about Mother. These days it is fashionable for girls to be tall. They can earn $100 an hour being live clothes hangers for Harper's Bazaar. But this was not the case in the 1930's. A tall girl was pitied because it was figured she'd never find a tall boy. She'd never get married and her parents would have to feed her forever.

Mother figured she had to stop Jean from growing. People usually grow at night, while sleeping. So Mother would get up several times every night and go into Jean's bedroom and give her karate chops behind the knees.

"Curl up," Mother would hiss. "Bend your knees or you'll never get married." Chop, chop.

When Jean got up in the morning, she was already sitting down for breakfast. We just had to slip a chair under her.

(In case you're taking notes, Mother's treatment didn't work. Jean became a high-rise, but she found a man even taller. They were married in an old fashioned church with a steeple.)

Anyway, it is ironic that her grandchildren don't believe what Mother did long ago. Her middle-aged children can't believe what she does today.

My 4 sisters and I grew up knowing one thing for sure: Mother was a lady. She hd to comb her hair and paint her nails before she'd answer the phone. She'd change from a housedress to a frilly frock before letting the grocery boy in the kitchen. She didn't just dress for dinner, she went formal to midnight snacks. She wouldn't wear low heels because they were too masculine. Her favorite outdoor sport was closing the window. She was Mary Pickford, frills and lace, the most feminine women in town.

But last week the family threw a birthday party for Mother and there she was, dancing the frug in a pair of purple slacks. It was like seeing Queen Elizabeth on a motorcycle, wearing a black leather jacket with "The Killers' printed on the back.

Mother has gone mod. If pressed, she will admit she is a great grandmother. But the guy who presses her will get one of her icy stares, the type that my dear father used to feel from across a crowded city. She has apparently decided not to grow old, and that's that.

All of Mother's relatives know she was born Jan. 6, 1900. Even my slowest brother-in-law can perform enough arithmetic to learn her age. But after Mother's birthday party this January, she sent us a thank-you note.

"It was a wonderful party," she said. "If I live to be 70, I'll never forget it."

board at the Chamber of Commerce office area listing the church, etc. He said his group would sponsor a good troubadour vocal group, of which he played a tape of some of their songs. His presence was very much appreciated and the Directors agreed if the Ministerial Association was willing, as he indicated, to under right the little expense for these troubadours, it would be an excellent fill gap at the Venetian Festival between 6 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., just ahead Loder indicated that he likely would have to have permission for the other two phases from our City Council or the City Superintendent.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

Of course, all of us as individuals, as Chamber of Commerce members and citizens of a fine community are interested in highways, better highways. It is recognized and agreed that highways are the most important link most communities have to the rest of our state and to the great interstate highway system. I have mentioned before a strenuous effort by U.S. 31 Corridor Organization who had hoped to stimulate interest of thirteen counties in western Michigan who are associated with U.S. 31 from the south to the north. So far, I have found there to be little or no interest in what happens to U.S. 31. I am sure all of you have some little idea at least as a result of a combination of local committees' efforts to the improvement of U.S. 131, all of which, of course, is not yet completed but well on the way. I feel many, of course, have some idea what has and what is about to happen to U.S. 31 at the more southerly end as far up as the Ludington area, quite an improvement. The Charlevoix area depends much on U.S. 31 to my way of thinking and accordingly, I feel there should be some concern soon. Of course, the state has a design so to speak for U.S. 31 and no doubt some of you are familiar with it. If all goes as planned, as I mentioned before, U.S. 31 proper will cut off at about Acme slightly north of Traverse City and bear east and north cutting across the southeast corner of Charlevoix County. Now, this does not mean U.S. 31 north of Acme should remain a 1930 roadway--though there has been a couple of locations much improved in the last few years. I would like to have some comments and some volunteers and some ideas as to what will likely become of our U.S. 31 through Charlevoix.

I keep getting calls about Mt. McSauba schedule for skiing, etc. Accordingly, the following is from a schedule that Manager, Chuck Meier brought in a day or so ago:

OPEN DAY SKIING--Saturday-12:00 to 5:00. Sunday 12:00 to 5:00.

OPEN NIGHT SKIING--Monday-Special Adults-7:30 to 10:00; Tuesday-Regular-7:30 to 10:00; Wednesday-Regular 7:30 to 10:00; Thursday-Regular 7:30 to 10:00; Friday-Regular-7:30 to 10:00; Saturday-Regular-7:30 to 10:00. Karen Lewis wins homemaking award

Karen Lewis, a senior at the Charlevoix high school, has been named the 1970 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow on the basis of her scoring in the homemaking knowledge and attitude test taken by senior girls Dec. 2.

In addition to receiving a specially designed silver charm from the sponsor of the annual homemaking education program, Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lewis, will become eligible for one of the 102 college scholarships totaling $110,000.

A state Homemaker of Tomorrow and a runner-up will be selected in the next few weeks with the state winner receiving $1500.00 and the runner-up a $500.00 educational grant. In addition, the school of the state winner will receive a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica.

The state winner and her faculty advisor will go to Washington, D.C. on an all-expense trip where she will compete with 50 other finalists for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The national winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship with the other top three receiving lesser awards.

A record 646,041 senior girls in 15,040 of the country's high schools are enrolled in this year's search for the Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Following graduation in June, Karen plans to attend North Central Michigan College in Petoskey for two years before transferring to Central Michigan University. At the present time she plans to enter the field of elementary education.

At the Charlevoix high school she has been active in the homemaking program and during her sophomore and junior years was a member of the Charlevoix high school chapter of the Future Homemakers of America. Last year she served as parliamentarian of the club.

Mrs. C.A. (Janet) Odmark has been her homemaking teacher at Charlevoix High School.

Board lists qualifications for Supt.

The search for a new Superintendent of Schools for the Charlevoix district begins this week in earnest.

Late last week, the district mailed flyers to colleges and universities and other potential recruiters throughout Michigan inviting applications for the position.

Present Superintendent, Rex Milligan, has announced his resignation, effective the end of June. He plans to return to the teaching field.

The Board of Education states in the notice that there is "a vacancy in the office of the Superintendent as of July 1."

According to the announcement, the Board plans to fill the number one administrative position no later than April 27. Applications for the job must be filed by March 27, and candidate interviews are expected to be completed by April 17.

"The salary will be commensurate with the ability, preparation and experience of the administrator selected," the announcement notes, "but will be a minimum of $18,000." Maximum salary is listed as "open".

The Board has accepted guidelines and qualifications which the candidate for the position should, and in some cases, must, possess. Categories and qualifications include:

Education

"Must meet the minimum requirements of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools."

Experience

"Five years of teaching and / or administrative administration. The Board recommends that two of the five years be in either the central office or as the superintendent or an accepted equivalent.

Professional

The Board is seeking a person who has demonstrated ability in human relations skills in working with personne, school boards and community organizations.

The candidate must have "a practical approach" to school finance and business management.

Also necessary is the ability to recruit and retain an excellent staff of administrators and teachers.

"He must have the ability to express and interpret the philosophy, programs and needs of the school to the public."

And, the person selected should demonstrate the ability to promote varied school programs and innovate and maintain proven programs.

Personal

The Board requires a candidate to communicate "with ease"; to be tactful and honest in dealing with others; exhibit an inviting personality, "be energetic" and capable of meeting challenges; and exhibit the willingness and ability to involve others, yet be strong in his own convictions.

The Board also announced that all applications will be received by Mrs. L.R. Hooper, secretary of the Board. The invitation to apply noted that "personal contact with individual board members may tend to disqualify the applicant."

Applications from within the district will be accepted, as will those from outside the area.

All applications and resumes that the Board receives will be reviewed by a committee, including several college and university educators. Following a screening procedure, a number of candidates will be selected for personal interviews by the Board.

The field will be narrowed, and the selection is expected to be made public at the Board meeting on April 27.

In brief

New bill could bring county $$

Charlevoix County coffers would be enriched by some $5,300 if a new bill introduced by Rep. Bob Davis is passed by the Legislature.

The bill calls for a sharing of monies received from leases of state-owned lands on a 50-50 basis between the state and the county.

According to figures released by Rep. Davis, Charlevoix County leased land payments amount to $10,732.64 annually.

"I can see no reason why Charlevoix County should not be able to participate in this money, since any resulting profits from the land come from the county regardless of who owns the land."

Other area counties in which land is leased, and the amount derived, are: Otsego, $81,013.13; Antrim, $36,975.74; ad Emmet, $32,623.77.

Balch is back!

Gary Balch has assumed ownership of the barbershop at 409 Bridge Street, Charlevoix.

Balch, a Charlevoix native, had been employed in a Lansing barbershop until purchasing the local shop from Jay Ferguson. Balch will offer shaves and hair styling for men in the shop as well as haircuts and manicures. He is doing business as "The Harbor Barber." See photo inside.

Senior govt. day

The annual Senior Government Day was held in East Jordan last Monday and was termed by those who attended as the best held in 10 years.

Schools from all over Charlevoix County, including Beaver Island, participated in the event which was established to familiarize today's teenagers with the running of local, state and national governments and subject the students to the problems today's leaders face.

Contributions rise

Christmas Seal campaign contributions in Charlevoix County have reached $3,896 reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. This is an increase over last year's total of $3,575 reported at the same time.

J. Irvin Nichols, executive director of the MTRDA, said statewide contributions to date total $1,573,058, which is an increase of $49,491 over the amount received last year at this same time. However, it is below the anticipated needs for which the goal of $1,750,000 has been set. Nichols said additional contributions are needed by the state's tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations. This would permit increased activities in combatting air pollution and smoking as a means of reducing the incidence of respiratory diseases.

Residents of Charlevoix County who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal appeal letter are urged to do so now so the important work of Christmas Seal agencies can be continued.

John Birch Society has city meeting

The John Birch Society held a rally in Charlevoix last Saturday with 40 Charlevoix area people attending.

The main speaker for the meeting was J.S. Harris of Midland. Harris is the John Birch section leader for the Midland-Mt. Pleasant area. He was assisted by Malcolm W. Dale of Ann Arbor and Eastport, northern Michigan coordinator for the society.

The meeting was primarily a "learning session" for John Birch leaders and was also the first contact many of these present had had with the society, an extreme right-wing organization aimed at "routing communism and communist sympathizers from every facet of American society."

The morning session was based on the interpretation the Birchers give political and ecomonic systems, ranging from autocracy to anarchy on the political front and from communism to competitive capitalism on the ecomonic front.

At the afternoon session, Harris said a 200 year old Communist conspiracy to take over the world is almost over, with complete collapse of the free world expected by the Birchers by 1973 unless the tide is turned.

He said the conspiracy was started by an unfrocked Catholic priest, on May 1, 1776.

CHS musicians get top honors

Eight Charlevoix High School instrumental entries in the District II Solo-Ensemble festival at Kingsley scored first division ratings, and the other ten were awarded second division rating. Their director, C.A. Odmark, has announced.

First division winners are eligible to participate in the State Festival to be held March 21 in Muskegon.

Second division winners whose performance denoted good performances with minor flaws that prevented the I rating were: flute solo, Laura Staublin; flute solo, Susan Pettis; saxophone solo, Marcia Brown; bass solo, Charles Novak; bassoon solo, Sara Wilson; piano solo, Linda Gill; saxophone quartet, Sara Sweet, Janet Dinwiddie, Sue Way and Vicki Skelton; flute duet, Cathy Begrow, and Theresa Phelps; clarinet duet, LoAnn Wolschleger and Lisa Wasoski and drum trio, Christie Potter, Jill Warner and Debbie White.

Judges were Herbert Parrott of Waterford Township Schools, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Towers of Ferndale High School and Seraphime Mike of Roseville High School.

Parsel says auto choice was proper

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors heard Howard Parsel of Parsel Olds in Charlevoix speak in behalf of the Board's choice of an Oldsmobile as a police package car for the Sheriff's Department.

Parsel, accompanied by a district representative of Olds, appeared at the meeting to refute statements made at an earlier meeting by Jack Dickout of Jack's Auto Sales, Boyne City, that Olds did not put out a package police car.

He informed the Board the company did make such a car and that such cars were made to the specifications of the buyer.

He concluded by saying he had no arguments with anyone, but he wanted the board to know the Olds company did make such cars and that the Board had received what it ordered.

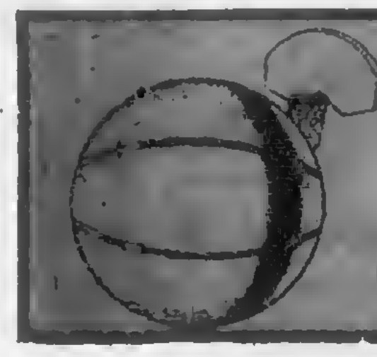
Martin's remains undefeated; tops loop



Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

After a week off and numerous complaints about last week's article, it's great to be back on the typewriter, enlightening the fans on the true side of the Independent League action. As for my "Ghost Writer," I can only quote the wise and fabled words of James Thomson (1700-1748) "Base envy withers at another's joy, and hates that excellence it cannot reach."

The second round of Independent ball action started out just as the first round started. Two coronaries and one heart seizure. Lots of potential Kiwanians. Both Coast Guard teams got back on the winning trail with victories over Andy's Tire World and First State Bank. League leading Martin's Standard Service had little trouble with winless Lexalite. The pre-game show was once again a big success, with Carol Doda's all top-less band playing the National Anthem.

The first game of the evening found Martin's rolling over Lexalite, who picked up the services of Bob Klooster. But after one quarter he was looking for his Social Security benefits. Also, Martin's played without the services of Bill Lusk, who was recuperating in Grandvue. The first quarter Martin's pulled out to a 14-5 lead with even scoring by all starters, and they moved to a 28-12 half time lead. Ike Boss had 8 points in the first half for Martin's, and Rich Plumm had 7 for Lexalite.

The third quarter started with all the excitement of the first half as Hank Wagner looked for his toes. The quarter ended up with the Gassers taking a commanding lead of 47 to 26. Even scoring again paced Martin's, and Mark Kantola had 4 for the Liters. The fourth quarter saw Martin's Gary Spencer put in four buckets for 8 points to help his team coast to a 68 to 36 victory. Dwight Boss lead Martin's in scoring with 16, followed closely by Tubby Wagner with 15. For Lexalite, Rich Plumm had nine.

The Second game saw Andy's Tire World drop another close one to the Coast Guard Station. Andy's was playing without their superstar Clean Dean Mikulski, who had a hair appointment and couldn't make the game. Andy's lead the game the whole first half by taking a 13 to 11 first quarter lead and a 23 to 22 half time lead. Norm Helms paced Andy's in the first half with 7 points, and Fouling Frank Hackett had 7 for the Station.

After a half time show of selected scenes from "I Am Curious, Yellow" the second half got started with many players unable to get going. As the steam cleared, the Station had a third period lead of 40 to 37. Frank Hackett pumped in ten big points for the sand pounders, and Pistol Pete Maravich; I mean Sam Supernaw, (I get those two confused) had 11 points for Andy's. The fourth period saw a nip and tuck battle, with Andy's getting the lead once but unable to hold it, and the Station taking a 54 to 48 victory away from Andy's with help. Frank Hackett paced the Station with 20 points, followed by Don Finely and Keith Engelbretson with 13 apiece. As usual, Sam Supernaw rolled up 19 for Andy's.

The Night Cap saw the Coast Guard Sundew have little trouble with First State Bank until the fourth quarter. But they remained on top of the score to defeat the Bankers. The Banker's chances were severely hampered by the news that Tom LaBlance has a new baby and couldn't assume his player-coach role. The Sundew pulled out to a 13 to 10 first quarter lead with Harvay Berardo putting in 6 points for the Dew. Baldy Edwards and that Martin kid both had four for the Bankers. A drab second period saw the Sundew increase their lead to 28-20 at the half. Even scoring paced the Guardsmen, and Connie Klooster pushed in 4 for the Bankers.

With the Bankers unable to find the basket in the third period, the Sundew easily increased their lead to 45 to 27. Even scoring again helped the boys in blue keep their consistent pace. In a wild fourth quarter, First State pulled within 6 points after being 20 down, but they couldn't continue their attack and dropped their third game 59 to 49. In a foul-plagued quarter, the Bankers put in 14 free throws with Inky Martin having 10 in a row. Leading the Sundew in scoring was Harvey Berardo with 12 and Steve Kushman with 10. Little Inky Martin paced the Bankers with 17, and Connie Klooster showed some of his form of old by putting in 14.

Actually, when properly lighted for photo of steam, it could not be mistaken for anything else.

'Tea kettle' pollution...

Ed. note: The following is a letter from Fred W. Cohrs, manager of the Charlevoix plant of the Medusa Portland Cement Company. The letter, plus accompanying photos above, should help explain what the stack at the local plant is putting into our air.

Mr. Fiske Martin, Editor
Charlevoix Courier Corp.
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Mr. Martin:

Air Pollution from a Tea Kettle?

Larry Edwards' pictures of our plant stack have caused enough reaction from your readers to justify further explanations.

As you already pointed out in your last edition, photos do not always tell the truth. These certainly did not.

Nearly 300 gallons water are discharged through the stack every minute, and little else. This water condenses to a thick plume, when the temperature drops below the freezing point. As long as it is only moderately cold, a space between the stack and a plume formation remains. However, at severe temperatures the space disappears as the condensation starts before the water leaves the stack.

I commissioned Paul Wasoski, commercial photographer in Petoskey, to recreate the conditions with a tea kettle. Here are his pictures. "The opacity of an object, such as dense steam, will cause light to be absorbed or reflected, depending on the direction from which it comes. The background light makes the white steam appear black, as the steam absorbes the light and intensifies the rays on the outline of he cloud," explained Wasoski.

It appears the letters in response to the stack pictures were sent in by readers who spend their summers in this area and are somewhat unfamiliar with winter conditions in Charlevoix. Their reactions are therefore understandable, but unjustified.

The Charlvoix residents, who have occasion to see the Medusa stack in the winter as well as in the summer, have recognized it's discharge as what it is, white steam.

Library notes

Now that the season to be jolly is over, it's time to get down to the serious business of winter sports. The Library, eager to be helpful, has a supply of books offering instruction and books to read concerning sports to enjoy during the winter months ahead.

"The Young Sportsman's Guide to Ice Skating" by Michael Kirby is a small, easy-to-read volume written by a teacher of ice skating in both Canada and the United States. The easy instructions lead the beginner from the first steps to such advanced techniques as twirls, spirals and spins, and there are detailed directions for standard tricks and figures.

"Here is your hobby: skiing" by William Foss was written for both beginners and experienced skiers. After explaining the equipment, the author describes the most basic move of all-how to carry skies. He emphasizes that even in such simple procedures, the skier should form right habits. He then progresses smoothly from walking on skis right through to the most advanced phases of the sport: cross-country racing, the hardest of all skiing events; and ski-jumping, the most apectacular event. Point after point is illustrated by clear, action photographs.

"Downhill Skiing" is particularly recommended for its marvelous photography. The pictures are selected samples of the work of many photographers—artists in their own right. In addition, the small book contains valuable material regarding all phases of skiing.

"The Complete Ski Handbook," by Neil Robinson is a concise, authoritative how-to-book by a famous American skier. Starting with the history of the sport from its beginning in the United States, he tells how skiing actually started as early as 3000 B.C. Whether you are an advanced skier or a novice, this practical book, packed with invaluable information, will prove to be instructive as well as entertaining.

"Skate With Me" by Barbara Ann Scott begins with the advice: "To learn to skate well, you must really want to." And with that sensible remark, the author continues in a readable style to describe the ins and outs of skating with a sprinkling of good philosophy. It is actually an autobiography, an account of the author's own experience on ice. There are many photographs and diagrams.

"Skiing For Beginners" by Conrad Brown was written especially for small children. The text is original and concise with instructor "Bruno" Brown explaining the maneuvers while "Spike" demonstrates them with photographs. Also included are sections on the selection and care of skis and poles, clothing and boots. It is an exceptionally clear presentation for youngsters and for parents who want a simple method for teaching their own children how to ski well.

Obituary

Mrs. Graves

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabelle W. Graves, 80, who died Thursday at the Charlevoix hospital where she had been a patient since January 17, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home Saturday. The Rev. Duane Imig officiated. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born at Shamokin, Pa., April 24, 1889, the former Mabelle W. Weise was married to William S. Graves on Oct. 15, 1914, in Chicago. They returned here in 1918 to make their home. He preceded her in death in 1931. A resort owner in the Fort Lauderdale area until recent years, Mrs. Graves spent the summers in Charlevoix and the remainder of the year in Florida. In recent years Charlevoix became her permanent home. She was a member of the Charlevoix chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star

J. Powell

James A. Powell, 57, died February 6, in Riverside Hospital, Toledo, Ohio, of a coronary attack.

He was district manager of the National Federation of Independent Businesses covering the state of Michigan, and for 10 years he was a lobbyist for retail businessmen.

Services were held Monday, February 9, at Ansberg-West Funeral Home in Toledo, Ohio.

Lions' winter picnic fun for all

Hockey games played on snowmobiles were one of the highlights of the afternoon.

Crowd enjoys day of events

Charlevoix's Winter Picnic drew a large crowd last Sunday at the Ferry Avenue Beach, and from all outward indications, everybody had a good time.

The Lions Club couldn't have asked for a better day from the weatherman, as the temperature hovered in the mid-30's, and visitors were able to fend off the brisk breeze from the lake.

Many snowmobilers took part in the events, which included hockey games on snowmobiles, treasure hunts, "poker" runs and snowmobile rides for the youngsters.

Proceeds from the picnic will be used to support Lions-supported activities.

Snowmobile and double trailer was given away by the Lions at conclusion of picnic. Winners were Reg Rolston of Detroit (snowmobile), and Charles Ketterer of Petoskey (trailer). A case of snowmobile oil was awarded to Doug MacDougall of Charlevoix.

Winners listed

Reg Rolston walked off with the grand prize at the Winter Picnic.

Other winners were Charles Ketterer of Petoskey taking home a double snowmobile trailer, and Doug MacDougall of Charlevoix, who was awarded a case of snowmobile oil.

Road leading to Ferry Avenue Beach was crowded with autos and residents who enjoyed Lion-sponsored winter picnic last weekend.

Crowd along sidelines watches this event intently. Picnic drew large crowd with some persons coming from as far away as Detroit.

Milligan to teach class in finance

The first in a series of courses in property valuation and assessment administration will begin in Charlevoix March 4. The course will meet 10 consecutive Wednesdays with the first five meetings in Charlevoix and the last five in Petoskey.

The program has been created to meet the certification requirements for the new state law requiring assessors to be certified by December 31, 1971. It is being coordinated by L. Robert Bennett of Central Michigan University's Off Campus Education office.

The course is designed for those who are relatively new to the field of property appraisal, as well as those who are currently working in this capacity. It will encompass the legal as well as procedural aspects of property appraisal for governmental units and should prove to be an effective base for on-the-job training either in an assessor's office or in an equalization office.

Teaching the series will be resource people from the various areas of study. Among those serving as instructors are Edward Kane, secretary of the state tax commission, Central Michigan University faculty members, a city manager and a city tax assessor.

Superintendent Rex Milligan of the Charlevoix Public Schools will conduct a class in public school financing.

Milligan noted that his portion of the course will cover some history of school financing, and also develop into the areas of state aid to education, federal aid to districts, expenditures, and taxes.

The first class will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 4, in Room A-18, Charlevoix High School. After the first five class meetings in Charlevoix, the class is scheduled to meet for the last five in Room 27 of the classroom building at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

East Jordan couple wins dairy award

Twelve young dairy couples from throughout the state of Michigan concluded a two-day visit to the Detroit headquarters of the Michigan Milk Producers Association Tuesday. The visit was part of MMPA's annual search for an Outstanding Young Dairy Couple to represent the state and the association during the year.

The twelve couples attending were winners of Young Dairy Couple competition in MMPA's twelve geographic districts which cover the state.

Representing District 12, which includes all of northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, were David and Evelyn Graham of East Jodan.

MMPA sponsors the Outstanding Young Dairy Couple competition yearly as a means of developing future leadership in the association. The visit to the Detroit office gives the young couples an opportunity to learn more about milk marketing and enables a panel of judges to meet all the participants personally.

The judges will review applications of the district winners and visit the farms of those selected as finalists before making their decision on this year's Outstanding Young Dairy Couple.

Special guests at the two-day session included Gordon and Fay Philibeck of Menominee, the 1969 Outstanding Young Dairy Couple, and Paul and Mary Lou Prowse of Marlette, the 1968 winners.

MMPA is a milk marketing cooperative composed of more than 6,800 dairy farmers throughout the state.

Club wants new stand

The Charlevoix Sports Boosters presented the Charlevoix School Board with plans for a combination refreshment stand and restrooms near the athletic field. The club suggested that a 14 by 16-foot building be constructed at the north end of the permanent grandstand. It was estimated that the building would cost approximately $1,500 for materials with the labor supplied by volunteers. The second story of the building could be used for broadcasting of the games. The Boosters Club would maintain the refreshment stand portion of the booth with the school taking care of the restroom facilities. The school would also be expected to pay for the utilities.

Ralph Doan, who presented the plan to the Board, also said the club would be willing to donate $100 to the improvement of the public address system in the gym which leaves much to be desired.

He concluded his presentation with the club's opinion that the school had given out too many free passes (200) for the season, thus, depriving the atheletic department of important and needed funds.

President of the school board, Jack Rayder agreed to the need of a facility at the football field and appointed a committee to work with members of the Booster Club. No other action was taken on the other issue.

PUBLIC NOTICE

No primary election will be held on February 16, 1970, because there are no contests.

2 are Eagle Scouts

Scouting's highest rank, the Eagle Scout award, was presented to two members of Boy Scout Troop 11 at the annual Boy Scout dinner at the Charlevoix high school cafeteria recently.

Receiving Eagle Scout awards were Alan Avery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valois Avery, and Gerald Fochtman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fochtman.

Guy Molby, former Northern District Scout executive of the Scenic Trails Council, made the presentation in the presence of Troop 11, their parents, members of the sponsoring organization, the Kiwanis Club, and other guests.

Charlevoix Troop 11, whose Scout Master is Louis Edwards, now boasts three Eagle Scouts. The first to earn the award was Larry Anders who was presented with a special award from the Northern District of the Council for his contribution to Scouting. He is an assistant Scout Master and has served as a counselor at Camp Greilick during the summer.

To become an Eagle Scout, one must earn 21 merit badges including 11 required and 10 elective in various fields of accomplishment. Required badges include First Aid, citizenship in the nation and the community, safety, personal fitness, conservation of natural resources, cooking camping, swimming, life saving and nature.

Numerous advancements and awards were made during the program. Welcome aboard

The party and shower was sponsored by the church's Women's Missionary Group. Some 50 ladies attended the special occasion. Since arriving in Charlevoix on January 21, Mercia has made her home with Mrs. Marge Gengle and family.

The church and the Gengle family both noted that having Mercia with them is an exciting and rewarding experience.

Band dinner set

The Band Parents want everyone to circle the date of February 26, a Thursday, on their calendars for that's the night of the band dinner. Preparations are being made now to insure a feast for all.

The following interest groups of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet today, Monday, February 16, 1970.

9:30 a.m.

The Arts and Crafts Group will meet with Mrs. George Nipson, on Lakeview Court. This is an important meeting for anyone interested in belonging to an Arts and Crafts group. A new chairman will be elected to replace Mrs. Ray Wood, who has resigned, and craft projects for future meetings will be discussed.

1:30 p.m.

The Charles Dickens Study Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Harley Ochs, on Clinton Street. Mrs. Oren Olsen will review Pickwick Papers.

7:30 p.m.

The Discussion Group will meet with Mrs. Ethel Wiesinger, on Petoskey Avenue. The topic for discussion will be: "What Can We Do to Combat Air and Water Pollution?"

On Monday, February 23, at 1:30 in the afternoon the Book Review Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Arba Cameron, on Petoskey Avenue, which is a change from the previous announcement. Mrs. Charles Duerr will review "The Peter Principle" by Dr. Laurence J. Peter and Raymond Hull. This is a serious-humorous book about "why things always go wrong."

On Wednesday, February 25, the Antiques Group is sponsoring a tour of antique shops in Petoskey, Conway, Oden and Brutus, with a "Dutch treat" lunch at the Bay View Inn. Those going on the tour will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Duerr, 209 Dixon Avenue. All members of the Woman's Club and their guests are invited. Call Mrs. James Driggett or Mrs. Charles Duerr for reservations. They would like to know, if possible, by February 18, how many plan to go, so that they can make luncheon and transportation arrangements.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary will hold their regular business meeting on Thursday, February 19, at eight o'clock in the evening at the V.F.W. Post Home.

Auxiliary members are reminded to bring their Betty Crocker coupons which they are saving and contributing for the kidney machine which the Petoskey J.C.'s are purchasing. This campaign will be going on until June so the Auxiliary asks anyone on the area who has coupons to pass them along to an Auxiliary member.

Members may be glad to know that the red, white and blue bunting which they have purchased to decorate the speakers' platform on patriotic occasions has arrived.

The members have just completed sewing nineteen hospital gowns and several bibs which they have sent to the Gaylord State Home.

Fountain at Lodge in Charlevoix has become an attraction with its unusual ice forms.

Pat's Reaction

String her up

Abe Lincoln was surely right when he said that you can fool some to the people all of the time, for I've been writing ski stories now for three years and I've surely done my share of the fooling.

Of course now and then the joke's on me, but usually I can pass myself off as a sort of ski pro simply by stating modestly that I'm the area correspondent for. Ski Magazine. This is known simply as a Stringer in the trade, the lowest of the low, but I've found that it sort of sounds impressive to outsiders so I trade on it shamelessly.

Naturally I don't mention that I'm the Nancy Greene of Michigan, but I don't have to say as much. People seem to want to jump to that conclusion. I don't trick them. That's what they want to believe. All the world loves a celebrity, I guess.

In any case, three years ago when Schuss Mountain first imported their French ski school I drove down to do a story as Schuss was the only ski school in Michigan teaching the French method of skiing in contrast to the popular American technique.

At that time the French were winning all of the international races and there seemed to be nothing that could stop them. Before the interview with the instructors I had done my homework well and must have really impressed them with my knowledgeable questions about the egg shape of the racing skier and the other fine points of the French technique.

The result of that interview was a happy one for my story was printed and even met with the approval of the French instructors. Then the boom fell.

One day I decided that I really must go down and try the new slopes at Schuss. I waited until a crowded Saturday, dressed in nondescript navy blue and pulled my wool hat well down over my face. Disguise was my purpose. Then I started down my slopes, the ones marked just for me, intermediate, that is.

I bumbled down. Halfway along, out of the corner of my eye I saw Jean-Paul give me a puzzled look.

I ignored him completely. Perhaps he would think that there was only a vague similarity between that crackerjack reporter and the struggling snowplowing me.

In my slipshod way I skied to the bottom and riding the chair up next time prayed that I'd never see Jean-Paul again on the slopes.

But the very next run down the same exact slope there stood two French ski instructors where only one had stood before. This time one pointed. They had their heads together. I bowed mine in humiliation.

I did my best. I actually tried to keep my knees together but they just weren't used to it.

Behind me I heard a gentle voice with a heavy French accent say, "Patti?"

The jig was up.

Rayders thump TCSF

Bruce Meggison, playing another fine game for the Rayders, pulls down one of his many rebounds Friday against T.C.S.F. Photo By Larry Edwards

The score was 59 to 47 as the Charlevoix Red Rayders romped over the visiting Traverse City Gladiators to post their ninth win.

Charlevoix shot off to an early lead and held it throughout the game. In the first stanza the Rayders racked up 16 points to the 6 scored by the Gladiators.

The Gladiators game back in the second quarter to score 14 to the 13 by Charlevoix. However, it still was not enough to take over the lead as the Rayders still held the edge with a 29-20 half-time score.

The third quarter found the Gladiators coming on strong to score 18 against the 18 the Rayders scored. The Rayders still held a 45 to 38 lead at the end of the third quarter.

The Rayders spent the fourth quarter widening their lead scoring 14 and allowing the Gladiators to score nine. The final buzzer found the Gladiators on the short end with the Rayders winning another one.

Stewart Coleman again lead Rayder scorers with 18 points followed by Kraag Lieberman with 17, Bruce Meggison with 10, Tim Doan and Kevin Swanson 5 each and Norm Ostrum with 4.

For the Gladiators Kozlowski lead scorers with 17 followed by Comstock with 13, Haplin with 7, Thaxton with 3, Rodemacher, Wolff and Ziets with 2 each and Cadis with 1.

The J.V.'s outpointed their opponents in all four quarters scoring 15 points in the first quarter, 20 in the second, 19 in the third and 10 in the final quarter to rack up their 64 points.

Jerry Pease lead the J.V.'s with 21 followed by Larry Potter with 18, Dave Swanson with 10, Ned Henley with 6, Rick Donaldson with 4, Ken Bergmann and Randy De Young with 2 each and Roger Crain 1.

For St. Francis Fuens had 11 points followed by Hathaway and Reay with 6, Martin with 4, and Krammer with 3, O'Brien and Riehl, Pat Krammer with 2 each.

Maxi-coats seen often; but clash with safety

Maxi-coated ladies are becoming more prominent in Charlevoix. . . but, they're finding that clothes fashions sometimes clash with the world of automotive design.

First, lift the coat, then sit on the seat's edge with legs outside the car (not recommended when exposed to traffic). Unwrap the coat from the legs, making sure heels are not hooked on the hem. After swinging legs under the steering column, as shown in the lower photo, spread the coat so legs are exposed and able to move freely from brake to gas pedal. When getting out of the car, reverse this procedure.

This fashionable secretary also has these tips for the maxi-coated motorist: 1., Be sure the coat doesn't drag on grease usually found in parking lots and driveways. Keep it off the car floor for the same reason. 2., Undo the bottom buttons and raise the coat before getting into the car so it can be spread easily and folded on each side of the lap where it cannot jam the steering wheel. 3., Be sure the coat is free of the door after getting in or out of the car. 4., Before getting out, be sure feet are free of the hem to avoid tripping.

Grandvue

New admittances recently include: William Gibson of Charlevoix, Arthur Falk of Clarion, and Dan McSawby of Charlevoix. Mary Green was discharged on January 30 to the home of Mrs. Bert Southwood in Bay Shore. Ruby Vermillion returned to Mrs. Miller's home in Boyne City on February 2. We are sorry to report the death of Mr. Gibson on February 6, and also John Gray on February 5. Our sympathies to the families of these gentlement.

Mrs. Irene Behling and Mrs. Helen Deming attended a Blue Cross meeting in Gaylord on January 21. On January 27, Mrs. Hilda Watkins and the members of the Charlevoix County Board of Social Welfare attended a meeting in Lansing.

Rev. Marcus Krake, Stanley Hayes, S.C. Walton, Jack Morken, Albert Mansen, Duane Ferris, Lawrence Tenhopen, and Ray McBratnie, attended a Ministerial Meeting at the Facility on January 27. Their next meeting will be March 3.

The Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix held a birthday party on Jan. 28 for the patients with January birthdays. Honored guests were: Maud Kleinhans, Charlotte Williams, Lula Mason, Ethel White, and Emma Whiteford. Refreshments were served and each patient received a birthday present.

Our Social Worker, Virginia Uhlinger, has been confined to her home this past week with illness. Erma Kraemer, R.N., has been ill for two weeks now, but is reported to be feeling better. Betty Robertson, Director of Nursing, and Bertha Webster, Nurse's Aide, have also been sick this past week.

Several patients are having February birthdays. They include: Fern Cook, Feb. 5; Alice Smatts on the 13th, Will Reinhart and his sister, Ida Bouchard on the 26th, and Helen Rothenberger, also on the 26th.

The Diversional Therapy room has been busy making "Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy" dolls. They have already made 12, which are all sold, and have orders for several more. This was one item that really went over big, and the dolls look so cute sitting in a row on Rose's table in the Therapy room. If you have some yard goods you aren't using, bring them over - the girls can use them for these dolls.

Auxiliary Members - don't forget that February 12 is the first Auxiliary meeting this year. Meeting time is 2 p.m., here at the Facility, and we urge you to attend. There will be an orientation and in-service training for those ladies who will be dong volunteer work at the Facility.

Lancers spike E.J. for 7th victory

By Dale Vander Slik

A strong first half enabled the Ellsworth Lancers to slip by the East Jordan Red Devils by a score of 76-63. In a series that started only a year ago between the two schools, the Lancers have reeled off four straight victories.

The win made the season record for Ellsworth 7-6. The Lancers have now won four of their last five games.

As the game began, Ellsworth was playing their best ball of the year as strong passing and good shooting helped the Lancers pull away from the beginning. Ellsworth led at the conclusion of the first quarter 20-13.

The second quarter was a disastrous one for the Red Devils. They were outscored 24-7 and the game was almost sewed up for the Lancers at the end of the first half as they held a commanding 44-20 lead.

Rich Arrigo, a sophomore just brought up from the Junior Varsity of East Jordan, set the crowd buzzing because of a flurry of 30 foot shots he made to begin the third quarter. However, even this could only make up for the first quarter deficit of 7 points and Ellsworth still led 62-45.

East Jordan pulled to within nine at one point in the fourth quarter (70-61) and seemed to be gaining the momentum. But time ran out for them and the game ended with a score of 76-63.

Hud Drenth again led Ellsworth scoring with 10 field goals and 12 points from the charity line. Joel Donaldson, had a season high of 23. Rounding out the three D's of Ellsworth, Ken Derenzy had seven points.

Randy Bennett led East Jordan scorers with 18 points.

Another duece for the Ellsworth Lancers. Going into play this weekend, Lancers had won four of last five games.

Lancers now 9-6

Dennis "Hud" Drenth's 37 points led Ellsworth to an 86-69 win over Suttons Bay Friday night.

The win actually counted as two league victories for the Lancers, as their other contest with Suttons Bay ran into scheduling difficulty.

Ellsworth jumped off to a 20-13 first quarter lead and increased it by two for a half-time margin of 38-29.

The opening portion of the second half broke it open for Ellsworth as the Lancers outscored their opponents 16-4.

Behind Drenth in the Ellsworth scoring parade were Bill James with 18, Joel Donaldson, 17, Ken Derenzy 10, and Steve Chellis, 4.

Ellsworth is now 9-6 on the season. Lancer JV's were defeated 68-63.

CHS splits

Charlevoix seventh and eighth graders split two basketball games with Petoskey last week, losing the seventh grade contest 32-33, but bouncing back to take the eighth grade game by a crushing 63-27 score.

Ellsworth Community School P.T.A. will be held today, Monday, February 16. Notice the date change! Teachers will meet parents in their child's room.

Girl Scout news by scribe, Donna Waffle. The Girl Scouts had a sliding party January 30. It was at Mrs. Nels Nelsons. We slid for about two hours, and when we came in we had some hot chocolate and sloppy joes. Then we made taffy and had a taffy pull. Then we cleaned up the dishes and went home tired but happy.

Community School students were offered skiing lessons for the first time this winter. They were given at Schuss Mt. on Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. for 5 Mondays with Levi Donaldson driving the bus. Three teachers accompanied the children, Mrs. Tsychudy, Mr. Oosterman and Mr. Vescolani. Mrs. Vescolani also went. The program ended Feb. 2. Those participating in this were Fritz Alward, Darla Best, Diane Best, Dave Christianson, Evelyn Cooper, Noreen DeGroot, Fran Drenth, Patti Drenth, Patti Drenth, Shirley Drenth, Sheila Farrell, Bonnie and Darlene Groesser, Dave Heeres, Helen Hoeksema, Shayn Kaley, Keith Kenny, Debra LaWay, Paul Lindenmier, Cynthia Mathews, Charles and Kathy Maskaluk, Sinnikka Niemi, Diane and Sheryl Penfold, Dave Shooks, Jannelle Smalley, Laurel Tornga, Janet VandenBerg, Eilleen and Mike Wallick and Patty Wallick.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Klooster of Ann Arbor and Beverly Klooster and friend Taudi Huisman were recent visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Klooster. Allie is recovering nicely from his recent stroke.

Pancake supper at local church

The Men's Club of Christ Episcopal Church held its annual Pancake Supper Tuesday, February 10 with another good turnout.

It was estimated by Chairman Chuck England that the men served approximately 160 people.

All of the pancake mix was given to the Men's Club by Oleson's Food Store. (Photos by Christine Carey.)

Selected on the basis of design, function and economy, the $1.3 million Charlevoix Elementary School building in Charlevoix, has been selected for showing in the 1970 School Building Architectural Exhibition at Atlantic City, N. J. this week. The exhibition, the largest such display in the world, is held annually in conjunction with the national convention of the American Association of School Administrators which brings together thousands of school superintendents and board members from across the country. The Charlevoix exhibit was prepared and sponsored by the Architects, Daverman Associates, In cooperation with Superintendent Rex Milligan. Reviewing parts of the exhibit prior to shipment are Claus Beukema, Educational Consultant and Richard E. Wiggins, left, a director of Daverman Associates, and Dennis Sawinski, Daverman job captain. Another Daverman-designed school now under construction, the new $4.3 million Sault Ste. Marie High School, has also been selected to be featured at the national exhibit.

Birch Meeting

Confab was called, to 'inform citizens'

(Editor's note: Last weekend's meeting in Charlevoix for persons interested in learning more about the John Birch Society caused much controversy in the community. The meeting was organized by Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff, long-time Charlevoix resident. The following is her story about how the meeting was arranged, and for what purposes.)

Through shipments for my husband's Art's antique muzzle-loading gun which were always wrapped in bond paper letterheads of the Dixie Gun Company I first learned of these Red Rules of Revolution:

"In May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces obtained a copy of Red Rules for Revolution. Fifty years later, the Communists are still following them---

A. Corrupt the young, Get them away from Religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial. Destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity---

1. Get the people's minds off their Government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and play and other trivialities.

2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of little importance.

3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the later up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.

4. Always preach true democracy but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

5. By encouraging Government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

6. Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster lenient and soft attitudes on the part of Government toward such disorders.

7. By specious argument cause the breakdown of old moral virtues: honesty, sobriety, self-restraint, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view of confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

How many of these rules are being carried out in this nation today? Patriots inform yourselves!"

Writing to the president of the Dixie Antique Gun Company, a referral was made to American Opinion magazine of Belmont, Massachusettes, which I found to be the John Birch Society. They vouched for the authenticity of the rules insofar as they had come to light during the FBI investigation of subversive activities in the Florida area in the 1950s.

This contact led me to invite a John Bircher to speak in our community. Mr. Jerry Harris, a chemical engineer and department head for the Dow Chemical Company responded and led an eight-hour seminar in the Community Room of the First State Bank on Saturday, February 7.

Some 40 interested citizens from the northern Michigan area attended the seminar although representatives from Charlevoix were sadly lacking. However, I feel that I have done my bit to alert the citizenry to the dangers of an imminent crisis. If the citizenry wish to live under a Godless, Marxist Government it will happen because good men proverbially do nothing! But, if the citizenry wish to continue the Republic established by our Founding Fathers then it will be necessary to arm themselves with an adequate knowledge of what is taking place on the national scene.

For those who are disturbed enough to inquire I recommend Richard Friske of the Friske Orchards or David Rosenthal of our local Cherry Orchards. These men have lived under the totalitarian rule of so-called Communism and have considered themselves fortunate to have escaped. Believe me their personal stories would appall even the strongest heart.

Medusa earnings up in '69

Medusa Portland Cement Company earnings for 1969 increased to $4,353,000, or $2.31 per share of common stock, as compared to $4,111,000, or $2.24 per share for the prior year. Sales for the year were $66,601,000, up from $59,284,000 in 1968. Average shares outstanding in 1969 were 1,776,000 and 1,756,000 in 1968.

Robert W. Fort, president of Medusa, said that the modest improvement in earnings relative to the gain in sales was due to the effect of higher production costs especially in labor and coal. Also, three new production facilities were brought on line in 1969, and start up expenses plus depreciation and interest charges, caused an additional drain on current earnings.

"In all candor, the outlook for the cement industry in 1970 is not good unless there is a significant easing of credit restrictions by midsummer," said Fort. "Nevertheless, the backlog of new construction demand continues to grow and will have to be met as soon as money market conditions permit," he added.

Letters to the Editor

Agrees with Friske

Editor:

I would like to compliment Richard Friske on his fine letter to the Courier, pertaining to Freedom of Choice. I regret that we do not have more men of his caliber in our country.

Forced bussing is un-American and a violation of the Ninth Amendment to the Constitution.

I urge my friends in Charlevoix to write their congressmen and protest the bussing of students away from their neighborhood schools. Although you will not have your children involved in forced bussing you will have to help pay the extra billions of dollars it will cost each year, while other American have lost a little more of their freedom.

Thank you,

Barbara Scott keeps busy serving coffee and sandwiches to the many fishermen who come each day to get some of the perch that are being caught, but Bob Christensen says one has to go out where the water is deep to catch the big ones. But, whatever the size, they sure are good. Pete Bennett has taken his shanty down on Torch Lake but we haven't heard of better fishing from down there, as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnum are building a new home in Charlevoix.

Did you know that global air pollution is changing, the earth's climate by reducing the Sunglow reaching the earths surface. The earth's temperature has cooled as air pollution has risen during the past ten years. Perhaps that is the reason there is such cold weather all over this great land of ours! Even Florida is having everything but snow.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

Usually, our first invoicing of the year for current contributions is done in January. However, this year there was good reason for a delay. But, believe it or not—I had a phone call from one of our members, owner and operator of a lodging place, wanting to know where in the heck our invoice was because he always preferred to pay early and usually had the invoice in January. How nice! I quickly told him why and explained why we would be expecting a little increase, etc. "You'll get it," he said, "Just send me the invoice." And, we have got it!

Something else a little different during the past six to eight weeks—we are receiving contacts for vacations this coming summer for two, three, and four family groups for cottages, summer homes, lodging places, and what have you, so they can all at least be on the same premise together.

A publication by the Michigan Tourist Council at Lansing is titled "Tourist Trends in Michigan." One interesting item indicates, "Michigan Tourist Adds Produce." An investment of $12,863 in tourist promotion advertising in Columbus, Ohio, brought in more than $227,400 in measurable spending by these non-resident visitors to Michigan last summer. This is a return of more than $17 for each advertising dollar invested, which vividly demonstrates the benefits of the two week localized impact program. Follow up by questionnaires shows that 60.7 percent of the people who responded to the advertising, actually vacationed in Michigan. The average vacationer from Columbus was 43.4 years old, came to Michigan in a group of 4.3 people, stayed 8.6 days, and spent a total of $280.85 in the state.

Along this same line, "Direct Mail Lures Tourists": Michigan Tourist Council's initial direct-mail campaign to promote non-resident travel to Michigan has paid off handsomely. Out-of-staters spent $382,210 in Michigan during the recreational trip as the result of the Council's $2,211 investment. In other words, Michigan made a profit of $172 for every dollar invested in the special program. Geared to a select group of Ohio residents, specifically, 20,000 new car owners, the program resulted in more than 2,100 request for Michigan vacation literature, and 48.9 percent of these people actually vacationed in the state. But, more important, 96.4 percent of the visitors indicate they definitely plan to return to the Great Lakes State. The follow-up survey revealed the Buckeye State visitors traveled in groups averaging 4.4 persons who stayed 8.1 days and spend $358.21 while in Michigan.

So, why not invest in, and support your Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, as part of the activity or effort or work is to promote our fine Charlevoix community and area, it does pay directly or indirectly.

WANTED: A Welcome-Wagon Hostess. Here at the office we have numerous contacts for this nationwide service. I understand it has developed to be very successful and helpful over at Petoskey, and I am beginning to hear such reports since Boyne City has become involved. I had one interesting conversation yesterday with a woman here in Charlevoix who is very much concerned about her community and who displayed what seemed to be a genuine interest in being of some help and/or service. She has the matter under consideration. However, I would like to hear from some others. Accordingly, you can direct your contact here or to Fred Payne at the Charlevoix County State Bank. By the way, yesterday a lady from Ann Arbor, the state representative for Welcome Wagon, was in town endeavoring to develop a hostess and for one day's efforts appeared quite disappointed.

Birch Society in Charlevoix

One thing about the John Birch Society: It sure can trigger more table-thumping debate than the Women's Study Club.

The Birchers have been strangely quiet, at least in this area, for the past several years and it came as a surprise to most Charlevoixans that the extreme right-wing group held a day-long leadership training session at the First State Bank last Saturday.

Either out of mere curiosity or a downright interest in the John Birch movement, a goodly number of people turned out for the meeting, which lasted almost six hours.

The John Birch Society, as you will recall, was organized a decade ago by Robert Welch to combat what he believed—and still believes—to be a massive Communist conspiracy to take over the free world. Welch even went so far in the early 1960's to link former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles with the conspiracy --- completely discrediting the movement in the eyes of most Americans.

The trouble with the John Birch Society is that much of what its leaders contend is true. Even the casual student of American government knows that the nation has been moving to the left, so to speak, ever since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Over the years, we have come to accept social legislation as a means of solving problems which have no other solution.

Judging from the Birchers' presentation in Charlevoix, Robert Welch and his colleagues would like the country to return to the same basic form of government devised by our founding fathers 200 years ago—a republic governed by the rich, the well-born and the able. They share a nostalgic yearning for a time when life was a good deal more simple than it is today.

The Birchers absolutely abhor the type of democracy that most of us have come to think of as the "American way of life."

Instead, the Birchers claim, America has moved toward "monopolistic capitalism" with fewer people owning the means of production and an abundance of government interference. The next step, they say, is "democratic socialism," with government ownership of the major means of production. They fear a state "run by a socialist oligarchy, which perpetuates itself in power by greater and greater promises of welfare handouts to the electorate."

And in these statements and assumptions, the John Birch Society is probably correct. This nation certainly is not what it was in 1776 and every year sees the country's political and economic structure leaning further to the left. Good or bad, creeping socialism, of necessity, has become a fact of life in America.

Unfortunately, the Birchers have elected to blame a massive Communist conspiracy, dating back almost 200 years, for the changes that have taken place in American social and political institutions. Driven by an obsession that verges on mass paranoia, they see Communists infiltrating every strata of American life and dictating the policies of such respected groups as the National Education Association.

Their sole solution to the so-called Communist menace is to seek out and expose Communists wherever they are found, and then find them behind every stump and snowbank.

Unfortunately, the Birchers have resorted to smear campaigns, half-truths and downright lies to achieve their ends, tactics the Communists themselves use with such finesse.

We are firmly convinced the Birchers are dead wrong. If America has moved to the left, it had done so in search for answers to overwhelmingly complicated social problems, not because of an insidious Communist scheme to bring the United States into the fold.

The best thing to come out of the John Birch Society meeting in Charlevoix is an affirmation that the United States is still big enough, broad enough and wise enough to tolerate a wide variety of political opinion. (B. C.)

Pollution

Although the 1970's have scarcely started, it already appears that this decade will be remembered in the history books for mankind's belated efforts to clean up after himself. The opening guns have sounded in the war on pollution.

In his state of the union message, President Nixon outlined plans to spend $10 billion over five years to help municipalities solve their waste water treatment problems.

Michigan is toying with legislation which will allow the man-on-the-street to take both industry and government to court if he finds them pollution his environment.

Even in Charlevoix county, anti-pollution forces are mustering strength, with the promise of two major victories reported in recent weeks.

At East Jordan, the Iron Works has announced the purchase of equipment to control fly-ash and noxious fumes which from time to time turn the business section of East Jordan into a veritable smog basin, so far as the eyes and the nose are concerned.

Most of the time the ash and vapor are emitted into the atmosphere and go unnoticed. But during certain periods of thermal inversion, ash and fumes are forced downward into the city, causing brave men to run for cover.

But all that should be over shortly, according to Executive Vice President Bruce Malpass. Equipment has been developed to handle the problem and will be installed and in operation at the plant by next September. The system will cost the Iron Works about $400,000, but should bring the foundry within air quality standards established by the state.

Because installation, operation and maintenance of the new equipment will add to the foundry's operating costs, Malpass feels that federal air Pollution standards should be adopted, putting the Iron Works on a competitive footing with foundries in other states which have not yet seen fit to control pollution.

And his point should be well taken by our representatives in Washington. Federal controls would insure that all industries have an equal opportunity in the marketplace.

The second pollution victory at home was announced by Arthur E. Steinbrecher, manager of the Northern Michigan Rural Electric Cooperative plant at Advance. Steinbrecher says his company is investing in the neighborhood of $800,000 for an electrostatic precipitator to remove dust which presently is escaping into the atmosphere at the steam generating plant.

The task of cleaning up the nation's lakes and streams and preserving the atmosphere is a monumental undertaking. It cannot be done overnight, but it has been started and that is what counts.

Our only regret at this point is that we didn't tackle the problem of pollution a generation ago, (B.C.)

HEW'S ROBERT FINCH & SECURITY CHECKS

Make the world safe for democracy is today's cry. These words are very familiar to me, having come from a part of the world, where social democracy practiced its reign. If my memory serves me right, Stalin once said "socialism is the best preparation for Communism." Democracy of course being the rule of a simple majority, "what Joe and Nikita says, Richard must do."

It seems to me this is taking place more and more in our country today. Yet our constitution forbids it. Of course, the constitution, as many say, is an outmoded document. Well, it is not because of our "simple" forefathers and this document with the help of God, that our country rose to a place in the world, where there is none other of its like. Thank God for men of honesty and dedication to principles of the kind, our forefathers had. If we are to see this country survive, it will take a turning back to these same precepts and our constitution.

In the last few years, our enemy (the communists) through the liberals that are lending such a helping hand, have made great strides in capturing our youth; for Lenin said, Give me one generation of young people and I control that country.

Looking to Washington and our elected representatives, I sometimes wonder by what their loyalties are motivated and to whom they took their oaths. For we elect them, send them to the Capital, and then have to watch every move they make. Would it not be much simpler, if they sought out the constitution and enforced lawa accordingly?

How is it that any one person can take an oath of loyalty to the Constitution and then neglect to live up to this vow? How could the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's decision to drop pre-appointment security checks for its science advisors, that is likely to open the doors to wider government employment of radicals be justified? President Nixon, who first gained fame because of his investigation of Alger the Communist dominated Unl the Communist dominated United Nation's Charter, should countermand Secretary Robert H. Finch's order.

Mr. Finch said that henceforth HEW agencies will evaluate their own advisors and consultants. On the basis of the record of some of these agencies, it is not difficult to imagine how effective such evaluations will be. One of the HEW agencies is the Office of Economic Opportunity which has played a big role in funding radical inner-city groups that spark community strife. Without security checks, Black Panthers and members of similar subversive groups are likely to climb aboard the government payroll.

For months the New York Times, Washington Post and other spokesmen for "liberalism" have been demanding that the security check procedure be ended. They have complained of a "blacklist" of scientists. Well, the fact is that many U.S. universities are loaded with sociologists and other "scientists" who are bitter foes of America's free enterprise society. For several years, The New York Times has carried political advertisements by hundreds of sociologists and other "scientists" opposing the war in Vietnam and condemning the United States for its foreign policy of resistance to communism. These types now, presumably, will have an easy time getting appointed as consultants to HEW agencies.

The relaxation of security in any government department is a dangerous development. Anyone who doubts that should read the new book "The Otto Otepka Case" by William Gill (Arlington House Publishers.)

Richard Friske
Rt. 1, Charlevoix

Barbed wire

Mr. Nixon reveals that now we are undertaking the "Vietnamization" of Vietnam. Isn't that what Ho Chi Minh asked us to help him do a long time ago?

A new law-the Freedom of Information Act-forces the government to make available tons of valuable consumer information it has been keeping secret. You see how the bureaucratic mind works?

Military-related spending now grabs about 80 percent of your federal tax dollar. If you object, please do it silently.

We know that continued pollution of water and air may wipe out the human race, but we can't decide whether industrial progress is more important.

If it Fitz

I didn't really mean it

It's only a matter of time and numbers before President Nixon gets around to nominating me for the U.S. Supreme Court. In preparation, I hereby repudiate what I said at that Young Republican meeting in 1952.

You've probably read that J. Harrold Carswell is currently Nixon's choice for the Supreme Court seat that was too good for Abe Fortas and Clement Haynsworth. Carswell, now a Georgia appeals court judge, may also have trouble gaining Senate approval.

Carswell's problem is something he said 22 years ago when he was waging a losing campaign for the Georgia legislature. He painted himself with bigot stripes and the damning words are still on public record, as easy to see as a burning cross at midnight. Here's what he said:

"I yield to no man..in the firm, vigorous belief in principles of white supremacy and I shall always be so governed...Segregation of the races is proper and the only practical and correct way of life in our states. I have always so believed and shall always so act. I shall be the last to submit to any attempt on the part of anyone to break down and weaken this firmly established policy of our people."

Such an attitude would seem, to exclude Carswell from serving on the highest court in the land. Unless you want the justices to wear white sheets instead of robes.

But maybe not. Carswell doesn't deny bragging about being a racist in the 1948 speech given before an American Legion post in Gordon, Georgia. But he was just a 28-year-old baby then, fresh out of diapers and law school. Today he has changed his mind. "I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent," he said when asked about the tattletale speech.

And Carswell's flip-flop is supported by U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell whose full time job is defending Nixon's Supreme Court nominees. His wife does everything else for him. "I think it is unfortunate that a judge of Judge Carswell's high qualifications could be subjected to criticism based on remarks made 22 years ago...in the heat of a political controversy," Mitchell said. Many others agree that Carswell should be judged on his recent record, not his old speeches.

Right. Judge Carswell may be a phony. But what the heck, the world is full of phonies and someone has to fill that Supreme Court seat. If the Senate continues to be so picky-picky, they'l have to wait for the second coming of Christ.

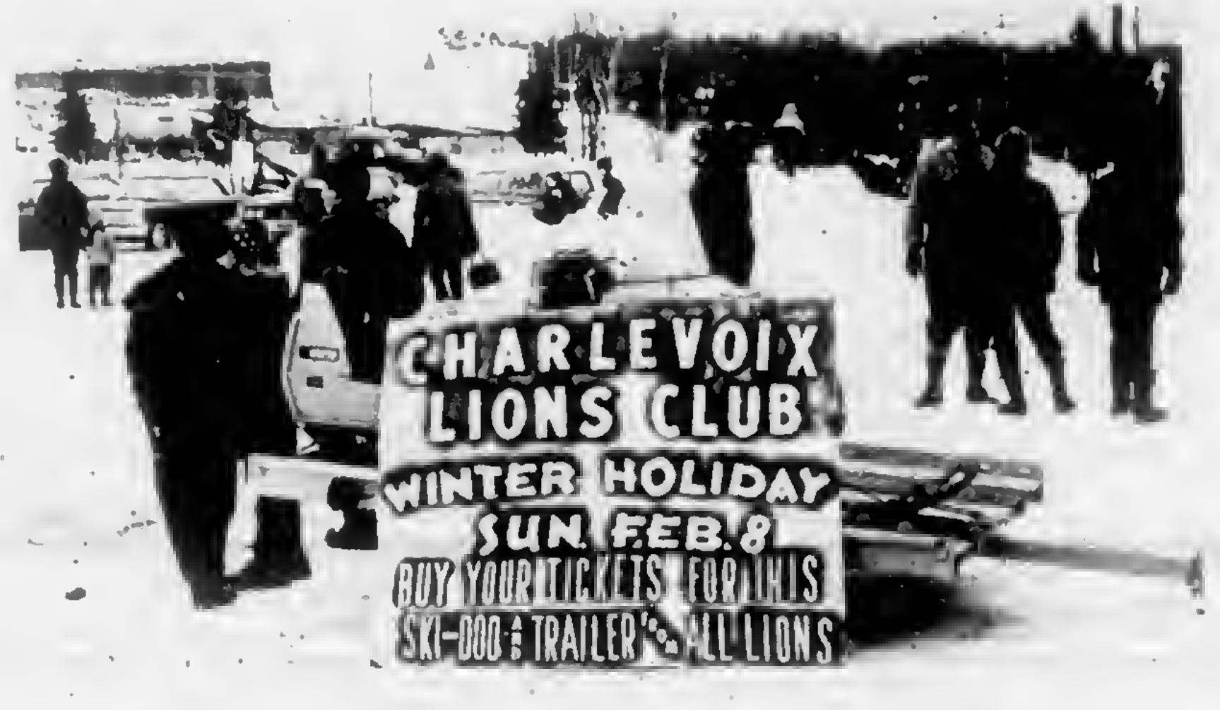
Besides, Carswell or any other Supreme might eventually get dumped for some really serious indiscretion - such as speculating in U.S. Savings Bonds. And I'd like to feel that my past words won't prevent me from filling the gap when Nixon beckons.

In 1952 I stood up and told a Young Republican club that there was no such thing as a young Republican. "The minute you become a Republican, you become old," I said. "It's automatic, the same as joining Rotary."

Of course, these words were spoken in the heat of political controversy. They had just appointed me chairman of the Help-Feed-Nixon's Dog committee and I was trying to get out of the job.

Since then I've changed my mind. I denounce and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent. It is only fair that you judge me on my recent record, not on what I said long ago.

Last week will be recent enough, thanks.



A tip of the Courier hat to the local Lions Club for their Winter Picnic last weekend. Cars were lined along streets for blocks, as event drew large crowd, perhaps proving that Charlevoix needs more scheduled activities during long winter months.

Out of the past

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors picked the final site for the construction of the new $500,000 jail.

Judge Brown refused to decide whether taxpayers in the Hampton Village assessment were being unjustly taxed and that politics and inaccurate newspaper reporting had been involved.

Charlevoix school district voters decided not to merge with the East Jordan school district, however, the East Jordan voters did pass the merger vote.

Ken Staley and Jerry Whitley were the two winners in the city's only contests in the 1968 elections.

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors reaffirmed their position as being determined to stop pollution in Charlevoix County.

Charlevoix school teachers cited their pay as below that of the average Michigan school teacher.

The Parent Teachers Association announced that they made a $1,000 profit of their annual P.T.A. Fair.

The local Chamber of Commerce announced that their membership had dropped for 1965 with 20 percent of its former members failing to rejoin.

The Red Rayders defeated the Grayling Vikings 67 to 58 in action at Grayling.

Robert Jonaitis of the Civil Defense Education Division appeared before the Supervisors to ask them to pass a resolution permitting all county employees time off from their jobs to take an eight-hour course of disaster preparedness. The request was referred to Ken Staley who will report on the issue at the next meeting in March.

The Board also voted to pay 25 percent of the cost of health insurance for 15 employees for the remainder of the year, so these employees may be covered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield Insurance.

At the close of the meeting J. Lawrence Fiendt appeared to ask that something be done about a drain commission. He said many things were being held up because the drain commissioner was not available to approve various proposals.

Birch meeting held

The Birchers handed out a blue print which listed the elements of the conspiracy. The blue print follows the conspiracy down to the Strategic Arms-Limitation Talks (S.A.L.T.) which began in Sweden last fall.

Richard Friske, northern Michigan section leader from Norwood, opened the meeting with a prayer and the pledge to the flag.

USCG sounds warning to boaters

Chief Archard of the Coast Guard Boating Safety Detachment, Ludington, says "Just staying afloat isn't enough for winter boatman."

Exposure to the elements probably causes more boating deaths than drowning during the winter months.

To combat this situation the Coast Guard is trying to educate the boatman to the need for water protective clothes by using, for example, wet suits in coordination with the proper use of lifesaving devices.

Approved lifesaving devices are extremely important year-round, but do not offer total protection for the dunked fisherman or hunter when the water and air temperatures drop any where below 45 degrees (approximately.) Staying afloat and conscious, and keeping warm while floating, is the prime concern of a cold weather fisherman. Heavy clothing keeps a man warm out of the water, but can also bog him down if he falls overboard. No lifesaving device has yet been designed which will keep a person afloat and warm at the same time. A well fitting wet suit is both warm and provides mobility. One that is too tight becomes uncomfortable.

Here's a few tips for the winter boatman:

1. Always wear a Coast Guard approved lifesaving device - don't stow it!

2. Dress appropriately for the cold weather.

3. Don't over exert.

4. Watch the weather.

5. Wear a snug fitting wet-suit. Have an expert, if possible, fit the suit; both for comfort and safety.

6. Let others know where you are going. Leave a float plan with a reliable friend.

The hazards of summer boating are many, but winter compounds them even more. Probably the best hint anyone can leave with the winter boatman is "Use Common Sense."

Rev. Johnston appointed

The Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston, vicar of Christ Church here, has been appointed to the Charlevoix County Social Services Board, by R. Bernard Houston, State Director of the department. The announcement was made by Richard H. Tillen, director of the Charlevoix County Board of Social Services.

He was named to succeed the Rev. George L. Majors who resigned from the position in November 1969 when he left Charlevoix to accept a pastorate in Fairbanks, Alaska. He had held the post since June 1962.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Garth Brian of Boyne City and Vern Whiteford of East Jordan.

The Rev. Fr. Johnston came here from St. Luke's church in Kalamazoo in April, 1967, to serve as vicar of Christ Church. A native of Holland, he is a graduate of Hope College and Seabury-Western Seminary at Evanston. He was ordained as a deacon in 1964 and priested in 1965.

He is a member of the board of the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children; president of the Friends of the Library and on the board of the Little Traverse Little Theatre in Petoskey.

He, his wife, Cynthia, and their son, Eric James, reside on South Prospect Avenue in Charlevoix.

In brief

Gibbons appointed hearings examiner

Michael A. Gibbons of Mason has been appointed as hearings examiner in the Financial Institutions Bureau of the state Department of Commerce.

Gibbons is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons, former Charlevoix residents, and is married to the former Marilyn Neff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Neff.

Gibbons, an assistant Ingham County prosecutor since 1966, assumed the newly created position late in January.

The new examiner, 31 years old, grew up in Charlevoix. Following military service, he attended the University of Detroit and Aquinas College in Grand Rapids. He received his law degree from Wayne State University in 1965.

3 on dean's list

Three Charlevoix students have been named to the Dean's List at North Central Michigan College for the fall semester. They are: Garrett Miller, DeMar Bodley and Stan Martin.

Students must receive a B or better average to be named to the list.

Coffee Day, Feb. 24

The annual March of Dimes "Coffee Day" has been set for Tuesday, February 24, in local restaurants.

Chairman of Coffee Day this year is Robert Lieberman. Proceeds from the day are turned over to the March of Dimes by the local eateries.

FOL contest

The Friends of the Library executive board met Wednesday, February 18 at the Public Library to plan cultural programs for the benefit of the local citizenry.

Fr. Hewitt Johnston, Mrs. J.W. Gilbert, Mrs. Eugene Bergman and Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff moved to sponsor a photographic contest for students and adults on the amateur level to begin April 1 and end in May.

There will be three awards given in both student and adult classes and winning photographs will be on display at the Library during the summer.

Corruption in county claimed by magazine

Charges of corruption and "self-dealing" have been leveled at city attorney John R. Michael in the February issue of "Today", a Howell-based magazine.

In the copyrighted story from the files of Mrs. Edward Vogler of Charlevoix, who is listed in the masthead of the publication as an associate editor on the voluntary staff, other area lawyers are also lumped together.

Nathaniel "Mike" Stroup, well-known Petoskey attorney, was mentioned prominently in the article, and told Courier editor Fiske Martin that portions of the story were completely false.

The article itself begins with an introduction of Mrs. Vogler (this is her debut in "Today"), who is termed "An experienced and battle scarred veteran."

The article, in part, states:

"Jean, her husband Ed Vogler, and 5 neighboring families, united in 1967 to fight what they recognized as a clear cut case of conflict of interest and legal arrogance by Charlevoix City Attorney John R. Michael. After almost three years of fighting to protect themselves from an unfair and illegal proposed city assessment, the group is much wiser, but poorer for their efforts.

"The battle line was drawn against Michael, a self-dealing attorney. Later almost every attorney in the Charlevoix and Petoskey area joined together to protect their brother lawyer.

"And, naturally, the city fathers became involved. A the beginning, Jean and her neighbors fully expected fair and representation by their legal council. Slowly, but surely, this group fighting city hall found themselves out on the proverbial limb with the legal beagles busy sawing away.

"At the suggestion of lawyer Nathaniel Stroup of Petoskey, the first letter of protest against Michael was filed with the Michigan State Bar in October, 1967. Jean's neighbors, Robert Cook, L. McElhose, Daniel Major, Lewis Juilleret and Carl Olson filed a grievance with the State Bar. This only united the entire local bar (union) against Jean and her friends.

"Problems began when city attorney, John Michael and partner James F. Riehcy, formed a co-partnership to develope a subdivision adjacent to the property of Jean and her friends. Hampton Associates was formed March 22, 1967 to specifically develop a subdivision called Hampton Village.

"The city attorney, Michael, together with the city council, proposed to spend $15,000 of city funds, another $10,788 from private property owners and a special $3000 assessment on the property of the Voglers and their neighbors to develop utilities for the subdivision.

"Attorney General Frank Kelley also got into the act, giving two different opinions on conflict on interest and self-dealing by the city attorneys.

"When Jean Vogler and her group made the formal complaint to the State Bar against Michael, his interest in the subdivision suddenly changed from co-partnership to only the attorney for his ex-partner.

"Finally, on November 10, 1969, the State Bar concluded there was

Air report at Council

Last Monday's City Council meeting centered around the Municipal Airport, as city superintendent Thomas G. Hanna, reported on the Trans-Michigan Airlines possible scheduling of service locally.

Hanna noted that he had attended a meeting between T-MA director of marketing Don Ambrose and operations man Jim Rice, and representatives of industry, business and civic organizations.

He noted that T-MA found the physical plant at Charlevoix adequate if minor changes were made. However, no decision from the airline would be forthcoming until their market study is complete.

Turner to speak here

The Mid-Michigan magazine publisher, whose charges against the legal profession have stirred the Michigan Legislature, bring his story to the people of Charlevoix, County, Thursday night, February 26.

James C. Turner of "Today" magazine will address an open meeting of Charlevoix citizens at the Charlevoix High School cafeteria, at 8 p.m.

Turner's issues will be the moral and social conscience of the law and the judiciary, the corruption in Charlevoix County and what the people can do to bring about a change.

The announcement will also be made regarding the newly formed "James C. Turner Crusade, Inc.," a non-profit corporation for donations to help "Today" magazine finance the drive for judicial and legal reform.

Turner will be holding a news conference at the Charlevoix High School, Thursday, February 26 at 4 p.m.

WORTH LOOMIS

Loomis leaves Medusa

The appointment of Worth Loomis as vice president, finance and administration, and secretary of the corporation was announced today by The Dexter Corporation. He succeeds Mrs. Jean Sterling, who has retired after 43 years with the corporation.

Loomis joins the company from Medusa Portland Cement Company of Cleveland where he was vice president, finance and administration, and a director of the company. He had previously been associated with Clevite Corporation, International Research and Development Corporation an Reynolds & Co.

Loomis is well known in the Charlevoix area through his position with Medusa. He came to the area on many occasions, the most recent for the retirement of Henry J. Krebs as superintendent of the local Medusa plant.

The Dexter Corporation produces a wide range of industrial coatings, specialty chemical materials and non-woven materials for such applications as air filters and disposable dust collecting receptacles. Among its manufacturing operations is an industrial coatings plant in Cleveland.

BY PAT BEGROW

This Thursday, February 26, is the night that the Band Boosters have set for the band dinner which will be held in the Charlevoix High School cafeteria from five o'clock until seven o'clock. Guests can purchase dinner tickets at the door or from any band member. Tickets will be $1.50 for adults and $.75 for children for the swiss steak dinner.

Mrs. James Alspaugh, president of the Band Boosters, is coordinating the dinner committee which consists of tickets, Mrs. Claire Martin and Mrs. Arthur Emmons; dining room, Mrs. Don Brown and Mrs. Robert Lieberman; kitchen, Mrs. John Powell and Mrs. Lee Moerland; and clean-up committee, Jim Pettis and Bob Pearl.

The Band Boosters still owe $750 for the band uniforms which they have worn for nearly two years now. In addition the Band Boosters always give two Interlochen camp scholarships of $100 each to an outstanding member of the senior band and to an outstanding member of the reserve band.

Next Saturday, February 28, will be a trying day for the Charlevoix bands for they will be competing in the District Qualifying Festival in Petoskey. Even though Charlevoix is a Class C school the senior band will compete against Class B schools. This will then enable th Charlevoix Reserve Band which is made up of ninth and tenth graders to compete in the Class C competitions, although they will be competing against older students.

Since band director Clarenee Odmark must sight read the music which is the same for all Class C bands he cannot enter both bands in the same class. Therefore both the Senior Band and the Reserve Band will be against stiff competition next Saturday.

The District Qualifying Festival is open to the public and will begin at eight o'clock in the Petoskey Junior High Auditorium. Schools in competition will be Rogers City, Petoskey, Cheboygan, Manistique, Newberry and Charlevoix.

If either the Senior Band or the Reserve Band is able to earn a One Rating they have the opportunity to participate in the State Band and Orchestra Festival which will be held in Flint.

The Band Boosters would like to contribute toward such a trip but they need to raise money to help.

They are hoping to do this next Thursday, February 26, at the band dinner.

Andy Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carey, has become the owner of the Leonard service station on Bridge Street. Carey, a CHS grad, had been an employee of the station before taking over the entire operation.

Andy's Tire sinks Sundew

Bouncin' the Ball
Sam

Before another capacity crowd in Charlevoix High School, the Independent Basketball League awed its spectators in an amazing night of round ball. After Johnny Carson introduced sober Dean Martin, who gave the invocation, we had one of the year's best nights of basketball. Martin's Standard Service, U.S. Coast Guard Station, and powerful Andy's Tire World came through with impressive victories for their respective teams.

In the evening's first battle, the U.S. Coast Guard Station had little trouble handing Lexalite, with the presence of Roxy VanLoo in the audience, its seventh defeat of the season. The first period saw Swabbies pull to a 14 to 2 lead behind Fat Frank Hacket's 6 points. Ken Heeres pushed through for the Liters only 2 points. The Station's first quarter push was helped tremendously by Bob "Vic Tanney" Hook who waddled throughout the quarter. The second period saw impressive scoring by Lexalite, which closed the gap to 26 to 19, Dwane Taylor lead the Liter's with 6 points.

After a halftime show of Gladys Knight and the Pips singing their hit song "Keep Your Mojo Working", the third period saw even scoring on both sides. The score was 40 to 28 with the Station still in front. The Swabbies were about to throw in the towel in the fourth quarter when their all star center, Fouling Frank Hacket, left the game with too many fouls. But Dirty Don Finley was able to maintain the Station's lead for a 55 to 39 victory. Hacket lead the Station with 11 points, and 6'7" Ron Cox finally came through with 10 points, while Ken Heeres and Dwane Taylor both had 10 points for the Liters.

The second game of the evening saw First State Bank fold under pressure once again to drop another game to Lucky Martin's Standard Service. With both teams primping their make-up in the first quarter, it ended 10 to 8 with Martin's on top. The second quarter was like a style show by Oleg Casini and Bill Blass, with Tubby Wagner and Moo Cow Martin featured stylists. It ended with Martin's ahead again by 22 to 20. Even scoring paced both teams throughout the first half.

Tiny Tim and his blushing bride Miss Vickey made a brief visit during the half, which saw Hal Hill Boog-a-loo to his hit song "Tip-toe Through the Smog". When the exhuberant round of applause ended, the third quarter started and ended as close as the first half, with Martin's still ahead 30 to 28. Ike Boss pushed through 5 points for Martin's, while even scoring paced the Bankers. The fourth period saw the Bankers take the lead for a short time, but it was the calm, cool play of Martin's which helped the team pull through with their seventh straight victory of the year, 47 to 44. The Banker's hopes were all but shattered when their boobie star Bren LaBlance fouled out once again for the hopeless Bankers. Points were pretty tight on the Bankers team with shooters like Martin, LaBlance, Lange and Edwards on the team. Ike Boss once again lead Martin's with 15 points, and fouling Bren LaBlance had 13 for the Bankers.

As the crowded gym prepared themselve's for the best game of the evening, the fans were treated with a brain washing exhibition by a Mr. G. Romney, who, without the help of a single person, wiped out his entire mind and floated out of the gym. With that show, powerful Andy's Tire World took the floor with upset on their minds and started on the U.S. Coast Guard Sundew. In a low scoring game, Andy's sneaked out to a 9 to 8 first period lead, which they didn't give up throughout the game. Once again that powerful, evasive, smooth and extremely talented Sam Supernaw paced Andy's with 3 points. The second quarter, Andy's increased their lead to 22 to 18 with Norm Helms putting in 9 big points for Andy's and Jitterbug John Masuga putting in 6 points for the Swab Jockies.

Aftter a command performance of Raequel Welch singing and performing the song "I've Had It", which was made popular by the Bundy Mountain Jamboree, the capacity crowd could hardly concentrate on the third period that saw Andy's maintain their lead 28 to 22. Supernaw put in 4 of Andy's 6 points, and Steve Kushman put through 3 of the Sundew's 4 points in the period. In a very tight fourth quarter, Andy's amazingly held the lead over the Swabbies, who, with the services of Jungle Jim Kluge, were unable to push over lowly Andy's. It had to be that Topside play that failed them. Norm Helms led Andy's with 15 points, and Sam Supernaw had 11, and can you believe Ken Balch had 8 for Andy's. John Masuga paced the Sundew with 11; Rich Cashon and Steve Kushman had 7 each. The final Score was 42 to 40.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE.....Next week's National Anthem will be sung by Jose Fellciano....Dan Vreeland is going to leader dog school....Bob Hook is on a diet...Jungle Jim Kluge will swim the channel on their next defeat...Gary Balch will give a free Mohawk to the first 30 point scorer in the league...Next week's games will once again be on WJML radio, brought to you by Mother Wooshnuski's canned beans (remember the beans with the bowling shirt in every can...Tom Erber will chug at the halftime of this week's game....Keep those cards and letters coming in...The Courier will once again leave out a couple of lines of this article.....

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Is the surcharge rate for 1969 really 10 percent?

A) Yes. [illegible]

[illegible] tax" [illegible] determine [illegible] 1969 [illegible] pay [illegible] percent [illegible]

Q) What can I do to keep my tax refund from being delayed?

A) [illegible] early. [illegible] six weeks.

Before [illegible] turn, check it over [illegible] sure it is complete [illegible] necessary schedules [illegible] porting documents attached. A W-2 statement [illegible] tached to the [illegible] return for each [illegible] and the return must be signed by both husband and wife if it is a joint return.

Nearly two [illegible] refund claims were delayed last year because of a missing or inaccurate Social Security number. To avoid this problem use the preaddressed label on the return you file. It [illegible] your number just as it appears in IRS files.

If there is an error in your name or address correct it on the label. If the Social Security number is wrong, enter [illegible] number in the box [illegible] your Form 1040.

Q) Do I have to pay tax on the unemployment benefits I received from the State when I was out of work last year?

A) No. State unemployment [illegible] are not taxable and [illegible] have to be reported on tax return.

Q) Does the new tax law affect my 1969 tax return?

A) It probably will not [illegible] of the changes will [illegible] to income earned in [illegible] One exception to this is [illegible] of the investment credit which is retroactive to April 18, 1969. Equipment purchases on or before that date qualify for the credit [illegible] those after that do not. Farmers, small businessmen and others claiming this credit should check with IRS if they have any question about how to handle this change. Also, the due date for filing income tax returns for farmers who have not filed declarations of estimated tax, but want to avoid estimated tax penalties, is March 2 for this year instead of February 15. Detailed information on all changes for 1969 may be obtained by asking your local IRS office for a free copy of Publication 553, Highlights of 1969 Changes in the Tax Law.

Q) I need safety shoes on my job. Can I deduct their cost?

A) Yes, the cost of safety shoes and other protective clothing required for your work may be deducted if you itemize. Do this on Schedule A under miscellaneous deductions.

Q) I paid my daughter's medical bills last year when she had an operation. Can I deduct them on my return even though she is not my dependent?

A) You may deduct the medical expenses you paid for someone who is not your dependent, even if they filed a joint return or had $600 or more gross income, if the other dependency tests are met at the time the expenses were paid or incurred. For details on medical expenses, send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a free copy of Publication 502, Deduction for Medical and Dental Expenses.

Q) Is there any change in the amount that may be deducted for contributions to retirement plans by self-employed people?

A) No, this provision is the same as it was last year. Briefly, a self-employed person can set aside up to 10 percent of his earned income in an approved plan and deduct this on his return. The maximum amount that may be deducted is $2,500.

This provision of the law can also be used by people who have only part-time income from self-employment. Up to 10 percent of their self-employment income may be deducted when it is invested in a retirement plan.

Q) My son who is attending college is filing for a refund. Can I claim an exemption for him on my return if he qualifies as my dependent?

A) Yes, this is one of the few situations where the same exemption can be claimed on two tax returns.

Elzinga honored for '69 sales

Charles Elzinga, Farm Bureau Insurance Group Career Agent, has earned membership in his firm's top life sales and service club by writing more than $1 million of life insurance for clients during 1969.

Members of this exclusive organization receive appropriately engraved business cards and stationery, and a yearly business seminar trip. The 1970 excursion will be to Deer Park Lodge, Wisconsin.

Elzinga was one of 12 Career Agents representing the firm that produced at least one million dollars of insurance during 1969. Club members now total 19, men, from an agency force of 300.

Elzinga began his Farm Bureau Insurance career in 1961. He and his wife, Bonnie and their three children live in Charlevoix.

Farm Bureau Insurance Group, a multiple line firm headquartered in Lansing, operates throughout Michigan in 52 offices staffed by 300 agents. Policyholders number approximately 200,000.

Bennett serves on USS Haddock

Navy Petty Officer First Class Rex. G. Bennett, son of Mrs. Orvel Bennett of Route 2, East Jordan, helped mark the 15th anniversary of nuclear power in the U.S. Navy while serving aboard the nuclear powered submarine USS Haddock homeported at San Diego, Calif.

This year marks 15 successful years since the submarine USS Nautilus transmitted the famous message "underway on nuclear power." Since then the Navy's nuclear-powered fleet has grown to eighty-five submarines and four surface vessels.

The Atomic Energy Commission was requested to undertake the design, development and construction of a nuclear reactor for use in a submarine in 1947. Now, twenty-two years later, the Navy has 44 attack and 41 Fleet Ballistic Missile submarines with 20 more attack submarines presently under construction.

Nuclear-powered submarines are capable of extended submerged operations with almost unlimited cruising range, limited only by the endurance of the crew.

Pat's Reaction

Dummy Denny McLain

Nowadays it seems as though you have to have a Mafia connection to get on the front page of the sports section. Why is it that the guys with the white hats can't seem to make it?

Now Denny McLain was just another baseball player until he made it big by not paying his taxes and his rent. If our family hadn't paid their taxes and their rent for six months we wouldn't be on the front page. We'd be on the front lawn while the sheriff auctioned off our stove.

But not Denny McLain. He just gets a lot of publicity which he knows can't hurt him the next time that he's dickering for a salary even if he has been suspended. The fans will wait til he's back in the game and all that his publicity will do for him is attract paying spectators.

And Joe Namath is another one. Joe would have just been another good football player if he hadn't got mixed up with gamblers. Now he's such a notorious figure that he could probably retire from both football and gambling and still make it big just by endorsing footballs.

Now no matter how sensational they are the guys with the white hats just don't seem to be able to get their names splashed across the front page.

I'm thinking particularly about Billy Kidd who last Sunday became the first U.S. skier to win a world or Olympic Games gold medal when he captured the combined championship at the World Alpine Ski Championship at Val Gardena, Italy.

Billy's gold medal was the first one for the United States since 1952 when Andrea Meade Lawrence won two in the 1952 Olympics. That was eighteen long years ago so to any skier Billy Kidd's triumph was big news.

But just where would you guess that the Detroit Free Press put this sensational news? I hunted and hunted and finally found it on page five. That's how important that they thought it was. Between page one and page five of the sports section was not exactly filled with news either. Most of it was filled with sportscasters speculations. Speculations about everything that is except skiing.

Oh well, we skiing enthusiasts can't expect a big hand especially from frozen fingers for we favor a sport that when conditions are good it really cuts down on the number of spectators.

And while I'm on the subject of sports writers I object to the fact that they spend so much time talking about all the young kids in sports. I'm beginning to feel the generation gap.

From now on I wish that they'd pay more attention to fellows like Gordie Howe. He's one athlete who's still older than I am.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to Dr. Lignell, the nursing staff, friends, neighbors, Rev. Duane Imig, and the 72nd chapter of the Eastern Star for their thoughtfulness and many acts of sympathy in the recent passing of my mother.

William Graves.

William Cooper is a patient in the Charlevoix Hospital. We extend him our very best wishes.

Evelyn Vanderwall has enrolled in the college in Traverse City for further Nurses' training. We extend her congratulations and best wishes.

The Mens' Fellowship will meet Wednesday evening, February 25, in the Church. Everyone is welcome.

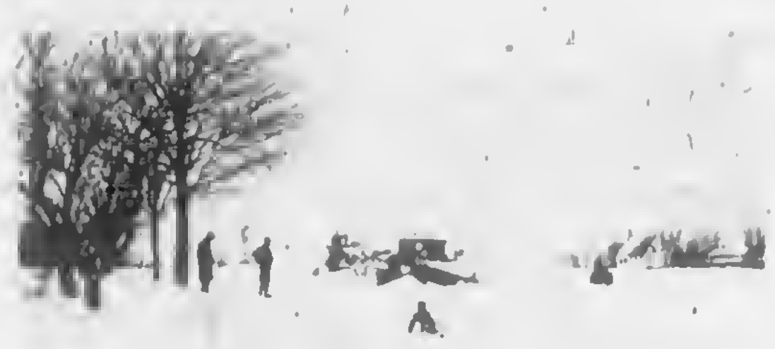
Mary Hall has returned home and back to her work at Olesons after being a medical patient in Charlevoix Hospital.

The Ladies Fellowship met in The Church Monday evening with the new officers in charge: President, Jeane Williams; vice president, Mary Bennett; secretary, Sally Saunders; treasurer, Ethel Kroll, the next meeting will be March.

Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Enlund of Portage, Michigan, are guests this weekend of Terry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Neilsen.

Sam Orvis has returned to Flint after spending several days with local relatives.

This picture was taken back in the days when we really had snow. I remember we waited a week for the plow to get through from Charlevoix the snow was so deep and heavy from Guilds Hill on old M66 coming this way that two plows, or what was called a Double Header was needed to get through. It was impossible to get anywhere. We had this storm in January of 1940, and this picture was taken as the double header plows arrived at the top of the ferry hill with Vaun Ogden James, Dissette standing and Sam Alexander is the small boy and Sam Alexander, Sr., walking up the hill to meet them. You will notice the old Grange Hall which was once the Methodist Church and the Village Store owned by J.W. Mosher, who also had the local post office. It is hard for our younger people to realize how hard it was to get places in the winter when our roads are kept open so well by our road men and M66 always ready for travel. Times change and progress will go on.



Sentence reduced

Wayne Richard Russell, 20, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted rape when he appeared before Circuit Judge Charles Brown yesterday. He was sentenced to not less than 37 months or more than five years in prison.

Russell originally had been sentenced to from 12½ to 25 years in prison on a charge of rape. However he asked for and was granted a new trial on grounds he was unable to assist in his own defense at the original trial. The contention was based on a pretrial psychiatric evaluation.

Russell underwent an examination at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry at Ypsilanti in January before sentencing on the lesser included offense.

He will be credited with 803 days already served, according to Prosecutor Harvey Varnum.

Carol Annis in concert

Carol Annis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Annis of 207 Nettleton, Charlevoix, will participate in The Western Michigan Wind Ensemble in a concert February 26 on the University's east campus. Miss Annis is a 1967 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Theatre auditions to begin tonight

Little Traverse Civic Theatre of Petoskey announces that auditions will be held next Monday and Tuesday, February 23 and 24, for their forth-coming spring production, the well-known comedy "Suds In Your Eye".

The auditions will be held between 7:30 and 9 p.m. at Edgewater Place in East Bay View.

The comedy by Jack Kirkland from a novel by Mary Laswell uses a cast of 13 men and 10 women, many of which are small roles and definitely on the "character" side. It is a romantic tale of 3 ladies who, though penniless, extract from life more fun than most people ever enjoy. In Mrs. Feeley's junk yard are gathered a rich assortment of young and old, including a Chinese, a teacher, detectives, a shipyard worker. Miss Tinkham, elderly spinster with a taste for fine language and singing, wanders into Mrs. Feeley's precincts in search of she knows not what, while Mrs. Rasmussen has come because she is unhappy with her daughter. Both are welcomed by Mrs. Feeley and he adopted nephew known as Chinatown. The ladies decide to make their home in the yard and build an addition to Mrs. Feeley's shack. Mrs. Feeley has, among other things, much difficulty with the income tax people, and the final untangling of the plot is riotous.

Ross Stoakes will direct the play and encourages anyone interested in reading for a part in "Suds In Your Eye" or who would like to help with backstage activities, to attend the auditions.

New Camaro. Feb. 26th.

We've never announced a car at this time before. But then nobody's ever announced a car like this before.

Super Hugger

If it were an ordinary sportster, we'd have introduced it at the ordinary time.

Instead, we took the time to build a whole new Camaro.

We started with a sleek new shape and a low road-hugging stance.

And added more hood. A faster fastback. Wider doors. And new deeply contoured bucket seats.

The instrument panel wraps around you. With enough dials to make you think you're piloting a 747.

There are four transmissions. And six power plants up to the Turbo-Jet 396 V8 that you can order.

Pick the one that best suits your driving. Then go pick on an open road.

And make it one with plenty of twisting turns. Because Camaro has a remarkable new suspension. And standard front disc brakes for a leech-like grip on the road.

New Camaro. The Super Hugger.

Other sportsters always feared it might come to this.

And they were right. Only their timing was wrong.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Boyne falls 69-64

Charlevoix and Boyne City played evenly from the floor Friday night, but the Rayders were more consistent from the free throw line and came out with a big win.

For the Ramblers, it was the final conference game of the season, and one they wanted badly, as a win would have given them a .500 M-HS record at 8-8.

However, the Rayders were out to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of the Ramblers and built up a 20-point lead, and just hung on for the victory.

The Rayders moved to a low-scoring 12-9 lead in the first period, and increased their lead to 30-23 at halftime.

The third quarter saw the local quintet jump ahead 52-33 and appear to have wrapped up the contest.

The Ramblers finally found themselves in the final stanza and began closing the gap. Kevin Swanson fouled out in the final period and the Rayder's board strength dwindled.

Yet, Charlevoix, with superb shooting from the foul line, was able to hang on for the win.

For Charlevoix, Stew Coleman led the scoring parade with 30 tallies and Bruce Meggison aided the cause with 20. Norm Ostrum chipped in 10.

Charlevoix will end their regular season play this Friday with league champion St. Ignace.

CHS vs. PHS faculty

Faculties of Charlevoix and Petoskey high school square off against each other for the second time this year tonight in the CHS gym.

In a game earlier this season, the Northmen mentors prevailed over the Rayder faculty, but CHS spokesmen have vowed revenge in tonight's game.

Action will begin at 6 p.m. with an intramural game among fifth graders, and continue with sixth grade play at 7 p.m.

The main event will begin at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the game will be placed in an Athletic Field Fund, and may be used for improvements at the football field or help pay for a fence around the field.

Tickets for tonight's game are available at the door at $1 for adults and $.50 for students.

LET WANT ADS WORK FOR YOU

Central Lake falls to Lancers

By Dale VanderSlik

Everyone knows when Ellsworth plays archrival Central Lake, anything can happen. And it looked for awhile as it was going to happen. Tuesday at Central Lake, having an extremely hard time winning this year, was leading at half time and seemed to be controlling the game. Only after a tough battle did the Lancers pull away and win 78-63.

The first half was a very low scoring half in which saw limited field goals and extensive turnovers and free throw shooting. Central Lake led at the first quarter 11-8 and held that three point lead going into intermission 27-24.

The second half turned out to be a different story. Ellsworth caught up almost immediately and never were headed again. The Lancers score 54 points in the second half, 37 of them being scored by Hud Drenth and Joel Donaldson. The Lancers pulled to a 49-41 third quarter lead and then just coasted to an easy 78-63 win.

Hud Drenth scored 36 big points for Ellsworth. Joel Donaldson put in 19 more. Fella Bothwell scored 20 points to lead Central Lake and previously injured Larry Eckhardt scored 16 points.

The Lancers close out regular season play playing a good Alanson team Tuesday, the 24th and then the big preview of tournament action the game against Bellaire in Bellaire, Friday, February 28.

Lancer Lines

Hud Drenth, by putting in 36, raised his season average to 25 points a game....The Lancers in 15 total games have scored 937 points and they have given up a total of 971 points. This comes out to an average offensive output of 62.5 points per game while allowing their adversaries about 65 points a game despite the difference of 2½ points a game the Lancers have a 9-6 record. With March madness almost upon us, Ellsworth is looking forward to playing Districts at Central Lake this year. Bellaire is the favored team in the tourney, despite Ellsworth beating them once Ellsworth and Boyne Falls will also be coming in with good records, with East Jordan, Central Lake, Mancelona, and Alba able to beat anyone on their night..The Lancers have made 217 of 358 foul shots this year; having an average of 61 percent from the charity line....Ellsworth has won 7 of 9 contests of their home floor this year while only winning 2 of 6 while playing on foreign courts......The Lancers first technical foul was called on them Tuesday night....The little Lancers lost to the Central Lake Trojans Tuesday night playing without leading scorers Gray Strange, Record now 4-11.

Lancers lose to McBain

Ellsworth dropped its first game in two weeks Friday, being clobbered by McBain 99-64.

McBain put the game out of reach early, racing to a 31-14 lead at the end of the first quarter. They followed up with a halftime lead of 53-24.

A pressing defense, added to a hot hand from the floor (75 percent) and a home court advantage helped McBain see its record move to 14-1.

Denny "Hud" Drenth led Lancer scorers with 27 points.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER

The Board of Directors of this Chamber met Tuesday evening, February 17, the second meeting of the month. Incidentally, the regular Board Meeting, starting February 3, are every other Tuesday. Vice-President Charles Themm, presided because of necessary absence of President Bruce Bartlett. The meeting was called to order at 7:45 P.M. and answering roll call were Messrs: Ken DePew, Dave Juilleret, Lyle Miles, George Richardson, and Charles Themm. Necessary excusable absences were Gordon Neff and Bruce Bartlett. Ralph Hess appeared about 20 minutes late. The minutes of the February 3 meeting were approved as is.

Secretary's report was called for: accordingly, he presented a sample of lettering for banners across the highway RE: Water Front Fair. Directors were inclined to think this type of banner would be too expensive and possibly something could be worked out with the high school shop class to assist in something more durable and at a lower cost. Loder stated the first batch of invoices for Membership Contributions had been sent out accompanied by a sort of bulletin having to do with changes, etc., which the Board members indicated they were quite satisfied with. Loder read a letter from a private citizen having to do with Ideas to step up the Venetian Festival attraction, and also showed an offer from a sizable drum and bugle corp from Illinois, and also another entertaining show group. These will be discussed later. Loder also indicated that at the Membership and Financial Committee meeting, February 9, which was strictly voluntary, only three of the Directors showed up. Loder also pointed out the check book balance was slightly over $500.

Presiding Mr. Charles Themm called for reports from the committees. Accordingly, George Richardson responded further on Ideas and plans left over from February 3 meeting. He indicated one or more Board members should appear before the City Council asking for date for the proposed Fly-In Breakfast, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, thought best to be held in September. For this purpose, Mr. DePew motioned that Bruce Bartlett and George Richardson contact the City Council. It was seconded by Lyle Miles and all voted In favor--motion carried. Richardson reported the results of his contacts for a novelty Item to be sold at the time of tte Michigan Amateur Golfers' Tournament and recommended golf caps manufactured by Wilson's Sporting Goods Company and that a deal could be arranged easily with Bob Wallace to purchase for the account of the Chamber, etc. This idea is for the purpose of raising a little money. As most everyone knows, the Chamber is expected to come up with $1000 in support of this event. Miles motioned that we authorize Bob Wallace to make said purchase, Mr. Themm seconded the motion. All voted "yes" and the motion carried. Richardson indicated since the last meeting he did contact Mr. James Miller of Reed City who has a very interesting display of organs and a caliope and such equipment and it appears quite possible these antiques displays could become a reality to be here for the Venetian Festival. Richardson also had received from the Junior Achievement Organization's area headquarters at Cleveland a package of advance booklets, etc. for us to investigate. Miles motioned for Richardson to follow through with this. It was seconded by Mr. Juilleret. All voted in favor and the motion was carried.

We had three visitors, each of whom had something to relate to the Chamber and they were Hugh Reiker of the Loft Heritage Shop at the Oleson's Shopping Center, Bill Pioch of Pioch Gentlemen's Apparel Shop and John Cross Jr. of Cross Fisheries and owner-operator of Timber Inn Motel. Reiker spoke of his development of a city map and county map with advertisements sort of a brochure type of what is felt to be a worthwhile piece. Mr. Pioch expressed not new but ideas of increasing membership and automatic funds. This likely will result in furthering the plan of the Directors to authorize a committee for making personal contacts in addition to those made by any of the Directors and this office. There will be a pattern developed first and an approval by the Directors of Pioch and his committee before any contacts are made by this committee. At this time there was also again reference to open meetings sponsored by the Chamber for the benefit of our community as a whole. DePew motioned that a message pamphlet or sort of a kit be made available for this committee, incorporating to some degree the workings and obligation of the Chamber, and outline as much of the 1970 program decided upon thus far, and also indicate the Chamber would not be responsible for any verbal commitments, etc. This was seconded by Mr. Hess. All voted "yes" and the motion carried.

In an effort to further create better relationship which was acknowledged to be well on the way from an improvement standpoint, to have Chamber of Commerce sponsored public relation meetings. Along this line Loder indicated that a Chamber of Commerce well over east of here quite a distance away has a real early morning meeting so as to include as many persons as possible, especially the business people, before they get their day under way. At Bay City they call them "eye-opener meetings", and they have a Dutch treat for breakfast at 7:30. Much information is exchanged and more often than not some of those that have been more or less in the dark see the light. Richardson motioned the first such meeting to be at the Weathervane Inn at 7:45 A.M., Tuesday, March 17, 1970 at which coffee and rolls will be served. This was seconded by Mr. Themm and all voted "yes" so the motion carried.

There was a bit more discussion at random and being no old or new business to be concluded, Mr. Miles motioned to adjourn the meeting. This was seconded by Mr. Themm and the meeting was adjourned at 9:26 P.M.

Voluntary co-operation is people acting collectively for greater strength rather than individually; that is part of the basis and an extremely important part, of this or any other Chamber of Commerce. A Chamber of Commerce is people—people who make up the working committees, who chair these committees, who serve as directors on its policy-setting board. The business and professional people who serve on committees provide ideas, energy, knowledge and a type of action to get jobs done; often where no other organization is able or willing to do the job. It would be wonderful to have an avalanche of volunteers to make their commitment to serve on those committees in which they are interested. Say what you may, but the success of all Chamber programs depends upon member participation. Through the committee structure members activity and effectiveness, while the voluntary efforts of an individual might be ineffective. We all here at the Chamber hope and will strive for a fuller and better 1970.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE: SBA funds for strip joints? The Small Business Administration establishes loans for the business man who can't get them through the normal channels. The loans are geared for minority enterprises and organizations where the managerial capacity is limited. The Denver Regional office of SBA recently approved a $41,000 loan for "The Body Shoppe." Well, what's wrong with an auto repair operation? Nothing. However, this "Body Shoppe" deals with striptease artists and topless waitresses. Perhaps the SBA felt it is an oasis in the west for the poor taxpayer? This was taken from the C of C of the U.S., Washington Report, February 9.

I am going to make you acquainted with new members as they come along, beginning with today: Charlevoix Chemical Company, operated by George A. Nipson. I have five more commitments and as soon as they put in on the line, I will let your know.

Cribbage results

With six tables at play, after seven nights of cribbage, the Masons lead by 856 points.

High for the IOOF was Vern Jones with 950 points, while the Masons were led by Ron Geer with 934 points.

The Christian School Teachers were ill, so school was dismissed recently for the balance of the week.

Due too much illness in the community, a very small crowd attended the February P.T.A meeting of the Ebenezer Christinn School on a recent Monday evening.

After group singing, Tom Wynsma, Jr., president, led in devotions of Scripture reading and prayer. School children, Glen Rubingh with the tromhone and Jerry Klooster with the trumpet played "He the pearly gates will open" accompanied by Mrs. Martin Rubingh on the piano. Later in the program they accompanied the audience as we sang "God bless our Christian School" to the tune of American. Joy Drenth played "Wonderfull Peace" on the piano. Mrs. William Bump, wife of Rev. Bump pastor of the Central Lake Bible Baptist Church, who is a talented chalk artist then depicted in wonderful color the "Church" on the "Solid Roch Jesus Christ." The P.T.A. voted to give the school board $600 for running expenses. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jake Drenth and Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster were program committee for this meeting. Lunch was served by the Mrs. Wayne Daining, Robert Hill, Ray Miller and Martin Rubingh.

Mrs. Versal Shooks, Mrs. Walter Shooks, Mrs. Max Bolser, Mrs. Tom Wynsma Jr., Mrs. John Drenth, Mrs. Jack McPherson, Mrs. Walter Harty and Mrs. Anne Osterbaan met Monday evening with Mrs. Herbert Diller to plan the Womens World Day of Prayer meeting to be held March 6. The Wesleyan Church will be host for the afternoon.

The Community P.T.A. sponsored a Campus Life assembly program for High school students Friday, Feb. 13. Jim DeRaddo of the Youth for Christ group spoke on the subject of "respect."

The Girl Scouts enjoyed a sliding party on January 30. It was held at the Nels Nelson's farm. After sliding a few hours they were treated to hot chocolate and sloppy joes. Afterwards, they made taffy and had a taffy pull. Before going home, they washed the dishes.

Community School students were offered skiing lessons for the first time this winter at Schuss Mountain on Monday afternoon for 5 weeks. Levi Donaldson drove the bus and three teachers, Mrs. Tsyendy, Mr. Oosterman and Mr. Vescolani accompanied the students. Those participating were Fritz Alward, Darla Best, Diane Best, Dave Christianson, Evelyn Cooper, Noreen DeGroat, Francine Drenth, Shirley Jo Drenth, Shellia Farrell, Bonnie and Darlene Groesser, Dave Heeres, Helen Hoeksema, Shayn Kafley, Keith Kenny, Debra LaWay, Paul Lindenmler, Cynthia Mathews, Charles and Kathy Maskaluk, Sinnika Nleml, Diane and Sheryl Penfold, Dave Shooks, Janeele Smalley, Laurel Tornga, Janet Vanden Berg, Eilleen Wallick, Mike Wallick and Patty Wallick.

The Christian Reformed Young People are planning a campaign for support of the Young Calvinist Federation magazine and collect funds for servicemen's literature.

E/5 Terry Salee and his wife from Norwich, Conn., are visiting their parents and friends here for a couple weeks.

Easter Seal drive soon

The annual campaign for the Easter Seal Society will soon be underway as Charlevoix County Easter Seal Society is now in the process of getting the letters in circulation.

Much of the money received is used in Charlevoix County for such things as the trip to the Shrine Circus for the handicapped children, a hydro-therapy unit, as well as monetary donations to the County Medical Care Facility at Grandvue, and many other projects.

Also under consideration is a cooperative plan of issuing Ruebella vaccine for pre-schoolers in the county.

Any and all contributions are appreciated by the Charlevoix County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, as well as those in the county who benefit from these contributions.

Ellsworth man honored

An Ellsworth man has qualified for the Executive's Club of 1969 from Lutheran Brotherhood, a Minneapolis-based fraternal insurance society.

Bernard Best, Route 1, qualified for the Executive's Club on the basis of his individual production of new business last year. Best is a member of the agency headed by Lee C. Carlson, FIC, (Fraternal Insurance Counselor), 1002 Sunset Lane, Cadillac.

The announcement was made by A. Herbert Nelson who also announced that the society in 1969 issued $507 million in paid-for life insurance and $768,011 in annualized health insurance premiums.

The society, through its Fraternal Activities department, made available more than $1.2 million to various cultural, educational and religious organizations in 1969.

Service program launched by Bell

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced last week it has launched a new service program committed to aiding customers who are dissatisfied with the handling of their telephone problems.

Warren B. Alexander, general manager of the company's northern area, said that a service action team has been set up to help when customers feel they are getting only "polite attention" or when normal operating routines have failed to satisfy their requests.

"Our customers expect and deserve excellent service and that is what we're providing for the vast majority of them," Alexander said. "But occasionally we boot one. When we do, we want our customers to complain about it – to us. It doesn't make sense to have our customers feel they need to go to consumer bureaus, agencies or elsewhere to have their service requests fulfilled. For these groups, in turn, have to work back to us.

"We have become increasingly aware of the growing degree of customer expectation and of the accompanying frustration when things don't go right. This all leads to a feeling on the part of customers that we don't care and I want them to know we do care and that is why we have set up this service action team."

Alexander said the new team would concentrate on such problems as delays in installation of service, missed appointments, recurring out-of-service conditions and similar cases. However, the special team will not limit itself to these alone but will tackle all sorts of service problems.

Alexander pointed out that there cannot be an instant solution to every complex problem. But he emphasized that the service action team is designed to bring a new dimension to telephone service by providing a "second effort" to assure customer satisfaction.

Michigan Bell employees are trained to be sensitive to customer service needs, but members of the new team will go a step further, Alexander explained. "In effect," he said, "they will be customer advocates – 'ombudsmen' – representing the customers' interests."

Alexander said the customer service action team idea is gradually being extended throughout the entire area served by Michigan Bell. The makeup, size and work experience of the backup team will vary and will depend on each telephone district's problems. Each district will structure its own team to meet its own needs, he said.

"Kenneth T. Harrold, our manager for Charlevoix, will play a key role in implementing this new customer program locally," Alexander noted.

Harrold explained that the new team will function as a backup group.

The service representative will be able, as she is now, to handle most cases when customers call the business office to discuss telephone problems, Harrold pointed out. But in situations where she finds the customer's needs either cannot be met or are not being met through regular channels, she will turn the problem over to the service action team.

"We are a consumer-oriented business," Harrold said. "Our reason for existing is to provide service. We want our customers to know that we are deeply concerned about their needs and the company is establishing this service action team of experienced telephone employees to re-emphasize our concern."

Colwell-Wangeman get Fed. grant

Officers of Colwell-Wangeman Construction, Inc., announced late last week their firm has received notice from the Federal Housing Administration that the firm had been allocated funds to build 32 low price homes in Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

"This is a major breakthrough in today's tight money market and high interest rates," Colwell said. "We can now offer up to a $21,000 package with as little as $200 down payment, including closing costs, at an annual interest rate of as low as one percent."

Wangeman stated that months of planning had been spent on their "quality economy series," homes which are specially designed to fit the standards fixed by FHA for approval of this program. He stated further that "We now have a model to fit any family requirements-two, three or four bedroom ranch, a two story or split level, all of which are conventionally built and employing local tradesmen.

Currently, mortgage limitations are $18,000 for a three bedroom and $21,000 for a four bedroom home including lot, sewer and water.

Colwell explained that the allocation for 32 economy homes was made under the federal governments' H.U.D. or housing and urban development interest subsidy program and cited an example of a test case where a family with three children and a gross income of $6,500 per year purchasing a home for $18,000. The down payment would be $200 including closing costs and the monthly payment $86.60 including taxes and Insurance. The government subsidy is gauged by the income and size of the family with lower income families receiving more benefits.

Another section of the program for higher income families calls for a three percent down payment. For example, a family with four children could have an income of as high as $11,500 and still receive a subsidy of $43.98 per month on a $21,000 mortgage. Outside of cities, lots must be one acre or less in size.

Sales of homes in Emmet and Charlevoix Counties will be handled by Colwell & Co. Realtors offices in Petoskey, Walloon Lake, Boyne City, East Jordan, and Charlevoix. Applications may be submitted at any office.

ERBER AUTO COMPANY, INC.
104 Clinton St. Charlevoix, Michigan

Mrs. Willard Wilcox of Cadillac, president of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council, introduced newly appointed members of the board of directors at their meeting recently. Eric Mulvang, president of the Cadillac State Bank; Mrs. C.R. Olson, Traverse City Zontian and retired vice-president of National Bank and Trust Co.; Rodger Bennett, city manager of Scottville; and David Fowler, Charlevoix, manager of the Medicine Chest of Petoskey.

New board members

The Board of Directors of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council met Tuesday, February 10, at the council office meeting room.

New board members, appointed by the president, were introduced.

Cookie Sale plans for 1970 were reviewed, and the council's 1970 operating budget was finalized. Ten Community Chests in the eleven county council, support council services; with a supplement of $17,590 from the cookie sale approved to maintain services and camps.

Improved personnel policies were reviewed for the staff of four professional, two clerical, and 22 camp employees.

Dick Becker, land planner for the Northwestern Michigan Economic Development Commission presented a progress report on planning for future needs at Camp Sakakawea, using projected population and membership figures, and land use charts.

The board met in the newly refurbished office of the council, in the meeting room. The bequest from the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johnston of Traverse City, was designated for this project. A Zonta club committee was advisor on decor. Volunteer gifts of time, labor, and materials from Ormand Danford, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schmidt, and Hugh Warner were added. Les Shaffer, camp ranger, also provided labor.

The Finance committee reported on support from the ten United Community chests in Charlevoix, Boyne City, East Jordan; Emmet, Grand Traverse, Wexford, Missaukee, Benzie, Manistee, and Mason Counties.

Camp Committee reports on immediate camp needs were made, as well as reports on gifts of a truck from Peninsula Asphalt; from Woodland Roofing Co. and the National Bank and Trust Co. for roofing a leaky camp building; and 1970 camp folder covers printed by Miss Gwen Frostic of Benzonia. A snow-shoveling work bee to clear the lodge roof at camp was carried out by Dave and Jim Warner, Terry Williams, John Noye, and Duane Fryzelka.

The annual membership report on the council pointed up increased field services to girls in 1969, with 5,436 girls served, or one girl in 4 between the ages of 7 and 17 in eleven counties.

Adult education events schedule for the first six months of 1970 was presented, with 22 different events scheduled for the 1,068 adult volunteers presently registered. These include workshops for service teams, patrol leaders, troop campers, association meetings, and camp staffs.

Women's World

Secrets to be bared

The sentimental secrets of Victorian lovers will be disclosed at the March 2, meeting of the Charlevoix Woman's Club which will be held at the First State Bank of Charlevoix at 1:30 p.m. when Mrs. Lucile F. Reals will speak on a subject that she knows well, antiques, how to collect and enjoy them.

Victorian lovers exchanged beautiful pieces of jewelry made of intricately woven hair from their own heads or beards. This hair jewelry looked like it had been woven of wires, metal or leather but was actually a sentimental token woven by the lovers themselves.

It is said that even those people who don't think that they like antiques have been fascinated by the program which Mrs. Reals presents for through slides she leads her audience through antique shops, shows and expositions.

At the Woman's Club meeting Lucile Reals will show brilliant color slides of antique-buttons, furniture, silver, glassware, jewelry, pewter, textiles and toys.

She will tell her audience what it would be smart to start collecting now, and just how to go about doing it. Who knows, perhaps she will make antique collectors out of the entire group.

The Antiques Group of the Woman's Club which is sponsoring the program is planning an exhibit of antiques and books about antiques. They are asking anyone who owns an interesting antique or heirloom to please loan it for exhibit at this meeting by calling Mrs. Ed. Shanahan 547-2115.

The Book Review Group of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet today, Monday, February 23, at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Arba Cameron, 105 Petoskey Avenue. Mrs. Charles Duerr will review "The Peter Principle" by Dr. Laurence J. Peter and Raymond Hull. With a delightful dead-pan humor, these authors present the scientific reasons why the human race is foundering in a morass of occupational and administrative inefficiency.

On Wednesday, February 25, the Antiques Group of the Woman's Club is sponsoring a tour of antique shops in the area, including The Northern Peddler and Jordan's Store in Petoskey, the Junk Shop in Conway, The Potpourri Antique Shop in Oden and Adams Antiques in Brutus. The group will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Duerr, 209 Dixon Avenue and will have lunch at Bay View Inn at 12:30. All members of the Woman's Club and their guests are welcome to go on the tour, but must call Mrs. Duerr or Mrs. James Driggett to make reservations for lunch, and for transportation if needed.

Obituaries

Mrs. Supp

Funeral services were held Tuesday, February 3 in Cadillac for Mrs. Nell M. Supp, widow of Floyd A. Supp, former Probate Judge in Charlevoix.

The former Nell M. Hammer was born in Sweden and came to Cadillac as a child. She attended schools in the Cadillac area and also attended Ferris Institute at Big Rapids.

On May 22, 1920, she married Floyd Supp, who died in 1958. They lived in the Detroit area before moving to Charlevoix.

Surviving are one brother, H.C. Hammer of Detroit, and a sister, Miss Gurely M. Hammer of Cadillac.

W. Lewis

Funeral services for Wilbur Lewis, 70, who died shortly after he was admitted to the Charlevoix hospital Tuesday evening, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Lewis was reared in Hayes township and after World War I was a bus driver for the city of Lansing until his retirement when he returned to northern Michigan. For the past year he has resided in East Jordan.

NOTICE

The Township Board of Marion Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan on Feb. 17, 1970 passed a resolution declaring its intent to proceed under the provisions of the Township Rural Zoning Act, Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943 as amended.

The purpose of this resolution is to enable the township to initiate the necessary steps to enact a new zoning ordinance.

HUGH MAYNE, Clerk
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX

'Corruption' is denied by city

there was no cause for action against attorney John R. Michael.

"The Voglers and their neighbors had lost the battle with the State Bar Association.

"But, remember, it was a lawyer who recommended they file the charge. Incredibly, this same attorney, Nathaniel Stroup, later refused to represent the group in a hearing on Michael when his own recommendation was acted upon by his profession.

"In fact, it was Stroup who drafted the original letter of complaint for the Vogler group.

"The Voglers and their friends are to be commended for the gallant effort, even though they lost the battle.

"There is a separate, but closely related, civil case pending in the Charlevoix Circuit court. The Voglers and their neighbors are challenging the 1967 activities of the Charlevoix City Council with reference to the "Hampton Associates" and "Hampton Subdivision".

"Traverse City attorneys Clancy and Brooke are representing the plaintiffs. If this matter does come to trial it may be a highly significant case for all of the state to watch."

The article concluded with the note that there would be more coming in the next issue.

DENIAL MADE

Michael, against whom the majority of allegations were made, completely denied the charges made in "Today"

He told the Courier, "The completely unfounded and unsupported charges and allegations so frequently expressed by Mrs. Vogler over the past three years against both myself personally and the City of Charlevoix regarding the Hampton Village Special Assessment District have remained largely unanswered intentionally by both myself and the City, such charges having absolutely no basis in fact at law whatsoever. Mrs. Vogler's admission before a meeting of the Common Council that she wished a paved street and water and electric service to her new home but did not wish to share in the cost of same speaks for itself.

"Following Mrs. Vogler's allegations of conflict of interest against myself, I requested an investigation by the Office of the Attorney General of the State of Michigan, with myself, Mr. James Richey, and Mayor William Fochtman submitting affidavits under oath. On October 21, 1968, Attorney General Frank Kelley rendered a four-page opinion which concluded "it is clear that John R. Michael neither is nor has been in any conflict of interest with respect to the inclusion of Hampton Village in a special assessment district as set forth in said affidavits, nor otherwise in connection with the relationship between Mr. Richey and Mr. Michael, as related to the relationship between Mr. Michael as City Attorney and the City of Charlevoix."

"Not wishing to accept the opinion of the Attorney General of the State of Michigan, Mrs. Vogler thereafter filed a formal complaint with the State Bar of Michigan, whereupon two hearings were held and testimony taken from five of Mrs. Vogler's witnesses. After considerable detailed Investigation, the State Bar of Michigan by the Chairman of its 11th Congressional District Grievance Committee filed a four-page report concluding; It is the opinion of this chairman, after lengthy investigation and hearing the testimony of the witnesses, that there has been no breach of any of the canons of professional ethics of the State Bar of Michigan as prescribed by the Supreme Court of this state, and it is recommended by this committee that no further action be taken."

Michael also added the following:

The subversive "Chicago Seven" philosophy and tactics now appear to have spread to this state and extend even to northern Michigan. Just as the "Chicago Seven," with their radical, revoluntionary organizations, try to tear apart the fabric of our society by attempting to discredit and destroy our legal and judicial systems, so does the so-called "Today" magazine, and those persons affiliated with it, attempt to persuade our people to lose faith in our system of government. This subversion of our institutions is done on a profit-making, contribution-seeking basis by poorly written, amateurishly printed, innuendo-making "expose" publication under the guise of "freedom of the press."

It is hoped that at least in northern Michigan our judges, public officials and institutions are not subjected to the same treatment prevailing in the strife-ridden urban areas and as advocated by malcontented radicals. It is believed that our people here have too much of a sense of responsibility and citizenship to be taken in by such "rot."

OTHERS TALK

Other comments include the denial of certain allegations in the story by attorney Stroup.

Stroup told the Courier that certain portions of the article which concerned him were true. "Mrs. Vogler did indeed come to me and said she thought she was being treated unfairly by the creation of the assessment district. She told me she thought John Michael was using his office (as city attorney) for personal gain. After conferring with my partner, I recommended that if she felt she was being treated unjustly, she should contact Mr. Senter (Richard H. Senter, grievance administrator of the State Bar of Michigan) and file a complaint against Mr. Michael."

Stroup was aksed by editor Martin if he had recommended to Mrs. Vogler that a letter of protest be filed. He answered firmly in the negative, stating that his sole action was to give Mrs. Vogler the name and address of Senter.

He was also asked if he drafted the original letter of complaint for the Vogler group as claimed in the "Today" article. "This has no basis in fact. I did not draft the letter," Stroup said.

The "Today" statement that Stroup or his law firm would not represent the Vogler group at a hearing before the grievance committee is only partially true according to Stroup.

"Mrs. Vogler asked me to represent her at the hearing, and I told her that there was absolutely no necessity for legal representation at the hearing. She could certainly tell her own story.

"Today" magazine's February Issue claims on its cover that Charlevoix County is corrupt.

she did not write the story that appeared in the February issue of the magazine. She said her files concerning the matter were turned over to "Today" publisher James Turner and the story was probably written by Turner of editor James W. Davidson.

She termed the article factual..."a good job."

She again said that attorney Stroup did draft the first letter of complaint against Michael, and said that files at "Today" contain a copy of that letter.

She also said that publisher Turner will be in northern Michigan this Thursday and Friday for several speaking engagements in Petoskey (tentatively set for Thursday), and Cheboygan (proposed for Friday).

Mrs. Vogler said she has investigated all methods of clearing up this problem, and that the people in the community are the only means of straightening it out.

BAR PREXY

Robert Hoffman, Charlevoix attorney who is president of the Charlevoix-Emmet Bar Association, said that the association will undoubtedly discuss the "Today" allegations at their next meeting and decide what, if anything, should be done.

The next episode in the saga of alleged corruption of Charlevoix County officials will apparently have to wait for the March issue of "Today".

Air report

The airline did note several needs it would expect the city to fulfill. They include:

1., Installation of a weather station at the airport at a cost of between $1,000 and $1,500.

2., Send someone to school for one week to learn how to operate and mointain the station.

3., Offer T-MA free use of landing strips (no landing fees) until such time as the airline can show o profit from service to Charlevoix.

4., Be prepared to spend additionol monies, in the $20,000 range, to install additional instrument landing equipment at some future date.

It was learned that the airline could not begin to service the Charlevoix area with flights at least until May.

In other business, Chamber of Commerce representative Dave Juilleret asked Council if it could pay for the rejuvenation of the city float which appears in parades in Michigan.

Council noted it would consider the request if assurances could be granted thot the float would be used more than it was last summer, when it appeared in precious few parades outside the city.

Gordon Freedmon of Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation asked the city fathers if he could purchase a piece of airport property.

He stated that he wants the property for expansion. Council rendered no decision at the meeting, pending further study.

Council also:

–Heard a request by the Ministerial Association asking permission to hold an outdoor service in East Park during the Venetian Festival. The association also asked permission to erect a permanent bulletin board near the Chamber of Commerce office listing churches and times of services.

–Reviewed the police report for 1969.

–Voted to participate in Mayors'' Exchange Day May 18.

--Named Hanna street administrator under Public Act 51.

–Decided more information is needed on a request by Rev Milligan, Charlevoix School superintendent, to levy school taxes in the summertime.

–Transferred $95,000 from the electric fund to the general fund. The budget anticipated a transfer of only $71,435, but additional expenses (the May street sewer, voting machines and purchase of the former Coast Guard property on Pine River Channel) necessitated an increase.

–Approved Mayor William Fochtman's appointment of Councilmen Jack Mol, Robert Gill and Nathan Boss as a committee to study rezoning proposals made by the Planning Commission.

FOL annual meeting to feature film

An outstanding colored film, "The Louvre" narrated by Charles Boyer and produced for N B C will be shown on Wednesday evening at the main library on Clinton Street. The 45 minute film will be shown publicly for the first time in the area preceding the annual meeting of the Friends of the Library and everyone is welcome to attend.

The film, distributed by the Encyclopedia Britannica, is not only a lively history of the Louvre but of Paris as well, for the fate of the two are closely intertwined. The film will be shown before the meeting at 8:15 p.m. so that art, history and French students may have the opportunity to see this remarkable film.

Members of the F.O.L. and guests will then hear a brief report of the numerous popular activities that have taken place during the year, which include an exhibit of the History of Michigan In Painting sponsored by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company during the Waterfront Art Fair in August of '68; a delightful children's program in December by Poet Laureate of the North, Max Ellison; a fascinating slide talk by Mrs. William Eisendrath in November of '69 about the Galapagos Islands.

Rev. Hewitt V. Johnston, President of the F.O.L., says that plans are well underway for a photography contest which will be open to all residents of the area. Details will be announced at the meeting.

Friends of the Library have also provided the library with a much-needed Memorial Book, in which is kept an accurate and permanent record of all the books given as memorials. They have also purchased a number of Plastic Record Jackets for a growing record collection.

But in spite of these successful activities, Rev. Johnston is disappointed because he says, "I have been conducting a private survey among adults in Charlevoix and of some 95 people that I've talked to over the past two or three months, only 30 persons said they had ever darkened the door of the Library!"

"This is YOUR library. It's there for you! So come to our meeting on Wednesday. Be a Friend. Bring a Friend. Stay a Friend!"

Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

2 CHS grads get MSU honors

Two graduates of Charlevoix High School have been named on the Michigan State University honor roll for the fall term.

They are Neil S. Cross, a senior, named for the second time, majoring in business administration, and Dana E. Arvilla, a sophomore, studying in the university college.

Those named to the roll were honored at a dinner recently.

Library Notes

The Library would like to recommend several hard-to-put-down books for sheer reading entertainment. They are all the sort of book you will want to recommend and pass on to your friends.

"The Sound of Summer Voices" by Helen Tucker is reminiscent of "To Kill A Mockingbird, the slow-paced, beautiful novel which won so much acclaim for its author. It is the story of a 12-year-old boy who suspects that one of his aunts is really his mother. His search for the truth leads him to listen in secretively to grown-up conversations. Once the reader eavesdrops with him, he will forget that young Patrick is a fictional character and remember him as an unforgettable part of his own life. This book offers easy, light reading and brings most satisfying feeling when the final page is read.

"The Glass Coffin" and other stories is a collection by Maurice Druon, one of the master storytellers of our time. This collection covers a wide range of interests from a vivid tale of the French Revolution to the Monte Carlo Casino of today. The false hopes of youth, the illusions of old age are laid bare and a group of war stories shows the author's real understanding of the thoughts and emotions of men at war.

"The Taste of Proof" by Bill Knox is one of those rare finds--a really well-written mystery stories. Glen Ault Whiskey Company's safe robbery might have come off perfectly if Frank Humbie had been able to resist opening a bottle of the company's products. But he couldn't resist, and the case was nothing but routine until his wife–who had insisted that her husband was home the night of the robbery–is murdered. The reader can take it from there, but it's good, fun entertainment from start to finish.

"Lisa Kennerley's Husband" is a new novel by Elizabeth Corbett who is best remembered for "The Young Mrs. Meigs". The heroine of her new book is an actress turned playwright who has just seen another play off to a successful start on Broadway. She decides to relax by entertaining old friends-and -seeing some shows and in general have some fun. The last thing she needs is a new man in her life and especially a southern gentleman from the old school who is entirely different from the casual, iconoclastic men who made up her theatrical world. This is a good, fast-paced entertaining novel written by an author who knows how to hold the reader's interest.

One of the best books to come out recently is "The Millionaires" by Alex Rackowe. It is a first novel by the author and hopefully there will be many more. The plot concerns two rich, pampered young men ottending Ivy Leogue colleges. Bored with deb parties and the affluent society, the two find a rich and warm friendship which--expect for an unfortunate situation-should have lasted a lifetime. Their quarrel is too bitter for any possible reconciliation. During the stock morket crash, one of the young men becomes totally penniless, ond the reader wonders if his friend will come to his rescue. The Millionaires is one of those exciting finds which, once picked up, cannot be put down until the final page.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If making tracks across a clean carpet to get to a telephone leaves your wife a little less than happy, then perhaps there's nothing so funny about an extension telephone in the garage or workshop.

Extension telephones make sense. They save time by letting you use a telephone wherever you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can put an extension in any funny old place you'd like.

Please, Phil... no Senate try

Reports began circulating recently that of the 26 Republicans deserving consideration as the opponent for Phil Hart's congressional seat, about 20 of them have remained interested to this date.

Personally, we feel that no candidate (including former Governor George Romney, until he notified party officials that he would not run) can defeat Sen. Hart in the fall election.

What bothers us in particular is that one of the Republicans under consideration is Rep. Phil Ruppe. Political manipulations what they are, Ruppe could well end up with the nomination, and it is our opinion that such an eventuality could seriously impair his political future.

Ruppe has proven himself a capable member of the U.S. House of Representatives. He has represented Northern Michigan with integrity and responsibility.

It would be unfortunate to watch him forego give up or neglect his seat in Congress to run against Sen. Hart in a campaign which we feel has no chance of success.

Let's keep Phil Ruppe in Washington as a member of the House of Representatives. Let Lenore Romney or Jack McDonald of Detroit go against Hart. Anyone at all...but not Phil Ruppe.

Hampton Village

Although it seems like ancient history, Hampton Village is back in the news.

As readers will remember, the south-side subdivision generated considerable public controversy and news copy when it first was platted three years ago by James Richey to provide homesites for an expected influx of Medusa Cement Co. personnel.

But the subdivision, located just south of Eaton Street, ran into an unbelievable tangle of legal barbed-wire, particularly after the city council agreed upon a special assessment of $4,261.84 against six Eaton-Street residents whose long lots back up to what is a new Hampton-rd.

The residents have asked for a legal decision on the validity of the assessment from Circuit Judge Charles Brown who has been weighing the merits of the case for two years. The residents claim Hampton-Road does not enhance the value of their property, since they already have access to their homes via Eaton-Street.

In the meantime, Hampton Village has been sold to James Hiller and Richey has moved from Charlevoix. Ironically, the only home on Hampton Road is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogler, who purchased the back half of an Eaton-Street lot owned by Mrs. Vogler's parents.

Mrs. Vogler has been one of the most out-spoken critics of the special assessment for Hampton-Road, particularly the role played by City Attorney John Michael. Michael was Richey's attorney and a partner in Hampton Associates while doing legal work for the city relative to the special assessment. Mrs. Vogler thinks the situation smacks of "conflict of interest."

In fact, it was Mrs. Vogler who dragged Hampton Village back into the news in her role as associate editor of "Today" magazine, published in Howell by judicial muck-raker James Turner.

In an article in the February issue of "Today," Mrs. Vogler recaps the Hampton Village story and is sharply critical not only of Michael, described as a "self-dealing attorney," but of "almost every attorney in the Charlevoix and Petoskey area (who) joined together to protect their brother lawyer."

Out of fairness it should be pointed out that Mrs. Vogler actually did not write either the Charlevoix story, or a companion piece on alleged judicial shenanigans in Cheboygan, both of which were riddled with statements and assumptions not based on fact. Mrs. Vogler says she merely turned her notes over to Publisher Turner who wrote the stories.

Regardless of authorship, the Charlevoix "expose" implies that Michael was whitewashed by both Attorney General Frank Kelley and the State Bar Association when they exonerated him on complaints of conflict-of-interest brought last year by Mrs. Vogler.

The state bar said many small-town attorneys might find themselves in the same predicament when a client becomes involved in dealings with a governing body which they also represent.

Of course, Michael might have dropped Richey as a client or Mayor William Fochtman might have appointed another attorney to handle details of the special assessment, especially since city funds also were to be used for the Hampton Village improvements. But they didn't, and, as the state bar says, this sometimes happens in small towns and the bar doesn't think there is anything particularly wrong with it.

Which doesn't, of course, make it right. We sincerely hope that when Charlevoix ever gets around to writing its own charter that a conflict-of-interest clause is included that would preclude any elected or appointed city official becoming involved in any situation which has even the faintest aroma of self-dealing. The good reputations of our civil servants certainly deserve this much protection.

Unfortunately, "Today" magazine glossed over the most important question in the Hampton Village controversy: Does a municipality have the right to impose a special assessment for improvements against a group of property owners if the owners will derive no benefit from the improvements, in this case Hampton-Road?

As it stands, only the Voglers have benefitted from construction of the road to date. The Robert Cooks, the Daniel Majors, the Lewis Juillerets, the Carl Olsons and the L. McElhoses who own property fronting Eaton Street will not benefit unless they subdivide their lots and sell the back portions as Hampton Road homesites.

According to City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham, none of the Eaton Street property owners has paid the special assessment, which was levied last summer, although the developer had made a down payment on his share of the assessment, $7,162.90.

And there the situation stands until Judge Brown reaches a decision.

James Turner and "Today" magazine made a name for themselves two years ago by exposing corruption in Livingston County courts and they are to be congratulated for their courageous work.

But Turner's amateurish handling of the Hampton Village situation, along with his slap-dash efforts to besmear the characters of Cheboygan County Probate Judge Nicholas Hile and District Judge Philip S. Tschirhart, have done nothing to enhance his reputation as a muck-raker in these parts. Turner lands on Hile for jailing three county supervisors for failure to approve a bill and on Tschirhart for issuing a contempt of court citation against the local newspaper.

Turner simply has to come up with something better than that before we'll buy his allegations that the legal-judicial system is Michigan" is so rotten it stinks to high heaven" or that "the majority of our lawyers and judges cannot be trusted." (B.C.)

Editorial 'congrats'

Sir:

Congratulations to the COURIER for the stimulating and well written editorials of February 16, 1970.

As the writer said, society is far too complex to explain away our problems with simplistic arguments of a communist conspiracy. Such reasoning will only serve to increase our problems. Until we recognize our own responsibility for hunger, discrimination, urban unrest, rural poverty, pollution, student discontent and so on, these problems will multiply. Blaming communists is not only lazy but dangerous.

Pollution, like motherhood, certainly is not a communist plot. All the major communist's cities suffer from both.

Pollution is among the problems of Charlevoix about which we can do something. Our regret, also, is the slowness of our parents' generation to face the problem. Concerned individuals can let President Nixon know we hope the State of the Union promises won't just add to thermal pollution. We need Federal action for uniform regulations and compliance. Such Federal action would not be a communist conspiracy.

Thanks to the COURIER's latest editorials, we look forward to more provocative reading next week.

Sincerely,

Tom and Sara Gay Dammann

(Ed. note: The editorial on pollution was written by Bob Clock. He will continue to write editorials on timely topics for the Courier, as we attempt to bring our readers diversified views from the community. Clock, of course, is a former editor of the Courier, who now persues his journalistic duties with the Petoskey News Review.)

Editorial declaration

"Whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, leaving its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

"But when a long train of abuses and usurpations pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security."

Words by a wild-eyed radical aimed at over-throwing the government?

Right again!

They were written by a gentleman named Thomas Jefferson in a document we call the "Declaration of Independence." It makes good reading in February---the Month of Presidents---or in any month of any year.

The New Richmond (Wis.) News says that a lot of men admit that they can't run their own homes, but every one of them has firm notions about how to run the country.

Responsibility needed

By BERNICE WEXSTAFF

Many communities across the land are moving to increase parental responsibility for juvenile crimes. The latest in Michigan to join the movement is Madison Heights of Metropolitan Detroit.

The Madison Heights City Council approved an ordinance which would send a parent to jail for 90 days or cost him a $500 fine, if his child is found guilty of TWO criminal acts.

The Council appeared to agree that the American home must take more responsibility for the actions of minors within the home if the Country is to survive under law and order rather than the chaos that presently threatens to overwhelm the land.

There was a day when parents kept track of their children and exerted some control over their whereabouts and manners and unless we can return to the sanity of that day we are doomed.

It is thought that parents should check on present day identification cards to insure the safety of business people who are frequently the victims of falsified identification by teenagers.

Should this approach not be followed with a stern warning that false identification is not only going to lead to a problem for the young person, but might well cause undue hardship on both the home and the business establishment he visited -- and perhaps place a blemish on his future record?

Madison Heights seems to have made a bold move in the right direction. We need a return to not more law and order---but strict law and order, and it can start right in the home.

Besides parents paying the tab for Junior and letting it go at that---henceforth in Madison Heights, at least, Mom and Dad may have to do a little reckoning with the law and then get back to Junior like the good old days!

However, there are evidences of a renewed parental responsibilities in other localities. In January it was stated in an Associated Press article that the "pilot sex education" project in Anaheim, California had been junked and the school superintendent who had pushed it had been forced to resign.

It is becoming increasingly encouraging that parents across the country are rising in protest against their abdication of parental responsibility and the authority of the home: The amoral SIECUS removal from the Anaheim school system is perhaps the first hopeful sign in our times that family ties are being improved and greater emphasis on religious teaching and moral indoctrination is the order of the NEW AGE.

Out of the past

2 years ago

The citizens of Ironton began a protest against the location of a sanitary land fill (dump), in Ironton, owned by William Marme.

The Charlevoix School Board endorsed the 1.5 mill tax increase for Vocational Education.

The city was ordered by the state to remove all nutrients from city sewage in a move to halt water pollution.

Medusa Cement Plant was preparing to go back into operation after a temporary shutdown for a maintenance period.

The Rayders of 1968 defeated the Northmen of Petoskey 77 to 57 to post their 13th straight win of the season.

5 years ago

Miss Fran Martin was appointed to handle the local Democratic affairs in Charlevoix.

The voters in Ellsworth consented to a 30 mill tax hike.

The Medusa Cement Co. still had a little time to decide whether they would build their proposed plant on South Point.

The Rayders were still tied with the Gaylord Blue Devils for the lead in the NMCC with identical records of 11 wins and 2 losses.

10 years ago

The Charlevoix City Council postponed the drafting of the initial documents for the annexation to the city of Charlevoix of city-owned property located in Charlevoix Township.

Sixteen persons were selected to take the 1960 census following examination for the job.

Four Amendments to the zoning ordinance of Charlevoix Township were given approval by the voters of the township at a special election.

The 1960 Rayders defeated Mancelona 57 to 41 for their 15th win of the season.

Bud McDonough and Frank Schenodegle attended a Supervisors meeting in Charlevoix last Wednesday, Feb. 11.

Ruppe Reports

When Richard Nixon became President one year ago, the nation wondered if he could effectively work with a Democratically-controlled Congress. We wondered if the President's proposals, badly needed to implement his overall program, could pass through the subcommittees, Committees, and House and Senate floors, which are controlled by the opposing party. It is now tle to evaluate that first year.

On those measures which reached a roll-call vote, our President faired quite well. He won 74 percent of the 19 record votes which presented clear-cut tests of support for his views. He received especially broad-backing for his draft lottery proposal, and his foreign policies.

However; many important measures were buried in Committee by the Majority party Chairmen. Due to their stalling tactics, many of the 1970 appropriations measures did not become law until the fiscal year was almost half over. The Labor-HEW appropriations bill, for example, did not reach the President's desk until is was too late, in my opinion, for major funding adjustment; as a result of the late-date controversy, our schools are still unsure what funds are available to them.

The full Congress has not even had the opportunity to vote on many Presidential programs, because the Committees, controlled by the other party, have not permitted the bills to ever reach the House and Senate floors. Such important measures as the President's crime package, welfare reform, occupational safety, revenue sharing and consumer protection proposals have not reached the floor of either body of Congress. Other proposals, such as airport-airways legislation, have passed only one House.

It is imperative that we get such legislation moving during the current session. I think that our people are well aware of the legislative backlog, and will not tolerate any further procrastination. I am hopeful, therefore, that the House and Senate Majority leadership will be forced into action on many of our President's proposals during this second session of the Ninety-first Congress.

In brief

Bishop visits

Joseph M. Breitenbeck, Bishop of the Diocese of Grand Rapids, surprised most of the members of St. Mary's Church of Charlevoix on Sunday, February 22, when he paid an unexpected visit to them and offered the 10:30 Sunday mass.

Bishop Breitenbeck was installed on December 2, 1969, and this is already his third visit up north as part of a program which he initiated in order to get acquainted not only with the priests and nuns of his diocese but with the laity as well. He stated that he wants to share his joy and his work with the People of the 29 counties under his spiritual jurisdiction.

Girls sell cookies

Beginning this Friday, Girl Scouts will be taking orders for Girl Scout Cookies from their friends and neighbors. The money they earn through this project will provide special program activities in her troop as well as important local council services. When a girl sells Girl Scout Cookies she is participating in an important service that has direct value to her and her troop. She is gaining experience in a responsible activity under adult guidance and supervision. Of course she is also providing excellent public relations – as only she can! There are five troops in Charlevoix with 84 girls enrolled. They will appreciate your orders as the money they earn goes toward their camping trip usually to the Girl Scout Camp near Charlevoix. Delivery dates will be from April 16 through 24.

Petoskey High School's faculty traveled to Charlevoix last Monday night to take on the teachers of Charlevoix High School.

Petoskey's squad came out on top 56-41 at the end of the hard battle. All proceeds from the game will go to the improvement of the CHS athletic field.

Bureau closed

Charlevoix's branch office of the Michigan Secretary of State's office will be closed until further notice due to the death of branch manager William Zeitler.

License plates may be secured at branch offices in Petoskey, Boyne City or Bellaire, according to Frank Syverson, district supervisor of Harbor Springs.

Debaters at CMU

The Charlevoix High School Debate Team traveled to Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant to take part in the Regional Debate Tournament held at he college last weekend.

The home debate squad made a good showing but failed to place in the finals.

Debating for Charlevoix was Jeanne Smith, Chris Carey, Pam Fairbanks, Dave Hess, Lynn Fiedorek and Linda Gill. Their coach, Mrs. Connie Ford, termed the debating season as a very successful one.

Bill Zeitler services held

William R. "Bill" Zeitler, manager of the Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office died Sunday, February 22, at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey, following a brief illness.

Zeitler, 29 years of age, was widely known in the community as an avid supporter of the Charlevoix Red Rayder athletic teams. He attended the great majority of home games until recently.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from St. Mary's Church, with the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

He was born in Petoskey and was a graduate of Grand Rapids Orthopedic High School and attended North Central Michigan College for two years. He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club.

'Today' publisher:

'Your courts don't know the laws'

BY F. FISKE MARTIN
Courier Editor

Dealer in half-truths. . . muckraker in the finest tradition. . . yellow journalist. . . liberating crusader. Depending upon which side of the fence you're on, James C. Turner, publisher of "Today" magazine, is one or more of the above.

Turner, who has been nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in journalism, came to Charlevoix last Thursday and promised to continue to expose alleged corruption in the county.

"Corruption in Charlevoix County is as bad as that in Livingston or Shiawassee counties. In fact, it's worse here, because the judges and lawyers in this area just don't know the law," Turner said during his afternoon news conference.

In the February issue of "Today," which went on sale locally two weeks ago, Turner charged City Attorney John Michael with "conflicts of interest" in the Hampton Village special assessment district.

Turner, a Texas-bred ex-shoe salesman, revealed at his news conference that more incriminating charges will be leveled at Michael in the March issue of the magazine.

However, Michael is not the only local official to feel Turner's wrath.

Circuit Judge Charles Brown, Judge W. Richard Smith and County Clerk Clarence Rabach have come under publisher Turner's fire for allegedly refusing to open the public file of the three-year-old Russell rape case. Turner and his associate editor Jean Vogler of Charlevoix, say they have been told by Russell's grandmother that the defendant in the case, Wayne Richard Russell, did not have counsel during the trial.

"He was sentenced to 12 to 25 years in prison. . . and that's a mighty big sentence for a boy who apparently wasn't represented at his trial," Turner told his news conference audience.

He also stated that he is pressing for a warrant to be issued, charging Rabach with a misdemeanor. A hearing is tentatively scheduled for 3 p.m. this afternoon in the County Building.

"Today" publisher James C. Turner makes a point to audience last Thursday in Charlevoix.

Turner has been crusading for judicial reform for nearly three years. His main target to to this point have been in Livingston and Shiawassee counties.

He put in an appearance on WJML radio's Sound Off program

Consumers Power spends $523,000

Consumers Power Company has announced an investment of $6.6 million during 1970 for improvements fin their Northwest Division.

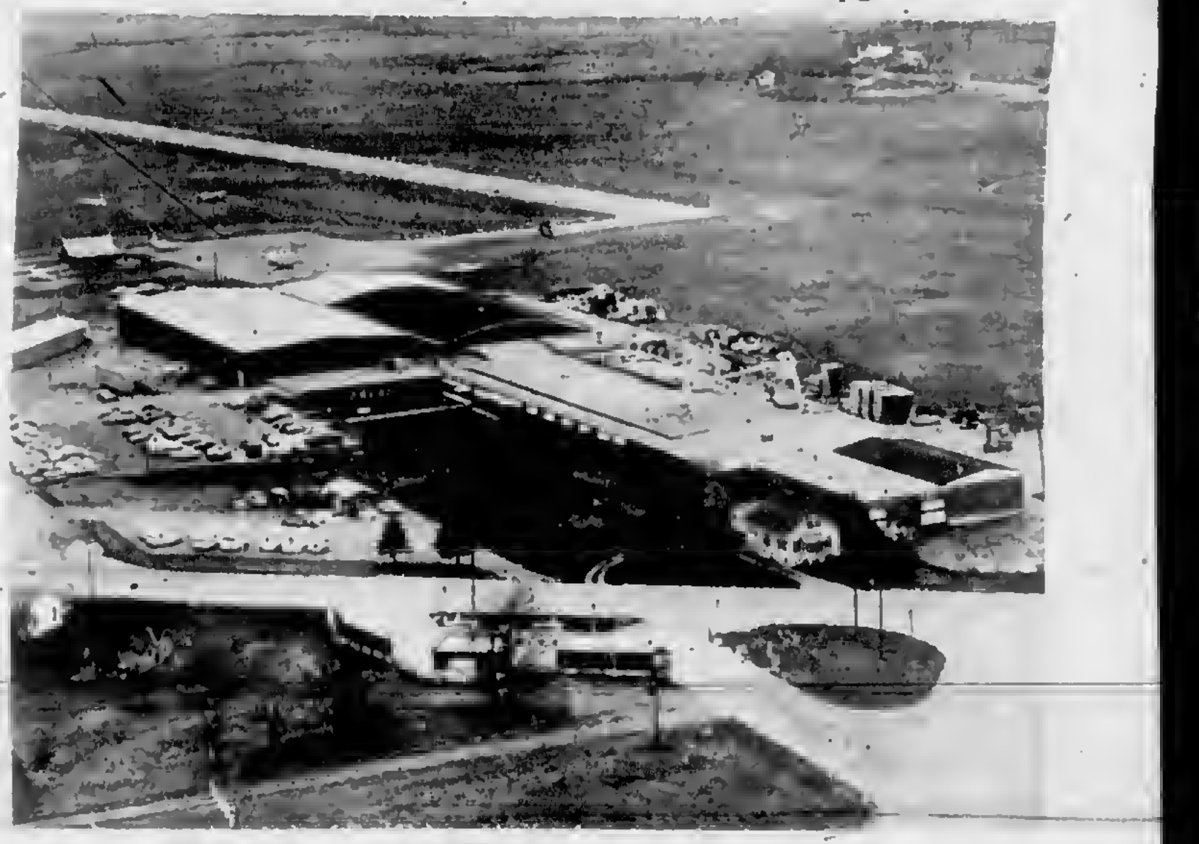
Included inthe total is $523,000 for scheduled modifications at the Big Rock Point nuclear plant in Charlevoix.

According to Charles England of Consumers, the monies will be spent locally for changes in the internal portions of the reactor at the plant.

England said that most of the work being done is the result of technological advances since the plant has been built.

Bechtold Corporation of San Francisco, California, has been named contractor for much of the work.

In addition, England told the Courier that for the first time spent fuel is being shipped off the property.



Freedman Artcraft viewed from above

Economy cools but plant grows

Recent lay-offs at Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation, Charlevoix's largest single employer, has caused some concern locally, but Gordon L. Freedman, president of the company, feels the lay-offs are definitely a short-term matter.

Freedman told the Courier that the economic slow-down, or recession if you wish, won't last long in his opinion. "We were upset to have to lay off some of our employees," Freedman said, "as it penalizes them for being so productive. They have worked hard to meet our order deadlines."

But, the economic climate in the nation forced some of Freedman's customers to slow down their orders in what is probably a "wait and see" attitude.

When the economy loosens up again, said to be just around the corner by many experts, the local manufacturer will again be pressed to the limit to keep up with the demand.

In fact, Freedman is so sure that an order slow down will be of a short duration that he and his staff have been exploring methods of continued expansion.

One site in the area was almost purchased for a warehouse, until it was determined that due to a lack of available water, insurance rates would boost expenses past the feasible level.

Two weeks ago, Freedman Artcraft asked the city to sell it a chunk of city-owned land adjacent to Freedman property at the airport. Here, Freedman hopes to build an addition to the present plant. Another large addition to the Freedman complex has just been completed.

One of Freedman's biggest problems is the lack of available warehouse space. "We are warehousing our products all over

'Ink Spots' here on March 25

Charlevoix's Kiwanis Club will sponsor the appearance of one of the music business' most famous singing groups, the Ink Spots, March 25 at Charlevoix High School.

The local club was able to book the group into Charlevoix when president Don Anders discovered that famous singers were staging a one-night stand March 24 in the Upper Peninsula.

As a money-raising project for Camp Daggett was being sought by the club, Anders contacted the directors and the Ink Spots were booked. All proceeds from the concert will go to the local camp.

In addition to the group, two variety acts will also appear. Tickets will be available from club members, with an advance sale price of $2. At the door the night of the performance, tickets will cost $2.50.

The international famous Ink Spots are known in nearly every small village and large city throughout the United States, Africa, Australia, Japan, Hong Kong and the continent of Europe. The Ink Spots recordings have been sold throughout the world, and they have performed to capacity crowds everywhere.

The group has had many .. hit records and throughout the years. Their theme son, "If I Didn't Care" has sold over 3,000,000 records. Many other name artists have recorded the song in recent years and it has become a hit over and over again. The Ink Spots are also mainly responsible for dozens of other hit songs such as "Maybe", "It's a Sin To Tell A Life," "We Three", "Whispering Grass," "Don't Get Around Much Anymore", "Someone's Rocking My Dreamboat," "I Love You For Sentimental Reasons," "Java Five," "Do I Worry," "I'd Climb The Highest Mountain," named just a few. They have also recorded over 25 record albums throughout the years.

Inside another jam packed Charlevoix High Gym, the Independent Basketball League was able to complete another successful week of action. "Miss Minnesota", the wonder girl of the Golden Horseshoe and Sound Off, made a brief appearance for the National Anthem and the WCTU and got this week's games underway. Before a dazzled crowd, Andy's Tire World, U.S. Coast Guard Sundew & Station went home with impressive victories. The games were accused of being unequal, unjust, and partial by a James Turner, but this was quickly overruled by Hatchet Riebel, the League's legal representative.

In the evening's first battle, it was just too much for the First State Bank, as powerful Andy's Tire World easily rolled over.. the Bankers for their second straight victory. The Bankers were severely hampered when their Rhodes Scholar, Inky Martin, was unable to get in the scoring column, which was attributed to the excellent defensive clip job done by the Harbor Barber. Andy's got out to an 11 to 10 first period lead with Seed Heims' 5 points and Tom "Chopper" LaBlance's 3 fouls.

The second quarter saw Andy's easily increase their lead with smooth and evasive moves to an 18-16 half time score. The Harbor Barber, playing under an assumed name of Suck Balch, pushed through 4 points for Andy's, and Complaining Bren LaBlance had 3 for the Bankers.

After a brief half time show, with Don Rickles commenting on the legal system in Northern Michigan, Andy's easily increased their lead one aggian over the Bankers, ending the third period with the score 29 to 26. Once again Andy's All League candidate Sam Supernaw lead his team with 3 points, while RBren La lance slopped in 4 for the Bankers. With a commanding lead going into the fourth quarter, Andy's coasted to their second straight victory 37 to 35. Even scoring paced Andy's with Ken Balch and Andy Carey both having 7, and Connie Klooster led the Bankers with 10.

Even by loading their team with such notable former basketball greats as Del Terrill and Doug Winnell, Lexalite was unable to come up with their first victory of the year and fell to defeat to the U.S. Coast Guard Sundew. The Sundew took a first period led of 17 to 4 behind Steve Kushman's 6 points. They easily increased their lead to 30 to 9 at half time, paced by jittering John Masuga's 6 points. Doug Winnell had 5 half time points for the Liters. The Liters were playing under extreme pressure with presence of their West Coast farm club director, Tantilizing Tom Acton, in the capacity crowd.

The half time show featured the Sundew drill team giving an exhibition of guerrilla warfare used in their battle at Hog Island last summer. When the smoke cleared, the Liters used some of the Swabbies' tactics to cut their lead and ended the third period 41 to 23. Winnell put in 3 buckets for 6 points for the Liters, while even scoring paced the Sundew.

The fourth period was briefly interrupted when Jim Kluge wanted to lead the Sundew Cheerleaders in a cheer for himself. He then went out and put in 4 baskets to put his team back on the victory trail, with the final score 60 to 36. Steve Kushman led the boys in blue with 15 points, Kluge had 12, and for the Liters Doug Winnell pushed through 16 big points.

The night cap saw one of the year's best battles, as the U.S. Coast Guard Station ended Martin's Standard Service's winning streak at seven games. In a see-saw battle throughout the night, Martin's ended up on top after the first quarter 18 to 15. Henry Wagner had 6 points for the Gasers, and even scoring paced the Station. The second quarter saw the Station take the lead and keep it for a half time score of 26 to 24. Keith Englebretson made all but 2 of the Station's points, 9, while Ike Boss put in all Martin's points in the second quarter, 6.

In protest of the last game's half time show, Jerry Rubin, Abbie Hoffman, and Bobby Seale led a dart throwing contest at an 8'x10' glossy of Judge Julius Hoffman. A couple of darts missed and caught Martin's in you-know-where, and they came roaring back to take the lead at the end of the third period 36 to 33. Even scoring paced both teams as they prepared for the fourth and final quarter. In that hectic fourth period, which saw three technical fouls and three players foul out, Dapper Don" Finely pushed in 7 timely free throws and one bucket to make the Station the victors by a 49 to 44 score. Finely and Engelbretson led the Sand Pounders with 13 apiece, and Dwight Boss paced Martin's with 17 in a losing effort.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE... Del Terrill is really Wally Cox in disguise... Stan Martin couldn't score in the game because he was concentrating on his studies....
Bill Supernaw is wasting away to a mere shadow, which will cover the Sundew... Chopper LaBlance made a 6 minute appearance in their game and collected his 5 fouls and left... Hatchet Riebel's defensive maneuvers on Bren LaBlance... Chopper also collected hiss 5 falls and left... Miss Minnesota will cheerlead for Lexalite in this week's game... The Independent League needs Money or we're going bankrupt... This week's games will be heard on WJML brought to you by Mother Wooshnuski's Miracle Detergent. Take it from one of our satisfied customers, a Mr. G. Romney, who said "I use it in all my brain washings".

Due to Charlevoix's opening rouad game Wednesday in the district tournameat, the Independent League has moved its sebeduled games to Tuesday (tomorrow).

Players "stand around" as easy lay-up is sunk. Independent League play continues Tuesday night at high school gym.

World day of prayer

Church Women United will join millions of people on March 6 in a bond of prayer spanning six continents. Prayers will be offered in seventy-five languages and a thousand dialects. World Day of Prayer is sponsored in the U.S. by Church Women United and will be celebrated in 25,000 communities.

Here in Charlevoix, all are invited to join this world-wide fellowship at 1:30 p.m. at Community Reformed Church. Participating in the celebration will representatiyes from most of the Protestant churches in Charlevoix. Mrs. Jim Laffoon of Petoskey will be the speaker.

This annual chain of prayer links the first voice at dawn in the tropical Tongas, just west of the international Date Line, with millions of others as it passes throughout the Day across oceans and continents. By nightfall, its message of hope will have followed the sun's arc until the last prayers are said in units of Church Women United in Hawaii and the islands of Alaska.

County gets $15,454 in state land tax

Payments of more than $124,000 in taxes on conservation lands in eight northern lower Michigan counties and five upper peninsula counties have been made to township treasurers, according to Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert.

"These payments to townships are made under provisions of Act No. 91 of the Public Acts of 1925, as amended in 1969, and are meant to help local units of government in areas where the state has taken over land for conservation purposes and, in the process, taking it off the normal tax rolls," said Sen. Schweigert.

Payments made so far include: Antrim County, Banks Township, $138.60; Central Lake Township, $71.28; Forest Home Township, $712.50; Jordan Township, $1,328.38; Kearney Township, $730.43; Mancelona Township, $2,105.28; Star Township, $307.39; Torch Lake Township, $806.05.

Charlevoix County, Boyne Valley Township, $2,290.60; Chandler Township, $48.32; Eveline Township, $366.51; Hayes Township, $479.73; Hudson Township, $5,945.80; Marion Township, $44.06; Melrose Township, $2,093.88; Peaine Township, $800.10; South Arm Township, $134.40; St. James Township, $3,250.90.

Charlevoix County totals reach $15,454.30.

Council Proceedings

February 16, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding. Aldermen present: Gill, Mol, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

The Minutes of the February 2, 1970 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Mr. David Julleret appeared before the Council as a representive of the Chamber of Commerce. He presented a four point plan to the Council consisting of an explanation for the necessity of redoing the City Float, for which no decision was reached, Also, the Ministerial Association wishes, with the co-operation of the Chamber, to hold non-denominational services in the City Park every Sunday morning for the summer months. They also wish to erect a Bulletin Board, listing all Churches and their Service schedules. The Chamber of Commerce would like to erect a new sign on the Chamber of Commerce Building. The Council agreed unanimously with the last three points.

The Police Report, as presented by Mayor Fochtman, was accepted by the Council.

It was unanimously decided to participate in the Mayor Exchange Day to be held May 18, 1970.

Ald. Sundberg offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Section 13 (e) of Act 51, Public Acts of 1951 provides that each incorporated City of Village to which funds are returned under the provisions of this section, that the "responsibility for all street improvements, maintenance and traffic operation work shall be coordinated by a single administrator to be designated by the governing body who shall be responsible for and shall represent the minicipality in all transactions with the State Highway Commission pursuant to the provisions of this Act."

THEREFORE, be it resolved, that this Honorable Body designate Thomas G. Hanna as the single (Street) administrator for the City of Charlevoix in all the transactions with the State Highway Commission as provided in Section 13 of the Act.

Supported by Ald. Boss

Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Ald. Gill, Mil, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

The Council decided that more information was needed on the request from Mr. Rex Miligan, Charlevoix Public School Superintendent, to levy school taxes in the summer time. This was tabled for further study.

Moved by Ald. Klooster and supported by Ald. Boss that $95,000.00 be transfered from the Electric Fund to the General Fund.

Motion adopted by the following yeo and nay vote.

Yeas: Ald. Gill, Mol, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

Moved by Ald. Sundberg and supported by Ald. Mol that a Loan of $28,000. be made from the Water fund to the Electric Fund.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Ald. Gill, Mil, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

Moved by Ald. Boss and supported by Ald. Sundberg that $2,000.00 be transfered from the Water Fund to the Sewage Fund.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Ald. Gill, Mol, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

Mayor Fochtman appointed Ald. Jack Mol, Robert Gill and Nathan Boss as a Committee to study rezoning proposals made by the Planning Commission.

The Council received a request from Gordon Freedman, president of the Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp., to buy Airport property on which the hangar is located. The request was tabled for further study.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $114,235.41 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Ald. Klooster and supported by Ald. Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Ald. Gill, Mol, Westenbroek, Boss, Sundberg and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

Hugh Mayne, City Clerk

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

For better relationships in our community, I have observed an activity of several Chambers in the state and especially over at Bay City the Bay Area Chamber of Commerce. I have related this to the Board several times and finally at a recent meeting in our discussion of this important factor, Communications and Relationships, it was decided that on March 17 this Chamber will sponsor an "Eye-Opener Public Meeting" at 7:30 a.m. at the Weathervane Inn, coffee and rolls will be included. We hope as many as possible will attend to hear from the Board, to meet the Directors personally, and listen to one another. It is hoped you all will be on time so that any brief agenda could be handled in at least one half-hour to forty-five minutes so those who have to get to their businesses and/or other employment by 8:30 will be able to do so. Of course, it is expected a number will be able to stay over. It is hoped this will develop like that one at Bay City to an Eye-Opener Breakfast Meeting, and really, folks, they have accomplished much in the while they have been doing this bit of public relations.

Among our problems at this writing is the City of Charlevoix Street Parade float. Many of you have seen this beautiful display including our pretty girls and the queen here at Charlevoix or elsewhere. Your Chamber office has received many fine compliments elsewhere. Your Chamber office has received many fine compliments and most certainly the exhibit of this float as soon as possible has a tremendous reaction. The original decorations and temporary covering was to do at least two season, and that has been it. The condition of our float is such that it needs a complete over-haul and complete redecoration, and a tailored, water repellent covering and complete redecoration, and n tailored, water repellent covering for over the highway with as little damage as possible to all the decorative materials.

PROFITABLE DEALERSHIP
Open For This Area

Winnebago Industries, Inc., America's only manufacturer with a complete "family" of recreation vehicles—travel trailers, motor homes and pickup truck coaches—has a dealership open for this territory.

Sale and rental of recreation vehicles is one of the fastest growing industries in America as leisure time expands and the desire to explore the outdoors grows.

As a major builder, the Winnebago brand is known coast to coast as a quality product and a leader in new developments. Our factory—the largest factory under one roof in the United States devoted exclusively to recreation vehicles—assures assembly line efficiency for competitive pricing and for production scheduling.

Recreation vehicles are a profitable addition to automobile dealerships, sports equipment stores as well as a year-around independent business.

Saints over CHS, 81-61

A spirited Rayder team was again defeated by the St. Ignace Saints in cage action in Charlevoix Friday night. The favored Saints took an early lead and commanded the scoring for the entire game.

The first period found the Saints and the Rayders battling for the lead with St. Ignace committing numerous fowls throughout the first stanza. The end of the first period found the Saints leading 21 to 15.

St. Ignace continued to fowl heavily in the second quarter, but the Rayders were unable to take advantage of the free throw line. The Saints continued to widen their lead and lead 41 to 26 at halftime.

The Rayders came back strong but still were unable to take over the lead from the league-leading Saints. The Rayders scored 14 points in the third quarter but the Saints hit on 18 to widen the lead to 59 to 40 at the end of the third quarter.

The forth quarter found even scoring on both squads with St. Ignace scoring 22 and the Rayders hitting on 21. Thus, the Saints chalked up their 15th win of the season against 1 loss, while the Rayders dropped their 6th, however, they won 10 for a successful season.

For Charlevoix, Bruce Meggison led the scoring attack with 22 points followed by Stew Coleman with 19, Kraag Lieberman with 14, Norm Ostrum with 4 and Kevin Swanson with 2.

For the Saints, Savard hit on 26 followed by Donovan with 18, McKinnon with 13, Closs with 10, Schlehuber with 8, Lester with 4 and Bishop and Powers with 2 each.

Charlevoix High School's Junior Varsity team put on a good showing as they lost the championship game to the little Saints 55 to 56 in overtime.

The game got off to a slow start with the Rayders only scoring 7 points and the Saints scoring 8 to hold their one point lead at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter saw both teams come alive with a balanced scoring attack. The little Saints, however, outscored Charlevoix's J.V.'s 18 to 24 to hold a 7 point 32 to 25 halftime edge.

In the third quarter the Charlevoix J.V.'s outscored their opponents 18 to 14 to hold a slight 47 to 46 point lead going into the final stanza.

The forth quarter turned out to be a real battle with the lead changing hands with each basket. Roger Crain played a great defensive forth quarter keeping the action steady.

The score was tied with 4 seconds to go and Charlevoix missed a charity toss to put the game into overtime with a 53 to 53 score.

The difference in the overtime was 2 points by the Rayders and 3 points by the Saints to wrap up the championship game against Cooch Anderson and the Little Rayders.

For Charlevoix, Larry Potter led the scoring with 17 points followed by Jerry Pease with 15, Ned Henly with 10, Roger Crain with 9 and Daye Swanson with 4.

For the Little Saints, Donovan lead the scoring attack with 17 followed by Tarnatzer with 12, Schunkovitz with 16, Neelis with 7 and Bomia with 4.

Lancers win; Hud has 40

BY DALE VANDERSLIK

Fancy passing has become more than a passing fancy in Lancer basketball the last few games. In one of their better games, if not their best, the Ellsworth Lancers defeated the good Alanson guintet on the Ellsworth floor - 82-73. The previous time, on Alanson's floor, the score was a bit different with Alanson winning 96-47.

The game was played before a capacity crowd of cheering spectators. Because of a light schedule in Northern Michigan, there were representatives "eyeing" both strong teams as districts approached. Ellsworth, of course, didn't mind at all winning nor did Hud Drenth mind showing his strengths with a high point mark of 40.

The first quarter set the pace of the game. It was close the whole quarter with good shooting from the outset. The score at the close of the period was 20-19 in Alansons favor.

Alanson really showed their strong offense in the second quarter. At one point, they had a 13 point lead. They seemed to be in control of the game by the lose of the half 44-33.

The third quarter, the Lancers made up the deficit of the second quarter with extremely fine passing. The score as the 3rd period ended was a close 60-59, but still in Alansons favor.

The Lancers showed themselves at their best in the fourth quarter, but could not pull ahead until only 3 minutes was left in the game. Then, they took advantage of a cold viking team and won by a score of 82-73.

This made the Lancers' record a respectable 10-7 with only one game left, a big one with Bellaire.

Hud Drenth really looked good both offensively and defensively as he pumped in 40 points, upping, his average to 26 points a game.

He also leads the team in rebounds and upped his average to about 18 a game. Many of these have been offensive, which enables him to score a few "easy" baskets.

Ellsworth drew Central Lake and will play them on Monday night. As a matter of wishful thinking, they then play East Jordan Wednesday and Bellaire for the district final on Saturday.

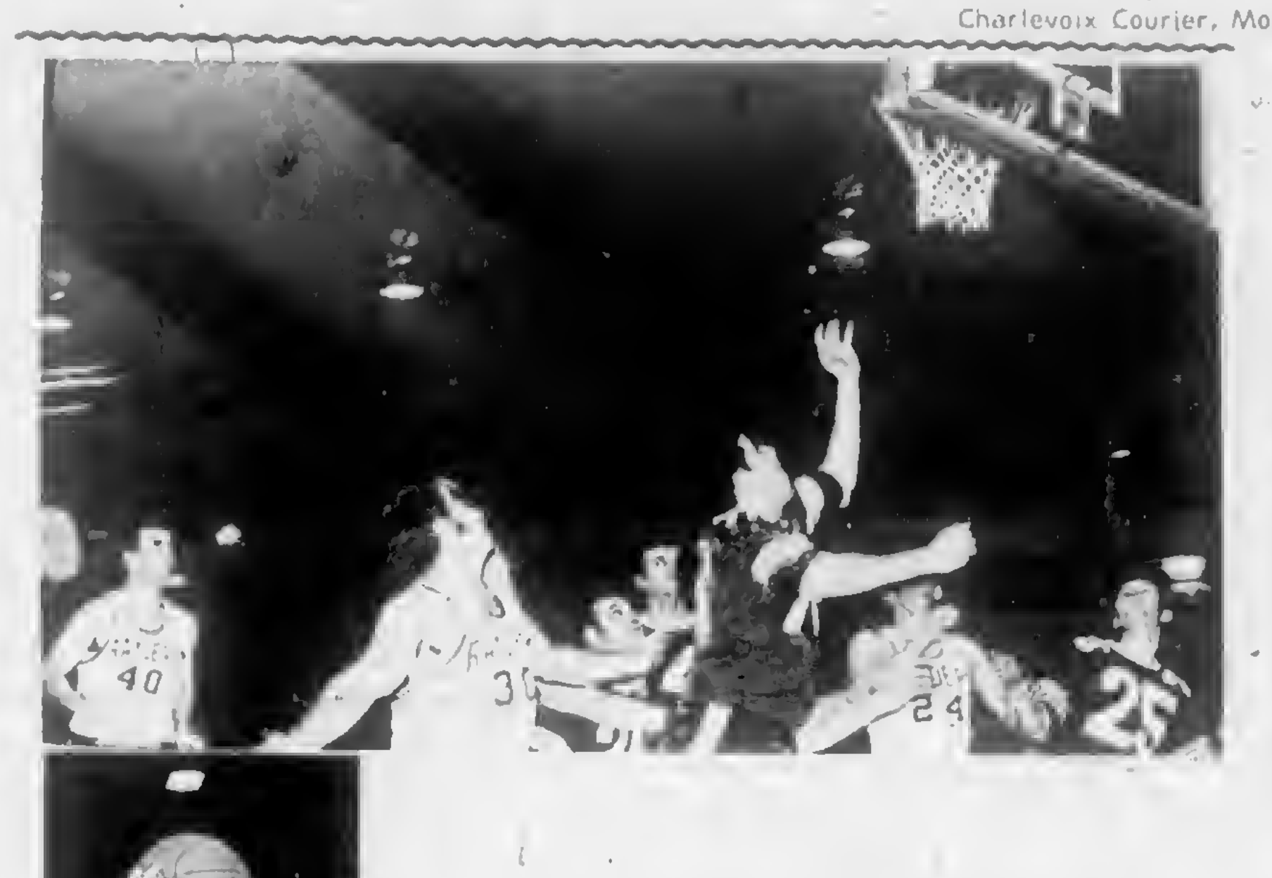
Tourney pairings

Charlevoix's Red Rayder basketball team will face Onaway in the first round of the district Class C tournament this Wednesday at Gaylord at 7:30 p.m.

In Class D action, Ellsworth will open against Central Lake tonight at Central Lake, also at 7:30 p.m.



CHARLEVOIX teachers gave it their "all", but it wasn't enough, as the Petoskey faculty made it two in a row over the Rayder mentors last week.

Above and at left, Rayder teachers show their form and desire, but the sweet fruit of victory belongs to our neighbors to the north.

Miss Inman engaged to John Christie

Mrs. Harry E. Inman of Charlevoix, Michigan, announces the engagement of her daughter Karen Suzanne, to John D. Christie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Christie of Coopersburg, Pennsylvania.

A 1965 graduate of Towson State College in Baltimore, Maryland, Miss Inman received her M.A. in history from Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey, in 1967. She is currently employed as an instructor at Middlesex county College in Edison, New Jersey, and is also working on her Ph. D. at Rutgers University.

Mr. Christie graduated from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania, in 1966 and is presently doing graduate work leading to the Ph. D. in zoology at Rutgers University.

Miss Inman is the daughter of the late Harry E. Inman. He served with the U.S. Army Engineer Corps for 32 years. He was chief of Investigation Section, Engineering Division at Baltimore, Maryland. The paternal grandparents are Mrs. Thomas D. Inman and the late Mr. Thomas Inman of White Cottage, Ohio. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Staley of Charlevoix, Michigan.

A native of Scotland, Mr. Christie is the grandson of Mrs. John Doyle of Leven Fife, Scotland and the late Mr. Doyle.

From fledgling to No. 1 industry

Michigan, from Grand Rapids through the north," Freedman notes. The company keeps two large tractor-trailers on the road year-round in the process.

The growth of the company since its near-collapse in 1961 has been rapid. "Our customers continue to grow, so we must grow with them," Freedman says. "we take little or no new business. We're busy enough just keeping up with our present customers."

Freedman has surrounded himself with capable management men, to keep the company growing and to remove some of the pressures from the president. Three of those who Freedman depends upon heavily are Len Espick, Jack Grubaugh and Max Hosmer. "Our entire staff carries its share of the load," Freedman says of his employees.

But, such was not always the case. Freedman Artcraft was not born holding the world on a string. It was babied, nursed, and brought to maturity through hard work, patience and, perhaps, a little luck.

As Freedman tells it, "The ancestor of Freedman Artcraft was born some time in 1936, during my senior year at Tri-State College where I was studying for an Aeronautical Engineering degree.

"Walter E. Burnham, then Dean of Aeronautical Engineering at Tri-State College, and I designed a new type propeller for light aircraft.

"Burnham is one of the pioneer aeronautical engineers. He initiated many developments. As far as we knew, he was one of the first men to weld aluminum, back in 1917. He and Herb Radwon, later chief engineer of Beech Aircraft, designed the famous Travel-Air "mystery ship" which, in the glamour days of aviation of the early 1930's, started the trend for record-breaking speed planes. Frank Hawks made the Travel-Air "mystery ship" famous. The second one was built for Jimmy Doolittle, the third for Mussolini. He also designed the famous Stearman Navy trainer which was used prior to and during World War II, as a standard primary Navy trainer.

"Following graduation in 1937, Burnham and I formed a partnership--Freedman-Burnham Engineering Company. Burnham left Tri-State College to become Chief Engineer of Barkley-Grow Aircraft in Detroit, and teach Aeronautical Engineering at night at Lawrence Institute of Technology. We set up the propeller engineering department in his attic, and with a Sears, Roebuck lathe, set up a shop in his basement. While Burnham was holding down his two jobs, I did all the engineering under his guidance. We arranged for a propeller shop in Mt. Clemens to make our first test propeller blades. I used the facilities of Tri-State College foundry in Angola, Indiana, to cast te first hub, and we machined it on the small lathe in Burnham's basement.

"We planned to do all our testing in Angola, making use of Tri-State Airport where we could rent a small airplane for $4 an hour and were offered the room for setting up a test stand.

"Although I had taken a foundry course in college, I was far from being an expert foundryman. This definitely proved to be the case when I started out to flight test our first propeller.

"Luckily, I didn't get off the ground. This first propeller flew apart while I was warming up the airplane.

"On April Fool's Day, 1938, we moved to Cincinnati, incorporated as Freedman-Burnham Engineering Corporation, set up in a very small shop, and began producing propellers for small airplanes. The civilian propeller business became very successful. Freedman-Burnham propellers were soon being used all over the world on light airplanes," Freedman continued.

"Prior to World War II, we began working with the Army Air Force at the experimental center, Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, making propellers for many projects.

"Our employment over the next few years in Cincinnati grew to 125 people.

"We became experts in the use of wood, only because this was the most logical material to use for light airplane propellers. W found that no one had engineered a wood propeller before, just making them by trial and error. Due to our careful engineering we were able to produce more efficient propellers.

"The shortage of metals, particularly aluminum, in the early part of World War II, required the military to seek substitutes. Since we had become quite expert in the engineering of wood products, te military looked to us to produce products out of wood which no one else was able to do.

"We kept practically all the BT-13 basic Army Air Force trainers in the air through the production of our plastic impregnated wood propeller blades. Formica was our subcontractor, producing the plastic impregnated wood blocks, and we manufacturing them into finished propeller blades. The blades in turn were installed in the Hamilton Standard propeller hub in place of aluminum blades.

"Practically all the radar mounting plates from very special Maple plywood for all the bombers and antenna masts for a large number of the fighter planes were made in our shop.

"We developed a complex metal working machine shop to produce all the required tooling. With this machine shop we also produced metal parts for the P-38 fighter and the C-46 Curtis Commando cargo plane, which became famous flying over the "Hump," as well as many other complicated metal items.

Griffin names Carl Novak

Carl M. Novak, 18-year-old Charlevoix High School senior, is one of 40 young men nominated by U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin to compete for appointments to service academies for the academic year beginning in July of this year.

Novak was one of 20 who will compete for two vacancies at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland.

Griffin stated that the nominees were selected from almost 300 applicants on the basis of academic records, extra-curricular activities, character and leadership potential.

All were top scorers in a competitive civil service screening examination.

Under the competitive appointment system used by Senator Griffin, final selection of appointees to each service academy will be determined by a selection board at the respective academies.

The boards base their decisions on enterance examination scores, physical qualifications, scholastic achievement, extracurricular activities, leadership potential and the recommendation of high school principals and teachers.

Among other activities at CHS Novak has been a member of both the varsity football and basketball teams, and is a member of the National Honor Society.

C-E Inter. dist. budget approved

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate school district representatives approved a general fund budget of $146,240 for the district during the 1970-1971 school year. Because of an anticipated expenditure of $55,000 for a mobile counseling unit, the budget is $63,640 more than last year.

According to Superintendent Charles A. Robinson, most of the added revenue will come from federal funds.

The proposed budget will also provide funds to write off the local district's debt to the Intermediate District for the film center and professional library, and will allow the Intermediate District to assume the cost of child accounting.

This will, however, necessitate an increase in the district's county allocation from .200 mills to .257 mills.

Central Lake Superintendent, Scott Bothwell,, said he hoped that endorsement of the Intermediate District budget would not be interpreted to mean that the local schools don't need all the money they can get.

Rex Milligan, Charlevoix Superintendent, said his district would come out ahead uner the proposed budget if the Intermediate district writes off the debt to the library and takes over child accounting.

Hospital Guild

The monthly meeting of the Chalevoix Hospital Guild was held at the Hospital meeting room on February 9.

The reports of the committee chairman were made. Mrs. Fred Davidson reported that the TV rentals amounted to $94.50. The rental fees are used to pay for the sets which, in turn, add to the comfort of the patients in the hospital.

Among the other committee reports were those of the knitting and layette committees. The chairmen, guild members, and volunteers have been busy making a large supply of layettes. Mrs. Homer Brady will be the new layette chairman, replacing Mrs. Albert Seger, who has the sincere thanks of the guild for he excellent management of the committee

The next meeting will be held on Monday, March 9, at 8 o'clock at Charlevoix Hospital The meeting is open to any interested women.

CHARLEVOIX Brownie Scouts got together last Thursday afternoon for the observance of the Brownie Birthday Party. Event was held in new elemenlary school. A complete story will appear in next week's Courier.

Obituary

J.A. Stover

Joseph A. Stover, 81, died last night at his home, 310 Hurlburt Street, Charlevoix.

He was born July 10, 1888, in Charlevoix and on April 7, 1920, married the former Della Peaslee. They lived here until going to Rochester in December 1941. He was employed by Avon Tube Co. at Rochester until retirement in September 1964 when they returned here to make their home.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Theodore (Mary) Miller, of Lake Orion and Mrs. Kenneth (Margaret) Patrick, of Clawson; a son, Joseph, jr., of Pontiac; seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

The body was taken to Winchester Funeral Home.

Services were held from the Winchester Funeral Home, Thursday, with the Rev. Jack Harris officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Cribbage results

With 6½ tables of play in the Cribbage tournament, the Masons picked up 91 points more to lead by 947 points.

High score for the Masons was Toby Chamberlin with 945. High for I.O.O.F. was Lawrence Bergman with a perfect score of 968, the first perfect score for this year.

Pontiac announces the beginning of tomorrow.
The all-new Firebirds are here.
There are four. Why?
People have different ideas of what a sports car should be. Incorporating all of those ideas into one car is equivalent to putting an elephant's trunk, a camel's hump and stripes on a giraffe. You end up with a creature that doesn't do anything well.
So . . . four Firebirds
Firebird (1). An economical sports car.
Firebird Esprit (2). A luxurious model.
Firebird Formula 400 (3). The Firebird built for drivers.
Firebird Trans Am (4). Our ultimate.
Four distinctly different Firebirds for drivers who agree on only one thing. A sports car.
Comfortable seating for four. Period.
Three have always been a crowd. Especially in the back seat of a sports car. So the new Firebirds have two bucket type seats in back. Plus two bucket seats up front.
Four comfortable passengers, each in an individual seat.
And a more comfortable ride.
The rear seats gave us room to raise the drive tunnel between them. Which gives the suspension room to travel when you hit a bump. Which, in the Firebird and Esprit, produces a ride that many a full-size sedan would be proud of.
Formula 400 and Trans Am don't have it quite as soft. Enthusiasts like a stiffer ride. Stiffer springs and shocks provide it.
A ride is nothing without quick handling.
We didn't compromise handling a bit. We made the Wide-Track wider. Made fade-resistant front disc brakes standard. And for improved cornering, we installed stabilizer bars up front. And added rear stabilizer bars to Formula 400 and Trans Am.
Engines to match.
If you read our descriptions of the four Firebirds, the engine lineup makes supreme sense. The basic Firebird has a 250-cubic-inch six. Esprit a 350-cubic-inch, regular-gas V-8. Formula 400 has a 400-cubic-inch V-8. And Trans Am features a 400-cubic-inch Ram Air V-8.
Endura bumpers that absorb bumps.
Pontiac's Endura material is probably the best thing to happen to bumpers since bumpers. It's a resilient, rubber-like material that looks like painted metal. It resists dings, dents and chips. And it positively won't rust.
A tough bumper. Covering the entire front end of each Firebird.
The decisive victory of functionalism over faddism.
Instrument panels, for instance. Easy to read. With easy-to-reach controls. We even designed the panels so that any light bulb can be changed in 60 seconds. By you. Without lying on the floor.
But you'll undoubtedly want to find out for yourself. Please do. At a Pontiac dealer's. Then you'll know our "beginning of tomorrow" claim is more than a boast.

Can we support an airline?

Trans-Michigan Airlines has been surveying the Charlevoix County market for the past two months to see if our area can support a regular schedule of flights.

We have talked several times with T-MA's director of marketing services, Don Ambroso, and he tells us that the big question now is whether Petoskey residents would avail themselves of service from Charlevoix Municipal Airport.

Their alternative, of course, is to continue to embark from Traverse City or Pellston.

We feel that Ambrose has grasped the ultimate factor between success and failure of any T-MA venture in Charlevoix.

Frankly, we wonder if our community could generate enough traffic to produce a profit on the run for T-MA. We could not expect Trans-Michigan, or any other airline, to include us on its schedule and show a loss over a two or three year trial period.

If, however, Emmet countians could find their way to Charlevoix for air service, T-MA would probably find the venture profitable.

Regular scheduled airline service in Charlevoix, would be convenient to countians, and add a bit of prestige, too. But, above all, Charlevoix and T-MA must take precautions to see that the relationship is enduring and profitable for all concerned.

Subdivisions

Although swanky resort subdivisions are generally conceded to spell Progress with a capital "P," we can't help but wonder if the unprecedented land development under way in northern Michigan these days isn't destroying the very thing that makes this area attractive to vacationers.

Year after year more plats are recorded as acre after acre is subdivided into small cottage sites for downstate families. As a result, the woodlands and wilderness that have always been synonymous with northern Michigan are slowly disappearing to make room for row after row of A-frames and chalets.

Of course, "a little place up north has been part of the American dream -- at least in Michigan --- for years without number. The southern Michigan family which lives day in, day out amid the soot and grime, the concrete and steel of our modern cities has good reason to yearn for a breath of fresh air and a glimpse of blue water.

"A little place up north" seems like the answer and more and more families are flocking to Charlevoix County to seek their second homes.

And we in the north have happily catered to their whims, butchering up our choicest parcels of land to meet their specifications.

But the whole process seems self-defeating. In another decade, the wide open spaces so many vacationers come north to enjoy will be obliterated by sprawling subdivisions reminiscent of Redford Township and Livonia. Furthermore, the land will be saturated with effluent from thousands upon thousands of private septic tank systems.

Although the newcomers are a boon to the local economy for the time being, we are afraid that Charlevoix County's days as a tourist mecca are numbered unless the trend toward subdividing everything in sight is stopped --- or at least slowed.

Before it is too late, we hope some smart developer will steal a page from the vacation guidebooks of Europe and Asia and reintroduce the resort hotel to northern Michigan.

Although such hotels once flourished in these parts, they simply have worn out physically and have never been replaced --- places like the Inn, the Beach Hotel and Hallett's Hotel in Charlevoix.

Such hotels not only would be more economical to the vacationer than buying and maintaining his own place, complete with frozen water pipes and squirrels in the chimney, but they also would serve to confine our seasonal population explosions to a smaller area, leaving the rest of the land much as it is.

The kind of hotel we envision is on the water with supervised swimming, a marina, tennis courts, a driving range, a stable of horses and plenty of activities for kids. All meals would be served in the hotel dining room --- which would mean a real vacation for mom.

Such hotels, of course, would be open year 'round to accommodate skiers, color tourists, fishermen, conventioneers and just plain travelers. And they might just help keep northern Michigan the way we like it and want it to remain. (B. C.)

County's loss

Charlevoix County has lost an able and devoted public servant in the death of Charles B. Landers, District Court magistrate and executive-secretary of the county chapter of the American Red Cross.

An octogenarian, Judge Landers wore his years lightly and was living proof that work keeps a man young.

Although he had many careers during his long lifetime --- cowboy, rancher, lumberjack, railroad man and auto industry executive --- Judge Landers will be remembered in Charlevoix County for his work as justice of the peace and later as magistrate for the District Court.

As a judge, Mr. Landers exercised the wisdom that comes with age, settling family squabbles and tiffs between neighbors with a candor, directness ad compassion often lacking in younger men.

If possible, Judge Landers tried to settle cases "out of court." A few words over the telephone or a conference around his old wooden desk in the basement of the East Jordan City Hall often were enougb to assauge wounded pride or heal the little abrasions that come with community living.

More than one married couple who entered his chambers with blood in their eyes after a family fight left arm-in-arm 20 minutes later after talking over their problems with Judge Landers.

Perhaps the part of the job he liked best was performing the marriage ceremony. Over the years, literally hundreds of northern Michigan couples appeared before him to have the nuptial knot tied and receive his blessing.

He also will be remembered for his work as executive-secretary of the Red Cross and for the many first aid classes he organized and taught throughout the county.

His Red Cross work also found him on the telephone all hours of the day and night, arranging furloughs for servicemen whenever family emergencies required their presence at home.

As a reconteur, Judge Landers loved to spin tales about pioneer days in the West, but his main concern was finding answers to today's problems.

His warmth, wisdom, wit, compassion and sense of fair play will be missed by the people of Charlevoix County. (B. C.)

Letters to the Editor

Out-sign the atheists

Editor:

Let the majority stand up and be counted. Recently I read in our paper about Madelyn Murray, the woman who succeeded in getting prayer out of our schools, and how she mannged to get 27,000 signotures on a petition condemning our astronauts for their Bible reading Christmas Eve when in space.

After reading this we decided that the minority gets its way because we, the majority, do nothing about it. We also decided to do something ourselves.

We live in a rather small mobile park-The Avon Air Mobile Parkl 5310-14th St. St. W. in Bradenton, where about 200 residents, mostly retired, make their homes. We decided to see how our people stood on this matter, so with full support of the owner-manager Walter Watkins, we had a petition drawn reading as follows:

'To Honorable Senator Ralph T. Smith: We the undersigned appeal to you to do all you can to get prayer back into our schools, through an amendment to the constitution, or by any other means. We also support the astronauts' decision to reod from the Bible while in space. Respectfully....'

So I appeal to fellow Americans, remind them that we live in dangerous times...we should show our love for God and country and not let the atheists rule our land. Let your signatures be counted so our congress will know how most of us stand. Let's all get in touch with our church members so they will sign up and let the majority speak.

Why couldn't Charlevoix residents sign up?

Return to law, order

BY BERNICE WEXSTAFF

Now that the "season to be jolly" faded with New Year's celebrations the season to be deluged with bright colored seed catalogues and government pamphlets with educational information for the grass roots has arrived.

The Government list is colorless but comprehensive with instructions for oll phases of living from building barns to food preparation to weed control. However, there appears to be no bulletins available on how to restore a respect for law and order and old-fashioned decency in our land.

There are no instructive bulletins on how the voting populace can voice objections to the rulings and decisions that free rioters and trouble-makers on technicalities while law-abiding citizens are witnessing a progressive curtailment of their freedoms.

There are no instructive bulletins that would give the great Silent Majority a voice in the curtailment of tax-free Foundations who appear to be ever ready to contribute to Un-American causes.

There are no instructions on how to rid our news stands and mails of pornographic materials now permissable in the name of "freedom of expression", freedom of the press" and "promotion of the Arts".

There are no pamphlets listed for patriots who wish to voice objections to native-born subversives and the treasonable who travel abroad to give aid, comfort and support to a government that is avowedly seeking to destroy us here in America.

There are no bulletins listed that would instruct the grass-roots' voters on how to help restore economy in government as a proper objective and a way-of-life.

There are no bulletins listed to instruct the grass roots on effective measures that would insure respect for incumbents of High Offices in Government by our TV entertainers who insult in the name of "humor"!

There are no bulletins that inform voters how to curtail the activities of corrupt labor leaders.

We all love America...We were once proud of what it stood for..One could say, "I am an Amerlean" with confidence that by that simple statement all had been said that needed to be said of love of country and of patriotism.

We need the help of our government in correcting the ills that have befallen our beloved land and by the same token our government needs our help. We can give that help through our elected representatives...It takes only a few moments out of a day to write your congressman and give him the support he needs to do the job.

If it Fitz

Love is crowding the world

These days, half the stories in newspapers and magozines say there are too many people. The other half tell obout people who would be long dead except the brilliant doctors won't let them die.

So go explain it to your children.

At one end, we're trying to plug the baby flow. But the poor people, who can't afford kids, also can't afford to have them aborted. And they can't afford the pill, or maybe they can't read and don't even know what birth control is.

The birth stoppers say it should be against the law for any couple to have more than 2 kids. They say the government must reach these over-productive mothers and feed them pills and give them abortions.

Otherwise, in 50 years it will be so crowded you'll need armed guards to keep squatters off the 18th green. You want to putt through a family of 6?

Any fool can see that we got trouble right here in Crowded City. But look at the other end. Already there have been people kept alive through the benefit of 3 hearts each. The valentine poets must be going nuts searching for rhymes for transplant.

You need a liver or a kidney or whatever? Put in your order. Or maybe you're just plain old and you need a few dozen tubes to stay alive. Tubes into your nose and mouth and veins, constantly pumping life to displace death. Hospitals ore full of people who might as well be in cemeteries.

The broin can be gone. Absolutely no communication possible. Complete coma. But such people are kept alive through the miracle of science and medicine. Sometimes just for days beyond the minute when they should have been allowed to die in dignity. And sometimes for years. While the family suffers and the savings diappear.

But no one dares say "Forget 1 tube for 1 second. Let him die." That would be illegal, unChristian, immoral and besides, what if the neighbors found out? A new miracle drug might be discovered tomorrow; we can't give up hope. Can we?

So who is going to tell a sorrowing wife that her husband of 50 years should be allowed to die? Who is going to withhold the capsule, jerk out the tube?

Who is going to say there are too many people; that we all are going to die someday; and it would be nicer for the world if a few fatally sick people die today instead of tomorrow? Including your husband.

Who is going to promote doom in the interests of balancing the herd with the grazing land? Not me. The 2nd worst job in the world would be telling a family that their loved one is being dumped for the greater good of the world.

The 1st worst job would be enforcing the law that says no couple should have more than 2 children. How are you going to do that without feeling like a storm trooper?

It's not going to stop me from laughing, but there's no denying the tough days ahead. To do my part, I insist my family make no unusual efforts to prolong my life. When I cease to function, I want to go with no stalling around just because Dr. Kildare is stubborn and Blue Cross is solvent.

Sorry, but it's too late to do anything about our 3rd kid. But I'd sure like to see some bureaucrat convince my wife we shouldn't have had him. Wow.

Hate causes many problems in this world. But when you begin messing with life, at the beginning or the end, you discover that Love can be a problem, too.

Lookin' around

CHRISTMAS decorations still stand at bandshell in downtown Charlevoix. Are we awfully early for Christmas 1970....or just late for Christmas 1969?

For $1995.*.. it's a little gas.

*Ford's suggested retail price for the base Maverick model. White sidewall tires are not included, they are $30 extra. Since dealer preparation charges (if any), transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included, nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.

For a little more...it's a MAVERICK GRABBER

MAVERICK Ford

The new Maverick Grabber. It's nothing you'd take out to a track to run against the big ones. It's more of a jazzy firecracker you'd take to the beach, or a basketball game. Because with all its sporty Grabber features, with all its extra flair, the Grabber is still a Ford Maverick at heart. Still the Simple Machine that doesn't take a pit crew to keep it running.

The new Maverick Grabbar is at your Ford Dealer's now.

Here's what you get:
• 200-cubic-inch Six engine • Bodyside tape stripes, black-painted hood and grille • Whitewalls, 14" wheels and trim rings • Deck lid spoiler, dual racing mirrors • 3-spoke wood-tone steering wheel, black all-vinyl seat trim • Choice of five hot Grabber colors

Plus all this:
• No big price tag • No high insurance rates • No hard-to-tune engine • No hard, stiff ride • No high maintenance costs

Turner & courts

Friday morning and attacked the editorial presented in last week's Courier, and then blasted Michael again for a "gross conflict of interest."

He then claimed that Petoskey attorney Nathaniel Stroup should not be allowed to practice law. "He said in the Charlevoix paper that he didn't have lotters written to the grievance committee of the State Bar about Mr. Michael, but we have those letters, with corrections made on them in his handwriting," Turner stated. "He's lying out and out."

Turner told his audience, numbering about 150 at the high school, that he would be back in northern Michigan, and the next time he would bring private investigators with him. He also asked for support for his cause from the residents of the county, either in the form of their time and effort, or through monetary contributions. He stated that he is $80,000 in debt, and the survival of "Today" is in jeopardy.

The main thrust of Turner's work centers around his desire to see lawyers licensed by the state and the policing power over them taken from the State Bar Association.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

It is gratifying to observe the response already to the first batch of 1970 sort of invoice reminders for membership contributions for this Chamber. The amount is not staggering, but I feel a good indication, and thanks a million!

It cannot be mentioned too often and therefore, I call again to your attention the open public meeting, an Eye-Opener, as it is referred to in other areas, for 7:30 a.m., March 17, to include rolls and coffee, at the Weathervane Inn. This meeting is first of a series to get together, we hope once each month to air views, have discussion, etc., so as to better or more thoroughly acquaint the community, whether it be individuals, people of industry, retailors, or other businesses, and professionals included, with the principals of this community Chamber of Commerce and their workings and current-year's programs. It is hoped for a good turnout and that we will have the success in as full of measure as that of especially the Bay Area, Bay City Chamber of Commerce. The early schedule is so that anyone having to get to employment by 8:30 or to his or her business, etc., will have time to do so. Others may wish to linger because of present moment involvement.

There needs to be, at least from my observation, fund raising in our immediate area this year and I hope for the organizations and ourselves there will be some interested people and a few extra dollars put to good advantage.

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club is sponsoring some well worthwhile entertainment–the sensational, top box office attraction–INK SPOTS, internationally famous. With the Ink Spots will be two variety acts from the Ed Sullivan All Stars. The performance will take place at the Charlevoix High School at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 25 The over-all Kiwanians' expense appears close to $800 and I am told the proceeds or the net dollars will go to Camp Daggett for kitchen improvement and / or expansion. You may purchase your tickets in advance from the Kiwanis Club members and I presume other places downtown as well as here at the Chamber office. Advance sale is $2.00, at the door it is $2.50. There it is–some good entertainment for a good cause.

Easter meet

The Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will hold its Easter meeting at 1:30 p.m., March 4, at the church.

Concert band shines

The Charlevoix High School Concert Band, under the direction of Clarence Odmark, took a one rating at the District Band Festival held In Petoskey last Saturday. The Charlevoix High School Symphony Band received a two rating at the festival. The concert band is now eligible to make the trip down state to participate in the state festival in the spring.

The concert band received two "ones" and two "twos" with the twos coming in sight reading. For their performance they played A Santa Cicelia, Fantasy on American Sailing Songs and Die Miestersinger. The required number was the Fantasy on American Sailing Songs.

The Symphony Band received two "ones" and two "twos" with the twos coming in concert. They played Salute to A.S.B.D.A., Joyant Narrative (Required) and Abduction from Seraglio.

New column begins

FRED PAYNE

Beginning with this issue of the Courier, Fred. Payne, executive vice president of the Charlevoix County State Bank, will write a weekly column, "Money Matters", for Courier readers.

In making the announcement today, editor Fiske Martin said, "We are extremely happy to be able to present this new column. The world of finance involves all of us today more than ever before. And, to have it written by a local person who is widely respected in the field is particulary gratifying."

Weekly articles will be strictly on the local level..how northern Michigan, and especially Charlevoix County, is affected by national economics will be stressed.

The column will be directed not at the large investor, but at the average working family, who today may find their budget in perilous condition.

Payne, a graduate of Michigan State University, has served in various banking positions, including the vice presidency of a large banking group in the midwest, assistant vice president of Security First Bank & Trust Company of Grand Haven, and assistant manager of the Texas National Bank in Houston.

He joined the County State Bank in 1968. His first column will be found on page 5 of this issue.

Boat damaged

A fire at Brow Marina early Monday morning damaged the 54-foot sailboat Comet.

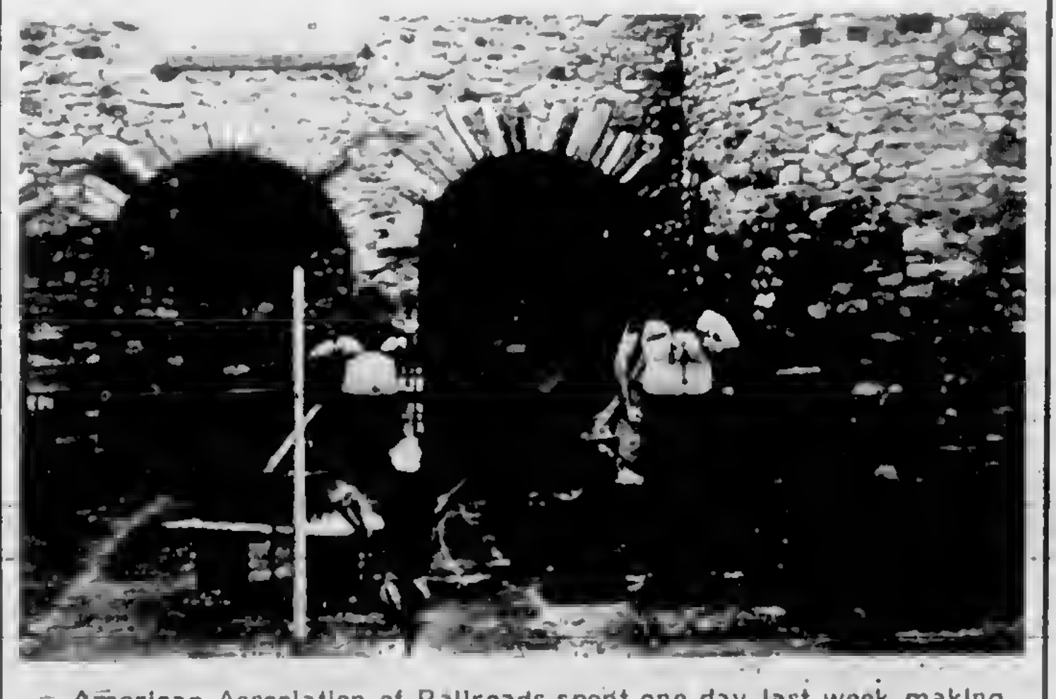
The fire was discovered at 7:15 a.m. by Leon Prior, who was on duty at the Bridge Street bridge.

James Shepard, manager of the marina, estimated damage to the boat, owned by John Cole of Walloon Lake and Dayton, Ohio, at $6,000 to $8,000.

C of C winter hours

Chamber of Commerce manager Wally Loder announced that the local Chamber will be on "winter office hours" until March 23.

Daily hours have been listed as 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.



American Association of Railroads spent one day last week making commercials at Art Reibel's Castle VanHaver, outside Charlevoix. Courier's Larry Edwards caught the action in the above photo.

Confidence vote given to Michael

City Attorney John Michael received a vote of confidence from City Council last Monday night, amid earlier rumors he would be asked to resign from the position.

Mayor William Fochtman called for a special session of Council immediately following the regular meeting to discuss the issues presented in the February issue of "Today" magazine.

In the article, Michael is charged with a conflict of interest stemming from his representation of Jim Richey's Hampton Village.

Fochtman stressed the fact that Michael had been cleared of any conflict not only by the State Bar Association but also by the State Attorney General's investigation.

The mayor stated he has personally checked into the Michael-Hampton Associates-Hampton Village-City of Charlevoix involvements, and, on the basis of his investigation said that "Today" has "done John (Michael) a great injustice."

Alice Street suit started

Hamilton & Son Boatyard in Charlevoix recently instituted suit against the city in another step in the "Battle of Alice Street".

Bob Hamilton alleges in the suit that the city has abandoned the portion of Alice Street between Belvedere Avenue and Round Lake. The suit also states that the street was not accepted by the city in the years since it was platted (1875).

According to reports, Hamilton claims he and his ancestors have used the property and it should now belong to him.

The street is a 27-foot wide section of ground which is not now paved or used as access to the lake by the public.

City attorney John Michael said that the city feels that all of Alice Street was dedicated to the public in 1875.

The city further maintains that the street was accepted by the then-village, and it must continue to be held in trust for the public.

One city official stated that Alice Street "has not been abandoned, nor does the city intend to abandon" the street.

Sundew to return home this week

The Coast Guard cutter Sundew damaged in a fire on board the vessel last Saturday afternoon, should be coming into port in Charlevoix early this week.

Lt. Cmdr. Leonard Garrett, skipper of the Sundew, told the Courier late last week that work was progressing satisfactorily on repairs to the Charlevoix-based ship, and barring any complications the Sundew should have left for home over the weekend.

Lt. Cmdr. Garrett said that the Sundew was breaking ice, off the Rennie Oil Company dock at Traverse City last Saturday afternoon when a break in the main engine's insulation caused the ship to lose its propulsion. A small fire resulted, which was extinguished promptly with no injuries reported to the crew.

The 110-foot Arundel was dispatched from Chicago to tow the Sundew to Manitowoc, Wisconsin, for repairs.

Repairs were in progress last week, and when resurfacing of the commutator of the main engine (the point at which the electric current enters the motor) was completed, the Sundew would depart for Charlevoix, perhaps as early as late Saturday.

First reports that were circulated in the area last Saturday indicated there had been a major explosion on board the ship which resulted in loss of life. Lt. Cmdr. Garrett stressed that there was no explosion at all, and the fire was small, and confined to a small section of the engine.

The only injury since the ship left home port took place in Manitowoc, when a member of the crew slipped and fell down a ladder, cutting his leg.

With its early return to the area, the Sundew undoubtedly will concentrate its efforts on preparation for the forthcoming navigation season on the Great Lakes.

Bad breaks badger Brow boats

Lady Luck has not been casting favorable glances at Brow Marina in Charlevoix the past week.

First, last Monday a fire did extensive damage to a boat (see story, this page).

Then on Wednesday morning, the roof of a boat shed at the marina came tumbling down on four cruisers and three snowmobiles.

As with the fire, the cause is unknown, but manager Jim Shepard indicated that the weight of snow on the roof plus heavy rains Tuesday might have been enough to cause the roof to collapse.

The accident occurred at 2 a.m., and damaged boats ranging from 23 to 37 feet. Three of the ten snowmobiles stored in the building were also damaged.

The accident itself provided an exact time of the collapse. Falling rafters unplugged and electric clock.

More study needed on school request

Rex Milligan, School Superintendent, reinterated his appeal before the Charlevoix City Council last Monday night that school taxes be levied in June rather than December to provide necessary funds for the early part of the school year. The council asked for more time to study the request.

The school district, Milligan said, finds itself in a financial bind every fall and is forced to borrow money to keep its schools in business. Last year they borrowed funds that cost the district $6,000 in interest.

What makes the situation even more complicated is that as evaluations increase, the amount of money the district receives in state aid decreases.

Richard Donaldson pointed out that there are some districts that already levy school taxes in the summer and that there are some that are now considering the move.

Mayor William Fochtman noted that sending out bills for school taxes in June would prove a hardship to some area businesses, which would have just finished paying their 1969 school taxes and would not be able to pay such a large amount again so soon.

In other business, Walker Miles told the council that he has filed 10 complaints with Charlevoix Police during the past year but no one has contacted him to follow up the complaints.

Last month Walker complained about some snowmobilers on his property. When no police action was taken, Walker strung a wire across his yard and caught three snowmobilers on it and called the police.

Police did not catch the snowmobilers in the act so no action was taken. They were, however, tracked down by juvenile officer Lillian Bergmann and one had signed a complaint against Walker for stringing an obstruction on city property.

CHS wins District!

It's on to Traverse City Thursday for Charlevoix's Red Rayder basketball team following their decisive 52-38 win over Boyne City in the District Tournament finals Saturday night in Gaylord.

Coach Don Carey's charges now must face district winner Manistee Catholic Central at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, in the Traverse City High School gymnasium.

The winner of that game will advance to the Regional finals to be played Saturday on the same floor.

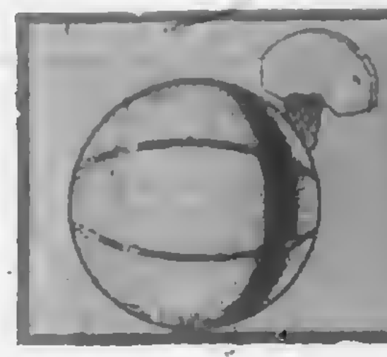
Against Boyne City, it was the Rayders "Big 3" who did all the damage. Leading the CHS attack was Kraag Lieberman with 18 points, Stew Coleman with 16 and Bruce Meggison with 10.

Meggison came into the game as a doubtful starter due to a knee injury, but played the entire game.

Charlevoix outscored Boyne City in every period, 11-8, 13-7, 13-9, and 15-14 to take the district title handily.

Other players scoring for the local quintet were Kevin Swanson with 6 and Norm Ostrum with 2.

Lexalite wins 1st of season!



Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

Behind closed doors because of the threat of a riot, the second to last week of regular play of the Independent Basketball League dazzled its privileged spectators, highlited by the presence of Georges Pompidou and Mashe Dayan. Only two games were played because the Sundew was out on maneuvers trying to quell a flare-up on north Fox Island between the rebels on Beaver Island and the Hog Island Liberation Front. (HILF) Threat of a further disturbance is inevitable since the HILF has pirated two fish tugs from he St. James harbor. Anyways, in the night's basketball action, Andy's Tire World made a very diplomatic move in losing to Lexalite, enabling the Liters to capture their first victory of the season. The U.S. Coast Guard Station just about got called up to help the Sundew, but hung on long enough to squeak by First State Bank in the final game of the evening.

In the evening's first cut-throat battle, powerful Andy's Tire World lost its poop in the fourth period and dropped a close game to Lexalite. The Liters took a first period lead of 15 to 13 with Pete Spieles putting in 6 points, and Norm Helms dropping in 5 for Andys. Lexalites lead was shortlived as Andy's romped back to a 25 to 21 lead at half time. Sam Supernaw, flabbergasting the crowd with his uncanny moves, pushed through 6 points for Andy's.

Before the second half got started, the crowd was treated to a spectacular balloon race between Miss Minnesota and Carol Doda, in which neither contestant could use her hands. When the air cleared, Andy's was able to keep their lead in the third period with the score 45-42. Once again sizzling Sam had 6 for Andy's, while Drano Winnell flushed in 6 for the Liters. In the fourth period Andy's was unable to hold up under a partial crowd and red hot Glen Taylor, who pushed in 7 points (one less than Andy's scored in the entire period,) and helped his team to their first victory of the year. Roxy VanLoo and Tom Acton were so excited with their teams first victory that they guaranteed to moon the Sundew when it comes back from its Battle of the Beavers. In scoring, Pete Spieles led the Liters with 15, and Glen Taylor had 10, while Sam Supernaw had 16 in Andy's losing effort.

In the evening's finale, First State Bank, playing without the services of Wine-O Martin, who was in Oxford accepting his Rhodes Scholar, dropped a close one to the USCG Station. The Station took a first period lead of 15 to 10, with Foul-free Frank Hackett putting in 6 points for the Guard. Increasing his output in the second quarter to 8 points, the Sand Pounders were able to keep a slim lead at half time of 33 to 31. Lee Cross swished in 4 buckets for the Bankers.

A half time demonstration on the art of fouling was given by the LaBlance brothers Bren and Chopper. We were very gifted to have this demonstration since these boys have a busy schedule this time of year. Don Smith also helped with the show. When the second half started, the boys went in and put to practice what they demonstrated, and the Bankers lost Bren and Don to fouls. The Bankers went behind by 3 points at the end of the third period, 47 to 44. Hackett swabbed in 7 points for the Station, and Leaping Larry Edwards put in 6 for the Bankers. The Bankers made a closing minute surge, coming within 2 points of the Station, but they were unable to go any further and dropped the game 67 to 63. Clyde Eggett kept the Swabbies alive with a 10 point performance in the fourth period, while Lee Cross had 7 for the Bankers. In the game totals, Frank Hacket led the Station with 21 and Eggett had 16. For the Bankers, Cross led with 21 also, and Bren LaBlance and Larry Edwards had 13 apiece.

W O U L D   Y O U   B E L I E V E . . . . . Peace negotiations will start on the Battle of the Beavers as soon as they can decide where to hold them-the HILF is partial to the Beachcombers, and the Rebels want the Shamrock.....Jimmy Woodward is betting on First State this week (it looks like Lexalite is a sure winner)......The Mayor realizes we need money......Sprio and James Turner will be this weeks' special guests.....Del Terrill is taking all the credit for the Liter's win.......Bill Supernaw still thinks he's on Sound-off while refereeing-Vreeland is always on it.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

Grape boycott attempts that have been lingering on for two grape harvesting seasons with the purpose of denying freedom of the markets to growers and consumers and to force unionization of workers in the vineyards is like the locomotive that never really got rolling and continues to lose steam.

The lack of locomotion is evidenced by the "Less than three percent of all grape workers who belong to the union," explained Jack Angell of American Farm Bureau. "Those who have signed, work for a few wineries under a union shop contract," he said.

"Instead of a migrant ill-paid, ill-housed work force," Angell continued, "The industry is non-migrant and stable, and is the highest paid farm work force in North America; and instead of the casual and careless use of pesticides in the California vineyards, as charged, supervision and care have reduced accidents to a minimum and has yet to present substantive evidence to the contarary. Proof of the cynicism of tract."

Further evidence of the boycott failure to halt the sale of grapes is presented by the California Table Grape Commission who report the "movement of table grapes from California to the nation's marketplaces followed a near-normal pattern in 1969 with shipments equaling the six-year crop average."

An upswing in consumer demand is also expected and should bring total 1969-70 movement to more than 24,000 carlots, which is the shipment average for grapes since 1963, the commission reported.

The bountiful success of the California vineyards which supplies the country with the majority of eating grapes is great encouragement to the preservation of an individuals freedom to market and the consumers freedom to purchase goods at the market-place.

Furthermore it is a direct rebuttal, by the people through their support, to one labor leaders threat, "We will see that nobody eats grapes in America; we will drive grapes off every table in America."

Charlevoix Brownie Scouts gather for their annual "birthdy party," held recently in the elementary school.

Brownie birthday hosts 100 scouts

Charlevoix Brownie Scouts observed their birthday recently, with a party in the elementary school multi-purpose room.'

The annual event is held normally on February 22.

One of the Brownie's leaders said, "Juliette Low wanted girl scouts to be friends all over the world. When she died, Girl Scouts thought the best way to honor her was to help make her wish come true. They started the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

"Every year we put aside a special day, most always Feb. 22, Lord Baden Powell's birthday. Lord Baden Powell was the founder of scouting for boys and girls round the world.

"Each brownie girl scout brings a penny for each year of her age. This goes into the fund for scouting in many lands. Some stay at girl scout houses, where they get to know each other better by working and playing together. Brownie's have a special pin for this day called World Association pin. This pin is worn by Brownies all over the world to show that they are friends. Bringing far away friends closer. We are all part of the girl scout family. On this day we have a big birthday cake, and play special games."

There are six Brownie Troops in Charlevoix, with about 100 girls in the second and third grades participating.

Troops are: 272, Mrs. Marge Saunders, leader, and Mrs. Maxine Hooker, assistant; 264, Mrs. Myrna Curtis, leader, and Mrs. Loretta Towsley, assistant; 261, Mrs. Barbara Timms, leader, and Mrs. Leona Zeither, assistant; 270, Mrs. Shirlene Tripp, leader, and Mrs. Lynn Lamoreaux, assistant; 248, Mrs. Andrea Mathews, leader, and Mrs. Eloise Klooster, assistant; 266, Mrs. Bunny Sandehl, leader, and Mrs. Evelyn Noirot, assistant.

CHS debaters in tournament

Bay City Central High School was the host of the first Forensic Tournament of the year held on Saturday, February 21.

Charlevoix High School participated in serious interpretation (Debbie Marshall and Marcia Mason), declamation (Bill Moore, oratory (Sandy Gigg), extemporaneous Pam Fairbanks, Geri Santek, and Lynn Fiedorek), multiple reading (Rindi Luedke, Kris Osterberg, Debbie McDowell and Tim Anders), radio broadcasting (Jerry Dohm) and humorous (Sherry Autin and Cathi Baldwin).

Sandy Gigg won a first place trophy with her oratory on cigarette smoking while Tim Anders and Debbie McDowell won a fourth place award for their reading of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe?"

Meppelink will speak here, Sun.

Herb Meppelink will be guest speaker Sunday, March 15, at the United Methodist Church in Charlevoix. Meppelink is the director of Detroit Teen-Challenge.

Teen-Challenge is a non-denominational Christian organization maintaining a ministry to youth of the inner city. It has been particularly successful in helping drug addicts to find freedom and a new life that has taken scores to teaching, missionary, and social work in behalf of others. The organization was founded in New York City about 10 years ago by the Rev. David Wilkerson. It has since been extended to other large cities. Teen-Challenge has become familiar to many through such books as "The Cross and the Switchblade," and "Twelve Angels from Hell."

Meppelink, accompanied by one of his youth workers, will speak to both morning and evening services (11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.) He feels a great concern for youth, but feels, too, that youth's needs cannot be separated from adults. He plans to speak to the needs of both.

The church extends an invitation to all the community to hear Mr. Meppelink.

Burns Circle plans meeting

The Mary Burns Circle will hold its meeting at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bob Liebermnn, 216 Park Avenue, Charlevoix. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Jenny Woods.

Hope hosts fellowship

Members of the youth fellowship group at the Community Church of Charlevoix were the guests of Hope College Saturday, February 28.

The visit, which was coordinated by the college's office of church relations, was highlighted by the Hope versus Alma basketball game.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baillargon, Petoskey Road, Charlevoix, made local arrangements for the trip.

Clergy exemp. is April 15

The final date for clergymen to request exemption from the social security tax is April 15, if they became a clergyman prior to 1969. Gordon Sattelmeier, Manager of the Petoskey social security office, is concerned that no Charlevoix County clergyman let this date slip by unnoticed.

Sattelmeier pointed out that a 1967 change in the social security law brought all clergymen automatically under the provisions of the social security law. These provisions relate to the payment of the scocial security tax on earnings of the clergy and receipt of benefits based on these earnings.

The requirement of paying the tax was effective for the years 1968 and continuing unless a clergyman completed a form 4361 requesting exemption from the social security tax. The clergyman must certify that he is conscientiously, or because of religious principles, opposed to the acceptance of any public insurance based on services performed as a clergyman which makes payments in the event of death, disability, retirement, or medical care. Form 4361 must be filed before April 15, 1970, and it is filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

For those who became clergymen in 1969 or later, the April 15, 1970 deadline does not apply. They have until April 15, 1971 or later to apply for exemption. It should be clarified further that this type of exemption applies only to income from services as a clergyman.

A pamphlet called "Social Security For Clergymen" (SSI-9) is available at the Petoskey social security office. Sattelmeier suggested contact with his office for this pamphlet or for further details of how social security relates to clergymen.

Girl Scout cookie sale develops camp

"Sugar and spice and everything nice, that's what little girls are made of."

The Girl Scouts of the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council will be taking orders for cookies during Girl Scout Week, through March 14.

They will be earning money, not only for their own troop activities; but also for developing the Girl Scout Camping program.

Last year 1,830 Girl Scouts, many of them from Charlevoix County, participated in camping, either at Day Camp, with their own troops camping trips, or at Camp Sakakawea, the resident camp.

Girl Scouts earn the money which maintains and develops the camp lands of the council. The camps at Charlevoix, Manistee, and near Custer on the south branch of the Pere Marquette River are small and for Day or Troop Camping. The 480-acre Rotary-leased site on Bass Lake is for troop and resident camping.

"Train up a child in the way she should go, and when she is old, she will not depart". . . "A Girl Scout is thrifty."

Earning her own way and saving for a goal are built into the Girl Scout Troop program and the goals of the Girl Scout Council. The Girl Scout Cookie Sale is one of the ways of carrying out this goal.

The Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council is a member agency of the United Community Funds of Emmet, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Manistee, Mason, Missaukee, and Wexford Counties. Their support, plus the cookie sale provides the Girl Scout program to 5,400 girls served last year in the eleven county council.

Library Notes

New books which will be of special interest to readers include three outstanding titles donated to the Library by one of our summer residents.

"The Rich and the Super-Rich" by Ferdinand Lundberg, is a large volume with 800 pages devoted to a study in the power of money today. Who really owns America? How do they keep their wealth and their power? Mr. Lundberg shows that there are 200,000 very wealthy individuals in the United States. Most of them belong to some 500 billionaire families. Examples are 250 Du Ponts and 73 Rockefellers. Some 61 percent of the 200,000 inherited their wealth, and they are far wealthier than ever before. These families have all the old levers of power plus a whole host of new ones created for them by the politicians, lawyers and judges who serve them. The book covers a vast range of topics and will appeal to anyone who enjoys learning about the "other half".

"The Right People" is a portrait of The American Social Establishment, written by Stephen Birmingham, author of "Our Crowd". The author explains that in America there is Society and there is Real Society, but the two seldom mix. Real Society is composed of older people. Ordinary Society people may get to be Real Society people if they work hard at it. In his wise and witty style, Mr. Birmingham discusses the Junior League, the "right" men's clubs, prep schools and "coming out" parties. The book is not only a superbly entertaining handbook on the ways of the rich and mighty. It is also an authoritative work of serious social comment.

Money Matters

"This is the Dawning of the Age of Aquarius." Peace, rationality, and love are to prevail. So say the popular song writers. Hopefully they know more of the future than most of the economists and sociologists at the start of the 1960's.

We are entering a new decade, one in which this country celebrates the 200th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. In this decade it will be more important than ever before to understand the economic issues that face us and control our daily lives. In this column, I will attempt to discuss with you some of the important economic issues that arise from week to week and how they affect our lives here in Northern Michigan.

People have asked me what this year will bring. Will there be more money available for housing and so on? Will everything be back to normal later this year? At this point in time, no one really knows. It can be a transition year. The past five years have featured an over-heated economy with a sequence of more war, more taxes, and more tight money. The year of 1970 can see these processes start to unwind, with less war, less inflation, less taxes, and less tight money.

If you have a subject you would like to have me discuss in this column, write to the Charlevoix Courier, Po. Box 117, Charlevoix Michigan.

Jumping into the pool in Traverse City are, from the left, Alan Avery, Mike Mol and Paul Osterberg.

Troop 11 takes trip to swim

Troop 11 of Charlevoix went to the Park Place Motor Inn in Traverse City, Sunday, March 1. The adult leaders who went with the boys were Louis Edwards, Scoutmaster, and Louis Hooper.

After a swim, the boys ate supper at Sherwin's. The Troop is looking forward to next year's trip.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

If the present concern about ecology and pollution continues fundamental changes in our traditional concepts and practices may result. Futile attempts to preserve physical immortality through embalming, elaborate coffins, concrete vaults, tombstones, and mausoleums may become considered as crude examples of solid pollution and a violation of nature's laws in recycling life.

If increasing amounts of good land are permanently removed from other useful purposes by cemeteries when an increasing population needs more land, cemeteries may become regarded as a waste of natural resources. The fact that funerals are the third largest expense in an average individuals life may cause people to conclude that expensive funerals are an inexcusable waste of financial resources.

The desire for some form of permanent personal memorial is both understandable and desirable, but more practical and effective means may now be available.

Perhaps people would prefer permanent attractive folders containing an adequate biography plus a photographic record of the deceased that could be placed in an attractive wing of the local City Hall, County Building, or Library, and filed according to genealogy or alphabetical order as a reasonable alternative.

Sharon Nielsen has returned to her studies at Big Rapids after spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nielsen.

Rev. Laverne Steele of Boyne City was the guests speaker for the church service last Sunday morning and also the Lenten Service Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Myner left Tuesday morning to spend two months in their home in Tampa, Florida.

Mary Carol Nielsen is quite ill with the flu. We wish her a speedy recovery.

The Weekly Club met with Mrs. Tom Harrison last Thursday afternoon. They will meet this week with Mrs. Roy Myers.

Rev. and Mrs. William Harmon are in Washington, D.C. this week. I hope they have a bodyguard.

We had more snow last Thursday which covered all the icy places from the thaw the first of the week. So, we are all watching our step.

William Cooper has returned to the Charlevoix Hospital as a surgical patient. He has the best wishes of his neighbors and friends.

James White of Paris, Kentucky, is visiting local friends and neighbors and is living at the Charleboyne Motel near Pine Point in Charlevoix.

Not too long and we will be having conditions like this that happened near the Island in March 1951. There still were several fish shanties on the ice which was solid enough for them, but not for heavy vehicles. There are places in our lake where the under current wears the ice thin from underneath and with the sun's rays, there are weak veins in the ice; so, from now on, it is smart to use caution on the ice. The man in the picture is Glen Williams who finally was successful in getting this car out of its cold predicament. We hope history will not be repeated this spring or any other spring.

You, your child and TV

Teaching hints from Sesame St.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series by the assistant research director of the Children's Television Workshop, creators of Sesame Street, the new series for preschool children.)

By Barbara Frengel Reeves

YOU can help teach children – and it doesn't take a teacher's certificate or months of training to do it.

All across the country volunteers and organizations have been working hard to make certain that "Sesame Street," television's new series for preschoolers, is a success. They have helped organize small viewing groups in underprivileged neighborhoods. And just like so many parents they are trying to emphasize and reinforce what is taught on the program.

We at Children's Television Workshop have had a number of request for suggestions in working with these children. The following activities would work just as well for a mother teaching her own preschooler.

Teaching Letters: Many mothers have noticed that, after watching Sesame Street, a youngster has gone through magazine picking out the letters that were taught on the show. Make a cardboard cut-out of that day's letter, show it to the children and practice its name with them. Then give each child a magazine and let him find each letter for you.

Give the youngster a great deal of encouragement and praise him when he finds the right letter. If he gives you the wrong letter, show him the cut-out again and work with him while he is looking for the right letter.

Teaching Numbers: Buy some play money at the five-and-ten-cent store. Let the children take turns playing Mr. Hooper, Sesame Street's grocer. The other children can buy imaginary things from the store. Pretend that the things they are buying cost the same amount as the numbers taught on the program. Let the youngsters take turns counting out the right number of pennies.

We have noticed that children like to sing the counting song while the show is on. Sing along with them. It's an enjoyable way for them to learn to count.

Teaching Children to Pay Closer Attention to Things Around Them: Bring in a box of small objects that children would recognize, such as a spoon, toothbrush, ball, pencil, ring and can. Show one child an object and let him give the other children clues as to what it is. Help him to use new words to describe it, such as round, smooth, heavy, or hard. Then the other children should try to guess what the object is.

Put these same objects in a sock and let each child guess what it is by feeling it.

There are many other little games like these that can be used to reinforce the teachings of Sesame Street. Try to use things that happen on the show to start an activity.

The producers of Sesame Street print a monthly Parent Teacher Guide which describes suggested followup activity for each show, and includes a poster for the children as well. A six-issue subscription is available for $2 from Parent Guide, Box 9070D, St. Paul, Minn. 55177.

Pat's Reaction

Deviled eggs for 8

We certainly have been doing a lot of community eating these last few weeks with the boy scout dinner, cub scout dinner, band dinner, assorted church dinners and the girl scout dinner yet to come. Sitting at all of those long tables in groups of 200 or so sort of makes me feel like I'm in a communist commune. I can't help but wonder if this is the way that they do it in Red China. I wonder if they have clowns and funny skits at their group dinners the way that we do. Do you suppose that they bring their own silverware and a dish to pass?

Actually I like these dish-to-pass affairs the best because the food is always just great. Every mommy does her best whether its scalloped potatoes or jello salad that she's called upon to bring, and looking down those long tables at everyone grabbing makes me think that I'm just part of one big happy boarding house.

Naturally I wouldn't recommend these dinners to anyone with a delicate stomach but for those of you who like action with your meals I can guarantee a lot of action.

Now there is often more to these group dinners than meets the eye. They are a good way for any organization to get their message across. Just feed everyone until they're satiated and then while they're lying back digesting it all give them the pitch and let them digest next year's fund raising program. Really, it's not a bad idea at all.

Please pass the coleslaw.

Mrs. Marshall opens business

Marilyn (Mari) Marshall has added a new service for Charlevoix businessmen and residents.

With her husband, Jim, and three children, Deb, Dave and Jim, she moved to Charlevoix two years ago and brings with her excellent qualifications for opening the Charlevoix Secretarial Services office.

Mrs. Marshall has had twenty years of experience as a legal, medical and general secretary. Her office, located at 212 Bridge Street, should be accessible to her customers. Mrs. Marshall lists some of her many services, offered as typing of manuscripts, term papers, personal or business correspondence (dictated or from rough drafts), and bookkeeping. Through newly installed equipment, she is also able to extend phone answering coverage to a large number of subscribers for a very nominal monthly fee.

The Rayders advanced to the Class C District Finals with an impressing win over Onaway at Gaylord Wednesday night. The Rayders had to fight off a spirited Cardinal squad, but finally took command in the final quarter scoring 31 points and defeating their opponents 81 to 59.

The Rayders took an early lead in the first quarter and held that lead throughout the game with Onaway only coming within six points, which came in the second quarter. At the end of the first stanza was 18 to 9 score with the leading margin going to Rayders.

In the second quarter the Cardinals outscored the Rayders 16 to 15 but were still unable to take the lead. At halftime the score was 33 to 25 with the Rayders still on top by seven points.

... The scoring remained even on both teams with the Rayders unable to get a real big lead. The Cardinals scored 15 in the third period but the Rayders scored 17 to make a 50 to 40 score going into the final stanza.

The Rayders pumped in 31 big points in the fourth quarter to provo they were the deserving winners. Coach Carey was able to substitute freely throughout the entire 4th quarter, allowing the whole Rayder bench to play. The score at the final buzzer was 81 to 59 with the Rayders winning their first tournament game of the schedule.

The Rayders now advance to the finals playing Boyne City. The winner of the finals will travel to Traverse City to play in the Regionals to be held at Traverse City High School.

For the Rayders, Stew Coleman led all scorers with 30 points, followed by Bruce Meggison with 17, Kraag Lieberman with 14, Norm Ostrum with 7, Kevin Swanson and Bill Carey 4 each, Carl Novak and Terry Elzinga, with 2 each and Tim Carey with 1.

For the Cardinals Freil had 24, Presearr 9, Boucher and Dunn 6 each, and Holems 4.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
January 13, 1970

The Charlevoix Board of County Commissioners held its organizational session on Tuesday, January 13, 1970 at 9:30 A.M.

Meeting called to order by the Clerk, Clarence F. Rabach.

Roll call and the following members present: Supervisors Ingalls, NCunningham, Smith, Davis Richardson, Griffin, Kullik, Taylord, Milstein, Kassin, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, Staley, Moerland, 15. Absent, none.

INVOCATION

THE PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The board repeated the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag led by Supervisor Staley.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

The Clerk announced that the first order of business was the election of a Temporary Chairman for 1970. Supervisor Taylor nominated John Kujawski. Moved by Supervisor Carson and supported by Supervisor Davis that the nominations be closed and the Clerk cast a unanimous ballo for John Kujawski. Motion carried.

PERMANENT CHAIRMAN

Motion by Supervisor Taylor that John Kujawski be nominated as permanent Chairman. Moved by Supervisor Cunningham and supported by Supervisor Kullik that the nominations be closed and the Clerk be instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for John Kujawski. Motion carried.

VICE-CHAIRMAN

Supervisor Griffin nominated Supervisor Staley as Vice-Chairman for the year 1970. Moved by Supervisor Taylor and supported by Supervisor Tompkins that the nominations be closed and the Clerk cast a unanimous ballot for Supervisor Staley for Vice-Chairman. Motion carried.

RECESS

The Chairman declared a recess for Committee appointments.

AFTER RECESS

The Clerk called the roll and all members were present.

Further, that a copy of this Resolution be sent to Rep. Davis and Senator Schweigert.

I move the adoption of same.

Respectfully submitted,
Harry Tompkins
Barney Milstein

Resolution adopted.

ARCHITECT'S FEES - NEW JAIL

Moved by Supervisor Carson and supported by Supervisor Taylor, that the following resolution be adopted;

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD:

We, the members of the Building and Grounds Committee, respectfully request the Board of Supervisors to pass the following resolution;

Whereas, S. T. Gerganoff, architect, has now progressed with the drawings and specifications work of the new jail to the point that they are nearly ready to go for bids.

And whereas no funds have been paid as yet for any of the architectural work,

And whereas any amount now paid is to be deducted from the finalized fees when they are determined;

Now therefore be it resolved that a payment of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars be paid to S T Gerganoff, architect.

Signed; Carson, Richardson, Staley, Committee.

Vote: Yeas, Supervisors Ingalls, Cunningham, Smith, Davis, Richardson, Griffin, Kullik, Taylor, Milstein, Kassin, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, Staley, Moerland, 15. Nays none. Absent, none. Resolution adopted.

Garden Club hears house plant report

Members of the Garden Club met for their February meeting at the home of Margaret Wilson with Arla Staublin as co-hostess.

Jeanne Michael gave a most interesting and instructive lesson on physiological diseases and pests of house plants.

House plants have pests and diseases the same as those outdoors. Mealybugs are pale pink or yellow insects covered with a white mealy substance. They congregate in sheltered corners of the plants such as leaf axiles and suck the sap. Like many sucking insects, they excrete large quantities of honeydew, and the leaves may become covered by sooty molds. Some plants can be sprayed with malathion, while others are sensitive to it. A bath of a mild solution of a laundry soap sometimes helps.

Also, the red spider mite is one of the most serious pests. It is extremely small and a strong magnifying glass is needed to see it clearly, but it breeds quickly and can cause a lot of damage in a short time.

It attacks most plants feeding on the underside of the leaves where it lays its round reddish eggs and the leaves become finely speckled with yellow marks that spread until the whole leaf turns yellow and withers.

The mites will also spread fine webbing over the leaves. These mites dislike humid conditions and frequent syringing with a mild soapy water will help. Or, spray with Kelthane for serious infestations.

House plants will also become sick with too much water and will result in leaf and root rot.

The next meeting will be with Carolyn Klooster on Tuesday afternoon, March 10.

Women's World

Week's meetings

The Music Group of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet today, March 9, at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Jerrald Redeker, corner of Oak and Central Streets.

The Arts and Crafts Group will meet on March 16, at 9:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Robert Neff. They will be working on decorated Easter eggs. Club members who come should bring hard-boiled or blown eggs and decorating equipment. Mrs. Paul Santek was elected chairman of the Arts and Crafts Group, to replace Mrs. Ray Wood, who resigned.

The Discussion Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. on March 16, at the home of Mrs. Donna Hamilton, 114 E. Hurlbut Street. Mr. Robert Korn, principal of Boyne City High School will be guest speaker. He will talk about disruptive or revolutionary student organizations and their influence on high school age students.

Ruppe Reports

"What provisions are being made for new public health facilities?"

The House, just last week, passed several Conference reports to improve our mental and public health programs. S. 2523 will improve the program of assistance to community mental health centers, as well as facilities for alcoholics and narcotics addicts. There is increasing evidence that the mentally ill recover sooner and more fully when there is a comprehensive treatment program in their community. With this legislation, Federal money will be authorized for the construction and operation of mental health facilities in home areas. It further authorizes that services be added at such facilities for mentally-disturbed children.

For a number of years, agencies concerned with community health programs have been faced by shortages of professional personnel with public health training—including physicians, nurses, and sanitarians. The problem has been particularly severe in rural areas such as ours. I was, consequently, most pleased when the House passed the conference report on S. 2809. This bill authorizes project grants for graduate training in public health, and will help stimulate professional interest in our public health programs.

"My veterans pension will be lost unless some provision is made to allow for the recent Social Security increase. What is being done?"

I understand that legislation to adjust outside income limitations to allow for the 15 percent across-the-board increase in Social Security, will be considered by the Ways and Means Committee during this session. Since the Social Security increase will not affect veterans pensions this year, I am confident that legislation will be enacted before any veterans pension is lost.

"My Senior Class is coming to Washington this spring. What tours can be arranged in advance?"

Unfortunately, the White House can no longer schedule special school tours during the April through September months, and suggests that school groups take the public tours. I will be happy to arrange FBI and State Department tours for you, however. Of course, I hope that you will drop by my office to visit with my staff and me.

Obituary

J.W. Smith

Funeral services for James W. Smith, 59, area representative of the Thompson-Cain Meat Packing Co., were held from the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Thursday. The Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen officiated. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Smith died Tuesday at the Charlevoix hospital several hours after he was admitted.

Born at Neptune, Tenn., Nov. 5, 1910, Mr. Smith had resided in the Detroit area for 25 years prior to coming to Charlevoix in 1960 as an area representative for a meat packing company. For the past two years he had been associated with the Thompson-Cain Company. He was a member of the First Congregational Church, Loyalty lodge No. 488 F. & A.M.; in Detroit and a charter member of the Charlevoix Lions Club. He had served as chairman of the club's annual golf tournament for several years.

Surviving are his wife, the former Geneva Powers whom he married at Pontiac in 1940; a daughter, Mrs. Jerry (Patricia) Drost of Charlevoix) three grandchildren; his father, Jesse Smith of Clarksville, Tenn.; one brother, Thomas Smith of Joliet, Ill. and four sisters, Mrs. Lou Konya of South Bend, Ind., Mrs. Ellis Heath of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Everett Sensing of Clarksville, Tenn., and Mrs. D. A. Dewberry of Akron, Ohio.

Student teaching

Richard Heeres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Heeres of Charlevoix, has begun his student teaching at Rockford High School in Rockford, Michigan.

Heeres is a Senior at Western Michigan University, majoring in secondary education.

Freedman history continues

"In addition to all the special items we manufactured, we continued to manufacture the standard Freedman Burnham propellers for the liaison planes, known during the war as "Grasshoppers." In addition we developed an unusual controllable pitch propeller for flying bombs. This project was dropped by the Air Force as the electronic technique in those days was not adequate for efficient remote control.

"As we had a large complete engineering department, we were constantly doing jobs for the Army Air Force and the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics of a specialized nature. The final job in World War II was the most complicated, sophisticated and largest propeller blade ever made for an airplane. This was for a highly secret airplane which was going to be the fastest and slowest flying propeller-driven aircraft. The final propeller blades for this experimental contract were actually finished in Charlevoix.

"During the war, we worked closely with Beech Aircraft, helping them to develop the Beech Roby propeller which later became standard equipment for the now famous Beech Bonanza.

"Walter Burnham moved to Wichita prior to the end of World War II to join Beech Aircraft. After a few years at Beech, Burnham moved over to the Wichita Division of Boeing Aircraft Corporation, where he worked on the tooling for the B-52, which is the type airplane that is constontty flying over Charlevoix in connection with the Bay Shore radar site.

"Close to the end of World War II, we worked closely with Continental Motors, Muskegon, helping them develop a constant speed propeller for the private airplane field. A production run of propeller blades was manufactured for Continental after we moved to Charlevoix.

"I realized in the final phases of World War II that since five of our eight years in business had been closely tied to the war effort, we had to regear for a civilian economy.

"There was a limited market for wood propellers and the development of jets further reduced the need for propellers. All the other products we had been producing were for strictly military use.

"The answer was to use our knowledge of wood for a special place in the civilian market.

"We could not afford a large engineering department and other executives. It was decided that we would have to practically start all over with the company built around one executive. This prompted Burnham's decision to stay in the aircraft field; Bert Wallenstein, vice president, to go into aircraft sales; and Leon H. Joseph, treasurer, to return to the investment business.

"The simplest business would be one where we could perform services for civilian customers the same as we did for the military, whereby the executive manager could make all the contacts without the use of a large, expensive sales force.

"Although there was little self-service in stores back in 1945, it appeared that self-service store fixtures would have an excellent future. Greeting cards and postcards were practically the only items being sold off self-service racks. If we sold fixtures to a greeting card company, their large sales force would have to sell fixtures along with the cards. This was the answer.

"The next thing was to build fixtures cheaper and better than anyone else, and to find a location where we could start small and train people our way, avoiding the ancient ways of the wood-working trade.

"The woodworking industry had gradually been moving south, seeking low labor rates and other economic advantages. We decided to move north where people should be more productive and willing to try new ways of doing things, plus being close to a supply of lumber adequate for our needs.

"It had been my ambition since starting college to locate a manufacturing plant in a small town, centrally located in the United States, away from all the complications of the big cities and close to te major market areas. Charlevoix was the answer.

"We moved to Charlevoix in June, 1946, reorganizing as Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation.

"We started working on greeting card fixtures before we moved to Charlevoix. At the same time, we tried other wood products for which there was a ready market immediately following the war, such as bookcases and desks. We produced these items until they became too competitive, and began requiring an expensive sales force.

"In 1941, a young man by the name of Charles A. (Mauser) Meier went to work for us in Cincinnati. Except for the time he spent overseas in the Army during the war, Charlie has been with us ever since. Ernie Wissel, as chief inspector, was with Freedman-Burnham during the war years. He also moved with us to Charlevoix. Unfortunately Ernie developed cancer soon after retiring to Florida, and passed away shortly after. He will long be remembered as a very special person by everyone who knew him.

"Holland Motor Express, to Parker Motor Freight, moved us in ten troller loads, plus Charlie in our pick-up truck, which was cut down from what had been my Ford stationwagon. Charlie sailed right past Charlevoix and got halfway to Petoskey before he realized it. Later on Dewey Bruce owned this vehicle. I am sure be always managed to make it stop in Charlevoix.

"Operations were set up in several locations around Charlevoix in 1946. A small crew of men came with us from Cincinnati. Ernie Wissel and Charlie Meier being the only ones who stuck it out. Most of them moved back to Cincinnati. I recall one went to Beaver Island for a Homecoming, and was never heard from again.

"People in Charlvoix were very good to us. We had quite a struggle in the early days. Harley Ochs gave us office space over the old Central Drug Store, never letting us pay a dime in rent. The main shop was in Lew Brandt's building on West Lincoln, which has been occupied by Great Lakes Fabrication for several years, in addition to their new plant on the north side of the Airport. We had a machine shop in the Glen Ingalls building on Bridge Street.

"In the latter part of 1946 we started construction of the original 16,000 square feet of our present building.

"Robert O. Pearl started with us in August, 1946. Bob worked on propellers in Charlevoix before they were phased out. Earl Kroll came along in December, 1946, followed by Warren Allison in February, 1947; Art Hellig and Bill Armstrong in 1948; George Lusk, Cal Gould and John Swanson in 1949; Chorlie Bergmann and Les Smith in 1950; Virginia Hoffmann, 1952; Dewey Bruce, 1954; Clayton Trimble, 1954; Gene Bergmann, 1955; Joe Powell, George McWatters, Keith Wagner, Erwin Holecheck and Coval Mathews, all in 1956, followed by Carl Wright and Alvin Sheppard in 1957; Josie Stutzman, Jack Mort and Bud Heise in 1958; Russ Bolser, 1959; Leonard Hosler, 1960; and Casey Harthorn, 1961. Most everyone hired fillowing Casey was after we started climbing uphill aguin, following our near-collapse in 1961.

"Among other things during the war, we did special process packaging of very delicate parts for engines and instruments, as well as very large equipment that could be packed and shipped all over the world without becoming damaged and corroded or attacked by fungus. This packaging knowledge has enabled us to ship anywhere with very little in-transit damage.

"All of these many activities before and immediately after the war equipped us to be very flexible and highly quality conscious. These abilities were once more factor that went into what has become Freedman Artcraft.

"We have developed an outstanding reputation for integrity and quality. Everyone we deal with knows they can depend upon us. We have done this without a sales force, as in effect, everyone at Freedman Artcraft is a salesman in producing products of high quality and good design, plus making every effort to give our customers the best possible service.

"After greeting card fixtures, we developed fixtures for recrods. Prior to 1947, phonograph records were sold over a counter after the customer had selected what he wanted from a catalog. It took us nearly a year to convince, first, RCA Victor on the practicability of self service for selling records. After RCA was convinced, they helped us sell the entire record industry on the idea of self-service for records. We have been the leader in this field ever since.

"From record fixtures we worked into fixtures for Talon and Singer, through Donahue Sales Corporation, followed by candles, and now, fixtures for most any item that can be sold on a self-service basis.

"We produced Sears, Roebuck's greeting card fixtures for a few years, but did not grow big with greeting card fixtures until we connected with American Greetings Corporation, Cleveland, Ohio.

"It was until just before the Korean War that we started to get our head above water. The first six years in Charlevoix ran us deep in the red, training people and building up our business. Just as we started to operate with a profit, the Korean War came along and made things much tougher. It became difficult to get material and generally to compete during a war economy.

"From 1953 on, we grew steadily with a few ups and downs, and each year made a modest profit which we plowed back into the business to help reduce our heavy indebtedness, buy new equipment, and add floor space.

"Through all of these years the banks have had faith in us and have made it possible for us to borrow for our expansion and continued business growth.

"For several years, American Greetings, like so many business people throughout the United States, had little faith in the future of any manufacturing operation in Michigan. The attitude in those days was that Michigan was going bankrupt, making it difficult for any manufacturer to operate under these conditions. Other states were constantly working out methods to help business, to finance new plants, to train their employees, and to generally promote their well being, while it appeared Michigan was dragging manufacturers down.

"American Greetings suggested that we move our facilities to the South where labor cost was much less, since they were constantly seeking way to purchase fixtures at a lower price.

"We told American Greetings that because of our faith in democracy we knew sooner or later the situation would change in Michigan. From being considered the worst, it would become one of the best for manufacturing, as well as the leading recreational state in the country. We told American that someday many of the southern states would have to suffer some of the same problems of Michigan, and we would be ahead having suffered through this sickness and recovered from it ahead of other states in the country.

"We also explained that the difference in labor cost was not the entire factor, that we operate with no sales force other than myself, whereas all our competition has sales forces made up of many highly paid people, running heavy expense accounts; and that although we have engineering, testing and inspection expenses above other woodworking plants, in the long run these special facilities produce products more-trouble-free and efficient than can be obtained elsewhere.

"American Greetings decided to build their own plant in North Carolina at practically no expense to them. The community, with the help of the state built the plant with a very generous arrangement to pay it back over a long period of time with practically no taxes.

"Since we had developed our designs for American Greetings, they did not require engineering. They were able to set up production, with trained help supplied by the State of North Carolina, and produce all the fixtures they required except for the West Coast. They claimed they were able to do this at a savings of over $20 from what they were paying us. They admitted that in time maybe their costs would increase equal to ours, but in the meantime they would save thousands of dollars.

"This move by American necessitated Freedman Artcraft to reduce from 99 people down to 17 by August, 1961. In spite of our not knowing where our next payroll would come from for many months, we decided to expand our facilities so we could develop the most efficient fixture plan in the country.

"Communities and states all over the country for years have been soliciting us to move to their state. This trend increased as Michigan got into deeper problems. It was difficult to turn down some extremely generous offers which would not only have eliminated all our financial burden, but would have furnished a beautiful new plant that we could pay for on very easy terms, stretched over many years, tax free, and with employees trained at no cost to us. Letters, phone calls and personal visits were continuous.

"This was hard to turn down, not knowing where our next dollar was coming from. One of these states might have pushed me into a decision to move if they had offered to take all our employees, at no cost to them, and set them up with housing to their complete satisfaction, at the new location. Since Freedman Artcraft is made up of many people, it would cease to be Freedman Artcraft if it ended up at another location with just two or three of us.

"Faith in all the people that had worked so hard to make Freedman Artcraft, faith that the State of Michigan would again become a leader in the Nation, convinced me that now was the time to 'go for broke' by going even deeper into debt, and expand our facilities.

"Our policy over the years of putting the major part of our profit back into the plant and setting aside capital for emergencies and growth, paid off as it enabled us to increase our indebtedness and operate through two long years, losing more money than we normally made in any of our previous profitable years.

"It was tough on all of us everyone taking a cut in pay, paying for their own medical-hospital insurance, and working at every job, regardless of how tough or dirty. At the same time, we had to provide our remaining customers with all the services we had given them previously.

"All of our efforts, along with our reputation, have paid off. We now have, a good deal more business than before. Three new greeting card customers replaced American Greetings, and we have many more customers for all our other products. In addition we were able to borrow sufficient funds to complete our even larger expansion less than five years after completing our last big expansion.

"Although it would hurt, it would not be a disaster to lose any one of our large greeting card customers. One of the largest, just a few years ago, gave half our fixture business to another supplier. Although this required a lot of financial juggling on our part for a while, we came through the year with hardly a ripple in our overall financial position; having the best year in our history to date.

"It would be easier to remain at our present size and become increasingly more efficient; however, we have to continue to grow or we will wither and die. For this reason, financing will continue to be a problem for several years to come, and our management will always be stretched a little thin to keep on top of all the advancements necessary to produce the required results.

"We can only continue to prosper if everyone working for the company profits on an equal basis. This will always be our policy, as it will insure our continuous success.

"I am very optimistic about our future as there is so much that we can improve throughout our plant. With everyone having patience that all improvements will eventually come about, and everyone making the best of what we have until the improvements are accomplished, it will enable us to continue to forge ahead to the mutual benefit of everyone."

Are you paying more than 11¢ a gallon for your home's heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential nonheating customer, read on. You qualify for our special service rate which gets you Gas for healing at a price equal to fuel oil costing 11¢ a gallon.

Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we will pay for it and its installation by a participating Gas heating contractor. Payments can be made on your Gas bill.

We'll buy the oil that's in your tank at the price you paid for it. We'll remove the tank from your home at no cost to you, and we'll even haul it away if you want.

Convert to thrifty, natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank. Call us today for the name of a participating Gas heating contractor and full details.

Justice and $$

Although we agree in essence with District Judge W. Richard Smith's decision not to issue a warrant for the arrest of Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach for failure to make public the file on the Wayne Richard Russell rape case, we regret that Judge Smith allowed monetary considerations to affect his decision.

The warrant was asked by James Turner, publisher of "Today" magazine, and Mrs. Edward Vogler, an associate editor covering the Charlevoix area, after Rabach refused to show the file to Mrs. Vogler, in violation of state law.

Rabach was told by Circuit Judge Charles Brown not to reveal the file, although Judge Brown did not issue a formal written order suppressing it.

In his decision, Judge Smith said Rabach committed an "honest mistake" in not releasing the records, but that he would not make the same mistake again now that he knows the law. He also cited Rabach's "good reputation and fine record of public service."

But he also said that if a warrant were issued and Rabach demanded a trial by jury, the litigation would cost the county $135 for the first day of trial and $90 for subsequent days. Costs would go even higher if either party requested a change of venue, Judge Smith said.

As important as tax dollars are today and as much as we respect the public coffers, we do not believe Judge Smith should have attempted to place a price tag on such a priceless commodity as justice.

There are some things in life that simply cannot carry a dollars and cents value, and justice is — or should be — among them. (B.C.)

Welcome, Capt.

The new addition to Charlevoix's growing list of published authors is William J. Palmer, captain of the Department of Natural Resources' first fisheries research vessel, the Steelhead.

Capt. Palmer's first book, "The Salmon Hunters", is off the press and is an invaluable addition to the lore of the Great Lakes.

Not only did Capt. Palmer write the book, but he also did the dozens of pen-and-ink illustrations, capturing the many moods of Lake Michigan and dockside and shipboard scenes familiar to many northern Michiganders.

"The Salmon Hunters" follows the progress of the Steelhead from its incubation in an Escanaba shipyard through its first season of operation in the summer of 1968.

Capt. Palmer not only offers a wealth of technical data about how the crew of the Steelhead goes about the business of locating schools of coho salmon with an electronic "fish-finder," but he also tells about life aboard ship and in port with the eye of an artist.

The books is rich in anecdotes, like the time the crew prepared a kettle of fish chowder called "booyah" using two sturgeon heads and the night in a gale when the doughty sailors had to tie down their big coffee maker with string to keep it from toppling over.

"By the time we were satisfied that it wouldn't move, it looked as if it were caught in the middle of a giant spider web," Capt. Palmer writes.

All in all, "The Salmon Hunters" is a factual, amusing and highly-readable account of the Steelhead's first year of service.

Charlevoix's other published authors, such as Dr. William Ratigan; Dr. Harold Kohn, Mrs. Edith Gilbert and James Elliott, might offer a hearty "welcome aboard" to Capt. Palmer. (B.C.)

'Johnny'-on-spot

Thanks to the alertness of bridge tender Leon Prior, a potentially catastrophic fire at Brow Marina was snuffed out Monday morning by Charlevoix firemen before it had a chance to do much damage.

From his vantage point at the bridge house, Prior noticed flames inside one of the open boat stalls at the marina shortly after he came on duty at 7 a.m. He notified the Fire Department post haste.

Prior was one of the few people up and around in town at that hour in a position to see the fire, which was clearly visible only on the opposite side of the lake from the marina, in the vicinity of the bridge.

The folks at Brow are particularly happy that Prior was "johnny on the spot" Monday morning.

And so are we.

Round Lake wouldn't be Round Lake without the big yellow Brow Marina boat barn on the south shore.

Letters to the Editor

Readers disagree

Dear Editor,

This letter is in reply to false claims or statements mode about the John Birch Society. As it was stated in your paper of February 16, 1970. I am a section leader for this area, which is a voluntary position.

The writer, B.C., of the article, "Birch Society in Charlevoix" would do himself a great favor in attending some of our meetings to know what we say and do. For I challenge anybody to prove me or any informed member of the John Birch Society wrong on any subject. As in regard to former President Eisenhower and his Secretary of State, I would ask any interested person including, (B.C.) to read the book, "The Politician" by Robert Welch, and then judge for himself. Now in regard to other issues of (B.C.), creeping socialism has not because of necessity, become a way of life, but because everybody wonts something for nothing. Do you realize that somebody has to pay for it in the beginnig. I came to this country, and to this day have never stuck my hand into anybody's pockets, legally or illegally. Do not forget, Socialism is in the end Communism. You must not feed for free someone that, although able to work, is not willing to do so, and this at the expense of the thrifty. Otherwise we acknowledge to be thieves. If we but believed in the Ten Commandments, (this is what made our Nation so great) all our problems would be solved.

Now as to (B.C.) in regard to Robert Welch and our founding Fathers, "The rich, the well, born, and able." Well, let us look at our own Nation until it started to deviate from the Constitutional rules, everybody looked with an awe to the U.S. and with right so. For I have lived in several countries under Socialism and Communism, and a Constitutional form of governmet like uurs is without a doubt, the best form of government man has ever devised. But now how do we fare since we have taken the "only alternative" as (B.C.) implies?

in regard to the National Education Association. I would like to ask (B.C.) or anyone, to do a little research. Read "Black Board Power" by Dr Gordon Drake, and form your own opinion. There is other information which no doubt would be very helpful for anyone interested to find out just where NEA leaders stand and what their goals are.

B.C. has stated right, that our solution and goal is: expose the enemy and get as many, hopefully all the people informed of who the enemy is, and our problems would disappear overnight. But (B.C.) wrongfully states that we see communists "Behind every stump and snowbank." You see we do not exaggerate, whatever we say we can prove. All we ask of the people is, let us prove to you who is who.

I also, emphatically state that, (B.C.) is absolutely incorrect in stating that th John Birch Society resorts to smear campaigns. We need not do this, for that is the enemy's method. We proudly say: "our whole strategy is Education, and truth is our only weapon." May I ask (B.C.) to please state one lie and prove it about us! I put this as a challenge to you.

As to (B.C.'s) claim that the John Birch Society in his opinion is totally wrong, and the reason the U.S. has moved to the left, is because of overwhelming social problems not because of an insidious Communist scheme, we can prove otherwise.

Again I ask all interested people, including B.C., to make their time available and I am willing to prove our claim with indisputable facts. My time is always available to any group interested in the truth. We know that 98 or 99 prcent of the American citizens, if properly informed, would roll back and destroy our enemy. We proudly pledge allegiance to our flag and the Republic, not a democracy, for which it stands. I personally have no respect for people that fold their hands behind their back, when the pledge is taken.

Truly yours,

Richard Friske

Why she married me

I was watching the FBI on TV when I finally realized why my wife married me.

I don't know why it took me so long to wake up. What happened to me has happened to thousands of guys and I've seen their sad stories told dozens of times on TV and in the movies.

The plot is so familiar. There's this schnook see? He wears glasses and stutters a little and makes $53.24 a week. He has little to offer a girl, other than deep sincerity and a job taking care of his mother the drunk. Schnook is a real loser.

Along comes his blonde doll. Sometimes her hair is black, but her thoughts are always blonde. She is the most beautiful girl Schnook has ever seen. He knows she could never care for him. He is, in fact, afraid to talk to her. He just stares and dreams.

But what's this? Doll likes Schnook. She takes a cinder out of his eye and invites him to her apartment for Sunday dinner. Schnook is obviously overwhelmed with this unexpected attention. in return, Doll is coyly whelmed.

One thing leads to another, with Doll leading all the way and Schnook stuttering in her wake. Finally if it's a TV show for the family, they plight their troth.

Either way, Schnook has scored way beyond his wildest fantasies. He doesn't know why he is so lucky. Neither does the audience. But everyone soon finds out when Doll suddenly excuses herself to go buy a roll of Tums.

in a dark bar she meets a mean but hamdsome devil. You can tell they have been lovers for years by the way they snarl ot eoch other. It turns out that Handsome is a bank robber and aha, Schnook is a bank teller. Doll's assignment is to find out from Schnook what time the bank guard takes a coffee break. She tells Handsome and, right after the next commercial, the bank is robbed and Schnook finally learns he has been played for a schnook.

Now let's see how fact can be as sickening as fiction. The other day my side of the family had a get-together. There was the usual review of the most recent embarrassments caused by my columns. While my mother counted my drinks. My sisters counted my chins. The usual sympathy was extended to my wife and the usual question was asked her: "Why did you marry him?"

Then I went home and watched the FBI and I knew why.

Any night now, she will go after the Tums. She is probably just waiting until I mumble the combination to the office safe in my sleep (I can never remember it when I'm awake).

I'm anxious for the final scene. In most movies, Doll decides she likes Schnook ok after all. At least, she doesn't want him murdered-just robbed and badly beaten up. She throws herself between him and a bullet fired by Handsome. She either dies or gets 4 to 8 years in prison.

Either way, as my wife leaves I am going to tell her I won't feed the cats while she's gone.

Onward and Upward.

ON THE 'FLIP' SIDE

The two cartoons at the right graphically point out that our nation has finally come to realize that the problems of pollution should not be relegated to the background.

Of course, residents of northern Michigan have been preaching this for many years. But, their allies outside of the conservationist have been few. So, instead of correcting the problem years ago, when it was not of such a serious and immediate nature, pollution and environmental health was shoved to the background, while the war on poverty (which apparently has failed miserably); the Vietnam conflict (no comment necessary) and other projects took the fore.

We can only hope it not too late to restore our land and water and air. At least, it's now receiving some attention.

We can't know where we're going if we don't know where we are.

On April 1, you're going to fill in your Census Form. If you think it's just a nuisance, think again. Because without it, your neighborhood, your state, your nation, would be a poorer place to live. If you think this is an overstatement, just consider the facts.

Take education: Your community needs years to plan, build, and staff extra school buildings. It can't wait until an unexpected influx of first-graders suddenly arrives at the door. Thanks to the Census it doesn't have to. The 1970 tally of one-year-olds will give your school board five years to prepare—so your school will be ready for your children when they're ready for school.

Take representation: Before you can be represented, you have to be counted—and the Census is the only chance you've got. Filling out your form makes sure you don't lose a voice in city, state, and local government. Make sure that the doctrine of "one man, one vote" applies to you.

Take housing. The answers you—and your neighbors—give on your Census Form is the only way the government can find out whether your neighborhood needs help. That's the reason for those questions about bathrooms and age of buildings and so forth. And if you're living in substandard conditions, you can get help—but only if the government has the facts.

Take recreation: Old age and youth have very different needs when it comes to recreation. But the city can't make a decision between a park and a playground without knowing the age composition of the neighborhood—and only your Census Form can give the answer.

And so it goes. Your Census answers end up as valuable information—for your country, your community—and yourself. And every question you answer is completely confidential—not even the FBI can ever see an individual Census Form.

So don't hesitate to give the Census Bureau all the facts. It's absolutely essential if you want your community—and your country—to be a better place to live.

Missions Convention at Assembly church

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Larson, Missionary to Panama, will speak Tuesday night.

The Charlevoix Assembly of God, 203 East Upright Street, is currently holding their annual Missions Convention. The Convention actually began last Thursday evening with a presentation to the congregation of "What is a Missionary?" by the pastor.

The theme of missions was also continued in the Sunday Morning Worship service with the choir singing two related songs: "The Sobbing of a Thousand Million" and "What Can I Do For Jesus?". The pastor's message was taken from John 4:34-38 with the purpose of showing what the mission of the church is today:

In the Sunday evening service Reverend Eugene Grams, missionary to the Republic of South Africa was the speaker. The convention will be continuing on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week at 7:30 p.m.

The Reverend Richard E. Larson, missionary to Panama will be the guest speaker on Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday evening Reverend Andrew McCabe, missionary to North India will be speaking.

Featured each night in these special missions rallies will be "stereo-action-slide" documentaries, national costumes of the countries represented, films of the missionaries' work, and special music.

The pastor and congregation invite everyone of our community to attend these special missions services.

Charlevoix mayor Bill Fochtman and Rep. Bob Davis chatted during recent meeting of Michigan Municipal League.

Title belongs to CHS

BY CHRIS CAREY

The Charlevoix Rayders won their second Regional title in five years defeating the Alcona Tigers 72 to 69 in a hard fought battle at the Traverse City High School gym, Saturday.

The lead changed hands numerous times throughout the game with the Rayders posting the largest margin, 11 points, in the third quarter.

The Rayders found themselves down by four at the end of the first quarter 19 to 15 but came back to tie it up 31-all at the end of the first half.

Again in the third quarter the Rayders out-scored the Tigers but had to fight off an attack late in the stanza.

The Rayders were on top 54 to 49 going into the fourth quarter.

The Tigers came back strong and tied up the score 67 to 67 then went ahead 69 to 67 with 33 seconds remaining. Charlevoix was fouled and both free shot attempts were missed, however, Charlevoix got the rebound and tied it up 69-all.

Charlevoix then fouled Alcona and sent them to the freethrow line with 16 seconds remaining. The attempt was missed and Charlevoix came off with the rebound and immediately called time out. When the ball was bought back in bounds, Charlevoix scored and Meggison was fouled under the basket and made one of the shots to make the 72 to 69 score.

Coleman lead all scorers with 24 followed by Meggison with 19. Kevin Swanson had his best night of the season with 11 and good night on the boards. Lieberman followed with 11.

Charlevoix now will take on St. Ignace in the quarter finals, Wednesday night.

Board hears reports, gets 2 resignations

Charlevoix's School Board heard various reports, bids and communications combined with decisions regarding summer school tuition at their regular meeting last Monday night.

Mrs. Connie Ford presented a report on the debate and forensics programs which had been returned to the system this year and proved to be very successful.

Elementary principal Glenn Snider, and kindergarten teacher Kathryn Smith, appeared to give a report on the possibility of a primary first grade, an intermediate step between first grade and kindergarten. They told its purposes and how the pupils would fall into the category of the intermediate first grade. No decision was made, however.

Robert Cook, speaking for Hal Hill, gave a report on the findings of the Vocational Education Committee.

The Board also received bids for school buses. Bodies and chassies are bid for separately. The school is considering the purchase of one or two more buses. This decision will be made at a later date.

They also received bids on television submitted by three companies while prices for stoves and refrigerators for the Middle School were opened and referred to a committee consisting of Charles England and Mrs. Robert Hooper, and James Jensen of the faculty.

Mrs. Frank (Jeannette) Novotny presented the Board with a letter of resignation after 26 years with the Charlevoix school System. She thanked the Board for their fine association and relationship during her years with the system. Mrs. Novotny, who teaches third grade, will leave after this year.

The Board also read a letter of resignation from Mrs. Paul Donnelly who taught in the vocal music department. Mrs. Donnelly has already left the system.

A communication was received stating that events scheduled by the school interfered with Thursday night attendance at church. It was bought up that most of the sporting events (J.V. and freshman teams) could have nothing done to change them, and that the school could do nothing to remedy the situation if the students wanted to participate in the events.

It was decided to keep the tuition of summer school at $25. The subjects to be taught will be named later.

The Board touched briefly on principals' contracts and may hold a special meeting later to discuss the matter.

In brief

Elzinga in NASD

Charles Elzinga, Farm Bureau Insurance Group Career Agent, Charlevoix, recently became a Registered Representative of a National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD) member firm.

Elzinga has also become registered as a securities agent in Michigan and he has been licensed as a Variable Annuity Agent by the State Insurance Department.

The NASD registration makes it possible for Elzinga to broaden the scope of financial services he offers to include Variable Annuities.

A Farm Bureau Insurance Group Agent for six years, Elzinga, his wife Bonnie and their three children live in Charlevoix.

P.T.O. meets Wed.

The Charlevoix P.T.O. will meet Wednesday, March 18, at the Middle School cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Allison of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

130 to take test

There will be 130 members of the seventh grade taking the National Education Development Test on Wednesday, March 18 at the Middle School, according to Raymond O. Carr, principal.

The test, which will be administered by Dr. William Ratigan, is a series of tests in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences and word usage designed to measure each student's ability to apply basic learning skills rather than his ability to memorize facts.

Big Bros. plea

Big Brothers of Charlevoix County has issued a plea to fill positions on its Board of Directors.

Bob Elliott is co-ordinating the drive locally, and asked that any interested persons call him at 547-2639. He noted that the Board should be filled by March 24, when Big Brothers will hold its next meeting. Eight matches have already been made in the county, but according to officials many more will be made within the next few months.

GOP to meet

Charlevoix County GOP chairman Oscar Stroud has called a meeting of all Republicans for 8 p.m., Thursday, at the County Building. Rep. Bob Davis is scheduled to attend the meeting to discuss plans for the upcoming campaign and election.

Dudik gets AAMAnod

Rollie M. Dudik, administrator of Charlevoix Hospital, has been elected as a member of the American Academy of Medical Administrators.

This honor is conferred upon those whose qualifications in medical administration merit such recognition.

The academy is an international professional society, some of the aims of which are to encourage and foster a scientific approach to the practice of medical administration; provide a means of intercommunication; promote, conduct, and foster educational courses in this specialty.

Dudik, who came to Charlevoix a year ago from Massachusetts, also lists affiliations with the American Institute of Industrial Engineers; the Engineers Joint Council; Engineering Society of New England; International Hospital Federation; American Hospital Association; and the National Counter Intelligence Corps Association.

Dudik and his wife reside in Ironton.

Golf course snow gone

Charlevoix's Municipal Golf Course has been made off-limits for snowmobiles since the snow has melted enough to expose the grass in some areas. In case there is another hard snow and it again becomes available for snowmobiling, the red flag on the greenskeeper's building and the one on the flag pole will be displayed. "The observance of these signals in the past has been greatly appreciated, and the snowmobilers are to be congratulated," said Tom Hanna, city superintendent.

Contest is underway

The Friends of the Library are kicking off the first annual photographic contest today. The contest is the creation of Rev. Fr. Hewitt Johnston, president of the F.O.L. board for the double purpose of greater service to Charlevoix folk through the library as well as offering local photographic buffs an opportunity to exhibit.

Applications for entrants give full particulars of requirements: four black and white photos allowable to each entrant:..5 by 7 or 8 by 10 which must be mounted on a 11 by 14 board.

Name and address and phone number must be listed on the application. Name, address, make of camera, film, shutter speed, lense opening, date and place of picture must be printed on back of photo. If an insta-matic camera is used, it should be noted on the back of the photo.

Each entrant must signify that the work is his or her own.

Prizes for adults are $25, $15 and $10; students $15, $10 and $5.

All prize-winning pictures become the property of the F.O.L. and will be on display at the library during the summer months. Other entrants may claim their entries following the contest.

The contest will be judged by Robert Miles of the Miles Photo Studio and a committee of the F.O.L. headed by Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff.

Application blanks may be picked up at the Charlevoix Public Library or any of the school libraries and all entries must be submitted by May 11.

The progress of the contest will be charted each week by additional news and information.

The contest will have an added attraction: Exhibits by Charlevoix pros and advanced amateurs, who are not in competition, but wish to enhance the pleasure of the contest by exhibiting their own work.

Sundew returns to home port

The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Sundew finally steamed back into port late Friday afternoon, following two visits to Manitowoc, Wisconsin, for repairs.

The ship originally was expected to return to Charlevoix early last week, but another short circuit in the main engine forced additional repairs.

The Sundew was expected to return to Charlevoix at 10 a.m., Friday, but ice on Lake Michigan slowed the vessel's progress, and the cutter was still some six miles from home port at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

The Ink Spots, one of the most famous and long lasting singing groups in America, will visit Charlevoix on March 25. Tickets are available from members of the local Kiwanis Club, the sponsoring organization. Their concert will be held in Charlevoix High School.

Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

The final night of the regular senson, before tournament action, in the Charlevoix Independent League was as action packed and thrilling as all the previous contests. The topic of conversation before the games started was the Revolution or "The Battle of the Beavers," which is the reason the Sundew was unable to finish the season in the League. They were investigating Geneva Conference violations of the Battle. It seems the Rebels on the Beavers, led by General LaFraniere, want to secede from the Lake Michigan Common Market. The Hog Island Liberation Front (HILF) is fighting in defense of the Common Market, which meets once a year on Whiskey Island. Last week the HILF pirated two fish tugs out of the St. James Harbor and mounted Red Ryder BB guns on the bow and shot their way out of the harbor. This week, with the fish tugs, the HILF shot down Joe McPhillips as he was taking in supplies to the Beavers. Rumor has it the Rebels are considering surrendering, since the supplies that were coming over were a dozen eggs, a half gallon of milk and 650 cases of beer. But if the ice holds up, supplies will continue to go over at night and by way of the Ho Chi LaFraniere Trail. With all the conversation nobody payed any attention to Led Zeplin singing his version of the National Anthem, which was outlawed by Spiro the lip.

In the night's first basketball action, it was another diplomatic move as Lexalite captured its second straight victory over First State Bank. The Liters pulled to an 18 to 12 first period lead with Doug Winnell getting 8 points, and Lee Cross put in 5 for the Bankers. In an evenly fought second quarter, the Liters kept their six point lead, ending the half at 30 to 24.

There was a brief half time show of Lenore Romney and Zolton Ferency (pronounced Fer-en-ce) demonstrating movements of the new dance the Farkel, made famous by the Farkel family. With that the Bankers roared back in the third period to fly ahead of the Liters at the end of the quarter 39 to 38. "Red Hot" Larry Edwards paced the Bankers with 6 points. In the fourth period it was poise and continuity under the basket that pulled the Liters back and sealed their second victory of the year. Once again it was Drano Winnell's 7 points that he flushed in in the quarter that helped the Liters. Drano led all scorers with 19 points, and Pete Spieles had 12. For the Bankers, silent Lee Cross led his team with 16 points, and Lurenzo lucked in 13. The Banker's main problem was that Stan Martin was not playing at full strength because he broke a fingernail in the start of the game. It was his prettiest one and depressed him throughout the entire game. He left immediately following the game to go to Millie's for a manicure.

In the evening's second and final battle, Martin's Standard Service, with the help of Bill Supernaw and Dan Vreeland, captured the league title by edging Andy's Tire World. Martin's pulled to a first quarter lead of 15 to 10, with Beanie Boss getting 6 for Martin's. In the second period, Andy's chopped the lead to 3 points with the help of Ken Balch's three buckets for 6 points. The half ended with Martin's in front 25 to 22.

The second half time show wasn't as exciting as the first. In the third period, Martin's increased their lead with even scoring by their players to 37 to 32. Bub "Cleaver" Balch rolled in 4 points for Andy's. In the action packed fourth period, Bill Supernaw put in two free throws, and Dan Vreeland helped with a basket to enable Martin's to capture their 8th victory of the season, 52-50. Andy's was severely hampered with the absence of Hatchet Riebel, whose defensive maneuvers have baffled many a team. Also, their All League star Sam Supernaw had to content with partial refereeing which was detremental to his usual magnificent play. Beanie boss led Martin's in scoring with 14, followed closely by "Junk Yard" Ed Hoims, who put in 13. Ken Balch finally put in 10 points for Andy's, while Norm Helms and Beardless Stan Smith had 9 points apiece.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE.......The games are just not the same without the presence of Hal "Gunner" Hill making his comments to the refs......On the "Battle," word has it that the Rebels want a neutral member to investigate inhumane treatment of prisoners according to the Geneva Accord–the Rebels claim that the HILF is strapping their prisoners to a pole for 10 minutes and passing a bottle of Stroh's under their noses......Get to the tournament games early if you want a good seat–they will be played on Tuesday nights......WHML plans to keep "Tournament Central" going during our games so you people can get quarter by quarter scores......Lexalite is going off at 8 to 1 to win the Tournament–anyone who wants to place a bet just call 7-6727 and ask for Dizzy, Denny or Alex.....Contributions will ba accepted to help the financial pressures put upon the League business activities.

'Deano' to coach all-star team

Word has been received here that Dean Davenport, Iowa Wesleyan College's highly successful basketball coach, has been selected to coach Iowa's Small College Senior All-star team in their annual benefit basketball game against Iowa's University Senior All-Stars in Cedar Rapids on March 28. He will share the coaching duties with Taylor Hayes of Penn.

Dean Davenport

The basis for Davenport's selection was the outstanding record his teams have achieved over the past three years and that his teams have participated in the District 15 NAIA playoffs the past two seasons. Davenport's Wesleyan teams have compiled a 54-21, record, the second best record for a small college in Iowa, during the past three years and finished the 1969-70 regular season play with an outstanding 19-5 record.

In addition, Davenport has lead his teams to two consecutive Prairie Conference Championships and was named Prairie Conference Coach of the Year last year.

Ralph Miller, head basketball coach at the University of Iowa, was named last week, as coach of the University All-Stars.

Davenport, who holds a M.A. degree from Central Michigan University, was freshman coach and assistant varsity coach of basketball at San Fernando Valley State College, Northridge, Calif., for three years before coming to Wesleyan in 1966.

A native of Charlevoix, Davenport, 35, was all-state in basketball and all-conference in football at Charlevoix High School in the early 50's. He has been the recreation director for the city of Charlevoix during the past several summers.

Davenport, who also serves as athletic director at Iowa Wesleyan, has reorganized the Athletic Department, helped spearhead the planning for the new athletic complex and started a community Booster Club here.

Baseball and Comments

by L.J. Ford

Charlevoix will again have a Little League baseball program this summer. Any boy who wishes to participate (between 8 and 13 years old) is invited to do so!

The program will concentrate on the learning of fundamentals of playing baseball. Strong emphasis will be placed on leadership and sportsmanship.

Several trips to Detroit are planned, so that each boy will have a chance to see the Detroit Tigers in action.

If you are interested in having your boy join the program, please contact L.J. Ford, Box, 235, Charlevoix, or telephone 547-4227.

Red Cross appoints 2

Appointment of three new board members and an executiva secretary of the Charlevoix County Chapter, American National Red Cross has been announced by Mrs. Bret Riley, East Jordan, board chairman.

Jason Snyder, East Jordan World War II veteran and recently retired postal clerk, received unanimous approval by the board as a replacement for the late Charles B. Landers, Mrs. Riley said.

Newly appointed board members are Mrs. John Savory, East Jordan, Mrs. Robert Tollas and Mrs. David Fowler, Charlevoix.

Other members of the Charlevoix County Chapter are: Mrs. Ross Alexander, Ironton; Mrs. Thelma Behling and Fred Leslie, Boyne City; Mrs. Tony Kullik, Boyne Falls; Mrs. Greg Boswell, Mrs. Ben Schenck, Mrs. Vaughn Ogden, and Mrs. James Shepherd, East Jordan.

The new Red Cross executive is well known among many area members and veterans of the military. Until recent years, he edited a special feature of servicemen's exchange of letters in an area newspaper.

Kiwanis Notes

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting in the High School Cafeteria. The business meeting was held following a meal prepared by the high school cooks.

John Lachman was elected to the Board of Directors, filling the unexpired term of Fred Payne.

A report regarding the sale of tickets for the upcoming "Ink Spots" show was heard. The proceeds of this show will go toward remodeling the Camp Daggett kitchen. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Kiwanis Club for the March 25 show.

The program for the evening was presented by Mrs. Gunnar Lundteigen, Consultant for Learning Disabilities, Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. Mrs. Lundteigen discussed the learning disabilities program which is being conducted at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

CARC meets

The Charlevoix Association of Retarded Children met in the Sheltered Workshop at 201 East Garfield Street, Charlevoix, last Monday.

The meeting was called to order by President Jack Kuhnhenn at 8 p.m.

Reports were heard from the secretary, treasurer, workshop supervisor and the workshop director.

One additional job has been secured for the Sheltered Workshop employees from Paul-Reed, Inc. Membership dues for 1970 were also accepted by the treasurer, Mr. Robert Cook. An individual membership to CARC is $3, while a family membership costs $5 per year. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Association should contact Cook.

Employees get new plan

An increasing number of Group Auto plans continue to make mass marketing news. First State Bank of Charlevoix, located at 111 State Street in Charlevoix, is the latest area organization to adopt a Group Auto plan through the facilities of Farm Bureau Insurance Group. The plan was initiated in February.

The 15 First State Bank of Charlevoix employees will receive auto plan benefits which are similar in concept to group health and group life programs.

Increasing numbers and expense of auto accidents coupled with a growing threat of collision with uninsured motorists has created a serious financial and social problem. Group Auto insurance which offers protection to all qualified drivers within an organization, is a big step toward eliminating financial crisis springing from auto accidents.

Hospital Guild

The Nursing Scholarship Committee of the Woman's Guild of Charlevoix Hospital announced at the March 9 meeting that four applications have already been received, and that all school in Charlevoix County have been notified of the scholarships and the May 1 deadline for applying. Any student interested in applying should contact Mrs. Gordon Rower, Charlevoix, or the local high school.

Eighteen members and Rollie Dudik, hospital administrator, attended the monthly meeting of the Woman's Guild at the Charlevoix Hospital.

Plans are being made for the annual membership drive and tea to be held in May.

The Boyne City sewing group turned in 22 completed puppets, which are given to child patients, nine gowns, and nine blankets for new layettes. A puppet sewing group met at the home of Mrs. Conrad Klooster on Thursday, March 12, and another sewing meeting will be held in April at a date to be announced.

New voting machines in Charlevoix are now on display for public in City Hall. Above, machine is explained to two residents who will use it for first time in April.

Dismiss school Thursday

High School principal Vanc Smith announced that grades 9 through 12 will be dismissed at noon Thursday.

Smith stressed that the early dismissal would affect only those grades. Busses will transport those pupils home.

Money Matters

INFLATION: you are the culprit!

Blaming the other political party or group for inflation is the sheerest kind of hypocrisy, if increasing prices of service or products is to be used as the sole measure of who is to blame for inflation. Recently the U.S. News and World Report publishes a graph tabulating price changes of goods and services that envolved everyone.

In the last 90 days of 1969, the productive growth of our economy, in real terms, stopped (actual increase in production). When we look at the price movement, we see an entirely different picture; there was an increase of 10.4 billion dollars. This increase was made up entirely of higher prices (meaning it cost more to produce the same amount of goods). When you go shopping, compare the price of the groceries you buy with what you purchased a short time ago. I'm sure you will find an increase on most items. In the past year, prices have increased approximately 6 per cent, and this from all indications, will continue.

This price trend not only is true about the food industry, but other business and service industries, also. For instance, men's haircuts have risen 32.9 percent in the past five years. Auto repairs have increased 23.5 percent in the last five years. If you're a plumber, a furnace repairman, a roofer, or a builder, silence is the best policy, for you have raised your prices respectively on a national average of 44.3 percent, 40.3 per cent, 40.2 per cent, and 38.6 per cent.

Everyday when we pick up the paper, we read of companies having strike problems; employees wanting more benefits, less work, shorter hours, but not willing to increase production. This means that every article produced or every item serviced will cost us more money. You ask why does this increase cost have to be passed on to the customer? The answer to this is simply that the stockholders of most companies insist that the company have good earnings and pay good dividends on the investment they have made. Otherwise, they will sell the stock and make other investment where their money will earn a higher return.

How do you stop inflation? No one seems to know; every economist has a different view. But, one thing we now know. It is impossible to spend ourselves into prosperity. The government tried that during the sixties by deficit spending, which we are now paying for with tight money, unemployment, and the highest inflation rate in our history.

The real inflation culprit is the individual who persists in adhering to the quaint notion that he can get something for nothing–if the government or the company he works for gives it to him.

County gets road money

Charlevoix County will be receiving $135,298 from the Michigan State Highway Commission for road maintenance and improvement. Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said net receipts in October, November and December were $88.2 million, up to 2.5 percent from the fourth quarter of 1968.

The highway fund is made up of state gasoline taxes and motor vehicle license plate fees paid by motorists.

After deduction of Department of State collection costs and 1.5 percent for the State Waterways Commission, 46 percent goes to the Highway Department, 34 percent to the counties and 20 percent to the state's 528 incorporated cities and villages.

1040 U.S. Individual
Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Where do I claim exemptions on the Form 1040?

A) Show the number of exemptions you claim for yourself, your spouse and others on lines 7, 8 and 9 of Form 1040. Then if you use the tax tables to compute your tax, find the amount of tax due in the column that shows your income and your total exemptions from line 10. If you don't use the tax tables, a $600 credit for each of your exemptions on line 10 should be taken on Schedule T when you compute your tax.

A few taxpayers have taken credit for their exemptions on line 15b of Form 1040. This is wrong and will delay any refund due. The only adjustments that should be shown on line 15b are those for sick pay, moving expenses, employee business expenses, and payments to self-employed retirement plans.

Q) My wife doesn't work so why is it so important for her to sign our tax return?

A) A tax return is a legal document and the signatures of both husband and wife are required on joint returns. This is true even if only one had income.

Q) What should I do if I move before my refund comes?

A) Leave a forwarding address with the Post Office so that the refund can be delivered to your new address. Failure to do this held up the refunds of many taxpayers last year until an up-to-date address could be obtained.

Taxpayers who expect to get refunds but have delayed filing their returns can get fast service if they file now. Returns mailed in March can be processed and the refund issued in 3-5 weeks if the return is accurate and complete.

Q) I'm a widow and my daughter lives with me. Can I file as head of household even though my daughter supports herself?

A) You may be entitled to file as unmarried head of household if you meet certain requirements. This is explained in the 1040 instruction package. most taxpayers received in the mail. You will find this information on page B-2 of the package.

Q) The tax surcharge is supposed to be 10 percent for 1969 but it looks much lower for some taxpayers according to the surcharge tables. Why?

A) To help ease the tax burden, Congress specifically limited or did not impose the surcharge on certain low income taxpayers.

Q) How do you deduct Blue Cross premiums for tax purposes?

A) To deduct Blue Cross and other medical insurance payments you must itemize deductions on Schedule A. One-half of these premiums up to a maximum of $150 are deductible without regard to the 3 percent limitation on medical expenses. The balance of the premiums should be added to your other medical expenses and is subject to the 3 percent limitation.

The instructions given for completing Schedule A can be found right on the back of this form. For your convenience, copies of this and other schedules were included in the 1040 tax package.

Q) Is it true that if you're over 65 you're not taxed when you sell your home?

A) There will be no tax to pay if you were 65 or older before the date of the sale, the adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less, and you owned and occupied the house as your principal residence for five of the eight years preceding the sale. If the adjusted sale price was over $20,000, you may exclude part of your gain.

Details on this and other tax benefits for those 65 and over are contained in IRS Publication 551, Tax Benefits for Older Americans. Drop a post card to your IRS district office for a free copy.

Q) Since the first $100 in dividends is tax free, do I need to fill out Schedule B and send it in if I have just $50 in dividends?

A) Schedule B should be completed and sent in with your Form 1040 when the gross amount you receive in dividends is more than $100. This $100 figure is determined before you have taken your dividend exclusion on line 12b, Form 1040.

Q) What are the rules on the sick pay exclusion for pay received while you're out sick or injured?

A) It depends on how much you received in pay for the time you were out. If your company paid you over 75 percent of your regular salary while you were sick, there is a 30-day waiting period whether or not you were hospitalized at any time. After it expires, you may exclude up to $100 a week from your income as sick pay.

If you received 75 percent or less of your regular pay, there is a 7-day waiting period. Then you may exclude up to $75 a week. After 30 days, you may exclude up to $100 a week as sick pay. If you had been hospitalized, there is no seven-day waiting period.

This provision of the law is explained at greater length on page E-2 of the Form 1040 instructions. Be sure to check the instructions if you think you are entitled to claim this exclusion.

Dan Vreeland of Charlevoix has joined the staff of Jerry Lesher, Inc., realtors in Petoskey and Harbor Springs. Vreeland will be working for the company throughout the area.

March 31 'L-Day' deadline nearing

"L Day" is drawing ever closer for about one-third of Michigan's vehicle owners . . . the procrastinators who still have not purchased 1970 license plates for their cars and motorcycles.

Secretary of State James M. Hare predicted the usual last-minute rush at branch offices throughout the state even though by law the deadline was extended this year from the last day in February to March 31.

"I would suggest that persons who still have not bought their '70 plates get them before mid-March," said Hare. At the end of February, sales were running more than a half-million behind last year.

Commercial and trailer owners' deadline was February 28.

The following items are necessary when purchasing 1970 plates:

...A certificate of title ... NOT the previous registration certificate. However, duplicate titles may be obtained with last year's certificate and plates may be purchased on that basis. Duplicate titles cost $2.00.

...Proof of liability insurance.

Blast off for Tiffany's

When those moon rocks were stolen last week from the San Francisco exhibit I figured that the inevitable had happened. Come cat burgler had stolen them, would pass them to a fence and the next thing that we'd read is that Liz Taylor Burton was wearing them as a necklace at a big dinner party. After all a girl can get mighty tired of the same old diamonds, and since she has a birthday once a year she needs a little something once each year to forget about the passing days.

Would could make you forget faster than diamonds? How could Richard Burton possibly top last year's diamond extravaganza except by an even more precious rock, a moon rock.

Well, disappointing as it is, it seems that the thief who took the rocks had second thoughts for he returned them for exhibit again. But just wait, everything has its price and we'll have to see what price jewelers eventually put on dangling earrings of moonrock, or a lovely shimmering moonrock solitaire.

And while we're on the subject of jewels I just read that David Merrick gave Pearl Bailey a $7,000 black pearl necklace, but this gift has strings attached. Miss Bailey gets to keep the necklace only if she performs in every show on her present tour of "Hello Dolly!"

It seems that Pearl Bailey has a real passion for black pearls and the lady claims that, "Any time I'm not on stage you'll know I'm dead!"

Don't you think that it's rather gauche to give a lady a present with strings attached and then what's even worse tell everyone how much it cost? How vulgar can you get. My southern grandmother would turn over in her grave if she knew of such goings on.

But these girls who sport valuable jewels are sort of homespun types too. Liz Taylor confessed that she economically cleaned all of her jewels herself rather than send them to the jewelers. This can be a tidy little savings, don't you agree?

Anyway pin this tidbit on the refrigerator with the rest of your Heloise hints. Liz says that she simple cleans her jewels by washing them and slooshing them in a mild hair shampoo.

Doesn't that sound easy girls? So the next time that you browse through your jewelry box and notice that the rubies, diamonds and emeralds look a little shabby, practice little Liz's economy and shampoo them in your own bathroom sink. You'll be delighted at the way they sparkle.

Cribbage results

The 1970 Cribbage Tournament came to an end Thursday night on a high note for the Masons with a 298 lead with six tables in play. Fred DeCastro was high for the Masons with 961 points. George Staley of East Jordan was high for the I.O.O.F. with 960 points.

The Masons won with a total 1226 points over the I.O.O.F. for the season.

The dinner will be served by the losing I.O.O.F. at 6:30 at the Legon Hall on March 26.

Rayders roar, 76-71

The Rayders got one team out of their path toward the Regional crown by defeating Manistee Catholic Central 76 to 71. The favored Sabers had a one point lead in the second quarter, but the Rayders were not to be denied as they led the entire game after that.

The Rayders jumped out to an early lead and led by 3 points 16 to 13, at the end of the first quarter.

Again in the second stanza the Rayders outscored the opponents, this time 23 to 18 and held the lead at half-time 39 to 31..

In the third period, the Rayders had to fight off a serge by the Sabers but they still maintained the lead with a 54 to 41 score.

Stew Coleman and Kevin Swanson both fouled out in the fourth quarter but it did not hamper the Rayders scoring. They went on to score 22 points against 20 by Manistee Catholic to win the game with a 76 to 71 score.

Stew Coleman again lead the Rayder scoring with 24 while Draag Lieberman, scoring 7 out of 8 freethrows in the last quarter, had 19 and Bruce Meggison had 12.

For the Sabers from Manistee, Niesen had 33 to lead their scoring attack.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION
by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

By Lee Smits

Washington reports the allocation of fish and wildlife restoration funds derived from federal excise taxes on the manufacture and sale of hunting and fishing equipment. The $24,000,000 bonus is distributed according to the area of each state and the number of hunting and fishing licenses purchased in each state.

The list shows Michigan well up toward the top with a total of 884,324 licenses paid for.

Professionals in fish and wildlife management have long recognized the preeminence of Michigan in respect to outdoor resources.

To select Michigan's No. 1 game fish and No. 1 game animal would be a tricky job. The brook trout is designated as Michigan's foremost game fish. Native to our streams, the brook trout has retained its title in the face of strong opposition from rainbows, browns and now the coho, with additional exotics due to arrive on the scene.

An old-timer need not hesitate to name the favorite game species – cottontail rabbit. The cottontail was waiting for the first settlers in the southern counties. As forests were cleared and farms tilled northward, the cottontail moved north with settlement until probably there is no Michigan township without representatives of the species. Cottontail appearing in the western end of the Upper Peninsula may have come in from Wisconsin. Cottontail have never rivalled the snowshoe hare as a game species in the north.

Cottontail gives the farm boy sport, it supports beagle fanciers, and what is most important, it is a buffer species, taking the brunt of predation that might otherwise do heavier damage on animals with a higher popularity rating.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX

IN THE MATTER OF:
Application for Vacation and Relocation of part of Water Street, Evangeline Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan

CIVIL ACTION
No. 293-2

ORDER FOR HEARING RE PETITION TO VACATE AND RELOCATE PART OF WATER STREET, EVANGELINE TOWNSHIP, CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MICHIGAN

At a session of said Court held in the County Building, Charlevoix, Michigan on February 20th, 1970

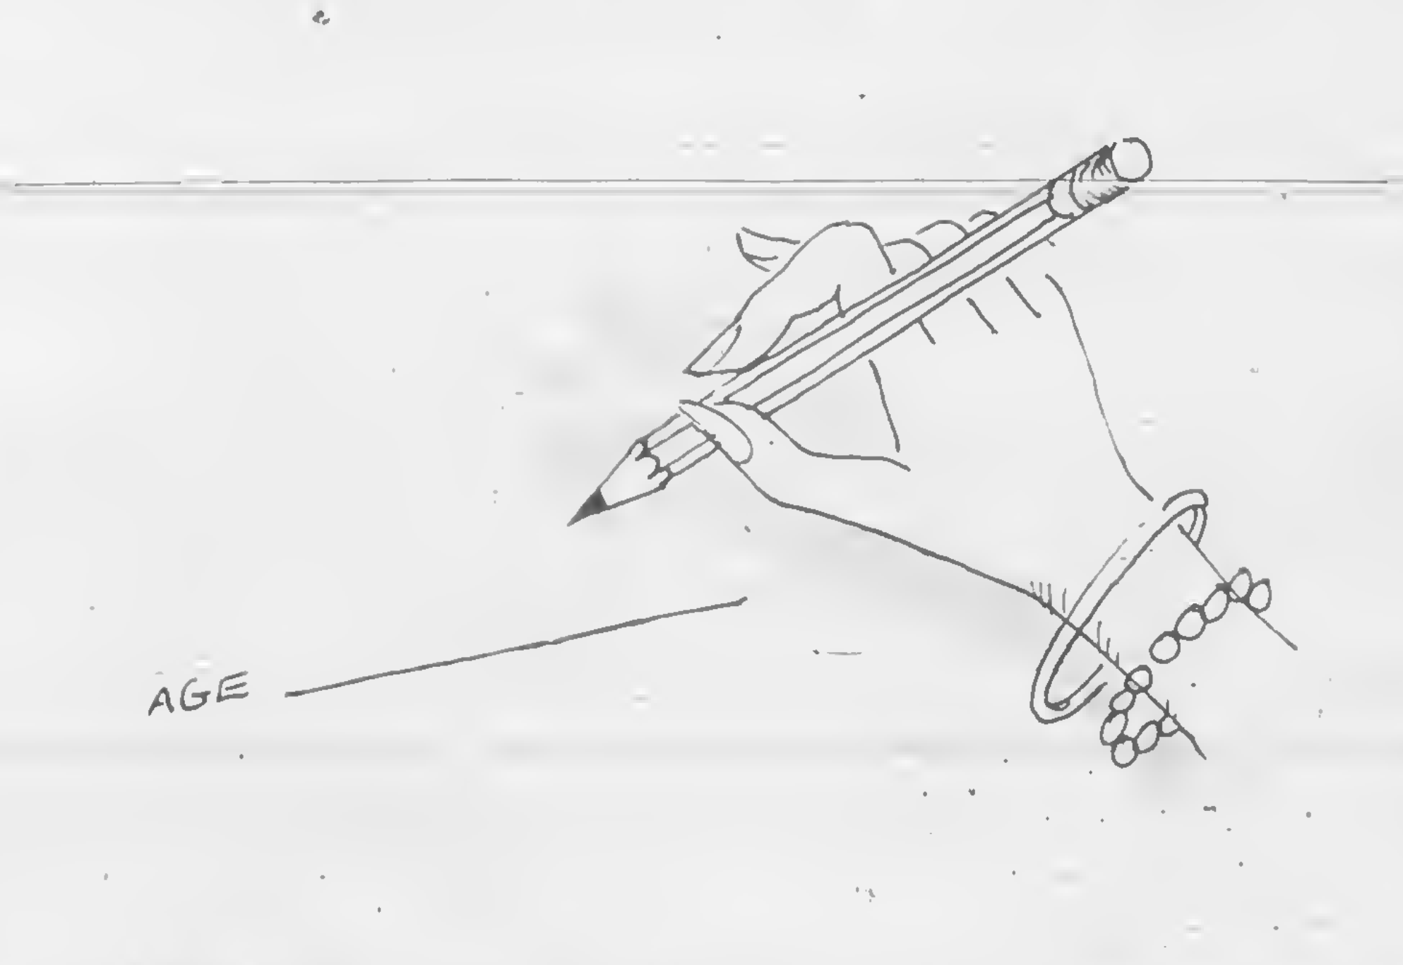
Present: Hon. CHAS. L. BROWN
Circuit Judge

This matter having been brought on before this Court on the filing of an Application for Vacation and Relocation of part of Water Street, Evangeline Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan; and the court being advised in the premises:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that on Monday the 20th date of April, 1970 at 11:00 o'clock A.M. in the Circuit Court for Charlevoix County, Michigan, a hearing will be held on said petition at which time all parties in interest may appear and be heard relative to said petition, and to show cause, if any, why said petition should not be granted.

Publication and Service of this Order shall be made as provided by Statute and Court Rule.

CHAS. L. BROWN
CIRCUIT JUDGE



No one can ever find out anything from your census form.

Not the FBI. Not the Selective Service, not even the Internal Revenue Service. All the information you enter on your Census Form is a private matter between you and our computer. Even your age.

You get your Census Form in the mail and fill it out yourself. Only sworn employees of the Census Bureau will see it. And their lips are sealed. Besides, all they do is feed the forms to a computer.

So much depends on your Census answers. Because the information you give—about yourself, your household and your family—is used by the government to determine the needs of your neighborhood, or city, or county. It can mean better schools, better housing, better recreational facilities. And a greater voice in Congress.

So don't hesitate to fill in your Census Form. It's not only as private as your vote, it's just as important.

ORDINANCE NO. 4

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 1, AS AMENDED, OF THE BUILDING AUTHORITY OF THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX; TO PROVIDE FOR AN INCREASED MAXIMUM RATE OF INTEREST.

NOW, THEREFORE, THE BUILDING AUTHORITY OF THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 5 of Ordinance No. 1, as amended, adopted on September 9, 1969, be and is hereby amended to read as follows:

"BOND TERMS–

Section 5. Said bonds shall be designated BUILDING AUTHORITY OF THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY JAIL REVENUE BONDS and shall be payable solely out of the first annual and fixed annual rentals to be paid by the County to the Authority pursuant to the provisions of the contract, and shall be coupon bonds consisting of one hundred (100) bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, dated as of November 1, 1969, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, and payable serially as follows:

$10,000.00 July 1st of each of the years from 1970 to 1976;
$15,000.00 July 1st of each of the years from 1977 to 1982;
$20,000.00 July 1st of each of the years from 1983 to 1987;
$25,000.00 July 1st of each of the years 1988, 1989 and 1990;
$30,000.00 July 1st of each of the years from 1991 to 1995;
$15,000.00 July 1, 1996.

"Bonds maturing in the years 1970 to 1983, inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

"Bonds maturing in the years 1984 to 1996, inclusive, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the Authority in inverse numerical order on any interest payment date on or after July 1, 1983, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium on each bond as follows:

$150.00 if called for redemption on or after July 1, 1983, but prior to July 1, 1986;
$100.00 if called for redemption on or after July 1, 1986, but prior to July 1, 1989;
$ 50.00 if called for redemption on or after July 1, 1989, but prior to maturity.

"Thirty days notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

"Said bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding eight per cent (8 per cent) per annum, payable on July 1, 1970, and semi-annually thereafter on January 1st and July 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at a bank or trust company qualified to act as paying agent, to be designated by the manager of the account purchasing the bonds, who may also designate a co-paying agent having like qualifications."

Section 2. This ordinance shall become effective immediately upon its passage.

I hereby certify that the foregoing constitutes a true and complete copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the Commission of the Building Authority of the County of Charlevoix at a SPECIAL Meeting held on the 6th day of MARCH, 1970.

I further certify that the following Commissioners were present at said meeting W.G. BOSWELL, N. ALDWYN BARDEN, MAURICE J. FOSTER and that the following Commissioners were absent NONE.

I further certify that Commissioner BARDEN moved adoption of said Ordinance, and that said motion was supported by Commissioner FOSTER.

I further certify that the following Commissioners voted for adoption of said Ordinance W.G. BOSWELL, N. ALDWYN BARDEN, MAURICE J. FOSTER and that the following Commissioners voted against adoption of said Ordinance NONE.

I further certify that said Ordinance has been recorded in the Ordinance book and that such recording has been authenticated by the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary.

Ellsworth

Naturally, they were "up more" for a game than with other teams they played, and when Ellsworth didn't match the challenge they had set up for them, they won by a large score. Consequently, scores like 96-47, 95-65, 99-64 seem bad. Just a quirk in human response.

Coach Strong figured on a winning team this year and he had it with an overall record of 12-9. He was not disappointed in the play of the team nor the record when asked if the season could have been better. He said he knew there were juniors on the team without any experience on a varsity team, and there would have to be a little bit more experience before developing the full potential.

Ellsworth, as well as Coach Strong and Hud Drenth, were proud and pleased when the news arrived from the "Free-Press" that Hud Drenth had been elected to the first team all state in Class D. Hud averaged 26 points a game and led the team in almost every department there was on the team.

Ellsworth can be proud of their team again this year. They had another winning record and there is no team that can come into Ellsworth gym and walk out knowing they were a much superior team. E.H.S. may be proud. Ellsworth is a small school, by far the smallest in the Ski Valley Conference, and still every team has to be quite scared before the opening jump ball starts the game.

Another year is over for basketball as far as Ellsworth is concerned. No league championship, no district trophy, no Traverse City this year, but just a lot more memories.

Music group meets today

Three interest groups of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will have meetings today, Monday, March 16. In the morning at 9:30, the Arts and Crafts Group will meet with Mrs. Robert Neff, 507 E. Dixon Avenue, to work on decorating ornamental Easter eggs.

At 1:30 the Music Group will have a chorus rehearsal at the home of Mrs. Wayne Woods, 221 Park Avenue.

The Discussion Group will meet at 7:30, at the home of Mrs. Donna Hamilton, 114 E, Hurlbut. Mr. Robert Korn, principal of Boyne City High School, will lead the discussion with information about disruptive and revolutionary student organizations and their influence on high school age young people.

On the following Monday, March 23, the Antiques Group will meet at 9:30 in the morning, at the home of Mrs. P.D. Campbell, 115 Pine River Lane. Members of the Woman's Club who went on the February antiques tour, are asked to bring items they purchased on tour, and to discuss their individual interests in the field of antique collecting.

At 1:30 in the afternoon on March 23, the Book Review Group will meet at the home of Mrs. John Uhrick, 508 E. Dixon Avenue. Mrs. Robert Burns will review "Dibs", written by Virginia Axline.

Council Proceedings

COUNCIL MINUTES
March 2, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding. Aldermen present: Mol, Boss, Westenbroek, Sundberg, Gill, and Klooster. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the February 16, 1970 meeting were corrected to read: $38,000.00. Loan from the Water Fund to the Electric Fund. The Minutes were then approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book.

Mr. Rex Milligan, Charlevoix Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Richard Donaldson, a member of the School Board, appeared before the Council to answer any questions regarding the proposal to collect the City's share of school taxes in the summer. After much discussion, Mayor Fochtman tabled the matter for further study.

Mrs. Keith Miles and Mr. Clarence Murray appeared before the Council to request the use of a room in basement of the City Hall for distribution of used clothing for "TIN" (Those In Need). The Council approved of the request and asked that Mr. Hanna check any details and contact Mrs. Miles.

Mr. Walker Miles appeared before the Council to request help in controlling the Snow Machine problem. Mayor Fochtman suggested that Mr. Miles contact the City Police and the City Administrator, Thomas Hanna. Mr. Miles thanked the Council for their services and their time.

The Minutes of the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission were read and approved by the Council.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the Mayor's appointment of Hal. M. Hill to the Planning Commission to replace Mr. Ralph Doan, who is resigning, be accepted.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.
Yeas: Alderman Mol, Boss, Westenbroek, Sundberg, Gill, and Klooster.
Nays: None.
Absent: None.

Moved by Alderman Mol and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the Mayor's appointment of Howard Otis as First Ward City Supervisor be approved.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.
Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Boss, Westenbroek, Sundberg, Gill, and Klooster.
Nays: None.
Absent: None.

Moved by Alderman Sundenberg and supported by Alderman Klooster that the Mayor's appointment of Robert Somerville as Second Ward City Supervisor be approved.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nny vote.
Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Boss Westenbroek, Sundberg, Gill, and Klooster.
Nays: None.
Absent: None.

Major Fochtman announced that Major Exchange Day is to be with Wayland, Michigan.

The request from Gordon Freedman, President of Freedman Artcraft and Engineering Corporation, to purchase airport property was tabled for further study.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $78,311.31 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.
Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Boss, Westenbroek, Sundberg, Gill, and Klooster.
Nays: None.
Absent: None.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

Ellsworth closes season

By Dale VanderSlik

If you're from Ellsworth, remember the shot Larry Brock put in from half court to end the third quarter? Do you remember the two free shots Bernie De Vries put in to win a game in the tournaments? Do you remember playing regionals in that spacious Petoskey St. Francis gym? They even had reserved seats. Made Ellsworth look pretty important, didn't it? Remember Rich Ruls' left-hand jump shots from the right corner? Remember the many times Ellsworth stood out on the floor, cheering their team as they received another district trophy? It happened 7 of 8 years, oh-excuse me-seven of nine years. Remember winning the regionals only to lose out to a scrappy Free Soil team in Cadillac? And last year, beating Kingsley had to be the nicest thing that had happened to Ellsworth in a long time. Leading Frankfort at halftime and almost winning regionals. Ellsworth basketball memories. Ellsworth basketball memories of only the last few years. The memories of the decade of the 1960's.

1970 – a new decade – a new basketball team. Ellsworth had another new coach that first day of practice. Mr. Strong liked what he saw that first day of practice. In preseason forecasts, Ellsworth was predicted to win the Ski Valley Conference.

The first game, East Jordan – at East Jordan. Ellsworth played a terrible first quarter. East Jordan managed to stay with the Lancers first half, but Ellsworth pulled away as expected and won 59-38. It looked as though Ellsworth would have a good defense this year.

December 5 – McBain at home. Ellsworth stayed close the first half but unexpectedly lost by a score of 75-55. People thought after the game was over that a 17-1 record wouldn't be all that bad.

December 9 – Alba. No problem 69-33. Record now 2-1. Season still looked promising.

December 12 – Gaylord St. Marys at home. Everyone said this might be the game to decide the championship. Final – We lost as Craig DeCorte shot out of his mind – 64-48.

December 16 – at Boyne Falls. No referees. Game started one hour late. For Ellsworth, it should never have started at all. Boyne Falls 95-65.

December 19 – at Inland Lakes. At this point, no one really knew what to expect. Ellsworth had no offense. The worst; 78-64. League record stood at 0-2

Christmas Vacation. Record 2-4. Most likely the poorest record Ellsworth had had in ten years or so. Something had to be wrong. But what?

January 13 at Central Lake. Central Lake didn't have too much without Larry Eckhardt. But Ellsworth looked good and used a press which really worked. It was one of the few times that a press was used all year. Ellsworth won 65-52.

The climax of the first half of the season was reached at Alanson. First half was almost ridiculous. Alanson led by 30 points. Some of Ellsworth's fans walked out at halftime. Come third quarter they weren't back. Record was now 3-5.

January 23. Bellaire at home. The highlight for Ellsworth of the whole season. Jim Jansen put in a tremendous shot from way out which will have to go in the memory classification. Bedlam ruled. It would be the only time Bellaire would be beaten all year. Ellsworth 57, Bellaire 55.

Ellsworth went to Gaylord the Friday of that week. A chance to really prove themselves. They lost as Gaylord again shot unbelievably accurately – 84-58.

A five game home stand opened with Boyne Falls. Ellsworth showed them as they played one of their better games and won by a score of 65-50. Boyne Falls walked out of the gym feeling not quite as proud as the time they played them before.

Tuesday of the next week, Ellsworth played East Jordan. E.H.S. won 76-63. Ellsworth was now playing above .500 for the season and appeared finally to be playing ball.

Inland Lakes was the next opponent for Ellsworth. Beautiful. We won 56-54. Inland Lakes walked out of the gym, losers to a tough Ellsworth team. Things were beginning to shape up for a great end to a season that had begun as a below-par year. Next game was with Suttons Bay. Won again; this time big by a score of 86-69. We indeed had a good team.

Central Lake ended that big home stand for Ellsworth. Central Lake was leading at half, but we played a good second half and won 78-63.

Ellsworth traveled to McBain Friday, February 20. Another bad game 99-64. McBain almost had 100. But McBain was certainly a good team. No spectator's bus; and pep meetings had been cancelled indefinitely. Did it make a difference?

February 24 had to be the best game the Lancers played during the season. Alanson came into this game with a tremendous record. Alanson played a good game with a large number of eager fans backing them at the Lancer's gym. Ellsworth played a better game. Final score – 82-73. Ellsworth pulled what would have to be called an upset.

The final game of the season was with Bellaire. It was to be the showdown for the tournament final. It could have been Ellsworth's worst game of the year. But it might have been Bellaire play which caused it. The final score was only 69-58. Considering Ellsworth did play so badly, and it was on Bellaire's floor, things looked like they were going to shape up strong for tournaments.

The record for the season was 10-8. It was a good record and nothing to be ashamed of.

Districts opened with Ellsworth playing Central Lake. The game was tied many times but ended with Ellsworth looking the superior team by a score of 75-61.

East Jordan took on Ellsworth Wednesday of tournament week, and Ellsworth came away with their second impressive win, but only through a tight struggle to the end, 90-78. It was the highest point total of the year.

Meanwhile, Bellaire had a tough time winning over Mancelona. They barely won 66-59. It looked as though the district final was going to be a barnburner.

Disappointment was the rule as far as Ellsworth's fans were concerned. Ellsworth managed to stay with Bellaire the first quarter and only fell behind by 10 at the half. But the third and the fourth were all Bellaire as they came through with a big 72-47 win.

Suddenly, it was Bellaire on the floor looking forward to regionals. It was all over. Ellsworth fans walked out. It seemed disastrous. But Bellaire deserved it. They had Ellsworth scouted out perfectly. They knew every move that the Ellsworth offense had and were not about to let them score on them. They had put exactly the right defense against the Ellsworth offense.

Yes, it is over. You may put the suits away. You had better put number 14 on the top. It will be used extensively next year. After next year, it may be put away for good. It was an all-state uniform this year. It was a number that could be recognized by every school around because they kind of were scared when they saw 14 come on the floor.

Also put away number 31. Remember the shot that he made against Bellaire. He developed into a good player. That shot will be remembered by lot of people for a long time. Still rather unbelievable. It would have to be the highlight of his basketball days.

Put away number 42. Remember how he saved our necks by coming into the ballgame when 33 got into foul trouble or wasn't playing up to par.

Put away number 40. Remember the layups he made. He learned to drive with the best of them. He will be missed next year for those rebounds and blocked shots.

Put away number 33. Remember the rebounding trophy he won as a junior. Remember his good set shot from the sides. And, by the way, you might as well put 33 in the bottom of the box. Looking things over, it will be a while before anyone will do anything but swim in that uniform.

In those games in the first half of the season, there was a reason Ellsworth didn't win. Every team E.H.S. played thought of Ellsworth as a super team. They usually were; before this year.

10 resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.

2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.

3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.

4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.

5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.

6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.

7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.

8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.

9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.

10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?

Summer taxes

Every once in a while, someone comes up with an idea that makes so much sense that you wonder why it wasn't thought of long ago.

A case in point is School Superintendent Rex Milligan's suggestion that school taxes be levied in June rather than December. Such a move would give the Charlevoix School District local tax money when it needs it most and probably would eliminate the necessity of borrowing every fall to meet expenses.

Milligan says the district paid $6,000 in interest last year alone on its loans. He believes the money could have been better spent elsewhere.

The situation in Charlevoix, according to Milligan, is complicated by the fact that state aid is not supplying the same percentage of the school budget that it used to. As the valuation of the district increases, the state provides a smaller portion of the total school budget.

Needless to say, the portion of the state money paid in the fall is not enough to meet the payroll and pay bills from September until December and the district is forced to borrow.

Milligan feels it would make far more sense to levy the school tax in June so that the money would be ready and waiting by the time school opens in September.

Charlevoix Mayor William Fochtman and the City Council have been a trifle reluctant to act on Milligan's proposal for two reasons.

First they feel that a new school levy in June would put many taxpayers---particularly small businesses---in a financial bind since they just finished paying their winter taxes, most of which went for schools. They feel hitting them again in June for another large amount wouldn't be fair, since they haven't budgeted for it.

Secondly, they feel it would be unfair to ask city residents to pay their school tax in the summer while residents of the surrounding townships will have an additional six months to come up with funds.

And both points are valid. The changeover, when it comes, is bound to hurt a few of us---but it will only hurt once. Thereafter, school taxes will be paid every summer, a time when most of us, theoretically, should have more money on hand.

As for township residents receiving preferential treatment, Milligan says he intends to do what he can to have the township governments go along with his plan if the city of Charlevoix agrees.

We believe Milligan is on the right track in attempting to cut down the cost of school operation. And if he can save us $6,000 in interest a year, his tax plan is well worth trying. (B.C.)

Voting age

If Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has his way, all 18-year-olds across the country will be eligible to cast ballots in local, state and national elections come next Jan. 1.

The Senate voted 64 to 17 Thursday to lower the voting age, but the issue faces stiff opposition in the Legislature and probably will be challenged in the courts.

But at least the Senate has pointed us in the right direction.

High School graduates at age 18 probably are mere savvy about politics than 90 percent of the general population. They have just completed a string of social science classes in history and government and if they are over to become responsible, participating members of the electorate now is the time to catch them before their ardor cools.

Furthermore, a reduction in the voting age will at least lend an aura of respectability to our draft laws. Critics of the draft laws. Critics of the draft have insisted for years that it is immoral---if not downright unconstitutional--to draft a fellow to fight for his country before he has had an opportunity to shape national policy at the polls.

Dropping the voting age also might help close the so-called "generation gap."

Guys and gals of 18 are in that dreary no-man's-land between childhood and adulthood. Physically, mentally and---in most cases---emotionally, they are adults, but for some now-forgotten reason society has insisted that they wait until age 21 before exercising their maturity.

The possibility of 11 million new voters in one fell sweep could make for some interesting politicking next year. (B.C.)

Auto insurance

The next time you have coffee with your friendly local auto insurance agent, why not ask him to explain his company's "point system" and how it affects what you pay for auto insurance.

Most companies have such plans, although apparently not many people know about them until they suddenly find their insurance premiums doubled, trippled---to cite a recent case in Petoskey---quadrupled.

It should be pointed out that the "point system" has no connection with the Secretary of State's "point system," although both point the finger at risky drivers.

Plans may differ from company to company, but here is how they work in general: A driver is given one point for every at-fault accident in which he becomes involved over a two-year period. Some companies count only these accidents in which property damage exceeds $100. Others may use a longer of shorter period of time.

When a driver collects a sufficient number of points (usually three), the company figures it's time to talk turkey. Either the driver is dropped as an insurance risk, or his insurance premiums are increased to match his potential liability to the company.

Many of the yearly premiums---particularly where teenage males are among the drivers-shoot up into four figures.

Of course, the insurance companies cannot be blamed for attempting to protect themselves whenever they see a pattern of careless driving developing. They not only are making sure they are adequately covered, but they also are helping hold down the cost of insurance for the careful driver who goes year after year without an accident.

If there is anything wrong with the "point system," it is the fact that it hasn't been publicized well enough, at least in northern Michigan.

We doubt that it would do much good to explain the system in detail on insurance policies, because very few people ever bother to read them. But we believe insurance agents should make sure their clients know exactly how their particular plan works, if they have one.

To our way of thinking, nothing would advance the cause of highway safety more than the sure knowledge that a string of accidents is going to hit the driver where it hurts the worst--his wallet. (B.C.)

Dear deer

Editor, Courier:

People are concerned, petitions are being circulated, politicians are trying their best to get votes and some organizations are doing their level best to collect new members, all at the expense of our Michigan deer.

Many boards of supervisors are passing resolutions to have a moratorium on what is commonly called the "Doe Season".

Probably well over 60 percent of all people would vote not to have an antlerless deer season. That doesn't mean that the majority is right. It's a easy and cheap way for the politician to get votes, the club organizer to get members, or for the vociferous man to save face by pushing for a buck season only. One thing most all of us have in common is, we want more deer for more people to enjoy for the longest time possible.

We think we know how to do just that. We are your employee. We went to school and studied to be a biologist, and were well screened by State Civil Service exams, and top Department of Natural Resource Administrators. We have available to us all current wildlife findings from other states and nations. We have no axe to grind, no selfish interest in mind. We will do the best job of, in this case, deer management that we know how, no matter what the politicians say or how much pressure is put to bear on us.

If you have the flu you go to your medical doctor. He is trained in medicine. We are trained in biology. We welcome you to come to us with your deer problems.

Some newspaper people wanted a short punchy, easy to read article on this current deer issue. Here are some important facts however:

1. We are constantly hearvesting about 100,000 deer annually for the past several seasons.
2. Antlerless deer season is just another tool for game management to use when necessary.
3. Winters differ. Timber markets change. Hunter numbers differ from year to year. Wild fruit and food crops vary from year to year, and the trees and brush are always growing up. People are causing many, many changes that effect wildlife. All because of these reasons and more we have to have the rules flexible enough to blend in with these changes that effect deer annually. Therefore, our present permanent management areas and our adjustable deer quotas for those areas is a tool that is flexible and can be adjusted on a yearly basis to fit whatever the recent change may be.
4. The key to all this deer business is, the quality and amount of food and cover. This we should worry about and not the animal.
   a. Timber markets is important for deer management.
   b. To have an adequate amount of foresters and habitat biologists. We are way under-staffed with field men.

This looks like a pretty easy winter for deer, especially on our public lands, but deer are suffering quite a bit on some of the larger private clubs, where too many deer have been carried for too many years, starvation is just beginning to show up.

We will adjust the deer quotas for the 1970 deer season after we get all the years deer dope in, like the 1969 kill figures, the winter's deeryard surveys, the April, May, and June field men'a deer seen reports and this spring's deer pellet surveys which gives us deer numbers.

There is much more to this problem than what we are relating, here, but space is at a premium.

ONE MAN'S PHILOSOPHY
Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's heaven for?
-Robert Browning

If it Fitz

A Shorthorn confession

I might as well confess, before the Feds hit me with a subpoena. I am a frequent customer at the Shorthorn Steak House in Flint.

I have made bets there.

And I've listened to Denny McLain play the organ there. I didn't like him as well as the regular piano player who also sings - with one of the greatest whiskey voices this side of the Bowery.

Sports Illustrated magazine described the Shorthorn as plush. It isn't. The dining room does have a carpet but the bar, where the action is, is more rural than urban; more ranch than raunchy.

It was apparently his employment at the Shorthorn in 1967 that made McLain's feet clay and stompable. You may have read or heard something about this recently. If you haven't, you have a big boulder in front of your cave. Isn't it magnificent how we humans sweat and swear about the truly important things in life - such as whether a grown man will be allowed to earn $90,000 this year for playing a little boys' game? (I wonder how things are coming in Vietnam?).

I've been a Shorthorn customer all these years simply because the food is good and the waitresses are friendly and efficient. That takes care of lunch and dinner.

As for late-evening boozing, the thing I like about the Shorthorn is the piano bar. Some people like to shoot deer or ride snowmobiles or visit museums. I like to sit on a swivel stool, hunched over a piano bar, with both feet on a brass rail.

It is nicest if Erroll Garner is playing the piano. But I'll settle for most anyone, even a baseball player with a sledgehammer touch. The important thing is that the friendliest people in the world sit around piano bars. They like to sing and drum fingers and tap toes and buy drinks. There's usually at least 1 fine tenor who, after midnight and a few good belts, will happily sing "Danny Boy." A marvelous, mournful sound.

Lately there have been tales that business has turned sour at the Shorthorn. The doors were almost padlocked by a tax lien last week. It would be ironic justice if all this lousy publicity sets the cash registers to jingling again. The world is full of people who follow firetrucks and speed to the scene of accidents. They might well visit the Shorthorn to search the floor for traces of McLain's blood.

Sport Illustrated said a bookie made his headquarters in the Shorthorn. It sounded as if he had an office and a secretary in the place. This is ridiculous. Actually, a bookie can do business wherever he sits, in a bar or in a church. All he needs is someone sitting beside him, or just a telephone booth.

Denny McLain apparently tried to make an easy buck and fell on his face. Now he's paying the price and he gets no sympathy from me. But the Shorthorn is getting a bum rap. It would make equal sense to sting the restaurant for the gambling I do there - sometimes I play the numbers game with a bunch of bandits to determine who'll pay the tab.

Once I lost $25 and I told the waitress I wouldn't pay. But she changed my mind. She jumped on my big toe. That's class.

Play it again, Sam.

It was announced by the Sports Boosters Club that Chuck Fairbanks will return to Charlevoix to honor the Rayders at the annual All-Sports Banquet.

The Ellsworth Lancers captured the Class D District Title by defeating Bellaire 69 to 50.

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors blocked the debate on the purchase of property for the construction of a new jail.

The undefeated Red Rayders suffered their first loss of the year in the District finals to Boyne City by the score of 40 to 38. The Rayders had been rated 4th in the state by various polls across the state.

5 years ago

The Charlevoix Rayders defeated the Petoskey St. Francis Gladiators to capture the District title at Boyne City.

The city council authorized engineers to proceed with details to get a $104,000 water system improvement program under construction in the spring.

It was announced that the Girl Scouts may sell their camp which is located near the Belvedere Golf Course. Lack of interest prompted the proposed sale.

Retail business in Charlevoix County climbed 32 percent from 1958 to 1963, reported the U.S. Census Bureau.

10 years ago

Three Charlevoix Rayders were named to the All-Conference team prior to the end of the 1960 basketball season. They were Chuck Colman, Dave Schuchard and Joe Beaudoin.

The Charlevoix City Council gave its approval to a $175,486.75 budget for the coming fiscal year.

The Rayders were defeated by Frankfort 68 to 62 in the Regional Final held in Petoskey. It was their first defeat of the season.

Boosters feature Talbert

The Charlevoix Sports Boosters will host the annual All-Sports Banquet Saturday, April 11th in the high school cafeteria. The event will honor all Charlevoix athletes who participated in football, skiing, basketball and track during the 1969-1970 school year.

Guest speaker for the dinner will be Detroit Free Press columnist, Bob Talbert. Talbert has had many experiences in the sports field as a sport writer.

Before coming to Detroit to work for the Free Press, Talbert was associated with the state newspaper in Columbia, South Carolina.

While with the state, he was named 1960 Sportswriter of the year in South Carolina. He also was high school sports writer at the state and had a daily column. Later, he was named Motor Sports-writer of the year in the entire country.

Attempted break fails

An attempted escape by a prisoner from the Charlevoix County jail was unsuccessful Thursday morning, and made a believer of Chris Carey.

Miss Carey was looking out the window of the Courier office when the action took place right before her eyes.

Virgil Bates was being prepared for transport to Jackson Prison when he escaped briefly and made it to the bridge.

With sheriff's officers in persuit, he hid under the bridge, but was re-captured by deputies.

After all the excitement was over, Miss Carey decided to tell the editor of the paper that "something had happened" right in front of the office

Mrs. Ross Alexander

All local friends were saddened this Wednesday morning on receiving word of the sudden passing of Robert Wilson at his winter home in Tucson, Arizona.

The Wilson family has spent many summers in our community, having first come with their small child and lived in a cottage at what was known as Sweet Brier Resort about 1920, later owning the Frey Cottage on Hemingway Road and then Sunnyslope which they sold last fall.

They attended our local church and have always been most generous with their donations toward all projects being done and also a good friend to all their neighbors and will be missed by each and everyone.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Wilson and family. Memorial Services were held last Friday in their home Chapel in Hudson, Ohio.

Mable and Elliot Bird of Flint are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N.C. Christensen.

Several friends were guests this Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pauline Canfield honoring her sister Mrs. Ada Alderson's birthday anniversary.

A Memorial Fund is in progress for Robert Wilson to be placed in our local church. Anyone wishing to contribute can call or send it to Mrs. Ross Alexander.

The Family Night dinner Sunday evening was well attended and Mr. Paul Pattison, a friend of Rev. Harmon, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on the use and abuse of drugs. We hope to have him return with films and more information.

Cigarettes blamed for death rate

"Many respiratory diseases can be directly attributed to smoking cigarettes," reports J. Irvin Nichols, executive director of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. "We feel cigarette smoking is a major cause of lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, and emphysema."

Nichols cited the report of the Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health of the Surgeon General, U.S. Public Health Service, which says, "Cigarette smoking is the most important of the causes of chronic bronchitis in the United States.

FHA grant to county

A grant of $7,000 has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration for comprehensive planning of water and waste disposal services in Charlevoix County, Alfred O. Laporte, state director of the FHA, announced last week.

The grant was made to the Charlevoix County Planning Commmission.

According to Administration officials, the comprehensive plan will outline orderly development of central water systems, sewer systems, and other waste disposal facilities to serve all the rural areas of Charlevoix, including all towns in the county.

Planning will take into account the need to insure effective use of our water resources, avoid duplication of systems, and locate waste disposal facilities in an effort to guard against pollution of water supplies.

Council against school tax request

Charlevoix City Council turned thumbs down on the school district's request for collection of school taxes in the summer, at its meeting last Monday night.

Following the announcement, the Board stated it hoped that Council "would re-consider the request" soon, as summer collection of school taxes would be of "tremendous financial help" to the financially-plagued district.

This school year, the Board was forced to seek a special request from the state which allowed it to borrow money to keep the local schools open. Interest on the loan will cost taxpayers a total of $6,000 this year.

The School Board told Council that summer tax collections would alleviate that problem in the future, but Council decided against the move.

When put to a vote at the meeting, Alderman Robert Gill cast the only affirmative voice, with one member of the body, Roger Westenbroek, absent.

According to Council, collecting taxes in the summer would pose a hardship on businesses, and would also discriminate against city residents, since, at least for the first year, township residents would continue to pay their school taxes in December.

In other business, Council received a request from Chamber of Commerce representatives George Richardson and Ralph Hess to stage a "fly-in" at the Municipal Airport in September. Proceeds from the event would go to the chamber. Council held off a decision until receipt of complete plans.

Council also paid bills totaling $48,913.89.

Licenses available here Wed.

Secretary of State James M. Hare has announced the appointment of Mrs. James Marshall as manager of the Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office.

"The license plate office will be re-opened Wednesday at 9 a.m. at 212 Bridge Street," Hare said.

Mrs. Mari Marshall has undergone a week of intensive training for the job in Roscommon. She has assured local residents that she'll do her utmost to see that any long waiting periods for license plates will be averted.

'Supers' hold quiet meeting

Charlevoix County's Board of Supervisors moved through a relatively quiet meeting last Tuesday, spending a good portion of the day struggling with proposed budgets in county departments.

In action during the day-long session, Donald Graham of South Arm Township was appointed to the Charlevoix County Road Commission to fill the unexpired term of the late Leo Sommerville of East Jordan.

Graham was elected to the post by a 14-1 vote of the Supervisors. He and Frank Stueker of East Jordan were the lone two nominees for the position.

Graham has been a supervisor in South Arm for over four years and also served on the County Board of Supervisors for three years before re-districting in 1968.

In other business, E.D. "Pat" Hawley was re-appointed to the County Building Authority. He had resigned in February, when he left on his annual vacation and it was discovered that a quorum would not be presented for the opening of jail bond bids.

At that point, Hawley resigned from the authority and Maurice J. Foster was appointed as his successor. Foster resigned from his new position recently and Hawley was re-instated.

The Supervisors also heard a report from the office of the Friend of the Court.

Danger of drugs....CHS students listen as the story is presented by Herb Meppelink.

Meppelink warns of drug dangers

By Bernice Wexstaff

Charlevoix may have viewed the world through rose-colored glasses in the past, but Herb Meppelink of Detroit, who lectured at the Methodist church on Sunday, the schools and Kiwanis club on Monday, certainly changed the color of the lenses when he brought home the grim facts of teen drug addiction.

Meppelink is qualified to inform Charlevoix parents of the hazard to the teen in health, academic progress and ultimate social ostracism if the drug habit is firmly established.

Meppelink's commitment to the problems of the young and their parents is channeled through the non-denominational Christian organization known as Teen-Challenge. This group helps drug addicts to find freedom from the habit and a new beginning in teaching, missionary and social work in behalf of other teens.

The purpose of his traveling Evangelism is to acquaint parents of signs of drug addiction of which they may be totally unaware as well as the possible rescue of those so addicted.

Those who have never been tempted to use drugs find it difficult to understand today's teens. Adults are prone to argue that "kids never had it so good." And, they are right, but what most adults fail to consider is the basic gregarian nature of mankind. Adult fraternal organizations prove that all people of all age groups enjoy joining together in a fellowship of kindred minds.

So it is with the young and the secret society of drug addiction is the result. The bond is real among addicts. It is unfortunate that the commodity that appears at first to make for happiness is in the end the merchandise that maims and kills.

In brief

Big Bros. meet

The Charlevoix County Big Brothers Association will meet on Tuesday, March 24, at 8 p.m. in the East Jordan City Building.

All Charlevoix County men interested enough in young fatherless boys to contribute a small portion of their time for a worthy cause are urged to attend. There is a serious need for more businessmen to serve on the Board of Directors as well as a need for more Big Brothers.

Redeker outstanding

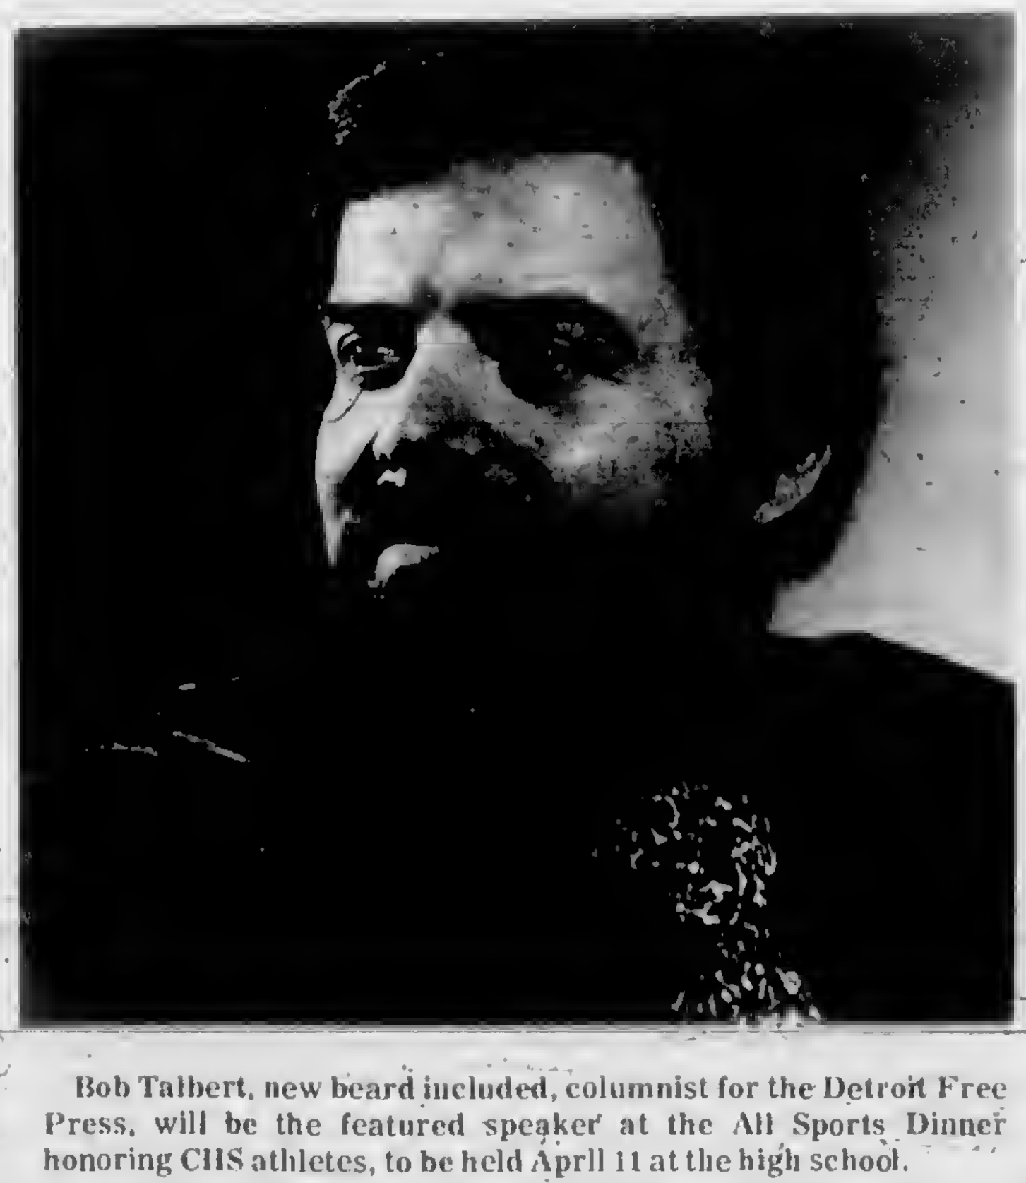
Jerrald H. Redeker, president of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, has been named one of the "Outstanding Young Men in America of 1970" it was announced today.

Redeker was nominated for the honor by his alma mater, Hope College. The basis for selection includes professional accomplishments and community involvement.

3 are named

Three Charlevoix County residents have been named to the County Tax Allocation Board for the year by Probate Judge John Makel.

They are: Edward Hansen, 101 West Lincoln, Charlevoix, representative of a municipality; Donovan S. Fox, Boyne City, representative of a school district; and Sherman O. Thomas, East Jordan, representative not officially connected with any unit of government.



Bob Talbert, new beard included, columnist for the Detroit Free Press, will be the featured speaker at the All Sports Dinner honoring CHS athletes, to be held April 11 at the high school.

Welcome Wagon now in city

Charlevoix now boasts a Welcome Wagon hostess, as Mrs. H. William Brady last week completed a course of training in Petoskey which prepared her for the position as hostess in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Brady, a resident of North Point, is one of 8,000 Welcome Wagon hostesses who make more than one million calls annually on families in more than 9,000 cities and towns throughout the United States, Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia and Puerto Rico.

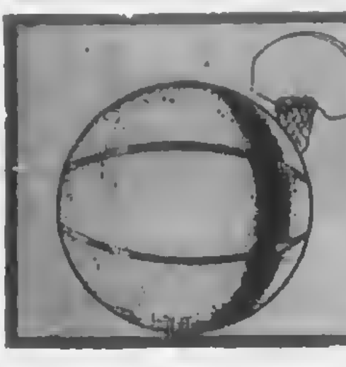
Mrs. Brady told the Courier last week that she hopes to begin servicing the area this week.

On behalf of more than 100,000 business sponsors, Welcome Wagon calls on families on such important occasions as when they move into a new home, when there is a new baby, and when an engagement is announced. Welcome Wagon also participates in special events such as golden wedding anniversaries, installation of new civic and governmental officials, visiting dignitaries, and other occasions especially important to the family or the community.

With her "most famous basket in the world", Mrs. Brady will warmly extend to the families upon whom she calls the hand of friendship and helpfulness for which Welcome Wagon has been known for more than four decades. She may be contacted by telephone at 547-9384.

Mrs. Brady knows this community. She is interested in promoting its welfare and progress, and is "looking forward to serving the community in my new position."

Tournament play continues



Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

With a feeling of "Benign Neglect", the first round of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League tournament got underway without any reference to the now famous Battle of the Beavers. We are glad to get an exclusive that the HILF has retreated to Wisconsin and accepted the surrender terms of the Rebels. In basketball action it was inevitable that powerful Andy's Tire World would come through in the clutch and knock off the regular season's champs, Martin's Standard Service. Andy's wants that Tournament trophy, a bronze statue of Del Terrill. Andy's will have to contend with the U.S. Coast Guard Station, who handed First State Bank their opening round defeat, or Lexalite, who will play the Station this week. Ronald Reagan sang the National Anthem while George Murphy kept time to the song by doing a short tap dance.

In the evening's first fray, Andy's Tire World never lost the lead, after the first basket made by Martin's Standard Service, and went on to make an impressive win. Andy's had a first period lead of 18 to 11 behind suave Sam Supernaw's and Norm Helm's 6 points apiece. Beanie Boss also tallied 6 for the Gasers. In the second period, Andy's increased their lead to a half time score of 28 to 17. Stan "Marcus Haines" Smith put in 4 along with Sammy, while there was no big scorer for Martin's.

A half time show of Zsa Zsa Gabor and Tiny Tim singing a duet of their hit song, "There's No Room On The Beavers For The Both Of Us", kept the capacity crowd in an utter trance. After that, Andy's romped on the floor and increased their lead to 40 to 33 at the end of the third quarter. Even scoring paced both clubs in a well played period. In an exciting fourth period, the Gasers had 3 first-downs, on excellent down floor blocking by Tubby Wagner, and tied the ball game with less than a minute to play. But, with the deepest of pressure calm, cool Andy Carey put in two free throws to put his team ahead. Ken Balch and Norm Helms each put in insurance buckets on break-aways as Andy's sewed up the victory 58 to 54. Helms led Andy's in scoring with 14 points followed closely by Sam Supernaw with 13. Beanie Box tallied 25 in Martin's losing effort.

In the second and final game of the evening, the U.S. Coast Guard Station squeeked out a close victory over the First State Bank. The Swabbies took a first period lead of 14 to 13 with even scoring for the boys in blue. Larry "slop" Edwards pushed in 6 points for the Bankers before he cleaned off his shoes. The second period was as slow as the first with the Station keeping their one point lead, 24 to 23. "Stein" Engelbretson put in two buckets for the Guardsmen.

The second half time show featured Clean Dean Mikulski in a fashion show of his new bowling shirts. After that breath taking show (he doesn't wear Ban), the Bankers roared back in the third period to tie the Sand Pounders 36 all at the end of the quarter. Lee "The Lip" Cross canned 6 points for the Bankers, while Billy Kidd, disguised as Don Finley, and Everett Daishell put in 4 apiece for the Station. The fourth period saw "Hot Toddy" Bren LaBlance push through 7 points to no avail as Bob "Tiny" Hook put in 6, and the Station sealed their first round victory. Engelbretson tallied 12 for the Station, while Hook, Finley, and big Frank all had 8 points. Fertilizer Edwards led the Bankers with 16, with Bumbling Bren getting 12.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE.....Jerry Redeker said his team is definitely not for sale at any price. He was quoted as saying "With interest rates and the economy in their present condition, this is the most secure investment my bank has, even though they haven't won a game since we bought their uniforms" .... Threats have been heard that the Lexalite franchise will be moved to Bay Shore because they feel they'll be closer to their fans ....Complaints were heard on the biased reporting of the Battle this week in the Courier office by an ad hoc committee, saying that there were two dozen eggs shipped in the plane last week....This week's games will feature a special half time show of Bill Supernaw demonstrating his talent for belly dancing to the Hawaiian War Chant.

Hayes Township Voters

Regular annual meeting of Hayes Township to be held Saturday, April 5th, 8 P.M. at the Town Hall, for the presentation of the purposed budget and other business brought before the Board.

Leo Burnett
Township Clerk

Charlevoix's American Legion Post has donated 25 American flags to the new elementary school for classroom use. School budget, slashed by millage defeats last year, did not include money for flags, but Legion has corrected the situation. Presenting flag to Glenn Snider, principal, second from left, are Louis McKenzie, financial officer of the Post, Ray Wood, Commander, and Bob Nowakowski, flag chairman.

Library notes

Bright new colorful easy books for the pre-schoolers are on display in the Library for spring. Outstanding in the collection is the delightful "Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes." It contains a unique and appealing selection of authentic rhymes, riddles and games that Chinese mothers have taught their children for hundreds of years. This enchanting book is designed to be read vertically like an oriental scroll, with the original version of the verses in correct and decorative calligraphy, flowing lengthwise on the pages.

Brian Wildsmith's "Fishes" contains some of the artist's loveliest greens and blues and purples. He hopes that what has appealed to him as he painted will give enjoyment to a whole school of readers. It's a wonderful picture book with each page filled with flying fish and dolphins and swordfish and speckled trout.

"The Tower of Babel" is a child's version of the Old Testament story of King Nimrod. Written and illustrated by William Wiesner, the slim volume is full of colored, panoramic illustrations showing Babylon, a splendid tower that dwarfs the boats on the river beneath it and the proud and mighty fortress. Every child will want to turn the pages of this lovely book many many times.

"The Story of Prince Man, the Firebird and the Gray Wolf" is one of Russia's best loved fairy tales. It tells the story of Prince Ivan's search for the elusive firebird that stole the golden fruit from the royal apple tree. His fabulous adventures win him not only the firebird but the beautiful Princess Elena. Nonny Hogrogian's gem-like illustrations create a fresh and sparkling picture book.

"Why the Sun and the Moon Live in the Sky" is a favorite with all children who are acquainted with the story. Talented Blair Lent presents this timeless tale with an original touch, personalizing his subjects through his earthy color and primitive motif and capturing a true feeling of Africa.

The Hargis Brothers

Hargis brothers at Assembly

David and Don Hargis will be conducting special Easter Emphasis meetings at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, 203 East Upright Street, on Thursday and Friday nights of this week at 7:30 p.m. Both men are musically talented and will be singing in each service, as well as ministering the Word of God.

On Saturday night, there will be a youth rally at the church beginning at 4 p.m. Pizza and Pepsi will be served in the fellowship hall and then the Hargis Brothers will be singing some of their own songs and talking on youth related subjects.

On Easter Sunday, the church will host a Sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. with the Community Reformed Church as their guests. Coffee and rolls will be provided afterwards in the fellowship hall. Pastor Bob Rutledge will minister in the 11 o'clock Easter morning worship service, and David and Don Hargis will conclude their special meetings at the church in the 7 p.m. Gospel service.

The pastor and congregation invite everyone of the community to attend these opportunities for worship and fellowship.

NOTICE OF CITY OF CHARLEVOIX CITY ELECTION

Bethany Church lists services

Palm Sunday, March 22, was the occasion for confirmation at Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church, South Bridge Street, Charlevoix.

Ted Schantz of Ironton, Miss Sheila Brady, and Brian Brady of Charlevoix were members of the confirmation class. The Rev. Duane Imig, pastor of the church, used confirmation verses for the sermon text; he encouraged them to unashamedly be faithful unto God realizing His blessings and living in His promises. Many friends and relatives were present to wish the class well and give them encouragement in the face of these trying times.

The confirmation class becomes communicant members of the congregation and will take their first communion on Thursday evening. The entire congregation will commemorate the first Lords Supper as they celebrate Holy Communion in special services Maundy Thursday evening March 26. The services will begin at 7:30 and we invite you to be with us.

HOLY WEEK AND EASTER SERVICES

Bethany Lutheran Church will conduct Holy week services on Thursday evening March 26. The services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Holy communion will be celebrated in this service, and the members of the confirmation class will take their first communion.

On Good Friday afternoon at 1 p.m., we will hold special services remembering the suffering and death of our Lord Jesus Christ. The theme of this service will be "The abundant life is a Life of Trust".

Easter services celebrating our Lord's victory over death in the resurrection will be held at 9 a.m., Sunday, March 29. Having gone through the somber season of Lent and the sadness of Christ's death on Good Friday, we learn with joy of the resurrection of Jesus. We see Him as a forerunner of our own coming resurrection to eternity with Him.

All services will be conducted by Pastor Imig and will be held at Bethany Ev. Lutheran Church at 1407 S. Bridge St. Charlevoix. "We extend to you the members of the community the invitation to join us as we remember the death and resurrection of our Savior Jesus Christ.

Money Matters

What truth in lending means to you

Within the last year there was a complete change in lending procedures at all banks, loan companies, and all businesses that add a service charge or finance charge to your account when it goes beyond the thirty day limit.

We all use credit in one form or another. Some of us charge our purchases at department stores, others buy gas and oil or even charge restaurant meals on credit cards. Almost all of us buy our cars and furniture on the installment plan. We may even borrow money from a bank or other lender for vacation use or, perhaps, to meet unexpected medical expenses.

In all cases, we have to pay a charge for the use of credit. The purpose of the Truth in Lending Law, that went into effect July 1,1969, is to let consumers know exactly what that charge is, and to let them make comparisons of the charges from different credit sources. The law, therefore, requires creditors to state such charges in a uniform way.

This law makes it easier for you to know two of the most important things about the cost of credit. One is the finance charge--the amount of money you pay to obtain credit. The other is the annual percentage rate, which provides a way of comparing credit costs regardless of the dollar amount of those costs or the length of time over which we make payment. Both the finance charge and the annual percentage rate must be displayed prominently on the forms and statements used by a creditor to make the required disclosures.

We all know what interest--6 percent per year for example. Let's suppose you borrow $100 for one year and pay 6 percent or $6 for that money. If you have use of the entire amount for one year, you are paying an annual percentage rate of 6 percent. But if you repay the $106 in 12 equal monthly installments, you do not have use of the entire amount for the full year. In fact over the entire year you have the use on the average of only about half the full $100, or $50. So, the $6 charge for credit in this case becomes an annual percentage rate of 11 percent. Some creditors levy a service charge or a carrying charge or some other charge instead of interest, or perhaps they may add these charges to the interest.

Under the Truth in Lending Law, they must now total all such charges, including the interest, and call the total of these charges the finance charge. Then they must list the annual percentage rate of the total charge for credit. The Truth in Lending Law does not fix interest rates or other credit charges. Our state has laws setting a limit on interest rates, which still apply.

Chances are, then, that if the monthly statements and other materials you receive from companies advancing you credit look much different now, it doesn't mean they've changed their rates, only their way of presenting the actual charges as required by the Truth in Lending Law. The charge account statements, for example, which you receive, should now list both a monthly rate, 1 percent or 1½ percent and the annual percentage rate, 12 percent or 18 percent which is usually 12 times the monthly rate.

You, who want to go into the matter more deeply, may request the free pamphlet, "What You Ought to Know About Truth in Lending" from any Federal Reserve Bank or from the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551.

Mrs. Effie Arthur has returned home after spending the holiday season with relatives in Detroit and with friends in several places in Florida.

We were all pleased to hear that Chevy Sevcik returned home from Little Traverse Hospital recently.

Mary Carol Nielsen entertained several girl friends with a slumber party recenty. The occasion was her birthday anniversary.

ADJ-3 George Loomis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kline of Oden, has been awarded his third air medal for meritorious combat flight in Vietnam in support of the U.S. Navy's Seventh Fleet operation in flying direct strike and combat support missions against enemy forces under hazardous flying conditions.

Loomis, who has been in the Navy since Sept. 1967, has been serving overseas since August of 1968.

He was home for 20 days leave with his folks for Christmas and returned to Vietnam on Jan. 2, 1970.

George Loomis graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1967. He is the grandson of the late, Mr. and Mrs. George Glados with whom he made his home. His mother is Mary Glados Kline of Oden.

Mrs. Effie Arthur had as guests this past weekend her nephew, Glen Maple, who is with the National Ski Patrol and his two sons Ted and Tom of Royal Oak; also her grandsons Ray and Max Arthur of Huntington Woods, Michigan. They all enjoyed skiing at Schuss Mountain at Mancelona.

Mrs. Lyle Walker has returned home from being a surgical patient in Little Traverse Hospital. She has the best wishes of her community friends.

Mrs. William Vanderwall returned to her school duties in Traverse City Monday after spending the weekend at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Scott are spenting three weeks vacationing in several places in Florida.

The Weekly Club met last Thursday with Mrs. N.C. Christensen. They will meet this Thursday afternoon with Hilda Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Bay City were guests this past weekend at the home of Mrs. Pauline Canfield.

Everyone in Ironton extends Happy Easter Wishes to their friends and neighbors, both far and near.

Study grant awarded

Will Michigan snowmobile rallies develop into motorcycle gang activity? The West Michigan Tourist Association has been awarded a federal grant to study the economics of snowmobiling for the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, Governor William G. Milliken and WMTA President W.B. Tebeau, announced recently.

UGLRC is a government agency serving the upper half of the states of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The Agency goals include the economic development of the area.

The study, which will require telephone conversations with more than 500 snowmobile owners, will be conducted for WMTA by Directional Marketing Co. of Grand Rapids, Tebeau reports.

Jack Eddle, president of the will begin this month and the entire project will be compteted in June.

"Information gained from this study will be of great help to Michigan and other resort operators in determining if providing snowmobile facilities would be a profitable winter operation," Tebeau stated.

"We want to know more about this booming industry to determine the feasibility of a promotional campaign aimed at bringing snowmobilers into the Great Lakes region for more than a one day stay.

"It will also give us, for the first time, an insight into personalities of people who use snowmobiles and the motivating factors for the unbelievable growth of this winter activity," he said.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Since I'm not sure what my income will be this year, can I use 1969 figures for my estimated tax?

A) Yes, one method that can be used to make an estimated tax declaration is to base it on last year's income and expense figures. Make any adjustment you think necessary in these figures when you file the declaration.

Should your income situation change after filing, make the required adjustment when you make the next installment payment. The change can be made on the estimated tax worksheet you used to figure your original declaration.

If you received a package of pre-addressed estimated tax vouchers in the mail, use one to make each quarterly payment. This will assure proper crediting of your payments. If you need to file an estimated tax declaration and did not receive the Form 1040ES package by mail, the forms can be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q) I sold some shares of stock I inherited from my grandfather. How do I report this?

A) Report any gain or loss on Schedule D. Generally, the gain or loss will be the difference between proceeds of the sale and the fair market value of the stock at the date of decedent's death.

For your convenience, a copy of Schedule D and instructions were included in the 1040 tax package mailed out this year.

Q) Is a company pension taxable?

A) If the company paid the entire cost, the pension usually will be fully taxable when you receive the proceeds. If you contributed to the cost of the pension, then only a portion is taxable.

If the employee's total contributions are recovered within three years after he receives his first pension payment, no tax has to be paid on the pension until the employee's total contributions are recovered. If the employee's contributions will not be recovered within that time, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

This is explained in greater detail in the instructions accompanying Schedule E which is part of the 1040 tax package.

Q) Do you need all my W-2's? I had several part-time jobs last year in addition to my regular one.

A) Yes, a W-2 from each employer should be attached to the back of your tax return. A missing W-2 was a major reason for delayed refunds last year. If you cannot get all your W-2 forms, report all your income and attach a statement explaining how you computed any tax withheld for which you claim credit, but for which you have no Form W-2.

Attach copy B of each W-2 to your return. The other copies are for state income tax returns where required and for your records.

Q) I was charged a pre-payment penalty when I paid off my mortgage. Can I deduct this?

A) Yes, this is deductible as interest if you itemize.

Q) My friend said I had to add the surcharge to what the tax table showed I owed. Is that right?

A) Yes, the tax tables show the regular income tax and to this amount should be added the income tax surcharge. You should use the tax surcharge tables on page T-1 of the Form 1040 package to determine your surcharge.

The tax tables are for taxpayers with incomes under $5,000 who don't itemize. IRS will also figure the tax due for these taxpayers in most situations.

Q) I moved last year to take a new job. Can I deduct my costs of moving from one city to another?

A) Under certain conditions, certain moving costs are deductible. You can qualify for this deduction if you move to take a new job or for another job with the same employer. You may take this deduction even if you do not itemize your deductions.

Conditions under which moving costs are deductible are covered on page E-2 of the 1040 instructions.

Courses offered in Boyne City

Registration is scheduled for Tuesday, April 7, for two industrial education classes to be offered by Central Michigan University's Off Campus Education office in Boyne City this spring.

Students may enroll April 7 at 7 p.m. in the shop room in Boyne City High School. The first meeting of the class will follow registration.

Offered is Industrial Education 403, Industrial Arts in the Elementary School, and Industrial Arts 417, Design and Construction of Teaching Aids. Two hours graduate or undergraduate credit is earned in each course.

Teaching the courses will be Garry Mesler of the CMU Department of Industrial Education and Technology.

Pat's Reaction

A tisket, a tasket

I'm tired of being the Easter bunny at our house. After all it's been 14 years now of hop, hop, hopping in with an Easter basket, and somehow I always hop into the Easter season two pounds thinner than I hop out. Easter is much more tempting than Christmas.

In 14 years I still haven't learned how to keep my paws off of those chocolate eggs. They really turn me on.

Every year I'm careful to throw a few coconut chocolate eggs into the Easter baskets. I kid myself into thinking that this year the children will learn to love coconut, but in my heart of hearts I know full well that I'll fall heir to all of those coconut eggs.

Truthfully I don't like coconut as well as I do maple, but the children like maple so I've managed to reconcile myself to coconut for the next few bunny seasons.

One year I really did luck out though, and made a killing on the Easter baskets. I was in the Big City and fell for some fancy white chocolate bunnies. Fool that I was I thought that the children would love them. After all they'd seen plenty of real live white rabbits, but who ever sees a chocolate bunny hopping about?

Do you know what? They hated those white bunnies. I guess that it's sort of like tasting your first spoonful of green vanilla pudding on St. Patrick's Day—either you go all the way or you don't. When you've been raised on brown chocolate bunnies you get sort of in a rut and that's all you want, not pink, not green just reliable brown chocolate.

Come to think of it, I wonder what those pink bunnies did taste like. Do you suppose they were actually chocolate too?

Actually I don't mind being the Easter bunny who brings chocolate rabbits and eggs; it's those Easter baskets that are getting me down.

That's because in addition to being the Easter bunny hopper I am also the vacuum cleaner pusher at our house. After six children have torn through their Easter baskets that plastic grass sticking to the carpet can be a pretty grim sight.

People who have no children can say wisely, "Have the children pick it up." But every Easter after church all of the children sort of scatter like 'leaves before the wild hurricane fly', leaving me alone to vacuum up the plastic grass which is stuck by gooey cream to everything in the house.

If I could I'd fly away too, but I can't so there I am left holding the vacuum and a chocolate egg. After all a mother bunny has to have some compensation.

Grandview News

We have had several new admissions recently. Albert Manglos of Boyne City, Ernest Kelley of East Jordan, Mrs. Grace McPherson of Charlevoix, Mrs. Burdella McGeorge of Boyne City, and Felix Kus of Boyne Falls have joined our residency. Returning to their homes in Boyne City were Archie Karlskin, Jr., and Peter Larsen, and Dan McSawby has gone to make his home with the Raymond Danas of Boyne City.

We are almost ready for Spring, as Sims Baker and Paul Carson have nearly completed their painting spree. All the rooms are so fresh and pretty, and spirits are really lifted by the "new look."

Richard Tillen, Vern Whiteford, Father Hewitt Johnston, and Mrs. Jewell Bryan met at the Facility on February 18 for the monthly meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Social Services.

Visiting the facility recently were Mrs. Nancy Flood, R.N., and Mrs. Doris Johnston, R.N. of the Public Health Department, and Dr. Libke, also of the Public Health Department. Also visiting were Mrs. Mary Muller, Dietary Consultant from Gaylord, and Miss Florence VanDerWoudi of the Physical Therapy Rehabilitation Service.

Mrs. Hilda Watkins, Mrs. Irene Behling, and Mrs. Flora Chabrier motored to Frankfort on February 26 to attended a meeting.

Stanley Mack and John Olson of Michigan Blue Cross were here on February 27. Olson will be our new Blue Cross representative, since Mack will be covering a new district now.

Ladies from the Free Methodist Church of Boyne City called on March 2 and gave a birthday party for Jeanette Harris, whose birthday was March 1, and Angeline Gregory, whose birthday is March 26. They sang songs and had birthday cake and "glorified rice." Both ladies received a birthday gift.

Mrs. Eva Erfourth was transferred from our Facility to Little Traverse Hospital on February 28, but expected to return here soon. She is doing much better.

The Ministerial Association met here March 2, with the Revs. Seward Walton, Duane Ferris, John Morken, Albert Mansen, Elmer Faust, Jack Harris, Thomas Rash, L. Tenhopen, Stanley Hays, and Marcus Krake.

Auxiliary members are beginning to take an active part in service at the Facility. Some are helping in Diversional Therapy, some are working in the Beauty Shop, some are sewing, while others are doing the weekly shopping for the patients. Last week Betty Boswell and Edna Wilkins spent the morning playing cards with some of our men.

The Grandvue Auxiliary met March 12 with a very good attendance. Plans are in the forming for another Benefit Games party the latter part of April.

Mrs. Dick Clark brought us a beautiful transistor radio on behalf of the Snowmobiler's Club on March 12. The Snowmobiler's Club held a box social a few weeks back and with the proceeds, purchased this radio. We are most grateful to them for their thoughtfulness, and know the patients will get much enjoyment out of this radio. Thanks again to the Snowmobiler's Club.

Over the years, as conditions improved, CARE has ended aid to 38 nations. It currently helps the needy in 35 countries from Latin America to the Middle East, Africa and Asia.

Kiwanis Notes

Spring has officially arrived in Charlevoix and the springtime activity of tapping the maple trees has begun. This annual Kiwanis event will hopefully enrich the Kiwanis Koffers.

Committees were named at the March 16 meeting for the purpose of drilling holes, inserting tubes and hanging buckets on the local maple trees.

The members present also heard reports on the advance sale of tickets to the "Ink Spots" show to be held in the Charlevoix gymnasium on Wednesday, March 15. This Kiwanis presentation gives residents of the area an opportunity to see some great professional entertainment and at the same time contribute to the new Camp Daggett kitchen. This kitchen was required for State Health Department approval.

The program for the evening was presented by Herb Meppelink was assisted by three former drug users who described their experiences with drugs. The same program had been presented earlier in the day to some of the high school students. Meppelink stated that based on the questions asked during the morning meeting he was sure Charlevoix parents had, or soon would have, problems with their children using drugs.

Accident injures 3

Three local youths suffered minor injuries in a one-car accident north of Bay Shore last Sunday afternoon.

State Police reported that a 1958 Volkswagen was heading north on U.S. 31, when the driver, Carl Russell, 17, of 102 West Hurlbut, momentarily took his eyes off the road and as the car began to go off the road, a passenger grabbed the wheel and the car crossed the highway, rolled over and landed upright in a snowbank.

The driver and his brother Clarence, also 17, suffered bruises and abrasion. Walter Kroush, 16, also of Charlevoix, complained of pain, but there was no visible sign of injury.

Tom Cross, also of Charlevoix, another passenger was uninjured.

Kroger gets LCC license

The Liquor Control Commission (LCC) of the Michigan Department of Commerce reported today that it has approved 25 applications for beer and wine takeout licenses in 18 outstate counties, including one at the Kroger grocery store, 105 West Hurlbut Street, Charlevoix.

CHILDREN FIRST.

Of the 35 million people CARE is helping to feed in 1970, almost 26 million are children who are fed regularly in preschool and baby centers, primary schools, hospitals and other institutions. Every dollar sent to CARE Food Crusade, New York 10016, can help feed a child for 3 months.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If making tracks across a clean carpet to get to a telephone leaves your wife a little less than happy, then perhaps there's nothing so funny about an extension telephone in the garage or workshop.

Extension telephones make sense. They save time by letting you use a telephone wherever you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can put an extension in any funny old place you'd like.

Rep. Davis speaks

State Representative Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) today urged senior citizens to check with their local assessors relative to homestead tax exemptions.

"The legislature has passed a bill which removes the ceiling on State Equalized Valuation on a Senior Citizens home to qualify for the homestead tax exemption. Prior to this the SEV could not exceed $10,000. What this means is that many Senior Citizens who did not qualify for these exemptions before, may now qualify," Davis said.

Representative Davis indicated that senior citizens have between now and the first Tuesday in March to apply. "I would also like to point out," Davis said, "that this new law does not apply to the year 1969. It does however apply to 1970 so the first two months of this year do figure in the new requirements.

"I am very pleased with this action of the Michigan Legislature. Our senior citizens, like others on fixed incomes, suffer the most in our inflationary times. I am pleased that we have taken additional steps to see that the things they have worked a life time to attain are not taxed away from them," Davis said.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

Unknown to the grocery shopper, beneath the surface of food for sale on the shelf, a revolution has been going on between the grower and food processors.

One might say the "battle" began when processors, because of the changing markets ten to fifteeen years ago, began buying commodities directly from the farmer instead of from long established market centers. Now, a large processing organization can underbid and out muscle one farmer any day. The grower doesn't have much of a choice. He cannot afford to transport his food to other markets and still come out ahead.

Feeling the crunch of rising costs of operation and leaner prices for his work, the grower began a fight for survival when farmers began joining together in marketing associations to collectively sell their corn, carrots, cucumbers, livestock and what-have-you to the processor. The result of course is a more fair method of bargaining power for the farmer.

But many processors would not hear of it. They wouldn't even recognize an association. They refused to do business with them. Now, a farmer's crops are not like manufactured appliances in a factory. Time is a factor. A farmer with bushels of pears or lugs of cherries can't afford to wait long before he faces the reality of spoilage and loss of a whole season's work.

To escape from beneath the gavel of the processors dictates of unfair buying practices, some bills have been passed in Congress to ease this unfair competition, yet it hasn't been enough. There is still a need to secure additional legislation to protect the right of growers to honest recognition and fair bargaining.

Farm Bureau is seeking passage of the Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act (S-2225) to deal with the refusal of some processors to do business with growers who voluntarily wish to negotiate for sale of their products through their own marketing association.

Experts say that this legislation does not compel associations and buyers to reach agreement. It would require handlers to negotiate (but not necessarily reach agreement) with associations that farmers have voluntarily agreed should serve as their agents.

Rayders bow, 80-70; close season 14-7

Stewart Coleman puts in 2 of his last 10 points as a Charlevoix Red Rayder. Coleman played fine basketball as a Rayder, and the Charlevoix basketball fans will remember his name for a long time.

After a great season, the District and Regional Championships, the Rayders fell to the St. Ignace Saints, 80 to 70, in State Quarter-final action in Cheboygan last Wednesday.

The Rayders put up a good fight and made the Saints work for their trip to Lansing. St. Ignace canned 2 quick baskets for an early lead, which they held for the rest of the game. The Saints scored 20 points in the 1st quarter to the Rayders' 15 to hold a 5 point lead at the end of the first stanza.

The Saints widened their lead in the second quarter to 16 points, but the Rayders came back strong toward the end of the stanza for a 30 to 38 half time score.

The third quarter proved to be the strong one for the Rayders. They came within one point of the Saints for the first time in the game.

However, they were unable to take over the lead. By the end of the third quarter, it was the Saints 61 and the Rayders 56.

The fourth quarter proved to be a repeat of the third. The Rayders kept the Saints lead down to five and three points and never allowed for a larger one except in the last few minutes when the Saints iced the victory with three quick field goals.

The Rayders were led by Bruce Meggison with 24. He was followed by Kraag Lieberman with 20. Stew Coleman, who has been ill the past week, had his worst night of the season with 10. Norm Ostrum also had 10.

For the Saints, Donovan had 28. He was followed by McKinnon with 24.

Baseball and Comments

by L.J. Ford

Charlevoix will again have a Little League baseball program this summer. Any boy who wishes to participate (between 8 and 13 years old) is invited to do so!

The program will concentrate on the learning of fundamentals of playing baseball. Strong emphasis will be placed on leadership and sportsmanship.

Several trips to Detroit are planned, so that each boy will have a chance to see the Detroit Tigers in action.

If you are interested in having your boy join the program, please contact L.J. Ford, Box, 235, Charlevoix, or telephone 547-4227.

4 meetings set

The Charlevoix Woman's Club is planning four activities for the coming week.

The Antiques Group of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet today, Monday, March 23, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. P.D. Campbell on Pine River Lane. Any Woman's Club member who is interested in Antiques is welcome to come. Members will show the things that they purchased on the recent antiques tour and will discuss their particular collecting interests.

The Music Group will meet for rehearsal at 1:30, at the Community Reformed Church, on Monday, March 23.

Also meeting at 1:30 in the afternoon on Monday, March 23, will be the Book Review Group, at the home of Mrs. John Uhrick, 508 E. Dixon Avenue. Mrs. Robert Burns will review "Dibs" by Virginia Axline.

The Executive Board of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet Tuesday, March 24. Officers, committee chairmen and interest group chairmen are reminded to have a brief annual report to present at the April 6, General Meeting, and a more detailed written record to turn over to their successors.

Ruppe Reports

"Will our children's education improve in the 1970's?"

Last week President Nixon announced to Congress an exciting and promising plan for education reform. He called for a "searching re-examination of our entire approach to learning" and put forth a step-by-step program for improving the concepts and realities of American education.

Included in the President's plan is The Commission on School Finance, which will study and develop programs to narrow the educational gaps resulting from varying state and school district budgets. The steep enrollment growth of the past twenty years will markedly decline in the '70's, which will open the door for potential educational improvement within the United States. The Commission pledges to develop the full capability of American school systems so that our children will be able to study in institutions of the highest possible quality.

President Nixon reiterated his endorsement of the Right to Read as a goal for the 1970's. The President feels that every American should have the opportunity to learn to read and this program provides funds, through the states, for special education improvement projects. Also, he has said that he will request increased appropriations for school library programs so that an adequate variety and quantity of books will be made available to every child.

Another aspect of the reform package calls for an Early Learning Program. This would create "a network of experimental centers to discover what works best in early childhood education". These centers would provide possible bases for large day-care programs which would greatly alleviate the burdens of working parents and would also expose children to social situations that should prove essential to their later adjustment in he school environment.

I have co-sponsored legislation which will implement the President's educational reform package and I will work for its early passage in the House of Representatives.

Fair plans are made

Initial plans for the eleventh annual Waterfront Fair for Artists and Craftsmen were aired at a recent meeting of the fair committee called by the 1970 chairman, Mrs. James Driggett.

At the meeting she introduced Mrs. James Shepared who will serve as her co-chairman.

She also announced that Mrs. Ted Lass and Mrs. Richard Martin had been added to the present committee and that others may be named at a later date.

Mrs. Jack Rader, Mrs. Arthur Skelton, Mrs. Paul Olsen, Mrs. J.F. Webb, Mrs. Edward McNamara, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Julius Gilbert and Fran Martin, all of whom have been associated with the Fair committee in various capacities over a period of years, will again serve. Mrs. Gilbert and Miss Martin will again be in charge of publicity. Other assignments will be made later.

Hugh Riker, another committee member, will design this year's poster, Mrs. Driggett said.

Anyone interested in working with the committee is asked to call Mrs. Driggett.

This year's Waterfront Fair is scheduled for Aug. 8.

Obituaries

Mrs. Peter Gallagher

Funeral services for Mrs. Peter O. Gallagher, 77, who died unexpectedly at her home last Saturday afternoon, were held at St. Mary's Church at 9 a.m. Tuesday with the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born at Manistique Aug. 20, 1892 the former Vivian N. Roddy, was married to Mr. Gallagher in Chicago in 1913. They lived at various Lake Michigan ports while he sailed and later made their home at Beaver Island, moving to Milwaukee in 1928. In 1932 they returned here to live. At that time he was in the U.S. Lighthouse Service. She was a member of St. Mary's church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ivan (Helen) Phillips of Charlevoix; two sons, James. W. and Danford, D., also of Charlevoix; ten grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren and three sisters. Mrs. Lester Gallagher of Charlevoix, Mrs. Rose Sawall of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Frank Thompson of Chicago.

C. Sorenson

Mrs. Dewey Fosmore received word last Sunday of the unexpected death of her brother, Clarence E. Sorenson, 67, at his home in Quincy, Ill., Sunday. He had visited here often and was known here as well as in Petoskey and Harbor Springs.

Besides Mrs. Fosmore, he is survived by his wife, Freda; a son, David; two grandchildren and two brothers, John Sorenson of Defiance, Ohio, and Donald Sorenson, of Quincy, Ill.

Mrs. Fosmore and her daughters, Mrs. Don Brown and Mrs. James Pettis attended the services in Quincy.

Want To Improve Your Chances of Avoiding HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS?

Here's Reese Lamb, Michigan's Truck Driver of the Year, with a two-word clue for you to help you avoid those costly highway accidents . . .

DEFENSIVE DRIVING

. . . . that's how Reese and the other professional truck drivers travel thousands of miles year in and year out accident-free on highways which each year continue to claim more lives and injure more and more people.

WHAT IS DEFENSIVE DRIVING?

Just what it says -- driving alertly and always prepared to defend yourself from becoming involved in mishaps with other motorists whose sudden and erratic actions often involve the unprepared defenseless driver.

Reese advises every driver to learn all he can about the art of Defensive Driving. He and most other professional drivers credit Defensive Driving for accident-free records of well over a million miles.

And you, as well as almost any driver, could become a "million-miler" without any accidents if you'll learn and practice Defensive Driving everytime you take to the road.

Reese was named the Michigan Trucking Association's Truck Driver of the Year in January for his outstanding record of over 16 years of commercial driving without an accident. During that time he covered well over a million and a half miles.

He was one of 12 Drivers of the Month competing for the annual Driver of the Year trophy which is the highest honor bestowed on a Michigan driver by the trucking association.

The Driver of the Year program is currently in its 23rd year and during that span fleet truck drivers have reduced their accident frequency rate per million miles from 17.0 to its current record low of 3.23.

The rate for motorists is 26.8 accidents in a million miles of travel. Lamb and his wife and their two teen-aged sons live in Wayne and he drives for Complete Auto Transit, Inc. out of its Ypsilanti terminal.

Like all pros, Reese swears by DEFENSIVE DRIVING. He knows what it has done for him and he also knows it can make a better and safer driver out of anyone who employs its basic techniques on the highway.

DRIVE DEFENSIVELY. DEFEND YOURSELF AND OTHERS ON THE HIGHWAY FROM DEATH AND DESTRUCTION THAT DOESN'T NEED TO BE. DRIVE DEFENSIVELY!

Mrs. Kelly honored

A former local resident, Mrs. Robert Kelley of Bay City, grand committeewoman on membership, Grand Chapter of the Michigan Order of the Eastern Star, was honored at a dinner and reception recently hosted by her chapter, The Temple Chapter of Bay City.

In attendance at the event attended by more than 200 guests were Mrs. Delores E. Blackburn, worthy grand matron of Grand Chapter of Michigan, and her grand officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley hosted a coffee hour in the temple dining room following the dinner and program. Hostesses at the event were her sisters, Mrs. Claire C. Martin of Charlevoix and Mrs. William Gebeau of Rogers City assisted by Mrs. Harry Gebeau of Charlevoix and Sherri Gebeau of Rogers City, niece of the honoree. Along with William Gebeau, they had also attended the dinner and program.

Mrs. Kelley is the former Dorothea Taylor, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor.

5 are ordered for induction

Five Charlevoix county draft registrants have been ordered for induction April 15 and another 22 for pre-induction physical examinations April 20 to fill the county's April draft quota.

Mrs. Barbara Gallagher, executive secretary of the board, reports the following who will depart April 15 for induction into the armed services: Philip D. Skeel of Charlevoix, Carl Goldsmith of Boyne Falls, Thomas E. Roberts, a volunteer, Steven H. Sloop and Bradford D. Knipe, all of Boyne City. Skeel has since enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

Ordered to report April 20 for pre-induction physicals are Dennis H. Warner, whose orders were postponed, Neil S. Cross, Darcy C. Olsen and Orlin R. Cunningham, all of Charlevoix. Cross and Olsen are college students who will be graduating by July 1.

Others are David E. Thurston, Hal G. Price, Michael A. Smith, students, and James C. Frederick, all of Boyne City; Fred C. Denise and Myron E. Lick, students of Boyne Falls; Jack E. Neumann, whose orders were postponed, James R. Wright, Donald R. Cook and James A. Cihak, all students of East Jordan.

For the first time eight registrants who are 19 years or older and still in high school have been ordered for physicals. They are Ronald C. Johnson, William G. VanDeCar and Michael E. Thorp, all of Charlevoix, Nelson J. Strong and Harry J. Gasco of Boyne Falls, Jerry Snyder of East Jordan and James R. Baker and Roger A. Frederick, both of Boyne City.

Fight blackbird for corn crop

Many farmers remember when pests took half or more of the total crop. Not without reason did the settlers chant, "One for the blackbird, one for the crow, one for the cutworm and two to grow. . " as they dropped five kernels into the hoe-dug corn "hill." Then, as they had learned from the Indians, a small fish was added for fertilizer.

Modern farmers now drill kernels into the soil in continuous thickly populated and closely space rows. They have almost won the battle with the cutworm, thanks to modern chemicals, but still must fight the blackbird to save your food supply.

Our corn production has risen even as less acres are devoted to farming and as less farmers work the land. Right now, the United States produces half of the world's annual corn crop, and improved seed, protected by modern pesticides are major reasons.

The battle to produce and keep an ample food supply is continuous -- even here in the United States with all of our scientific aids. In many countries of the world the food battle is largely lost. Since pests don't stop for passports at a country's borders, a long list of new crawling and flying appetites now attack our crops.

The European corn-borer has spread throughout America, and when it first hit only about one ear out of every 100 failed to contain a fat, 1½ inch worm eating its way through the kernels and stalk. Now, a properly insecticide-treated field produces about 87 worm-free ears of corn out of every 100 -- and there are hundreds more ears of corn produced on every acre.

"Whoever could make two ears of corn or two blades of grass to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together . . ." wrote English satirist, Jonathan Swift.

Swift was right -- in that full bins are any nation's best defense. Modern farmers using modern pesticides and other chemicals have made sure that those bins will remain full -- no matter how many people they must serve.

Eight Charlevoix high school students were among those who qualified for regional competition in the district forensics tournament hosted recently at the local school.

Charlevoix was among the four school who participated in the event in which the two top winners in each of nine categories qualified for regional competition. Third place winners were named alternates. Other schools were Gaylord, Petoskey and Elk Rapids, Leelanau, Gaylord St. Marys and Johannesburg did not compete.

The various categories and the winners with the third place winner serving as alternate follow: Girls' original oratory: 1. Sandra Gigg, Charlevoix; 2. Jamie Busch of Gaylord and alternate, Candis Gibbard of Petoskey; Boys' original oratory: 1. Robert Bader of Petoskey; 2. Harry Lange of Gaylord and alternate, Leon Perron of Charlevoix; Girls' extemporaneous speaking: 1. first place tie between Lynn Fiedorek of Charlevoix and Tina Christenson of Gaylord with Madeline Wizer of Gaylord as alternate; Boys' extemperoneous speaking: 1. Kenneth Kauzlarich of Petoskey; 2. Ronald Bindi of Charlevoix and alternate, David Merrill of Gaylord.

Declamation: 1. William Moore of Charlevoix; 2. Terri Lezcock of Gaylord and alternate, Kris Kuebler of Petoskey; Serious interpretation: 1. David Hess of Charlevoix; 2. Rindi Luedke of Charlevoix and alternate, Liz Hatter of Gaylord; Humorous interpretation: first place tie between Jeanne Smith of Charlevoix and Patricia Ryde of Gaylord with Sherry Austin of Charlevoix as alternate; Radio newscasting: 1: Pam McKenzie of Gaylord; 2. James Wilson of Charlevoix and alternate, Don Corrodi of Charlevoix.

Gaylord took both first and second places in the multiple reading category with "The American Dame" placing first and "The Rose Taboo' second. Charlevoix placed third with "The More Perfect Union" in which Chris Osterberg, Debbie Marshall, Linda Gill, Geri Santek, Kay Fiedorek and Liz Wimmer participated.

Mrs. Constance Ford, coach of the Charlevoix group, was tournament director.

Meppelink warns

If drugs weren't trouble enough for one weekend, Charlevoix was treated to a second calamity in the expose of subversive influence in county schools by Robert H. Korn of the Boyne City high school staff.

Korn met with the Discussion Group of the Charlevoix Woman's Club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Hamilton and gave evidence of the infiltration of the S.D.S. (Students for a Democratic Society) which has been labeled communistic by our Government, Christian Crusade, League of Churches and the John Birch Society.

Korn had pamphlets distributed to high schoolers by the White Panthers– a corollary of the subversive Black Panthers, which urged Teens to nothing short of revolution to gain supremacy over their elders.

Korn read the credo of the White Panthers, which included ten points of rebellion against parents, teachers and all government.

Remember the first order of the Red Rules for Revolution! Corrupt the Young! When it was happening many miles away from our northern paradise of green forests and blue lakes there was scant concern. Now the menace has invaded our country and disturbed our peace of mind. What will we do?

Federal grant

With a great deal of official fanfare, the Charlevoix County Planning Commission received a check for $7,000 this week from the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) for "comprehensive planning of water and waste disposal services in Charlevoix County.

Alfred O. LaPorte, the state director of FHA, even made a trip to Charlevoix to present the check to Walter Thorsen, chairman of the commission, while TV cameras hummed and press photographers snapped pictures.

Which is all well and good.

We are not sure how far $7,000 will go in finding answers to the monumental water and sewage problems faced by the county, but we are sure that the Planning Commission needed the money or it wouldn't have asked for it.

What bothers us about the federal grant is that it has been almost three years since the original application for funds was filed with the FHA.

It is appalling to think of the time and money expended by the federal government over the last 30-odd months in processing this one application for funds. Surely the paper-shuffling must have cost as much or more than the grant itself.

It is equally appalling to consider the untold and unpaid hours spent by members of the Planning Commission in securing such a relatively small federal grant.

And it is downright sickening to think of how much more "planning" the same amount of money would have purchased three years ago than it will at today's inflationary prices.

Of course, it is no secret in Charlevoix County that the wheels of federal government turn exceedingly slow. The Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission ran into a veritable Maginet Line of red tape when it tried to secure federal money some years ago.

We are not recommending that federal agencies relax their criteria in the grant and loan business one iota. It would be just as foolish for the government as it would be for an individual to give money away without strings attached. We certainly want reasonable assurance that our tax dollars are not being wasted.

However, when it takes three years to process a $7,000 grant, it looks like the big federal money machine needs a grease job and change of oil.

We may be the richest nation in the world, but we still can't afford all that paperwork. (B.C.)

Pollution fight needs our help

BY BERNICE WEXSTAFF
By Bernice Wexstaff

"Think not what your Country can do for you, but rather what you can do for your Country!" These famous words, oft quoted by our 35th President need reiterating again and again as the world faces total pollution.

Rev. James Keller, M.M., founder and director of the famous Christopher movement, who summed up the individual's responsibility to God and the Nation with the motto, "Better to light one candle than to curse the darkness," believed firmly in personal volvement to alleviate, (solve if possible) the world's ills.

Governments can do much but without the cooperation of the individual in the way of personal commitment, even the most extravagant and comprehensive programs can fail.

So in spite of high sounding phrases the ultimate responsibility rests with the American Home: Even the most indifferent corporation executive cannot in clear conscience, place profit above concern for the welfare of his nation, if conservation and respect for the rights of all, have been taught in the home.

The home has an awesome responsibility: The child who is complimented when he places his empty pop in the garbage can will probably never join in with less disciplined playmates who stone bottles on the beach for momentary fun with no thought that the bare feet that will be injured may he their own!

The child who is compliments when he places his empty pop bottle in the garbage can will, undoubtedly never grow up to be the kind of man who throws an empty beer container along the roadside, thereby adding to his own ultimate tax burden by way of costly highway littler pick-up.

The child who is taught to keep his own playground clean and orderly will not, in all likelihood, vandalize a city park! Or a college campus!

The child who is taught personal cleanliness and Christian morality should develope a fastidiousness that would forever bar him from the throngs of the unwashed and the unmoral in the youth communes that infest some of our cities!

For the longer haul, there is the matter of careers for the youth of the nation: Since the control of pollution is largely an engineering matter, the next couple of decades will obviously need a whole new breed of dedicated scientists to learn and put into use a "recycling" of waste materials so that they may be used over and over again in industry or sold at a profit.

Money is needed from federal funds, of that there is no doubt, but the "voluntarist" can do much on an individual basis. No one has to wait for a political allocation of funds to throw autumn leaves on a compost heap instead of burning them.

If the Silent Majority and the multisonous Minority could forget their differences and join hands to work together, the land might still be saved and its people saved from the misery of "going down the drain" together!

The housewife can contribute much to the betterment of the environment by her firm commitment to the use of safe detergents, such as Blue Lustre, Borateem, Ivory Snow, Lux, Lux flakes and Vel in kitchen and laundry...Even though a neighbor's wash line may look brighter and whiter, a tinge of tattle-tale grey may yet become a badge of honor!

on the Flip Side

Small newspapers such as the Courier are often criticized for many things. We hear the normal amount of "knocks" plus many gratifying compliments concerning our "country weekly".

We recently dug up a column from Bob Myers, owner of the Lapeer County Press, in which he discusses the small weekly newspaper. We feel he looks at the problems realistically. He writes:

More than 60 years ago editor Warren G. Harding of the Marion, Ohio, Star circulated a memo advising his news staff to "bring out the good and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anyone." Summing it up, the only newspaper editor who ever became President of the U.S., said, "Boost, don't knock.

As long as there have been newspapers, reporters and editors have had to balance the risk of offending their news sources and their advertisers and friends against their professional duty to keep the public informed.

In small towns, the advertisers, friends and news sources generally win. The Wall Street Journal learned that recently in a survey of small-town dailies and weeklies.

They found the typical small-town editor doesn't live up to his popular image as a crusader.

"Whatever problems big city papers have in reporting local issues in a hard-hitting way are magnified several times in the small-town press," reported the Journal "Small-town papers typically are hampered by local provincial attitudes and a shortage of qualified people. In some towns, the major issues aren't even raised in the local press."

Last March, a Creston, Iowa, man picked up his party line telephone and overheard 2 young men planning a break in that night at a store in Creston. The man notified the store's owner, who in turn notified the local police in the town of 8,000.

Despite the warning, the break in took place on schedule and $300 in merchandise was stolen. The police told the outraged store owner that they had assigned a man to watch his place but he had left early because he got cold.

The Creston daily newspaper reported the break in but not the advance tip. When the Des Moines Register learned of it and asked the editor about it, he explained he didn't want to embarrass the police.

Another small newspaper did not mention a row between the local school board and 2 teachers who claimed they were discriminated against because they served as negotiators for their colleagues in salary talks with the board. One of the teachers was dropped as basketball coach, a job that meant extra money to him, even though his teams had a winning record. The other teacher lost his draft deferment because the school superintendent didn't request it be renewed.

The publisher said he didn't print the charges "because the school administration would have denied them and we would have been right back where we started."

The Journal's story drew a storm of criticism from small-town newspaper publishers. But I thought it was well done and accurate. Too many publishers are worried about losing an advertiser or a friend, hurting their town's image, or their own image as a town booster. They fail to realize that their first responsibility is to their readers.

More towns are hurt because their newspaper has too few readers, and readers who don't trust it, than because their newspaper tells it like it is.

A gorgeous candidate

It all began when I was overheard to say: "Lenore Romney is nothing but a stand-in for Gorgeous George. If her name were Lenore Klutz she couldn't get nominated for dogcatcher. Her Senate candidacy is just as phony as when George Wallace had his wife elected governor of Alabama. Lenore has displayed no qualifications. Her main talent is to shrilly echo Gorgeous George when he makes big noises trying to awaken people's morals. A vote for Lenore is a vote for George and you'd better believe it."

This angered several women in our neighborhood. The angriest was Susie Klutz. She decided to become a candidate for the U.S. Senate, not just to save the country but also to show me that a Mrs. Klutz could get elected. "Of course," Susie said, "I'll expect the support of the entire neighborhood. Campaigning costs money. We can raise funds by having Tupperware parties."

But some of the other gals decided if Susie could, so could they. There were suddenly 4 candidates not counting my wife who wanted to run but couldn't because I locked her in the basement.

"Fine," I said. "All 4 of you girls run in the primary election. That's what primaries are for. The candidates are picked by the people, not by political bosses. That's the democratic, American way. Oh say can you see? Please hand me that flag."

But Susie's husband, Elmer Klutz, objected. "We can't have a primary battle," he said. "It would divide the neighborhood.

These women would exhaust their energies and funds fighting each other. The bitterness would carry over into the general election. Whoever won the nomination would get no help from the losers. And besides, there wouldn't be any Tupperware left.

"We must get together and agree to support just 1 of the women," Klutz said.

Well, the Klutzes have the only swimming pool in the neighborhood. Also, poeple look up to them because Elmer refuses to work or play on Sundays. He just stays home and sits on his roof so people can look up to him.

A neighborhood meeting was held to select a consensus candidate. The 4 hopefuls were allowed to speak for 20 minutes each (The meeting was held in the Klutz kitchen so the oven timer could be used).

Two of the women spent their 20 minutes explaining that they'd changed their minds and urged their supporters to switch to Mrs. Klutz. They said they'd known Susie for 10 years - as long as their husband had worked for Susie's husband - and they knew She'd make a fine candidate.

The 3rd candidate, Maggie Schmidt, gave the best speech. She got a standing ovation when she said all gas stations shouldn't give double stamps on the same day.

It had been agreed that the consensus candidate would have to get 75 percent of the votes cast. The first balloting was 53 percent to 47 percent favoring Susie. This surprised most everyone, including Maggie. She quickly withdrew from the race, explaining she had just discovered that standing ovations made her nervous. Especially when Elmer Klutz was the only one who didn't stand.

On the next ballot, Susie still didn't get 75 percent of the vote. But she got a few more than before.

Elmer Klutz stood up and said, "That's an acclamation if I ever heard one. I move that we make it unanimous -Susie Klutz is our candidate for the U.S. Senate.

The motion was seconded by the Klutz maid who wanted to use the oven. It carried by a voice vote in which most of the noise was made by the Silent Majority.

Everyone went home saying "Gee, we got a Gorgeous candidate."

Letter to editor

Contest too restrictive

Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720

Dear Sir,

In my opinion the annual photographic contest described in the March 16 issue of Charlevoix Courier is an excellent idea and will generate a local interest in the ridiculously easy but impossibly difficult art of photography.

The requirements and restrictions of the contest are too conservative and hinder the introduction of anything new. A row of photographs neatly alike is like a row of soldiers under one command.

A 5 by 7 or 8 by 10 format might prevent an entrant from presenting a 3 by 10 format which would best display a balloon stringing skyward from a child's hand.

The ratios of the Ancient Greek Golden Section is much more pleasing to the eye than the 11 x 14 mounting board with a 5 by 7 or 8 by 10 placed upon it.

The requirement to list make of camera, exposure data and type of film is like asking an artist to list the make of his brushes and how long it took him to paint the picture. The final image is the important thing. Using a camera is a love affair in which the creative spirit comes alive. The creative spirit dies when the photographer is regimented to data taking so others may try to duplicate his creativity.

My suggestion is to let the annual photographic contest be what photography already is; a dynamic process of giving form to ideas. Let the entrants take dizzy excursions to wherever their inspirations lead them.

Very truly yours,
Samuel A. Carlisle

WSU Dean Sees Execs Losing Out In Big Companies

DETROIT—A revolution in business is taking place that will destroy the power, prestige and pay now enjoyed by major executives, the dean of Wayne State University's School of Business Administration says.

Dr. William H. Reynolds argues that today's executive essentially is functionless and that a viable, new kind of structure will take the place of the traditional business hierarchy, perhaps within the next decade.

"The key person in most modern organizations," Reynolds feels, "is the young specialist typified by the quantitative business analyst. Any top executive who looks at the pages of equations in recent texts on production management will wonder in desperation what in the world is going on back in the shop. He also will wonder what role is left for him.

"It is impossible," Reynolds says, "to acquaint top management people with the actual complexities of a real problem. Senior executives do not have the time to go into a problem in detail, and they lack the kinds of training often required even to understand the nature of the problem.

"The executive finds himself making decisions in areas in which he has no real competence," Reynolds contends, "and the specialist finds that solutions which seem obvious to him often are rejected by his non-specialist superiors. Specialists are concerned with answers, the hierarchy with power. Neither speaks the other's language."

One of the important elements supporting the executive role in the past, Reynolds notes, has been the idea that he has "judgment" or "intuition." Regardless, he always has had authority. But it is slipping.

Mail strike felt little

Although the postal strikes in Chicago, New York and Detroit naturally had their effect on northern Michigan the Charlevoix Post Office continued its regular schedule of operation.

Charlevoix postmen delivered mail every day, although for a few days mail was primarily limited to local mail. But interestingly enough, even while Chicago postmen were striking some mail reached Charlevoix from southern Illinois and from Indiana.

During the worse days of the strike, March 23, and 24, the Charlevoix post office handled only about one-quarter of its usual amount of mail, and as mail deliveries to Charlevoix began getting back to normal, first class mail began to arrive.

Because of the national tie-up the Charlevoix post office was ordered on March 25, to send out only that mail which was zip coded. What is being done with the mail in other cities which is not zip coded is a matter of speculation. Perhaps it is simply being laid aside until all post offices are back in regular operation and have caught up on the backlog of mail caused strikes.

Naturally during the mail strike Charlevoix postal employees followed the events with more than casual interest, but Officer in Charge, Rex Davis, declared that there was no disgruntled strike talk in his office.

Rather, the men adopted a wait and see attitude toward the pending Congressional legislation and the current negotiations between the federal government and the postal union.

The U.S. Post Office in Charlevoix is headed by Davis who is assisted by Bruce Henley and ten other men; Maurice Cudd, Pat Moran, Sam Washburn, Albert Seese, Daniel Stock, Paul Stephan, Gary Brodin, and rural carriers Paul Smith, John Sladek and William G. Seese.

In brief

60 apply for job

Over 60 educators have thus far applied for the position of Superintendent of Schools in the Charlevoix District which will become vacant when Rex E. Milligan's resignation becomes effective on July 1.

The School Board will conduct interviews in April, and the name of the new superintendent is expected to be announced on April 27.

Prizes are listed

All photographers, amateurs and semi-professionals, are urged to enter the first annual Charlevoix Photographic contest which is being sponsored by the Friends of the Library under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff.

Entry forms are available at the main library on Clinton Street or at any one of the schools.

Prizes for adults are: 1st prize, $25, second prize $15, third prize $5. Juniors under 18, 1st prize $15, 2nd prize $10, 3rd prize $5.

All entries must be submitted by May 11.

Ice not safe!

Phil Lawrence of the U.S. Corps of Engineers reported late last week that Lake Michigan ice now measures 20 inches in depth, with a one inch layer of snow and slush.

Lawrence announced that the ice is now no longer safe for ice boating or snowmobiling. "Stay off the ice" is the order of the day.

Plates available

License plates are once again available in Charlevoix. Mrs. James Marshall opened the local branch of the Secretary of State's office, at 212½ Bridge Street, last Wednesday.

The office local had been closed since the death of William Zeitler in February.

Jim Palmer of Charlevoix Route 1 emerged as the grand champion of the Cub Scout Pinewood Derby, held recently at the Northside elementary school. For his winning efforts, young Palmer collected a large trophy. Palmer holds his model racer that streaked home in first place.

Ink Spots draw 500 to concert

Over 500 area residents found their way to Charlevoix High School last Wednesday as the local Kiwanis Club sponsored a one-night concert by the internationally known Ink Spots.

All proceeds from the event have been earmarked for Camp Daggett.

The group made two appearances during the two-plus hour show and were surrounded by two variety acts from the "Ed Sullivan All Star" troop.

The audience included those who remember when the Ink Spots were new to the music business, as well as many teenagers and young adults, who have heard the group through their television appearance and recordings.

Standards that the group made famous, such as "If I Didn't Care", "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire", and "We Three", were interspersed with modern hits including "Cabaret", and tunes of an upbeat tempo like "When the Saints Go Marchin' In."

Special ed budget OK

A $324,115 budget for Special Education, an additional speech correctionists and three additional Type A rooms were approved by the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate Board of Education at its regular meeting last Monday night.

The Allocation Boards of Charlevoix and Emmet counties will be presented the budget at their next meeting.

The board also heard a report from Mrs. Gunnar Lundtigen on the success and progress of the special Education Department. The children in this department have disabilities resulting from childbirth injury, high fevers and other physical and emotional causes. Many previous times these children were diagnosed as mentally retarded when they could have had these disabilities corrected or minimized with special training.

Mrs. Lundtigen has conducted a class for these children for the past year in Charlevoix and has also acted as a consultant for teachers throughout the school district who have disabled children in the classes.

Big Bros. meet; name new board

The Charlevoix County Big Brothers held a reorganization meeting in the East Jordan City Hall on Tuesday, March 24, at 8 p.m. There were 23 men present who are interested in either becoming Big Brothers or serving on the Board of Directors.

John Scorrer, Executive Director of the Petoskey Area Big Brothers, discussed the need for as well as the effects of the Big Brother Organization.

A new Board of Directors, in addition to a complete slate of officers, were elected. President is Don Luedke of Charlevoix; the vice-president is Don Berlage of Charlevoix; the secretary-treasurer is Bob Wasoki of Charlevoix.

Robert Elliot was elected Executive Director. The new Board of Directors is made up of the officers, plus Carlton Howie, Boyne City; Bob Dunnette, Boyne City; Jack Rosendahl, Charlevoix, Jack Vincent, East Jordan; Dale Fassett, Charlevoix; Larry Gee, East Jordan; and Fred Payne, Charlevoix.

Although there are currently seven matches made in Charlevoix County there is still a need for many more Big Brothers. Any man interested in assisting some fatherless boy is invited to submit an application. The next Big Brother meeting is scheduled to be held on Tuesday, April 28, at the Charlevoix County Building. Any man interested in the welfare of fatherless boys is urged to request an application from either Robert Elliot or Robert Wasoski.

CCSB computers are cutting costs

Many people are asking, what's happening to banking today? How is it that banks are offering more services, doing the job better, yet are charging customers less?

Well for the Charlevoix County State Bank the answer to that question is locked in a small modern building at Gaylord where the Charlevoix County State Bank and seven other independent northern Michigan banks have joined forces and built a modern computer center.

This computer center houses a complex of National Cash Register computer equipment that can analyze and record every transaction on every account in every one of the seven banks and can do this monumental job in less than ten hours.

Every day these computers update and balance each individual ledger and print a trial balance, a task which banks could never do before because of the staggering number of man hours involved in such a job.

Now a computer can read the computer number on each check, analyze it and sort the checks faster than a machine gun can fire bullets.

Then the computer stores all of this information on magnetic tape so small that one inch of magnetic tape records what was formerly stored in three master files. There are 800 separate transactions recorded on every inch of computer magnetic tape.

Since so much banking information can be recorded in such a small space all of the transactions of all of the seven banks who cooperated to build the Gaylord Computer-Center can be stored in a memory bank that is only ten feet by four feet by two feet.

First State Bank of Charlevoix wants your opinion! President Jerrald Redeker announced today that beginning this week the bank is sponsoring a Community Opinion Poll. Each month a set of four questions, three of national or world importance and one of a local nature, will be asked. Residents are invited to stop in the bank and cast their ballot on the issues of the month. The results will be compiled monthly and published in the Courier. Above, William Fisher looks on as Beverly Plum and Mary Plum mark their opinions on cards to let the world know what they think.

1st State seeks residents' opinions

First State Bank of Charlevoix announced this week the beginning of a new service to be known as the Public Opinion Poll.

Everyone in the community will have an opportunity to record his opinion on various issues. The results will be published in the Courier each month.

Four questions of national, state, and local interest will appear on "ballot" cards available in the lobby of First State Bank. The questions will be changed each month to reflect current topics.

The three questions which Charlevoixans will be asked this month are (1) Do you feel that the voting age should be lowered to 18 years? (2) Will a return to capital punishment by the State of Michigan reduce the major crimes rate? (3) Will this be a good year for lake trout fishing in the Charlevoix area?

President of First State, Jerrald Redeker, pointed out that you do not have to be a customer of this bank to express your opinion. Ballots will be mailed to all First State checking account customers with their monthly statements, and additional ballots are available at the bank. Persons of all ages are encouraged to participate in this community program.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrison are spending the next ten days in Detroit with relatives and friends.

Sharon Neilsen is home for a weeks vacation from school duties in Big Rapids.

The Ivan Parsons family is busy making Maple Syrup.

We were all shocked this Monday morning on receiving word of the sudden death of Louis Gilbert Sunday afternoon in Detroit where they had been spending the winter with their children. The family has spent their summers here for more than 25 years and were making our community their permanent home. Mrs. Gilbert and family have the sincere sympathy of their neighbors and friends.

Mrs. Evelyn Vanderwall is spending the spring recess from her school work in Traverse City at home.

Jack McDermett, a former local resident, is a surgical patient in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Gainesville, Florida, having undergone open heart surgery last week. He is getting along as well as can be expected at this time. He has the very best wishes of his local friends and former neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe are spending Easter with their daughter and family in Detroit.

Everyone in our community are extending congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Straw on their sixtieth wedding anniversary this past Tuesday, March 24. Many friends and relatives called to greet them on their day.

The first day of spring our two pet Chipmunks came out from their winters hibernation fat as butter from last fall's storage of sunflower seeds and peanuts. It didn't take them long to remember the little tricks we taught them last summer, such as jumping up in our hand and filling their chops with peanuts and scampering off to hoard them and return immediately.

But they must of sensed this change in the weather and the new snow and bitter cold wind as we have not seen them since Tuesday evening. But, they will be back for they are most faithful with their friendship. By the way, there is still about 30 inches of ice in our lake, even though they did break through the drift ice in Lake Michigan. And by the looks this Thursday morning, the old predictions will hold true. If March comes in like a Lamb, it will go out like a Lion, but we hope it will not be too severe and just a warning to keep our overcoats out.

Friend of Court had busy 1969

The annual report of the Friend of the Court for 1969 has been released by Charles W. Bossardet.

His report indicates increased activities of the Friend of the Court of the Thirteenth Judicial Circuit of Michigan. Also included in the resume is a brief summary of statistics for other years to show comparable increases or declines.

The 13th Circuit includes Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Antrim and Leelanau counties, and is presided over by Circuit Judges Charles L. Brown and James M. Fitzpatrick.

The report notes that personnel of the Friends of the Court's office includes Charles W. Bossardet, Friend of the Court; Allice M. Merrill, assistant; Joyce V. Johnson, and Rachel R. Cate, clerk-typists.

In 1969, child support and alimony, disbursed by the county clerk, totaled $142,302.34 in Charlevoix County.

The total figure represents collections by the county clerk's office, direct payments to payee and verified vacation credits; in connection with divorce decrees, temporary orders, Uniform Reciprocal Support cases and paternity orders where support has been ordered by the Circuit Court for minor children.

Totals in 1969 represent an increase in collections of 12.8 percent over the previous year, or a total increase of $76,763.36.

Through the increased number of motion days for the Friend of the Court in the four counties in the district, his office has collected a total of $31,518.50 in overdue payments accumlated prior to last year.

The case load last year showed a moderate increase from 1968. Cases with children increased from 1,132 to 1,278; cases of alimony only remained steady at 18; cases of overdue payments increased from 113 to 121; and the number of children involved in cases jumped from 2,591 and 2,929.

On January 1, 1969, there was a total of 1,263 cases involving 2,591 children, which represents an increase in case load of 8.1 percent over 1968.

On the first of this year, a total of 1,417 cases involved 2,929 youngsters, or an increase of 12.2 percent of over 1969.

During the year 1969, a total of 135 cases with 278 children and 15 cases of alimony only were dismissed. During the same year a total of 281 new cases were filed involving 616 children. This included 248 divorces with children, 11 Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act cases, 4 were paternity actions and 15 were divorces with alimony only.

The Friend of the Court, or his assistant, spends every other Wednesday in the Charlevoix County Court House, in addition to one Motion day in each of the Counties each month. Additional time is spent in each County depending on the work load.

"Our work load increases each year, as does the work load of all County agencies. However, through the collection of a fee of $1.50 per month from all payors of support, the administrative burden of the Counties is reduced to a minimum. In fact, some of the Counties should actually realize a profit," Bossardet said.

Council reviews business

A meeting of the Charlevoix County Council of Social Agencies was held Friday, March 20.

The business for the month was reviewed. A communication was received from Mrs. Gladys Wonnacott, representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. of Michigan. She asked that the Council check with their members to see if they knew of any wheelchairs, crutches, etc. which could be placed in a pool for use in the northern area. This communication was brought up at our meeting.

The next monthly meeting will be held April 17, at the Weathervane Inn in Charlevoix at noon.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

Upon returning from vacation, which Marie and I enjoyed very much, it was pleasing to learn that finally after many months of effort by two or three of us, a Welcome-Wagon Hostess has been established for Charlevoix. Mrs. H. William Brady, 547-9384, is the worker. It is hoped she will be given the consideration, the co-operation, and support that she much needs and I feel is entitled to.

Another need--we are searching for a Charlevoix Chairman or Chairwoman for the Michigan Week program, May 16 to May 23, of course, sponsored by the Greater Michigan Foundation at Lansing. Their theme this year is "Come back to Michigan." Now, then, this is not difficult situation, but it does need a pilot or coordinator—or what have you. I enjoyed the thankless job of Charlevoix County Chairman for this program for three years. Anyone interested, please call at the office and I can quickly fill you in. The present Charlevoix County Chairman most certainly is hoping for early response.

There was a regular meeting of the Board of Directors on March 3 here at the Chamber office. Directors Marshall, DePew, Richardson, Juilleret, and Bartlett were present. The matter of U.S. 31 Corridor (having to do with much needed improvement of U.S. 31 from the south to the north) was brought up. A questionnaire made available was pigeon-holed until my return. As I mentioned before, we had two choices—sit back and do nothing, or step forward and be heard, with hopes of making progress. Also, there was discussed after a contact by the U.S. 131 Area Development Association, the subject of U.S. 131. This also was shelved for the moment. A letter was read from Mr. Gordon Neff indicating his health, etc. forced him to render with regrets his resignation from the Board. Approved was the issuance of a fifty-dollar check for entry fee of Charlevoix Queen, Barb Smith, at the National Cherry Queen Pugeant in Traverse City in July. There was, of course, much general discussion and a report from two of the project committees.

There was another meeting of the Board, Tuesday evening, March 17. Directors present were DePew, Themm, Marshall, Hess, Juilleret, Miles, and Bartlett. At this meeting as it was in the one of March 3, the previous meeting's minutes were accepted as outlined. Project or committee reports indicated that the chamber-sponsored Fly-In would be held at our airport the second Sunday in September. Further details will be announced later. It was also indicated by Mrs. Hess that he felt sure the city would share fifty-fifty with the Chamber in completely overhauling the city street parade float and include a water-repellent cover for it.

It was decided that instead of two Directors meetings a month, there would be one as required by the by-laws at least, the first Tuesday evening here at the Chamber office and eliminate the mid-monthly meeting and in place of the latter, continue once a month with the Eye-Opener (that is the early morning meeting.) The next Eye-Opener is scheduled for April 21. Details will be announced later. It was brought to attention there should be more litter barrels as such made available here in the city and it was suggested that Bridge Street, at least, should be flushed or washed down probably twice a week. The Board was not able to appoint a Director to assume the unexpired term of Gordon Neff as yet.

For those of you who are not already aware, be advised that we have available the 1970 official Michigan State Highway Maps, published by the State Highway Commission.

I enjoyed contacting quite a number of Chambers of Commerce during my vacation. A lot of notes were compared and, of course, as expected, most of them had their financial problems; almost as severe as ours.

I have for office reference available to you people, a new Directory of Private Vocational Schools in Michigan published by Michigan Department of Education at Lansing.

Light stations set to open this week

With navigation in the Great Lakes scheduled to open as soon as ice conditions permit, light stations in northern lakes Michigan and Huron will be re-activated shortly for the 1970 season.

At Group Charlevoix headquarters here, Lt. Donald Luedke said that plans called for the stations to be opend early this week. The Cutter Sundew, which has been on ice breaking duties in the area during the week, will transport crews to off-shore stations beginning today if weather and ice conditions permit, he said.

This will include crews for Lansing Shoals, White Shoals and Greys Reef in Lake Michigan and Martins Reef, Poe Reef and Spectacle Reed in Lake Huron. The helicopter from the Air Station at Traverse City will be utilized to transport the crew of the Thunder Bay Light Station off Alpena to its destination.

Assignments to stations have already been made and area as follows:

Lansing Shoals: William W. Chase, SA; Paul C. Atkinson, SA; Dale C. Hoosier, ENCP; Robert F. Wojtaszok, EN1; and Leonard L. Pantoja FA. In 1969 this station, which marks the western approach to the Straits of Mackinac, remained opened until Jan. 10.

White Shoals: Ronald L. Cox, BM3; Ronald E. Fischer, SA; Keith E. Dill, EN3; and Duane A. Frederickson, FN.

Grays Reef: Eugene H. Crowe, BMCP; Charles F. Lampman, SN; Philip F. Spurlock, EN1; Thomas D. Mason, FA; and Ronald H. Taylor, SN.

Martins Reef: William C. Shoemaker BM1, Randy G. Toth SN, James D. Vogel EN1 and Russell E. Madison FN.

Spectacle Reef: Robert G. Roman BM1, Gregory W.G. Potter SN, Clyde D. Leazier EN2 and Reed J. VonHold FNEN.

Poe Reef: James D. Rambus BM1, Daniel B. Petzing SN, David C. Edge EN1, Gerald C. Patterson BNEN and Martin A. Mathias SA.

Thunder Bay Island: Walter C. Plohocky BM1, Richard G. Parks SN, Kirk E. Radtke ENCP, Charles A. Ashcroft Jr. EN3 and David M. Wojcik SA.

Other light stations on Lake Huron which are located on the mainland and their crews are as follows:

White Shoal Light will be the temporary home of several Coast Guardsmen beginning this week.

Alpena light station: Joseph A. Chause BM1, Eugene F. Cadarette Jr. EN3 and Donald J. Pearson FN; Presque Isle: James R. Sibbald EN1, David J. Konjura SN and Buddy L. Boyd Jr. SA; Cheboygan: Robert J. Smith BMC, Lauren K. O'Rourke FN and Leonard L. Polecheck FN.

Assigned to the Coast Guard Station at St. Ignace are the following: David F. Radatz BMCP, Donald F. Paahana BM1, Donald E. Simpkins BM1, John M. Nelson BM2, James M. Hicks BM3, Eric T. Sorebo SN, Donald B. Priest Jr. SN, Kent L. McDonough SN, Charles V. O'Hagan SA, Louis W. Salter EN1, Gary J. Fox EN3, Sidney A. Knights FA, Richard S. Kroll ET3 and Norman E. Murdock CS2.

Stationed at the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station are: Bobby D. Rose BMCP, Elwood R. Wade BM1, Ernest Williams BM1, Joseph G. Novak, BM3, Francis J. Hackett SN, Kenneth A. Bogner SN, Robert W. Looser SN, Philip B. Serinis SN, Robert L. McMillan SA, Jeffrey C. DePew SA, Harry J. Benes SA, James M. Witham SA, Ellis J. Reynolds ENCP, Brian H. Shepard EN2, Raymond J. Wattenhofer DC3, Clyde N. Eggett EN3, Michael J. Bailey FA, Everett V. Dashiell FA, Phil D. Johnson FA, Kelly J. Wilson III ET3 and Lorenzo A. Javior CS2.

Personnel for the Beaver Island station when it opens in early May will be assigned from the Charlevoix Station.

College report:

Small school has many advantages

(Ed. note: With final decisions of what college to attend near at hand for many local high school seniors, the Courier asked Bernice Wexstaff to research small, but quality, institutions in the midwest which offer prospective students an alternative to the problems of the large, impersonal campus. Parents of students who plan to continue their education beyond high school should also find the following report helpful.)

Out of the early needs of Pioneer days has come the religious, social, and patriotic associations of Today. Mankind has needed an ingathering for a meaningful expression of kindred minds to blot out the basic "aloneness" of which he has always been conscious as he looked about a world which, as a separate entity, he has little control.

So it is with the young in today's world. They cling together to support each other in a world of grown-up rules and regulations which they have had no part in forming. The tragedy is that too often teens are misled and choose destructive means to foster "togetherness."

Now that Charlevoix County citizens are aware that destructive forces have infiltrated our schools, Anxiety is the rule of the day. Perhaps for the first time in the history of America, parents begin to question the value of higher educational institutions which have appeared unable to cope with the violence that prevails on university campuses.

However, there is still a ray of hope in the Christian denominational colleges which represent practically every church in the Charlevoix area. Here the serious student is still free from violent disruption of classes and destruction of property, which has become the norm in State tax-supported schools. Here, too, the serious student receives the benefit of a more personalized instruction in pre-graduate study.

For parents concerned about the forces ever ready to take the unwary into their camp, the small college could well be the answer to their dilemma. Needless to say, defiant rebels do occasionally gain admittance to even the small Christian College, but as with all private schools the faculty and administration are able to dismiss the mutineer immediately and thus save the school from a disruptive influence, before such influence is well established.

Olivet Nazarene College at Kankakee, Illinois, south of Chicago, representing the Church of the Nazarene is a Christian College of note. Olivet-Nazarene, committed to academic excellence is fully accredited by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools as a four-year bachelor degree-granting institution within convenient distance of the North Country.

For those students interested in Literature, the arts, science, theology and allied instruction Olivet in Kankakee is a school where class disruption is not tolerated and where parents can be assured of getting the utmost for their educational dollar.

For more detailed information contact the Reverend Thomas Rash of the Church of the Nazarene, adjacent to highway 31 north of Charlevoix.

The Methodist denomination has two colleges in Michigan: one at Adrian and one at Albion. Both are readily accessible via interstate highways through southern Michigan.

Albion and Adrian are privately supported from tuition, gifts and grants– not from taxes. According to the president of Albion, Dr. Lewis W. Norris, the atmosphere there is such that controversial matters are discussed in a reasonable manner. There have been no violent demonstrations– no sit-ins no lock-ups or other obnoxious actions to interrupt the normal course of study.

For students desirous of a year 'round study program, Albion college summer sessions at Bay View are easily accessible to north Michigan scholars.

For students who are not interested in careers based on academic knowledge, Ferris Institute at Big Rapids has short– 2-year– courses in dental technology, printing and business plus many more vocations. Central at Mount Pleasant also offers vocational training and the new Kirkland College at Roscommon is basing their programs on a high percentage of vocational training.

For girls, the nearest and best vocational school is the Joan Jewett Career School at East Lansing. Here girls may take short courses in modeling, secretarial work and the many facets of travel service.

The selection of a college is one of the most important decisions a young person has to make. As a student contributes to the nature of the institution chosen, so also the purposes and traditions of the school gives character to the student. Although the vocational schools are tax supported most of them are too small to attract the professional agitators who are disrupting education on the university level.

The earlier a person starts to smoke, the greater is the risk of illness and death.

Kiwanis Notes

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting on Monday, March 23, in the high school cafeteria.

There were four guests from the Traverse City Noon Club in attendance.

The Kiwanis Club is looking for some volunteer help to assist in collecting the maple syrup. Anyone interested in helping should contact Don Anders at 547-2971.

The program for the evening was introduced by Chairman Jack Harris. The speaker, Detective Stagger of the Grand Traverse Bay Sheriff's Department, demonstrated the various types of drugs which are currently being used illegally. Detective Stagger has given this presentation to various schools in the area. He stated that he felt there was a need for a drug prevention program extending from kindergarten through the senior high school. Detective Stagger felt students should be aware of the effects of using all drugs.

The drug problem, according to Detective Stagger, is a major problem of the social levels, including the upper class social strata. This informative, well organized presentation is available upon request at no charge.

Money Matters

By Fred Payne

Can I borrow at a bank?

After a recent discussion with one of our local employers, it occurred to me that many people never borrow from a bank. Thus, they might not know what would be expected of them if they did want to borrow.

There are many ways in which you can borrow and repay money. You may borrow on a secured or an unsecured basis, and you may repay in monthly installments or all at one time when the note is due. If you do not know what arrangement is the best for your needs, stop by the bank and visit with one of the loan officers; they are always willing to discuss with you your individual problem. There are times when the problem is such that it cannot be solved by financial help alone, but you can be assured that we will do everything possible to be of assistance. If you do not know what arrangement is best for your needs, visit with your banker, tell him how much money you need and why you want it. He will help you decide how and when to repay the loan.

An unsecured loan is based on your financial statement and character. You just sign a note for the agreed on amount. This "paper" shows the time and rate of interest. With a secured loan, something of value is pledged to the bank to insure the repayment of the loan. Security such as stocks, bonds, or a life insurance policy may be left with the bank. In other cases, the property—a car or perhaps a piece of real estate-remains in the possession of the borrower. However, the bank files a lien on the title to the property. Or, if personal property is pledged in the security agreement, a financing statement is recorded at the courthouse.

When you borrow, the repayment plan should be discussed and agreed on. If you are to repay a set amount each month, the interest and principal payment will both be included in each installment. The rate of interest is usually higher for this type of loan because the cost of servicing the loan is higher.

In the other type of loan repayment plan, the note is due at the end of some specified period such as ninety days, six months, or a year from the time the loan was made. At the time it is due, the note and the interest are to be paid in full. Or, you may agree at the time the loan is made that the note may be reduced by periodic partial payments and the balance renewed.

QUESTION:

I have a number of Savings Bonds which I have been holding for a period of years. Would I be better off to cash them in and buy a Saving Certificate at the bank or continue to hold the bonds?

ANSWER:

We often have people asking this same question. Lately the Treasury Department has been disturbed by the sorry performance of saving bonds. For the last 15 months, bond redemptions have exceeded sales, causing problems for Federal Financing.

The obvious solution would be to offer a competitive rate, something higher than the 5 percent; but this would create other problems.

For one thing, the government also manipulates the interest rates that can be paid by savings and loan associations and banks. A higher saving bond return would drain funds from these institutions and this in turn would put a complete stop on all mortgage lending and further damage the economy.

Needless to say, I would not recommend you to continue to hold saving bonds in large amounts when there are more attractive yields available.

If you have any questions you would like answered in this column, please write to Money Matters, c/o Charlevoix Courier, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Obituary

C. Wixom

Clyde Wixom of Detroit, former resident of 404 Park Street, Charlevoix, died Sunday, March 22, in the Farmington Nursing Home. He was 80 years old. Born in Bancroft, Michigan, Wixom was chairman of the Circus Fans of America and a member of the Circus Historical Society in the Charlevoix area.

He was preceded in death by his wife Leona, and is survived by a son, Barnum Bailey Wixom, of Lansing; two daughters, Mrs. John (June) Sheridan, of Farmington, and Mrs. Evelyn Kolcher, of Livonia, four grandchildren, and a sister-in-law, Sister Mary Constance, of Adrian.

The funeral was held Wednesday, March 25, at the Heeney-Sundquist Funeral Home, 23720 Farmington Rd., Farmington. Interment will be at Fremont Cemetery, Bancroft, Michigan.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Coleman, former Charlevoix residents now living in Phoenix, Arizona, announce the birth of a daughter, Gina Christine, on March 16 in Phoenix. The Coleman's address is 4534 North 34th Place, Phoenix.

Charlevoix soldier given Star

A Charlevoix man, Staff Sgt. Terry Stewart has been awarded the Bronze Star with V for valor during ceremonies at Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Sergeant Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Meredith of Charlevoix. He is a 1965 graduate of Charlevoix High School. Upon graduation he enlisted then re-enlisted for 6 more years last November, after three tours in Vietnam and two extensions of duty there.

The Bronze Star citation stated that Stewart has distinguished himself many times while under fire, "On one occasion, when both his platoon sergeant and platoon commander were mortally wounded during a fire fight, Staff Sgt. Stewart unhesitatingly took charge of his platoon and for six weeks aggressively led his men in numerous combat action."

He was also involved in operational planning during numerous major combat operations, including Operations Mead River and Oklahoma Hills.

Stewart also received the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with palm from Gen. Chan of Vietnam and the Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with bronze star. His unit has been credited with killing 510 enemy and capturing 83 during one period of time.

He received a meritorious promotion to staff sergeant by Gen. Chapman and was the youngest staff officer in his division.

Among his other awards are the Purple Heart (he has been wounded twice) with Gold Star, Combat Action Ribbon, Presidential Unit Citation, National Service Medal, Good Conduct Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, and the Vietnam Campaign Medal.

Stewart's address is:

Staff Sgt. Terry W. Stewart,

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Is there a Form 1040-1 and if so, where can I get a copy?

A) The designation 1040-1 refers to the page number of the back of the first copy of the Form 1040 in the tax packages sent to all taxpayers this year. On it will be found general information on the new Form 1040. Other general instructions for Form 1040 continue on the back of the taxpayer's copy of the 1040 and on pages B-2, E-2, and R-2, all of which are found in the package. The designations 1040-1 and 1040-2 were used simply for numbering and indexing purposes and do not refer to any form separate and apart from the 1040 itself. This same approach applies to other instructions in the package, which, again for indexing purposes, also have been given alphabetical and numerical designations.

Q) The estimated tax forms you sent me said to watch for changes in the law. Have there been any that would affect my 1970 declaration?

A) One change that affects all taxpayers is the increase in the amount allowed for personal exemptions. For the 1970 tax year, $625 should be taken for each exemption.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 increased the amount for personal exemptions from $600 to $650 effective next July 1 when the necessary adjustments will be made in withholding rates. Since the change takes place at mid-year, the net effect will be to increase the exemption amount to $625.

Also, the tax surcharge has been continued at a 5 percent annual rate for the period January 1, 1970, through June 30, 1970, or 2.5 percent for the tax year 1970.

Some taxpayers may also find the new provisions on income averaging and capital gains will affect their declarations. Details on these provisions and the tax surcharge may be obtained by writing your IRS district director for Publication 553 or by contacting your local IRS office.

Q) Do I handle dividends from a savings and loan account the same way as other dividends?

A) No, this income should be reported as interest on line 13 of Form 1040. If your total interest income is over $100, list the amounts you receive on Schedule B, Part II, and attach it to your return when you file.

Q) I just sent in my return. How long will I have to wait for my refund?

A) If your return is accurate and complete, you should have your refund within 5-6 weeks of the date you filed.

However, should your refund be delayed beyond this period, wait 10 weeks before contacting IRS about it. This will allow time for any notice to reach you about an error or omission such as a missing Social Security number, W-2 or one of the schedules.

Q) Who can use the tax surcharge tables in the 1040 package?

A) The tables should be used for determining the surcharge if your income tax is under $735. For $735 and over, multiply your tax by 10 percent to determine the surcharge you owe for 1969.

Q) Will IRS figure the tax for you even if you end up owing tax?

A) Yes. If there is tax due, you will be billed and have 30 days to make full payment.

IRS can only compute the tax where the taxpayer's gross income is under $5,000 which consists of wages subject to withholding and not more than $200 of dividends, interest and wages not subject to withholding, and the standard deduction is claimed. But the taxpayer computes his tax when he is claiming sick pay, moving expenses, or employee business expenses.

Q) Do you have to itemize deductions to get any credit for hospital insurance premiums paid?

A) Yes, you must itemize to claim this deduction. However, you may deduct half of your medical insurance premiums up to a maximum of $150 even though your other medical expenses do not exceed 3 percent of your adjusted gross income.

Q) I pay someone to take care of my two girls while I work. Is there any deduction for this?

A) You may deduct all or part of this expense when certain conditions are met. These conditions are explained on page A-2 of the 1040 tax package you received in the mail.

Q) I'm over 65. Do I still have to file a tax return?

A) Your age entitles you to an additional $600 exemption and therefore you are not required to file a return unless your gross income is $1,200 or over. However, if you had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more, even if your gross income was less than $1,200, a return will have to be filed and self-employment tax paid.

Q) Are union dues deductible?

A) Yes, these dues are deductible as an employee business expense if you itemize. For more details on these expenses, check page E-2 of the 1040 instruction package.

Letters to the editor

'Money Matters' comments heard

Editor:

I was pleased to learn that your paper was to carry a series of articles on "Money Matters" written by a local banker. Many Americans tend to feel that a good portion of our problems and those of the world stem from money and credit and who controls them. I agree with this view point. The educational value of your series on money could be of great value to your reading public. However, I was disappointed with the first article.

To place the blame of Inflation on the poor, tax-paying public is a time worn excuse used by government and bankers from time immemorial to cover for their own mismanagement and greed.

Inflation is by definition an increase in money supply. And only governments can increase this money supply and therefore only governments can create inflation and conversely deflation or depression. If the supply of money rises (boom) faster than the increase of goods and services, prices rise. The price rise is not the cause of inflation but it's effect.

Privately owned or controlled central banks (such as the U.S. Federal Reserve system) work, according to top economic expert on depression, Professor Murray Rothbard: "Like a cozy compulsory bank cartel to expand the banks liabilities, and the banks are now able to expand on a larger base of cash in the form of central bank notes as well as gold. So, now we see that the business cycle is brought about, not by any mysterious failings of the free market economy, but quite to opposite; by systematic intervention by government in the market process. Government intervention brings about bank expansion and inflation, and, when the inflation comes to an end, the subsequent depression-adjustment comes into play." I believe that the financial history of the U.S. during the last 24 months proves Dr. Rothbard's contention.

So, dear readers of the "Money Matters" column, shed your guilt complexes. It's not your fault. You might ask your congressman why he approves the spending of billions each year on such true inflationary things as Foreign Aid, Welfare programs for the un-needy, and on wars he does not want to win? On close examination of these points, I'm sure you will begin to place the blame for your economic problems where it belongs.

Pat's Reaction

'I just love...'

Most of the time my family communicate by telephone, but we're conventional about Christmas thank-you-notes and these must be written and must arrive by Easter. Therefore with the postal strike just ended a bevy of personal notes have been passed back and forth during the last week, mostly concerning Christmas.

My sister in Cleveland wrote, "I was horrified to get your letter saying that seven year old Beth was enjoying the fur hat that I sent. I sent Beth a Felix the Cat game and the fur hat to you. Did you end up with nothing, or did you get the game?"

My mother in Florida sent a package with her note, "Thank you for the dress. It's so lovely that I know that you must have bought it on sale at one of those fancy summer shops in Petoskey. Since it's not my size, I'm sending it back for you to enjoy wearing next summer. It looks like it would just fit you."

My uncle George wrote, "Thank you for the beautiful fondu forks. I think that Helen is going to give me a fondu pot for my birthday next summer."

My brother-in-law Dick wrote, "Say, I really liked the blue turtle neck shirt that you sent me. You know I never wear blue, but the color looks better on me than I thought. By the way, did you know that we both sent Paw-Paw a terry cloth beach robe for Christmas?"

My thirteen year old niece, Debby, wrote, "I just love the ring that you sent me with my initial on it. I gave it to Frank. He is my new boyfriend. He likes it a lot."

My own dear dad wrote, "Dear Pat, so far you have sent me Michigan Rummy, Traveling Poker, Scrabble and this year Chinese Checkers. These games are nice for when the children come to visit, but please don't send me any more games. I'd rather read."

Oh well, you can't win them all.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
Michigan Farm Bureau

Pres. Richard Nixon headed the list of distinguished government visitors at the four day Golden Anniversary annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Washington D.C. recently.

Vice Pres. Spiro Agnew, Sec. of Agriculture Clifford Hardin, Asst. Sec. of Agriculture Thomas Cowden, Senator Spencer Holland (Fla.) and Congresswoman Catherine May (Wash.) were among the dozens who spoke before the more than 8,000 Farm Bureau members in the glitter and light of the red carpeted Washington Hilton Hotel.

Pres. Nixon may have encouraged FB members from the 49 states and Porto Rico when he insisted that agriculture has, "too long been the whipping boy of government," but he offered little in tangible solutions to solve farm problems or increase them.

Later Vice Pres. Agnew reiterated the President's thoughts before the largest farm organization in the world: Pres. Nixon said:

"I would begin with rather a blunt statement. I think there is a tendency these days to make agriculture the 'whipping boy' for many of our problems. We hear a lot of talk about farm subsidies and parity and all the rest. We hear very little talk about how it came about; that the reason that farmers have the present problems they have is because they made their investments at the request of government, and as a result of the initiative of government, in order to increase agricultural production at a certain time."

Charles B. Shuman, pres. of the AFBF, stressed the farmers' plight and offered solutions in his annual address. He said, "A permanent extension or revision of the present farm program with its welfare type payments would mean permanent poverty for American farmers."

Shuman said the only practical way of "getting unhooked is to phase out the government program over a period of time and to cushion the impact on farmers during the adjustment period."

CCSB computers are cutting costs

The seven banks lease the computer equipment from the National Cash Register Company for $5,500 a month, but the building belongs to them and they are justly proud of it. The exterior has the dark shingled roof which is the mark of the Gaylord alpine motif. The building is heated electrically with 60 percent of the heat coming from the operation of the computer machines themselves.

The computers are housed in a special room which takes up about half of the building. In it the computers are set on a floor which is purposely placed 18" above the natural floor to provide for heating and air conditioning. The room is completely enclosed, bright as day, immaculately clean and amazingly quiet. It is difficult to believe that so much work is being accomplished by a small 208 volt computer panel.

At this time the room is only half full of computer equipment but these seven aggressive northern Michigan banks believe that someday in the not too distant future they will be doing twice the business that they are doing now and thus they will need the extra space. This building should take care of their needs until the year 2000.

The other half of the Computer Center building is devoted to three attractive offices and two small utility areas.

Each evening a courier picks up a locked case from each of the participating banks holding the daily bank transactions. He delivers these to a separate locked compartment in the back room of the computer center. Each morning a courier enters the building again, unlocks his bank's compartment and delivers the packet of computerized information to his particular bank. Overnight the computers with the guidance of two people have done what no bank was able to do before, balance every separate account every night and furnish a complete trial balance which would agree with the bank's general ledger every day.

Each morning before the bank opens for daily business the computer reports from Gaylord can be read and recorded.

The banks that are participating in this venture with the Charlevoix County State Bank are the Petoskey First State Bank and Trust, The Gaylord State Bank, The People's State Bank of Alpena, The Citizen's National Bank of Cheboygan, The Roscommon State Bank, and the Northwestern State Bank of East Jordan.

Obviously a lot is happening in banking and any layman can see the many changes that have taken place. Today banks are offering many more services and making the public more aware of their willingness to offer these services through vigorous advertising.

Bank buildings have changed in their appearance and in their atmosphere. It used to be that bank customers were kept well isolated from bank tellers by high counters and grills. The atmosphere was formal, foreboding and secretive. Bank tellers were so separated from the general customer that it must have taken a lot of nerve to request a bank loan for anything so frivolous as a boat or a snowmobile.

But modern banks are different. Today the lobbies are open, sunny and attractively furnished. Employees are friendly and eager to help new customers with banking problems. No wonder then that a much greater number of people today depend on their local bank for a variety of new services.

Yet with all of these improved services the cost of banking to the customer is less. It may well be one of the only bargains left to us in this inflated economy.

How could this be, people ask. Why is it that banks are able to offer their customers more, yet charge them less? What's the catch?

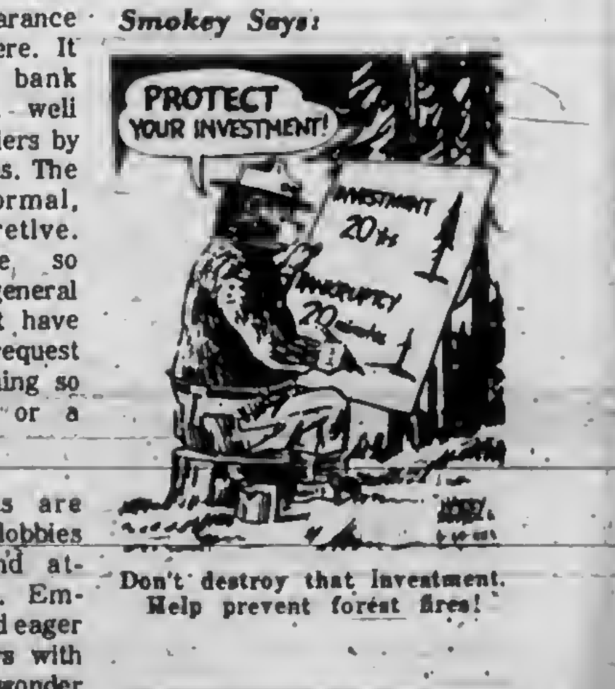
Actually there isn't any. Banks are in business to make money too, but they can do it better with the help of computers. For instance, because the Computer Center can do the job, the Charlevoix County State Bank didn't have to buy a new $14,000 proof machine this year. All of the banks are sharing their overhead.

And because the computer can do so many jobs less employees are needed to handle the same amount of work. Filing is faster because filing is now done by computer number rather than alphabetically as in the past. The Charlevoix County State Bank has not had to fire anyone because of these computer services, but as employees leave for personal reasons, new employees are not hired to fill their positions.

Computers have been an invaluable aid to bankers because they record each day exactly what the bank's assets are, so bankers no longer have to leave a cushion of money idle as they have had to do in the past. Money that is not working is lazy money for it yields no return. Now with the guidance of a daily computer report a bank can use every penny of its assets for investment.

Investing wisely is the secret of banking growth and a bank that is growing offers a great economic advantage to its community.

Smokey Says:



Don't destroy that investment. Help prevent forest fires!

Spring school set

The Charlevoix V.F.W. Auxiliary will hostess a Spring School of Instruction on April 2, at 8 p.m. in the V.F.W. Post Home. At that time department officers will be present to instruct area Auxiliary members and to answer questions. A salad-sandwich luncheon will follow.

The V.F.W. Auxiliary regular business meeting will be held on April 16 at eight o'clock in the evening. New offficers will be elected at this time.

+ + +

The regular monthly meeting of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will be on April 6, at the Community Reformed Church of Charlevoix on Petoskey Avenue. At that meeting the Music Group will present a program of folk music. This afternoon spring meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Gardeners told 'now is time'

The members of the Charlevoix Garden Club met Tuesday afternoon, March 10, at the home of Carolyn Klooster on Meadowlane with Jeanne Michael as co-hostess.

Lucile Rower gave an interesting lesson on "The Strategic Time" for laying the foundation for your garden.

Seed catalogues are arriving and the time has come to plan for our summer garden. This is the time to be honest with yourself and take stock of the sins of omission and idleness that spoiled last year's effort.

But, don't be in too big a hurry to remove the winter protection from perennials. Early warm days can be followed by cold nights and windy days, a combination that is hard on newly uncovered plants, If the covering is thick, take away some and loosen the rest; then, remove all when the new shoots have made some growth. If possible choose a dull damp day for uncovering.

As soon as perennials are showing, spread a dressing of fertilizer over the soil and work in carefully and shallowly; also, some thinning should be done to make room for plant growth it is best to keep the new growth and discard the old.

If lily bulbs are to be planted get them in as soon as possible.

April in our locality is the time to begin the spring work, whether it is with mittens or a scarf put it on and get to work. Spring is not just around the corner it is already here for the garden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bergmann

Miss Pearsall bride of J.W. Bergmann

The First Congregational Church was the scene for the wedding of Sherrel Kay Pearsall and John W. Bergmann.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Harry Pearsall and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bergmann.

Arrangements of red and pink gladioli formed the setting for the services performed by Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an A-line gown of white satin and Chantilly lace fashioned and made by her mother. Her mantilla was of matching Chantilly lace. Her bouquet was of red sweetheart roses and white daisies.

Patti McPhilips of Conway served the bride as matron of honor. Mrs. Gail Sheldon of Walloon Lake, Cathy Beer of Petoskey and Mrs. Ronald Cox were bridesmaids. They wore identical A-line gowns of pink dotted swiss. Each carried a single long-stemmed American Beauty Rose.

Michelle Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Davis served as flower girl. She wore a gown of pink dotted swiss. William Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bergmann was ring-bearer.

Assisting his brother as best man was Charles Bergmann. Another brother, Doug Bergmann, Bernard Larson of Escanaba and Robert Bohse of Werrill, Wisc. were groomsmen.

Mike Pearsall, brother of the bride and Ken and James Bergmann, brothers of the groom, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a navy dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of red and pink roses. Mrs. Bergmann chose a gold and white dress with brown accessories. Her corsage was also of red and pink roses.

A reception followed at the V.F.W. Hall.

For their wedding trip through the southern states, the bride chose a green suit with pink accessories. They will make their home at 306 East Houghton ave. Houghton, Michigan.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Charlevoix High School. The bride is a graduate of Central Michigan University and is presently teaching in St. Ignace. The groom is a junior at Michigan Tech in Houghton.

Wedding guests attended from Petoskey, Newton Falls, Ohio, Kalamazoo, Harbor Springs, East Jordan, Kalkaska, Boyne City, Boston, Lansing and Jackson.

A rehearsal dinner Friday evening was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Bergmann.

We're in debt to wars, floods, health services, life saving and blood banks.

Rayders on M-HS team

Three members of the Charlevoix basketball team have been named to the All Conference unit of the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

Named to the first team was Stewart Coleman, a senior who led the Rayders in scoring and averaged 20.9 points per game in league play, good for second place in the final statistics.

Two Rayders were given honorable mention nods, Bruce Meggison and Kraag Lieberman.

Meggison, who will be back with Coach Don Carey's charges next year, averaged 15 points per league game this past season, while senior Lieberman closed out his high school basketball career with a 13.3 average in M-HS play.

Ruppe Reports

"What were the proposals of the President's Commission On An All-Volunteer Armed Force?"

The Commission made three major recommendations. First, they suggested a pay boost for officers and enlisted men. Total compensation for officers would be raised from an average of $717 to $869 per month. Compensation for enlisted men would go from $301 to $437 per month. Secondly, improvements would be made in the conditions of service and in recruiting procedures. For instance, further fellowships for medical students would be introduced. It is hoped that such proposal would attract an adequate number of volunteers to armed service careers, and make an end to the draft possible. At the same time, the Commission proposes that a stand-by draft be established by Congress, to provide for our national security in times of emergency.

More than a year ago, I introduced a resolution in Congress, asking that the President begin preparation for an all-volunteer military force. Though the present selective service system has been improved, it still creates uncertainty and doubt for many of our young men. We must encourage a greater reliance on volunteers to fill our defense manpower needs.

Our basketball team

Now that the basketball season has been over for a week or ten days, we all can look back at it more objectively.

Coach Don Carey and the members of his team are to be congratulated for their efforts, particularly in their final league games and their tournament play.

When viewed realistically, this year's Charlevoix High School team had no business going as far as it did.

They were small, not particularly good from the floor, and weren't the fastest team around. Under normal circumstances, most teams would have wilted in the districts.

Yet, this Rayder team of '69-70 had two important characteristics which carried to the quarter finals. . .desire and leadership.

Under the strategical manipulations of Carey and the unquestioned court leadership of Stew Coleman, the Rayders began to "put it together" shortly after Kevin Swanson assumed a starting role around mid-season.

A few rough spots developed, such as the inability of some players to score with any consistency, and a nagging habit of throwing the ball away, but somehow Carey was able to overcome the problems and lead Charlevoix past Boyne City for the district title.

Few gave them much of a chance in the regional playoffs, but a good draw and a lot of desire to be the best carried them to the quarterfinals in Cheboygan.

There, the local club faced what we now must admit was a superior St. Ignace quintet.

Even though Charlevoix's banner was not carried to Jenison this season, we all feel pride in our team. We'll remember the 1969-70 basketball team for a long time to come.

Classroom success

Although small communities often follow more than they lead, such is not the case when it comes to helping youngsters with perceptual handicaps.

Thanks to the efforts of Dale Fassett, director of Special Education for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, and Mrs. Gunnar Lundtiegen, a member of his staff, many youngsters who have suffered perceptual problems -- often since birth -- are experiencing success in the classroom they never dreamed possible.

These are the youngsters whose IG's fall within the normal range, but because of a brain injury at birth, a high fever during babyhood, or any one of a number of causes, have suffered a brain dysfunction – not a serious physical problem but a monumental roadblock in the part of any cerebral success.

They may not hear the way the rest of us hear, or their eyes play tricks on them, making "b's" out of "d's" or vice versa. They may not be able to translate verbal orders into action.

They are, in short, perceptually handicapped.

In the past, many such youngsters were regarded as mentally retarded and were assigned to Type A rooms.

We now know, however, that most of these youngsters are not retarded at all. They simply are suffering brain dysfunctions which prevent them from learning the way other people learn.

The result is round after round of failure for the child, confusion and dissension in the classroom and untold hours of wasted effort on the part of everyone.

Recently it was discovered that medication sometimes allows children suffering from brain dysfunctions to unwind or tighten up sufficiently to actually become contributing members of their classes.

Now, thanks to the pioneering work being done by Fassett and Mrs. Lundtiegen, who have started a class for perceptually handicapped youngsters in Charlevoix, we are learning that perceptual handicaps also can be minimized by special instruction.

Although the class is only seven months old, the results have been so encouraging that the Intermediate Board has decided to continue the pilot program for another year in hopes that administrators and principals of constituent districts will drop in, look around, talk with Mrs. Lundtiegen and then go home and launch programs of their own.

On the basis of screening in Charlevoix, Fassett estimates that there may be as many as 300 perceptually handicapped children in the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate district who would benefit from the highly structured type of program now being offered only at Charlevoix.

Where are these youngsters today?

Probably in Type A rooms or meeting failure day after day in regular classrooms simply because there is no place else for them to go.

We are sure all area educators will follow the progress of Mrs. Lundtiegen's work with great interest. (B.C.)

Oil and citizens

A heartening example of what an aroused citizenry can do --- legally and peacefully --- to correct society's ills was offered to all of Michigan last week in Lansing.

As the result of a petition drive in Emmet County, the state legislature on Monday ordered the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to call off its scheduled auction on Wednesday of oil and gas rights to 79,000 acres of state land.

The petitions asked only that 3,000 acres up for grabs in Emmet County be removed from the auction block, but downstate lawmakers apparently decided they would like to take a closer look at the DNR's oil and gas leasing program and the entire auction was cancelled.

Key men in the swift maneuvering were Sen. Thomas Schweigert (R-Petoskey) and Rep. Robert Davis (R-St. Ignace) who introduced resolutions calling off the sale in Emmet County as soon as they got wind of the general dissatisfaction with the auction in their area.

Although time was short, Schweigert and Davis responded more quickly and affirmatively than even the petitioners had expected. In fact, the sale had already been cancelled by the time the signed petitions arrived in Lansing.

Now it is up to the DNR to schedule hearings in Lansing and Petoskey to listen to the sportsmen and nature lovers who protest doing anything at all with state land, much less leasing it to the big oil and gas companies. They feel it can't be called wilderness any longer when there is an oil derrick on every quarter-section.

Of course, the DNR is as strapped financially as any branch of the state government and it has a thousand ways to spend the money it would derive fro. the oil and gas leases. But we are afra. I the DNR can't see the woods for the trees --- or the oil derricks for the dollar signs. (B.C.)

Thanks, Kiwanis

We were all treated to an outstanding show last Wednesday night as the Ink Spots and two other acts made the two-plus hour show in the high school gym seem like ten minutes.

From the opening remarks by Chuck England to the finale of "When the Saints Go Marchin' In", some 500 area residents who attended the show were waltzed through old favorites and some of the more recent hits.

The group is one of the few that has lasted through the years without changing its distinctive "sound" to comply with modern, commercial music.

Although there is just one member of the original Ink Spots still on the road, guitarist Charlie Facqua, it would take an expert to distinguish between the sound of the present quartet and that of the group in the early 30's.

One of the more pleasing surprises of the evening was master of ceremonies-comedian-juggler Bobby Smith.

His portion of the show consumed over 30 minutes, and he gave a first-rate performance. Few touring shows can boast a top quality act such as his, billed in the number two spot.

Speaking of touring shows, the Ink Spots and their entourage have an aggressive and tiring series of stops ahead of them this year.

Jack Switzer, the group's manager, told us that the Ink Spots will be on the road, with short term engagements, for a solid ten months in 1970.

Prior to their appearance in Charlevoix, the tour made stops in Marquette and Newberry, both one-nighters, and last Thursday played in Grayling. Friday and Saturday of last week found them at the Holiday Inn in Traverse City. From there, it's on to Ludington and then on to a series of performances throughout the entire nation.

To us, it would seem virtually impossible to put on a two-hour show almost every night in a different city and still act as if they can't wait to come on stage to perform. But, the answer is probably that their enthusiasm is one reason why the Ink Spots have endured for nearly 40 years. . . and quite possibly may still be packing them in 40 years from now.

Our Kiwanians are to be commended for sponsoring this show. Charlevoix has far too few "big names" brought in. And, make no mistake about it, the Kiwanis Club could have lost a bundle of money if ticket sales had been slow. As it was, after expenses, the profit from Wednesday's show will be only in the vicinity of a few hundred dollars.

All profits from the performance have been earmarked for Camp Daggett.

We offer a tip of the chapeau to all members of the Kiwanis Club for giving us two hours of some of the finest entertainment that this town have ever experienced.

In fact, when you consider that the $2 price of admission breaks down to less than $1 per hour, it would be difficult to find a bigger bargain anyplace.

If it Fitz

Cheer in church

It has always bothered me that applause is forbidden in church sanctuaries.

I hear some fine speeches and great singing in church. And I've often been embarrassed by the dead silence which follows these splendid performances. If it were a Rotary meeting, or even a fellowship meeting in another part of the church building, there would be great clapping of hands.

But the performance is given in somehow "sacred territory" and the performers receive only hurried assurance from the pastor that "we all enjoyed that."

Admittedly, part of my problem is I don't attend church regularly. I depend on touts to let me know when something special, something down my alley, is planned. It doesn't matter what church, synagogue or Gospel tent, I'm liable to slip in late and grab a seat in the back.

As a result, I generally hear the "specials" more apt to satisfy. Regular church-goers might well say that on most Sundays there is a lot not to clap about.

It was several years ago that I created a mild ruckus by writing why I don't go to church every Sunday. My complaint is that too many churches for too many years have encouraged or at least ignored white racism rather than fight it as Jesus Christ would have. This is no attempt to revive that argument. I mention it only to explain what I was doing in church last Wednesday. I was touted on to a good one.

The speaker was Fr. Fred Williams, the black pastor of an Episcopal Church in the Detroit area. He was introduced by my favorite Chinese minister. And the audience, filling the sanctuary of Lapeer's Episcopal church, was made up equally of Protestants and Roman Catholics, including nuns and priests. As a man whispered in my ear that night. "This is a natural for a nut like you."

Fr. Williams expressed surprise - - and delight - - that a town of 6,000 lily-white persons could produce such a crowd to hear a Negro sound off. And then he sounded off real good, baby.

To sum it up succinctly, Fr. Williams said too many Christians really aren't. Too many hide from the problems of racism and other evils. Whose fault is it? He quoted Pogo of the comics: "We have met the enemy and he is us."

Father Williams criticized Nixon's appointment of Judge Carswell to the Supreme Court. He noted that Spiro Agnew "is the biggeat kook on the front page." And he rapped a "victorian clergy guilty of village thinking."

It was the kind of stuff many people think should not be said in church. I think church is where it SHOULD be said, first , last and always.

After the speech, there were questions. Someone asked "what can we small-town people do?" Another man stood up and said some nice things about me, God bless him. We've never met and he didn't know I was in the back pew. "What this town needs is more Jim Fitzgeralds," he said as I discovered I can still blush.

The least I could do, upon request from the altar, was take a small bow. And, omigosh, a smattering of applause was heard throughout the sanctuary!

(To keep my humble image, I hasten to admit I was dealing with a stacked deck. Many of those people were automatically on my side or they would not have been there listening to a Negro preacher. If that unknown man had so praised me most anywhere else, he'd have been hooted down and possibly slugged. When I write a column like this, the mail reaction is usually 4 to 1 in favor of deporting me to the nearest ghetto).

Anyway, my point today is the applause. Maybe a precedent was set. I got only a few claps. But when Fr. Williams said good night, the clapping was practically thunderous. In the sanctuary!

It was splended. I recommend it to all parsona. And anytime the guest speaker is Fred Williams, I'll be glad to come lead the clapping.

I'll even throw in some whistles and cheers: "C'mon let's hear it out there, brethren."

ON THE 'FLIP' SIDE

We will probably make enemies of our friends in the local post office with this column, but we have strong feelings about the letter carriers' strike which is in progress at this writing, but which hopefully will be ended by the time you read these words.

There is no argument from this corner that post office employees are underpaid. Aren't we all?

But, we feel this strike is over the basic premise of "who is working for who?"

We cannot find any proof that any employee of any post office in the nation is forced to work for that post office.

If those workers feel they can make more money somewhere else, why don't they leave the department and find employment where wages are more to their liking?

If garbagemen make more money that letter carriers (as their union leaders tell us), let the mailmen work for the sanitation department.

We encourage any post office employee to seek other employment if he can earn more money and support his family better. That is the option open to all of us. Our society allows any or all of us to change jobs anytime we care to.

A letter carrier starts his job at a salary of $6,100, plus health benefits, a retirement program which cannot be bettered anywhere, and many other fringe benefits.

When we graduated from college (after four years of study and an expenditure which reached close to $10,000), we began work at $80 per week, which comes to something less than $4,500 (and we spent a lot more than 40 hour per week at work, too). Teachers today start at little more than $6,100, and you must remember that they, too, are required to have a college education.

Newspaper editors and teachers, and bankers and anyone else is free to seek employment elsewhere if the pay doesn't meet their particular demands.

We feel post office employees should do the same...

(To clarify again...please, Local Post Office Employees, we don't mean you).

Library notes

The Library staff would like to give very special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Young for supplying the Library with beautiful flowers during the first week of spring. There were golden daffodils last week, and now a lovely pink hydrangia plant for Easter.

Spring vacation means youngsters out of school and the return of college students, so there will be small time for reading. With this in mind, we suggest light, pick-up-quick books for brief moments of rest. "Where the Music was" by Charles East is a collection of 15 stories written in a quiet, economical style. They are all stories about Mississippi, and most of them illuminate certain complexities of the relationship between the Negro and white Southerners. It is a first-rate collection of stories. Mr. East's view of a particular region, and of the human condition in general, is compassionate, clear-eyed and, above all, sensible.

"The Diary of an old man" should probably be classified as a novel, although it reads as a journal of an old man who recounts the everyday events of his small life--keeping warm, cooking, reading the papers in the local library.

"Yes," he tells us, "being old's all right, once you get past the age of trying to be young. You begin to appreciate things, fike watching cars go into each other, or a walk in the park, or a good scratch. . . ."

The diary covers one winter month in Cyril's life as he struggles to survive on his almost nonexistent pension. It is an unusual book, a slender volume which, once read, will not be forgotten.

"Against All Odds" by John Jacobs is a fine pick-up book. It consists of ten of the most dramatic escapes in history including an account of the time when Winston Churchill fled Pretoria, when Benvenuto Cellini scaled prison walls to freedom and when Louis Napoleon, nephew of the great Bonaparte, escaped from one of the most forbidding fortresses in all Europe and went on to rule France as emperor for nearly two decades.

The nine men and one woman in this book are a diverse group, but they have one thing in common--they are spirited people. Whether chained in terrible dungeons, chased by hundreds of Indians, exiled to the wastes of Siberia, or thrown into forced labor camps, they persistently opposed their captors and continued to have a very high opinion of themselves.

"The Sound of Summer Voices" by Helen Tucker is one of the rare books that guarantees a beautiful reading experience. Written in the manner of "To Kill a Mockingbird," it is a southern novel about a young boy who makes a determined effort to find out the truth about his mother. "The Itinerant" by William Herrick is a novel of the Thirties and about Zeke who seeks glory and finds life in the tenements of Hester Street, at a cooperative farm in Michigan, among the sharecroppers of Georgia and on the battlefields of the Spanish Civil War.

Cancer soc. meet

The Charlevoix County unit of the American Cancer Society will hold its annual kick-off coffee April 7, at 10 a.m. at the East Jordan Snowmobile Clubhouse on Alba Rd. in East Jordan.

Crusade chairmen for this year are Mrs. Harvey Barnum, Boyne City, Mrs. W. B. Boswell, East Jordan, Mrs. Edward Vogler, Charlevoix. The captains for the Charlevoix area are Mrs. Wayne Rank, Mrs. Roger Pischner, Mrs. Russell Lewis, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie, Mrs. Robert Geer, Mrs. Jerry Drost. Captains for out-lying areas are Mrs. James Fiedler, North Point; Mrs. Steve LaBlance, Pine Point; Mrs. Robert Klooster, Norwood; Mrs. Hal Forbrig, M-66; Mrs. Russell Grear, Beaver Island; Mrs. John MacDonald, Bay Shore; Mrs. William McKee, Trailer Park; Mrs. James Bishaw, Loeb School Rd.

All captains and workers are invited to attend the coffee. Ellis Griner, area representative of the Michigan division of the American Cancer Society, will speak and a film will be shown.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

There is an old Japanese saying - "When men talk of the future, rats in the ceiling laugh."

Prophecy has always been a risky business, yet we all engage in it; trying to guess what tomorrow will bring. When the President of the United States and the Governor of Michigan issue forceful statements relating to the future of outdoor resources, an old-timer feels justified in proffering predictions.

President Nixon advocates a nation-wide 10 billion dollar campaign against pollution of water and air. At the same time, Governor Milliken unveils a Charter for Clean Environment. In a message to the Michigan Legislature, the Governor warns that "our own children may see the last traces of earth's beauty crushed beneath the weight of man's waste and ruin." He called a conference on urban leisure, held at Wayne State University in conjunction with the fourteenth annual meeting of the Michigan Natural Resources Council.

History, we're told, repeats itself. What were the vital outdoor issues in the past? Forest fire would be high on the list. Michigan's No. 1 product was lumber and there was reluctance to put pressure on the big companies whose logging railroads were the principal cause of fires in the timber. But agitation continued until, eventually, forest fires were reduced to a minimum.

The sale of game was at one time an open scandal. Carloads of Michigan deer were shipped to big city markets. Thousands of game birds were bought and sold. Complaints grew until market shooting was effectively outlawed.

It is safe to predict that the present opposition to pollution will bring positive results in a very few years.

Beaver Islander first trip set

The motor ship Beaver Islander is scheduled to make its first trip of 1970 on April 15.

Sporadic, one trip per day service will travel between Charlevoix and Beaver Island each Monday, Wednesday and Friday through April, weather permitting. Beginning May 1 and continuing through June 19, one trip is scheduled daily (except Sundays during May).

From June 20 through the end of August, the ship will make two trips per day.

The ship is scheduled to make its final trip of the season on December 26.

In the interest of fairness to all prospective contestants in the Friends of the Charlevoix Library photographic contest it has been decided to eliminate the requirements of listing of camera make, film used shutter speeds and lens opening and substitute for students entries, age of the entrant, grade in school plus the original requirement of name and address of the entrant.

Many of the exhibitors who have pictures which they plan to show, affirm that most photographic buffs do not keep such a record, and they do have scenes taken years ago which are still timely. The above mentioned eliminations will allow both students and adults who plan to compete to use pictures of the past.

No other changes are contemplated at this time.

Poster board for mounting pictures for exhibition may be purchased at the Public library for 10 cents per sheet.

Radar in service

Speeders, beware!! A radar speed control system was placed in operation last Wednesday, and members of the County Sheriff's Department are on the prowl to reduce the number of speeders in Charlevoix County.

Sheriff Philo Sumner reported that his officers have undergone a training program with the radar unit, and citations are new being issued to those drivers caught traveling over the speed limit.

Maps are here

The Courier office has received a supply of new 1970 Michigan State Highway maps which are being made available to our readers.

As the supply is limited, we suggest that those who want a map stop in between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. this week.

There is no charge for the maps.

Health test

Tuberculin testing for Charlevoix area food handlers will be offered by the local Health Department on Thursday, April 23. The tests will be offered in the Health Department in the County Building, between 2 and 4 p.m. Persons who are at present, or anticipate being a food handler are urged to take advantage of this program. All persons handling food in restaurants are require to have the test before they start work.

Assoc. meeting

The Antrim-Charlevoix county Holiness Association will meet April 7 at the East Jordan Missionary Church.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. Mayle, Evangelist, as the speaker, and at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. William Gelkerson, evangelist, as speaker.

GOP to meet

The Charlevoix County Republican meeting will be held April 9 at 8 p.m. in the County Building.

State Rep. Bob Davis will again attend the meeting. Discussion will include a fund-raising campaign for Rep.-Davis and a voter registration report.

Bellaire is scene of Prom

BY CHRIS CAREY

Again this year plans are being made for the annual Junior Prom put on by the Junior class at Charlevoix High School.

In past years, the Prom has been held in the gymnasium of the middle school. Only last year, when it was held at the Bay View Inn in Petoskey, has the Prom been held out of town. This year the Juniors have decided on Shanty Creek Lodge in Bellaire. The cost will be $75 to rent the building with some of the couples possibly eating their dinner at the Lodge.

This year the Prom theme is "A Time For Us" from "Romeo and Juliet." The theme will be carried out in the favors and place settings as well as in the costumes the attendants will be wearing.

The costumes have already been made to fit the theme. The attendants, who are all Freshman, are Sue Haertter, Shelly Hansen, Kathy Begrow, Clint Blanchard, Butch Klooster, Roy Rank, Jeff Grooms and Randy Woods.

All of the music will be furnished by the "Boyfriends" from Grand Rapids. The group has a special Prom selection for such occasions. The group is costing the Juniors $300.

According to Junior Class President Nancy Fochtman, the Prom will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., April 25. Bids, which are purchased about two weeks before the Prom, are $5.

There will be ten couples acting as chaperones as well as a group of teachers, as all teachers in the high school are sent bids.

A photographer will also be on hand to take pictures which will cost about $5.

All of the food, cookies and punch, will be furnished by members of the Junior Class.

Paul Bour scholarship announced

A memorial scholarship fund is being established at Iowa Wesleyan College by friends and teachers of Paul Bour.

Word was received here recently that Bour, 22, a 1969 graduate, drowned last week in the Mediterranean off the coast of Italy while serving with the U.S. Navy special services.

He had impressed many people while compiling an impressive four year record as a lineman on the Tiger football team and as an elementary education major with near a 3.0 grade point average.

The scholarship is designed to recognize the qualities that Bour manifested.

People wishing to honor Paul's memory are asked to send contributions to the Paul Bour Memorial Scholarship Fund, Business Office, Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa 52641.

Council holds key to T-MA's arrival

From all indications, it now appears that the reality of scheduled air service at Charlevoix Municipal Airport rests squarely on the shoulders of City Council.

Donald Ambrose, director of marketing for Trans-Michigan Airlines, told the Courier late last week that the airline is in the process of wrapping up a market study of the area, and company officials are more interested in coming to our city than ever before.

Ambrose indicated that T-MA will be sitting down with city officials within the next two weeks to discuss the matter fully.

The Courier has learned from a reliable source that the airline will schedule regular flights to Charlevoix if the city will make plans to upgrade the airport to meet minimum requirements of state and federal regulatory agencies.

This reportedly entails the purchase of equipment which would allow instrument landings during low ceiling weather conditions.

The city would make no comment on the possibility of bringing T-MA to Charlevoix until negotiations with the airline are held.

Ambrose noted that service to Charlevoix could begin before July if the city is interested in having the airline make scheduled stops here.

Virtually all local industries have expressed a desire to have T-MA brought to the city, as public transportation is almost non-existent in Charlevoix.

Chambers of Commerce throughout the county have also expressed support for T-MA.

However, whether or not Council cares to spend the money to bring the airport to minimum standards is another matter.

Davis will seek seat in Senate

State Representative Bob Davis has declared his candidacy for the Senate seat now held by acting Lt. Governor Thomas Schweigert.

Davis, who represents the 106th District, which includes Charlevoix, told the Courier he decided to run for the post, which becomes vacant due to Schweigert's desire for other political activity, after much urging from friends and party leaders.

Davis is well known to county residents. He is the assistant Minority Whip in the House, and has made many trips to Charlevoix during his House term.

He is completing his second term in the House, having been first elected in 1966 and re-elected by a large margin in 1968.

A former funeral director, he makes his home in St. Ignace.

Council gets plans for new boat ramp

On the agenda of the Charlevoix City Council meeting Monday night was the proposed boat launching ramp at Ferry Avenue Beach, property development, and the sale of another piece of property belonging to the airport.

Plans for a $160,000 boat lanching ramp were reviewed by Council. The plans were presented to the city fathers by James Muschell of United Associates of Cheboygan.

Muschell stated he will make some changes and then submit the drawings to the State Waterways Commission for approval.

The Waterways Commission will be paying 90 percent of the project's cost. The plans include two ramps, lavatory facilities, a parking lot and lighting.

Council was also told of plan to develop the 300 block of Garfield Street as a low-income housing development. Richard Way, who presented the plans stated that the property which is bounded by Grant, Carpenter and Garfield-sts., is owned by Fritz Allard, and Angie and William Supernaw.

The proposed plans call for a subdivision of 50 houses in the $21,000 to $24,000 range which would be sold to the low-income families for $200 down. The monthly payments would be around $180, of which the federal government will be paying half.

The council suggested to way that he discuss the project with the Planning Commission.

In other business the council: Sold one-half acre of airport property to Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. Freedman purchased the land, which the hangar now stands for $1,000 to even off his property.

The company will pay the cost of relocating the hangar to a site nearer the administration building.

Spring appears here!

Though the weather in Charlevoix last week at times made the season questionable, there is no doubt that spring is here when Easter vacation finds youngsters outside playing baseball, roller skating on our streets and flying kites.

Intermingled with the spring-like weather during portions of last week were a few days when small amounts of snow covered cars, but found it difficult to "lay".

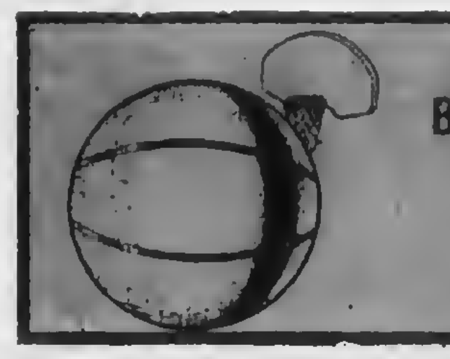
Skiers found the week to their liking, as local ski hill operators enjoyed large crowds on a spring skiing holiday.

Easter bonnets and new spring outfits were not in abundance, however, as the thermometer hovered near the zero degree mark on many of early mornings.

But, daytime temperatures were rising to the 40-degree level and nights seemed comparatively warm at the mid-teen mark.

Signs of spring were becoming more abundant as we entered the first full week of April.

Andy's Tire takes IBL title



Bouncin' the Ball with Sam

Well, it was the inevitable that finally happened in a climactic ending to the inaugural year of the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League. It was like asking if: the Pope is a Catholic: My Dad George will win the Derby; Joe Namath likes girls; Jimmy Bogart was at the Independent games; Bill Supernaw is overweight; Tom Erber couldn't go a year; Lexalite would fold under pressure; all-powerful and dominating Andy's Tire World would emerge as the champions of the annual Tournament of Champions in the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League. It was no surprise that the far superior moves and play of such notables as Clean Dean, Big Norm, Dead Eye Ken and last, but not by far the least, Super Sam, would put such talent together to take the bronze trophy of Del Terrill and add it to the already overcrowded trophy case at Andy's Tire World. Andy's won the trophy by squeeking by the U.S. Coast Guard Station in the final night of the tournament.

In the consolation game for third place, First State Bank finally won a game in their new uniforms by pushing over Lexalite in a highly contested game. Del Terrill kept thinking the scoreboard was the basket and couldn't understand why the refs gave the ball to the Bankers everytime he shot.

In the previous week's games, which didn't get in last week's paper because of the air controllers sick walk out, the Coast Guard Station knocked out Lexalite's chance for the bronze trophy by handing them a 62 to 49 loss. Frank Hackett lead the Swabbies with 24 big points, followed by Don Finley's 19. Doug Winnell lead the Liters with 13. Martin's Standard service dropped its second straight tournament game, eliminating them from further action, to the First State Bank. Lee Cross paced the Bankers with 27 points, and Rhodes Scholor Stan Martin put in 20. Dwight Boss made a final effort of 16 points to cap the scoring title of the league.

In the evening's first battle it was the end of the road for Leroy Buchanan's Lexalite team as they fell to lucky First State Bank in a foul plagued game. The Bankers were behind only in the first quarter 6 to 4 and then went ahead to stay, to take a half time lead of 20 to 16, a third quarter lead of 31 to 24, and finally the victory of 59 to 44. The game was highlited by Chopper LaBlance's usual one basket and one free throw on 64 attempts, Inky Martin led the Bankers with a smelly 22 points, followed by Lee Cross with 14. Glen Taylor, the only good Taylor on the Lexalite team, led his team with 12 points.

In the grand finale, the gym was packed to the rafters with such distinguished guests as Dean Martin, Johnny Carson, Bear Bryant, Pete Maravich, Terry Rice, Willis Reed and Spiro Agnew. The game got off to a slow start as the Coast Guard Station jumped out to a 14 to 7 first period lead. Tiny Hook put in two buckets to pace the Station in scoring. In the second period, Andy's came alive with Clean Dean Mikulski putting in 7 points as his team took a 27 to 23 half time lead. Don Finley supplied 7 of the swabbies 9 second period points.

In the half time program, the members of the league honored the referees by giving them a year's subscription to Rules and Regulations of Basketball in brall. As Bill and Dan walked into the far wall, Andy's fired up to a 43 to 36 third period lead behind Ken Balch's 5 points. In a red hot final quarter, the Station pulled within one point of Andy's, only to have Sam Supernaw put in three buckets and a free throw to pull his team out in front to take a 63 to 57 victory. Dapper Don Finley socked in 15 points for the station in the fourth period but couldn't get any help from his teammates. Dean Mikulski lead Andy's with 17 points and Sam Supernaw and Norm Helms had 12 apiece. Don Finley supplied 25 points for the Station in their losing effort.

Speak Up for Michigan!

Have you said anything good about Michigan lately?

Some of us here in Michigan have an inferiority complex—or maybe it's just a modesty complex. We don't like folks to think we're bragging, so we go to the opposite extreme and say nothing at all.

Modesty has no place in Michigan during Michigan Week. It's a no holds-barred period for unabashedly proclaiming that this state is the best.

Think positive! Michigan has too many "firsts" for us to do anything else. Michigan's miles of waterways make our state tops in commercial navigation, pleasure boating, fishing, recreation and vacation areas. Her highways, her farms, her forests—her museums, colleges, cultural assets—take a back-seat to no one. Michigan is first in 19 manufacturing categories from cereals to cars, is a haven for hunters and winter sports fans alike. We could go on and on, but you take it from there.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

In the midst of predictions that Michigan's outdoor resources are rapidly being ruined, it is comforting to recall conditions far worse than any that now prevail. Forest fires raging unchecked, tons of game shot for the market, law enforcement a joke in the backwoods.

A biological crime that was halted by federal law and international treaty some 60 years ago was the spring shooting of mating wildfowl on their way to nesting grounds on the western prairies.

Any day now the first redhead ducks will arrive from wintering grounds on salt water. They will be in full nuptial plumage and in fair condition. A few days on a diet of marine animals in local waters and the birds will be hardly edible.

A highly effective method of harvesting waterfowl originated in Michigan waters and is still used – sneak shooting. The sneak boat was about the most able craft of its size ever designed. Decked over, fore and aft, usually fitted with two pairs of oars, an 18-foot sneak boat could weather anything short of a full gale on Lake Erie or Lake St. Clair. Hulls were metal sheeted for navigating in thin ice. Sled runners on the bottom served as keels and made it possible to traverse expanses of ice, aided by sprit sail or propelled by pike pole.

Hunters were clad in white, including hoods.

Redheads decoy readily and once settled in the decoys, are inclined to stay. A sneak-shooter might sail through a flock of redhead, fire half a dozen shots and find a few bewildered ducks waiting for him to reload. Before regulations limited the number of shells in the magazine of a pump gun it was customary to weld an extension tube on the magazine so that up to a dozen shots were available. A pound of lead poured into the butt of the stock helped balance this lethal arm.

Spring shooting had its singular appeal. For many years the open season ran from March 2 to April 10. In early April it was likely that pike would be running into the marshes to spawn and illicit gill nets provided shooters with a change of diet.

Hoping to restrict spring shooting to duck species that do not nest in Michigan, killing of mallard and black duck in the spring was prohibited.

Schweigert won't run

Acting Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Schweigert, Petoskey Republican has announced that he will not seek re-election as senator from the 37th senatorial district, which covers 14 counties in northern lower Michigan and the eastern half of the upper peninsula, including Charlevoix.

"After serious consideration, I have decided against seeking re-election to a fifth term in the Senate," said Sen. Schweigert, who was elected to the Senate in 1960 and re-elected three times since.

"I feel that in the 10 years I have served in the Senate, I have been able to accomplish many of the aims I had set for the people of the 37th district.

"While I have not been able to do everything I had wanted to get done, I feel a good start has been made on solving many of the problems facing the district and that a person with fresh ideas should carry on from here.

"For the last several months, I have been exploring other areas of public service and I may have an announcement on my future plans before long."

Lt. Gov. Schweigert said he appreciated the privilege of representing the district and said he felt honored at having been chosen to serve as President Pro Tem of the Senate and Acting Lieutenant Governor.

"Since Gov. William Milliken moved up from lieutenant governor, it has been a privilege for me to have filled in for him at many functions and I have thoroughly enjoyed the experience," said Sen. Schweigert, "I have had an opportunity to meet with people from all corners of the state and I have been enriched by the experience."

Check lane is now open

The Michigan State Police Vehicle-Driver Check Lane began its 1970 operation in the Seventh District March 30. Sergeant Vaughn Blake of the Petoskey Post announced today. The Seventh District includes the northern portion of the lower peninsula. The check-lane is operated by command personnel and troopers who are specially trained in vehicle inspection.

During the winter months the check-lane team is occupied with school bus inspections.

Vehicle inspection by the Michigan State Police started in the spring of 1967 when the State Legislature passed a statute requiring the Director of that department to inspect vehicles for defects. The act also permits other police departments to operate a check-lane under Michigan State Police direction.

According to Sergeant Blake, the check-lane teams inspected 125,000 vehicals in Michigan last year as well as 10,000 Michigan school buses.

The vehicle-driver check-lane team, besides inspecting the vehicle for dangerous defects, check operator licenses and registrations and insurance papers for the vehicle.

If a vehicle is found to meet statutory requirements a sticker is issued. Should a vehicle fail to meet the standards, a recheck can be performed at the local Michigan State Police post within a seven-day period. Traffic summons are issued for those defects found to be especially dangerous or those that show a negligence by the owner.

Ruppe Reports

"Will income guarantees under President Nixon's Welfare Plan damage work incentive?"

The House Ways and Means Committee has recently approved President Nixon's proposals for welfare reform. While I do not agree with every aspect of the President's plan, the present welfare system is inefficient and ineffective, and a new approach for handling the poor is urgently needed.

At the heart of President Nixon's Welfare reform is the Family Assistance Plan which would provide a basic income for all parents who cannot adequately support their families. Under the plan, all employable persons accepting Federal welfare payments must register for work or job training and are required to accept that work or training, provided suitable jobs are available. President Nixon said that "adequate and convenient day care would be provided preschool children wherever necessary to enable a parent to train or work."

A recent experiment which involved giving guaranteed incomes to various working-poor families, was carried out in certain sections of the country. Chosen families were offered income guarantees varing from 50 percent to 125 percent of the $3,300 poverty level for families of four. Payments were reduced if recipients decided to add to this guarantee by working. Although many of the families could have managed on the benefits they were getting, it turned out that 53 percent of the families earned more through their own efforts after the guarantees began than they had previously; only 29 percent earned less. From these statistics it was apparent that a substantial number of families were encouraged by the program and were eager to work toward complete self-support.

The results of this experiment do not necessarily insure the success of President Nixon's Welfare Plan. But to me, they are encouraging. I intend to study the new Welfare Plan very carefully.

Library Notes

The Charlevoix Library is particularly pleased this week to announce a very special and distinguished exhibit of wild bird plaques created and handcrafted by Fred Looze, a long-time resident of Charlevoix.

Looze has generously loaned several examples of his marquetry art, and patrons are urged to visit the Library during the next week to view this unusually fine exhibit.

The pictures, made of 1/28 vaneer on a plywood backing, feature a variety of woods for the intricate designs including Harewood, holly, rosewood, walnut, popular burl, green poplar, black cherry, ebony from Africa, tamo from Japan and French walnut.

The collection loaned to the Library include a pair of chickadees, a screech owl, flying ducks and a handsome pair of American eagles.

The Library would also like to mention the series of articles currently running in Saturday Review on Environment, Ecology and Pollution. The April 4th issue and te two previous issues of this important national magazine should be required reading for every high school student and every American citizen. "The food from the Sea Myth" is only one of the vital issues discussed in this series. "How to get Nowhere" is another thought-provoking article which deserves everyone's attention.

"Pollution Crackdown Hits Industry" in the April 6 issue of U.S. News will be of special interest to those who wish to be enlightened about the critically grave problem facing the earth populotion today and tomorrow.

On April 22, over 1,000 colleges and universities across the country will observe Earth Day with teach-ins, panels of speakers, seminars, film screenings and exhibits, all dealing with the environment crisis. In addition to the activity spotlighting the environmental movement on college campuses, over 3,000 high schools will participate in teach-in programs on April 22.

Almost all current periodicals are devoting space to this troubling issue, and the Library will have additional copies of these important issues available for all interested patrons.

Card party Wednesday

An all Games Card Party sponsored by The Episcopal Church Women will be held at Christ Episcopal Church Wednesday, April, 8, at 8 p.m.

Men and women are invited to play card games of their choice and enjoy desert. Table and door prizes will be awarded.

Think you can't afford an Olds? Here are two reasons to think again!

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Cutlass S: The sporty Olds—priced right down with the low-priced names. Included as standard equipment: Recessed wipers. Hidden antenna. Deluxe steering wheel. Wall-to-wall carpeting. Door side-guard beams. Flo-Thru Ventilation. Rocket V-8. Bias-belted tires. Foam-padded seats.

Delta 88: The big Olds with the surprisingly modest price. Included in that price: Power steering. Power front disc brakes. Regular-gas Rocket V-8. Bigger 124-inch wheelbase for a smoother, quieter ride. All the room and comfort and luxury you could ever want.

Money Matters

"Bankers are to blame for inflation...high interest rates...tight money...high pricea...lack of mortgage money...credit squeeze on small business."

You hear these charges across the land...from friends and neighbors...in newspapers and magazines...on television and radio...in Washington and in state capitols.

These growing attacks on bankers are opening the way for those who would exploit public misunderstanding to promote more restrictions and limitations on banking. The survival and future growth of a dynamic and flexible banking system depends on what bankers do now to meet this challenge – the most critical facing the banking industry.

This challenge is to communicate more effectively with you our customers so that you will know how banks serve you, the community and the nation. Otherwise, banks will go on losing precious ground while its opponents continue to capitalize on the public's lack of knowledge and its apathy.

Below are a series of timely questions I have heard and you yourself have probably asked.

Question: Why is Money Expensive Now?

Answer: Interest rates are the price of money, and like any other price they are set by supply and demand. Right now the demand for money is heavy, because people fear that prices will continue to rise, and they want to spend now before things cost even more. Meanwhile, the supply of money has been restricted by the Federal reserve to stop spending and slow inflation. This makes interest rates high.

Question: What is the Prime Rate?

Answer: The prime rate is the lowest rate charged best-credit companies when they borrow from a bank. It is used as the basis form which other rates are determined.

Generally the prime rate moves up or down at most banks at about the same time, and this makes many people think the banks get together to change the prime rate. This is not the case. What happens is that when the leader changes the prime rate, and this change is economically justified, other banks go along and change their rate too. Money is a national commodity and if one bank has too high a rate, its large customers may well switch to other banks that have the lower rate. Similarly, if the rate is increased and this is economically justified by supply and demand, other banks will also raise their rates, or else the ones that do not raise their rates will be swamped with demands for loans.

Sometimes a rate increase may not be justified. The customers of the bank find that other banks are anxious to make loans at the old rote, or they can borrow elsewhere at lower rates. In such a case the bank that raised the rate merely has no choice but to lower its rate again to the justifiable level. For in the long run it is supply and demand for money that determines what the prime rate will be not the desires of individual banks.

Chester Drenth, after a 7 hour delay in California, waiting for a plane and a 4 hour delay in Detroit, was happy to land in Traverse City at noon Sunday, where his wife Marlene was waiting for him. Chet served with the Army 2 years and being at Okinawa the past 16 months and will receive his discharge from the service soon. A welcome home dinner for the close relatives was held at Marlene's folks Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wynsma Sunday noon. A supper for further relotives was held Monday evening at the American Legion Hall.

The old and new member of the village council and their wives enjoyed a shrimp and chicken supper in a private dining room at the Argonne in Charlevoix Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heeres and children left early Friday for Kalamazoo, where his mother, Mrs. Maggie Heeres, will visit her son John and family this week. They were overnight and Saturday visitors with their son Vernon and wife at Grand Haven returning home again Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wynsma sr., left Tuesday of last week to visit relatives a few days in the south, returning home Friday. Their daughter, Betty and Carol Vanden Berg of Hope College, Holland, returned with them for their Easter vacation. Mrs. Blanch Parsons accompanied them to visit in Grand Rapids and her husband Lloyd Parsons left Sunday to visit a few days and bring her back ogain.

Mrs. Dessie Farrell was a guest Sunday of her granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sowalski of Charlevoix. The latters folks, Mr. and Mrs. Don Farrell of Norwood were guests also. In the evening Mrs. Farrell accompanied her sister, Mrs. Anna Henry to the Baptist Church where a birthday reception was given after the service for Mrs. Henry's 84th birthday. Also attending the party from here were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bolhuis, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burns and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Groenink.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Drenth and family of Grand Rapids and Ken Drenth and friend were Easter vacation visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit John Drenth.

Visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hastinga, over the long Easter weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Newhouse and children from Kalamazoo. They left again Tuesday.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper and his sisters were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cooper of Grand Rapids.

The Harold Petter family and the Glen Woodcock family, both of Traverse City, were Sunday dinner guests of their folks, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Orcutt. Other guests were Mrs. Orcutt'a brother Edward Martinson from Elk Rapids and his son Michael and wife from Muskegon Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Rushton of Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rushton and 4 children of Flint spent Saturday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper.

Schools resumed Tuesday after having a 3 school day Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kooyer of Fruitport are visiting his folks the John Kooyers and were Sunday morning lunch guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kooyer.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) My only income last year was from a summer job between semesters at college. To get a refund, can I just send in my W-2 or do I have to fill out a whole tax form?

A) You must file a tax return to obtain any refund due. Copies of Form 1040 and instructions are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices if you did not receive one in the mail. If you read the instructions, you should have little difficulty completing your return.

Q) What's the tax difference between alimony and child support payments?

A) Alimony is considered taxable income to the recipient and has to be reported. Alimony payments are allowed as a tax deduction for payers who itemize.

Child support payments on the other hand are not taxable and do not have to be reported for tax purposes. No deduction is allowed for these payments, but they might be a factor in determining who can claim the child as dependent.

Divorce or separation agreements usually specify whether a payment is alimony or for child support.

Q) My brother and I each contribute 1/3 the support of our grandfather, he furnishes the remainder of his support from his Social Security. Can either of us claim him as a dependent?

A) The support test for claiming your grandfather as a dependent has been met since each of you contributes over 10 percent of his total support and the sum of your contributions was over half of his support.

When this and the other dependency support tests are met, then either of you, but not both, may claim your grandfather as an exemption. The person not claiming the exemption should complete Form 2120, Multiple Support Declaration, which should be filed with the return of the one claiming the exemption. Form 2120 can be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q) I lost the forms needed to deposit taxes withheld from my employee's wages. Where can I get more?

A) Write to either your IRS district office or the service center where you file your returns. Give your business name and address, and employer identification number. Be sure to indicate the type of tax and the taxable period for which you need the Federal Tax Deposit forms.

Q) I drive over 40 miles a day going back and forth to work. Can I take a mileage deduction for this?

A) No, commuting is a personal expense under our tax laws and not deductible. However, you can deduct the state gas tax you pay as a result of your driving.

A table to help you figure this deduction is in the 1040 tax package on Page A-1. The deduction is based on the gas tax rate in your state and the number of miles you drive.

Q) I'm claiming a deduction for the braces my daughter needs to straighten her teeth. Should I send in the dental bills I've paid with my return?

A) No, but keep them for your tax records. They will be needed if this item on your return is questioned.

Q) Are tips considered taxable?

A) Yes, and they must be included in gross income. Also, cash tips of $20 or more that you receive in a month while working for any one employer should be reported to that employer. This will enable your employer to withhold Social Security and income tax on tips from your salary.

Q) The address shown on the label that came with my return is wrong. Should I correct it?

A) Yes, make the change right on the label and send it back on the return you file so that IRS records can be corrected.

Q) I have two sources of income, a regular job and part-time work for myself. Do I have to pay both social security and self-employment tax?

A) It depends on the amount of your wages. The maximum amount of income subject to social security and/or self-employment tax is $7,800. If your wages reached that total, then no self-employment tax has to be paid.

If your wages were under $7,800, then you should pay self-employment tax on part or all of your earnings from self-employment but only if your net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more. Remember the combined total subject to social security and self-employment tax is $7,800.

Q) I'm itemizing deductions. Can I deduct the service charges I pay in installment purchases?

A) The interest portion of service or finance charges is deductible. If this amount is not stated separately, you may deduct the lesser of an amount equal to six percent of the average monthly unpaid balance or the actual charge for the year.

Pat's Reaction

I Pledge Allegiance

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party, or to the country as the case may be, for this is the season when the government really takes a special interest in each one of us.

Uncle Sam wants income taxes, state taxes, and license plate fees all at this time of the year, and the law abiding citizen had better hustle out and take care of all of these perplexing little problems or incur the wrath of Uncle Sam and his army of computers.

Personally I dread income tax time. That's because I have to figure out what I've done with all of the money that I received last year. Not much, is the sad conclusion that I generally reach. At the end of at least a day of computing and analyzing I always come to the same conclusion. How could so many dollars absolutely escape me and leave no trace? They weren't spent for groceries, housing or clothes so what happened to them?

Of course if I could find all of those prescription receipts that I've tucked around the house I might be in better shape, but I never can find those until about April 20, when they show up tucked in the photograph album, stuck in an old cook book or fallen behind the breadbox.

Every year it's the same promise; next year I really will keep accurate house records and budget every penny.

Added to the income tax this year is the government's demand for census information which we received on Saturday and had to have ready for pick-up five short days later. I suppose that the census board's reasoning is that if we peasants let those precious papers hang around any longer we'll spill gravy on them or wrap garbage in them.

Frankly I only got the short census form but I felt as though Big Brother were watching right over my shoulder when I filled in all of those little computer dots with sharp black pencil. The questions were so detailed that I thought that I'd received the long form until I talked with a census board member.

Now I ask you, just why would the government possibly care whether or not I have a flush toilet in my house? If I answer "No" will my Uncle Sam come out and install a toilet, or will some computer just punch a hole in a card that signifies "tough luck."

And do I have to admit that an indigent brother and a lunatic aunt live here too? Who cares but me? If the government does find out that I need help, do you think that they'll do anything to help me? Just what are my chances of getting rid of that crazy aunt or lazy brother? Not much, I'll bet. The government just wants to know. Heil to you, Big Brother.

And I always seem to have such a hard time getting my new license plates each year. Do you suppose that our family left that vehicle certificate of ownership with the Canadian customs official last September? It's nowhere to be found around the house.

We poor law abiding citizens struggle over these details while car thieves seem to be prospering. What's their secret? I read recently that a ring of car thieves stole new luxury cars, stripped them, bought the same cars back at junk yards, put in all of the original equipment and then sold these cars for a fat profit. Now I wonder, how did they get their new licenses?

Oh my gosh! Look at the calendar, it's already April 6, and I still haven't bought a new dog license. I'd better get one quick before Freckles gets locked in the pound. The police will probably paw print him and then our whole family will forever be a part of the computerized FBI file.

Help, Big Brother! Let me go!

Last minute rush for license plates surprisingly did not materialize at the Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office last Tuesday. Apparently, most residents beat the final day by purchasing their plates early. Above, Mrs. James Marshall, seated, has three license plate customers in her office.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

The Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce will have their regular meeting Tuesday evening, April 7, 7:30 p.m. here at the Chamber office.

It appears to me if the Lakeside Hobbycraft Show is to click successfully, I understand there must be at least two volunteer husband and wife teams or four persons otherwise to act on the committee.

It is hoped that some of you readers will participate for this cause. Any of you interested, stop by the C of C office as early as possible. This event started, as you know, last year the second Saturday in July and it was agreed to continue the second Saturday of July thereafter. Therefore, this year the date is July 11.

As already publicized, there is an effort being made to have a commercial airline in and out of our Charlevoix Airport, namely Trans-Michigan Airline. We met with these people on a number of occasions and it appears to me they are quite interested in having this service, which would mean so much to our area. There is a detailed procedure involved and it is time consuming. Along with what has already been established, I urge that you good people for another betterment for Charlevoix, to write a letter of appeal to Tom Hanna, City Superintendent or Mayor William Fochtman, City Hall, Charlevoix 49720. Thank you.

ATTENTION: Lodging places, miscellaneous service establishments, retail businesses, industries, etc., all of whom are potential summer employers to absorb qualified students who are seeking summer employment. Some need extra dollars to further their education and some, of course, want work of one kind or another merely to live in Charlevoix-The-Beautiful a few months. Be advised that already I have about fifty applications and before many weeks pass I will have considerably more. Remember, contact the CC of C if the need be.

I read recently with interest that the Chamber of Commerce at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, was organized in 1888 and they are challenging, hoping to find out whether or not there is a chamber with an earlier date of organization. Incidentally, the Sault Chamber is a hard working group who enjoy splendid cooperation.

I have a factual bulletin before me from the Michigan state Chamber of Commerce, quite interesting. I note the Grand Haven, Spring Lake, and Ferrysburg Chamber of Commerce—population of 22,000 persons—they support a $35,000 budget. How nice! That's over $1 per persons, average.

Something Management Didn't Say. "No wage is too high if the worker earns it. Five cents an hour is too high if the worker does not earn it." Henry Wallace.

America by the Numbers. "Listing our national assets, Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans points out that we have 203,000,000 Americans who: Live on three percent of the earth's surface. Produce nearly one trillion dollars in goods and services. Earn $756 billion. Spend more than half a trillion dollars, $3 billion of it on recreation and leisure. Save $33 billion. Drive 100 million cars. Watch 75 million television sets."

I have an interesting little booklet from Pan American Airways (Pan Am) entitled "An Airport Can Be Beautiful." You are welcome to read it.

There for a while membership or contributions were received quite regularly. This assisted considerable in caring for fixed expenses as they became due, a couple of smaller payments on carried over obligations and some necessary paper stock and other supplies, printing, etc. I have three reports to execute covering certain taxes to be paid by April 15 and five events that we are involved in. Therefore, it is hoped there will be another group of checks flowing in to keep this function going. Thanks a million.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Ruhl Metzger left last Monday for a visit with relatives in Manitowoc, Wisc. They were accompanied by their daughter, Candy and their sons, Charles and Richard, the latter a student at Michigan Tech.

Mrs. W.H. Brady and family visited recently with relatives in Grand Fork, N.D.

Program set for doctors

Because doctors find it increasingly difficult to leave their offices, the Michigan State Medical Society will bring a postgraduate educational program into the northern Michigan tip in May.

"It is imperative that physicians keep up to date on the many new developments, so the Medical Society has scheduled 16 such programs this spring," explains Robert J. Mason, M.D., Birmingham, president of the Medical Society. Another series of fall programs are presented across the state in addition to several conferences held throughout the year in larger communities.

Cooperating to offer the various programs are the county medical societies, the medical schools, and the state health department.

The complete list of Lower Peninsula programs and their dates is as follows: Alpena, April 9, 4 p.m.-Battle Creek, May 5, 3 p.m.-Cadillac, May 21, 3:30 p.m.-Grand Haven, April 10, 4 p.m.-Grayling, May 6, 4 p.m.- Howell, May 13, 4 p.m.-Midland, May 14, 2 p.m.-Muskegon, May 20, 1:30 p.m.-Petoskey, May 21, 4 p.m.-St. Joseph, May 26, 3:30 p.m.

Locals

Mrs. Versal Seymour left recently for Simi, Calif., for a two weeks visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Hardy and family.

Ronald Ebenhoe and John Ozga spent the Easter weekend with relatives in Manitowoc, Wisc.

In one of the most significant votes so far in this legislative session, the House adopted a sweeping substitute school aid plan this week. The measure is dubbed "the Spencer Plan" after its author. Basically, it seeks to shift the primary burden of local school financing from property taxes to income taxes. The proponents contend that the measure combines a maximum of equity and adequacy in financing, with complete retention of local authority in education.

The action take by the House substituted the Spencer play for the Senate-approved school aid program, which was based on Governor Milliken's proposals. The House substitute forsees total school spending (general fund and earmarked funds) of about $1.2 billion for 1970-71. During the present fiscal year the spending level is approximately $850 million. Governor Milliken had proposed boosting that to about $950 million, which is a substantial increase in itself.

According to Davis, the obvious question is, how will the school aid level be funded? A companion bill proposes a radical shift in our taxation system. It could cut local school millages to 10 mills (state average now 24 mills). To complete its local school millages to 10 mills (state average now 24 mills). To complete its local financing responsibilities, each school district would have the option of imposing more property tax above the required 10 mills, or a local school income tax of up to 2 percent. The choice could be made by voters in each school district.

"Under either alternative," said Rep. Davis, "the State would guarantee the yield of the local taxes. This would give all districts equal funds for equal taxing effort, thus eliminating the most obvious inequity under the present financing system."

"Guaranteeing the yield would naturally increase state school aid costs. The primary means of meeting these increased costs would be to raise the state personal income tax almost 1 percent from 2.6 percent to 3.5 percent and the corporate income tax from 5.6 percent to 7.7 percent. Much of these increases, of course, would be offset by cutting most property taxes by better than 50 percent.

"However," added Rep. Davis, "if the Legislature adopts this proposal it will mean higher tax revenues to the state. The proponents of the Spencer plan believe that Michigan citizens are willing to accept a tax increase if, for the first time, the tax system is made equitable and everyone pays his fair share. They point out, and rightfully so, that at the present time it is the homeowners who are carrying by far the greater burden in supporting schools."

"The decision to adopt the Spencer plan is only tentative, as of now. It still must pass the test of final consideration in the House and, if approved there, a conference with Senators to reconcile differences between the two chambers. Implementation of the spending level contemplated also depends on whether the Legislature adopts the companion tax revision package."

"The arguments in favor of the Spencer plan are compelling ones," said Rep. Davis. "Equity and property tax relief in the taxation system, fairness in the allocation of funds to all school districts, and better overall financing of education. However, as I have pointed out, these seemingly impressive results would cost more money. This issue is far from settled. I would very much appreciate hearing from the citizens of my area on the proposals I have tried to explain in this respect. Please address all correspondence on this matter to me at the State Capitol Bldg. in Lansing."

Schweigert's decision

State Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert's decision last week not to run for re-election in the 37th senatorial district was scarely much of a surprise to area Republicans. For some time there has been talk that the senator was moving on to something else and all Schweigert did last Wednesday was make it official.

Although his plans are indefinite, Schweigert says he may be a candidate for the lieutenant governor's job or accept a federal appointment.

We would like to keep Schweigert in Michigan as lieutenant governor, but it isn't likely that the GOP hierarchy would go along with such a plan simply for geographical reasons. Since Gov. William Milliken is from Traverse City — another "north woods" community—his running mate ideally should come from one of the metropolitan areas downstate.

None-the-less, Schweigert's decision not to run again as senator has added considerable fuel to the fires of speculation over his possible successor.

And "Senator Tom" won't be an easy man to replace. A forester by profession Schweigert was "tailor made," to speak, to represent northern Michigan in the Lansing. And we were represented in the Senate during the last ten years as we have never been represented before, with thorough, devoted and responsive service.

That is why finding the right successor to Schweigert is so important. After so many years of red carpet treatment, it would be difficult to settle for anything less.

At least two candidates already have announced for Schweigert's seat and a third is known to be interested.

The announced candidates are Rep. Robert W. Davis of St. Ignace and Frank F. Heselton of Sault Ste. Marie a former president of the Michigan Association of School Boards. Rep. Joseph Swallow of Alpena also is reportedly interested in the race.

Davis, who has worked closely with Schweigert for the past four years, probably has the inside track to date but the task of finding a replacement for him in the House looms almost as large as finding one for Schweigert in the Senate.

Davis admits that he will have "some big shoes to fill" in attempting to follow Schweigert, but after two terms in the House, he too feels it is time to move on.

So there are developments afoot in northern Michigan politics which should make for an interesting summer and fall. (B.C.)

Kuhn was fair

Although some sports fans are ready to throw pop bottles at Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for his decision to suspend Tiger pitcher Denny McLain for only three months for his gambling connections, we believe the penalty meted out by the baseball czar is fair to both McLain and his teammates.

Kuhn said he decided on the relatively light penalty because McLain was a mere dupe of the Flint gambling syndicate, not a part of it, as McLain himself believed.

In short, he was the victim of a "confidence scheme."

Of course, any professional — or even amateur — figure in the world of sports should have more common sense than to get involved with gamblers. However, common sense, never has been a necessary pre-requisite for pitching no-hitters, as McLain has proven.

As it is, McLain has suffered the humiliation of being caught. And every game the Tigers play without him between now and July 1 will be sheer murder. After all, baseball is McLain's life.

McLain made a mistake — a bad one — and he'll continue to pay for it long after he returns to the mound.

That's why we feel the critics who are still crying blood are far off base.

Will all those who have never committed an error of judgement please stand up? (B.C.)

Our weather

Winter is an old man to take forever to put on his coat and hat and get out of the front door.

Although it is April by the calendar, there was still enough ice in Charlevoix Harbor last Wednesday to trap the Medusa Challenger and hold her captive for 24 hours, before an east wind split the ice and opened a channel into the Medusa slip.

It was frustrating experience for Capt. Edwin McCann and his crew, many of whom come from Charlevoix. The Challenger was less than a mile off shore and the lights of home were within easy view. But for all practical purposes, the big cement carrier might just as well have been marooned on Skilagalee.

And although we have missed the big snow storms which have hit just south of here, the thermometer can't seem to make it above the low 30's, no matter how brightly the sun shines.

The ski areas are doing a brisk business, with unusually large Easter Week crowds because of the early holiday.

The calendar keeps telling us it's, April, but no one listens. (B.C.)

Welcome Wagon

It's is time to turn the tables and say "Welcome to the Welcome Wagon."

That international organization now has a representative in Charlevoix in the person of Mrs. Hubert William (Bill) Brady of North Point.

Mrs. Brady will extend the hand of friendship to newcomers, brides-to-be and young mothers.

Her stock-in-trade will be gifts from city merchants and a wealth of information about what the city, the county and the school district have to offer in the way of services.

Her goal is to let folks know that most of their wants and needs can be met right here at home.

Although she is a member of an old Charlevoix family, Mrs. Brady is a relative newcomer to the city herself and knows how valuable such information and assistance can be to strangers in a new community.

We wish her well as hostess of the Charlevoix Welcome Wagon. (B.C.)

'Good guys' turn bad

From those without human voices — to Sportsmen, Hunters, Naturalists:

Humans have taken over and so changed the earth's surface, the condition of the waters, and the atmosphere over both; that our wildlife of plants, birds, and aimals have limited living space available, and even a more limited favorable habitat in which to survive. Many of us fail to observe and study the outdoor areas about us carefully enough to realize that a large part of our private and public lands come close to being a biological desert!

Such a situation results in limited numbers of wildlife that can live healthily, be supported or survive in these restricted habitat areas. Therefore in their multiple use, humans must limit their take or removal of these wildlife resources.

Second, some of us enjoy hunting with a camera and fieldglasses, as well as with a gun or bow and arrow. We need a cooperative program of mutual concern in the wise use of our natural and human resources.

Further, some disastrous current happening to our wildlife resources has developed with the introduction and distructive use of snowmobiles in our fields and forests. Understand, that we here in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, with an average snow cover of three and four feet of snow on the level, welcome the constructive use of snowmobiles during the winter months. These machines are a boon and an invaluable aid to workers on power and telephone lines, wood's workers, first aid and even ambulance services. But some positive legal regulations on the use of snowmobiles is too long over due!

As examples, perhaps just careless thoughtlessness, if not criminal action—these snowmobiles driving their noisy machines into the woods, deer yards, swamp cover, etc. and chasing deer out of their protective cover, only to be run down and then pulling a snow machine along side of an exhausted struggling deer, with bleeding legs cut by ice crusted snow, only to "pat and pet the nice deer!" You name 'em!

Our using snowmobiles to isolate a fox or coyote in a big open field and racing after these bewildered animals until they are exhausted and no longer able to run for their lives, to be overtaken by the snowmobile operators "who dash up and close their gallant episode" by clubbing these animals to death for the mere "fun of killing!" Do you need more?

Yes, we have a few of these vandal characters in the Upper Peninsula; but on January 28-29, 1970, more than 5,000 motor vehicles crossed the "Big Mac" into the U.P. and over half of these were carrying or pulling one, two or more snowmobiles; and in this 2,500-3,000 week-enders from lower Michigan were a full share of "Nature Vandals!"

Sometimes normal individuals - "good guys" - at home; a hundred or two miles away become destructive demons! What do you, we supposedly good citizens propose to do?

Sincerely,
Milton E. Scherer

Mortgage Money

All over the country these days, you hear that people can't find money to buy houses. Mortgages simply aren't available. Or when they are, the rates are awfully high. Why has this happened? Where did the money go?

The answers are not that complicated. The great bulk of the money that finds its way into home mortgages—about eight out of every ten dollars—comes from mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations (S & L's) and commercial banks. But many people haven't been "putting their money in the bank." Instead, they've been using the money they normally save to buy U.S. Treasury bills and other kinds of securities that pay 7-8 percent and more, against the 5-6 percent savings institutions are permitted to pay.

Those who did so were helping the process of what's called "disintermediation." This is a ponderous word for taking money out of the regulated organizations through which mortgage money usually flows to the housing market and putting it in the free market where it can earn more interest.

The figures are astronomical. In 1969 when the Federal Reserve Board was pushing up interest rates, people put $10 billion less into commercial bank savings accounts than they did the year before. In 1969, they put almost half as much in S & L's as they had in 1968.

In the fourth quarter of last year, people actually withdrew about $500 million compared with the previous year when they had added more than $7 billion to their accounts in savings institutions.

I couldn't tattle on Dick

When I was a little boy, one of the worst things a kid could be was a tattletale.

If my Dad threatened to burn my entire collection of comic books, I still wouldn't tell him who helped me swipe them from the drugstore. Nobody wanted to be a squealer, a stool pigeon, a fink.

Of course, no publisher ever offered me $50,000 to write a book about how Dick Johnson, the minister's son, was the lookout while I stuffed Superman comics under my baggiest sweater.

I wonder if I would have sold out? Perhaps the price of my young integrity was 10 cents for a Saturday afternoon movie. Lord knows, a baby-faced shoplifter doesn't need help carrying his scruples. But still, I like to think I would have remained silent no matter how grand a bribe was offered.

Dick Johnson was my best buddy. We told each other things we'd never tell anyone else. Until I confessed to my wife 20 years later, Dick was the only soul on earth who knew I was once in love with Betty Grable and had seen I of her movies 17 times. ("Down Argentina Way" costarring Alice Faye, who was a little too fat, and Don Ameche).

I couldn't possibly tattle on Dick. No more than Tonto could knife the Lone Ranger. Gosh, we had a hidden cave in a riverbank where we spent long hours hiding from the world. The cave was a tight fit and I had to exhale when he inhaled. How could I rat on anyone that close to me?

That's the code I grew up with. A gentleman simply doesn't fink on his friends. But the code sure feels uncomfortable and old-fashioned today.

Today, Detroit Tiger Bill Freehan writes a book full of lockerroom secrets about his Detroit teammates. Sam Johnson writes a book revealing private momenta in the life of his brother, Lyndon. A member of the Chicago 7 jury writes newspaper articles telling everything that went on in the once-sacred jury room.

And everyone who was ever close to John and Jackie Kennedy writes a book giving such historically important information as how much she spent on shoes and how angry he got about it.

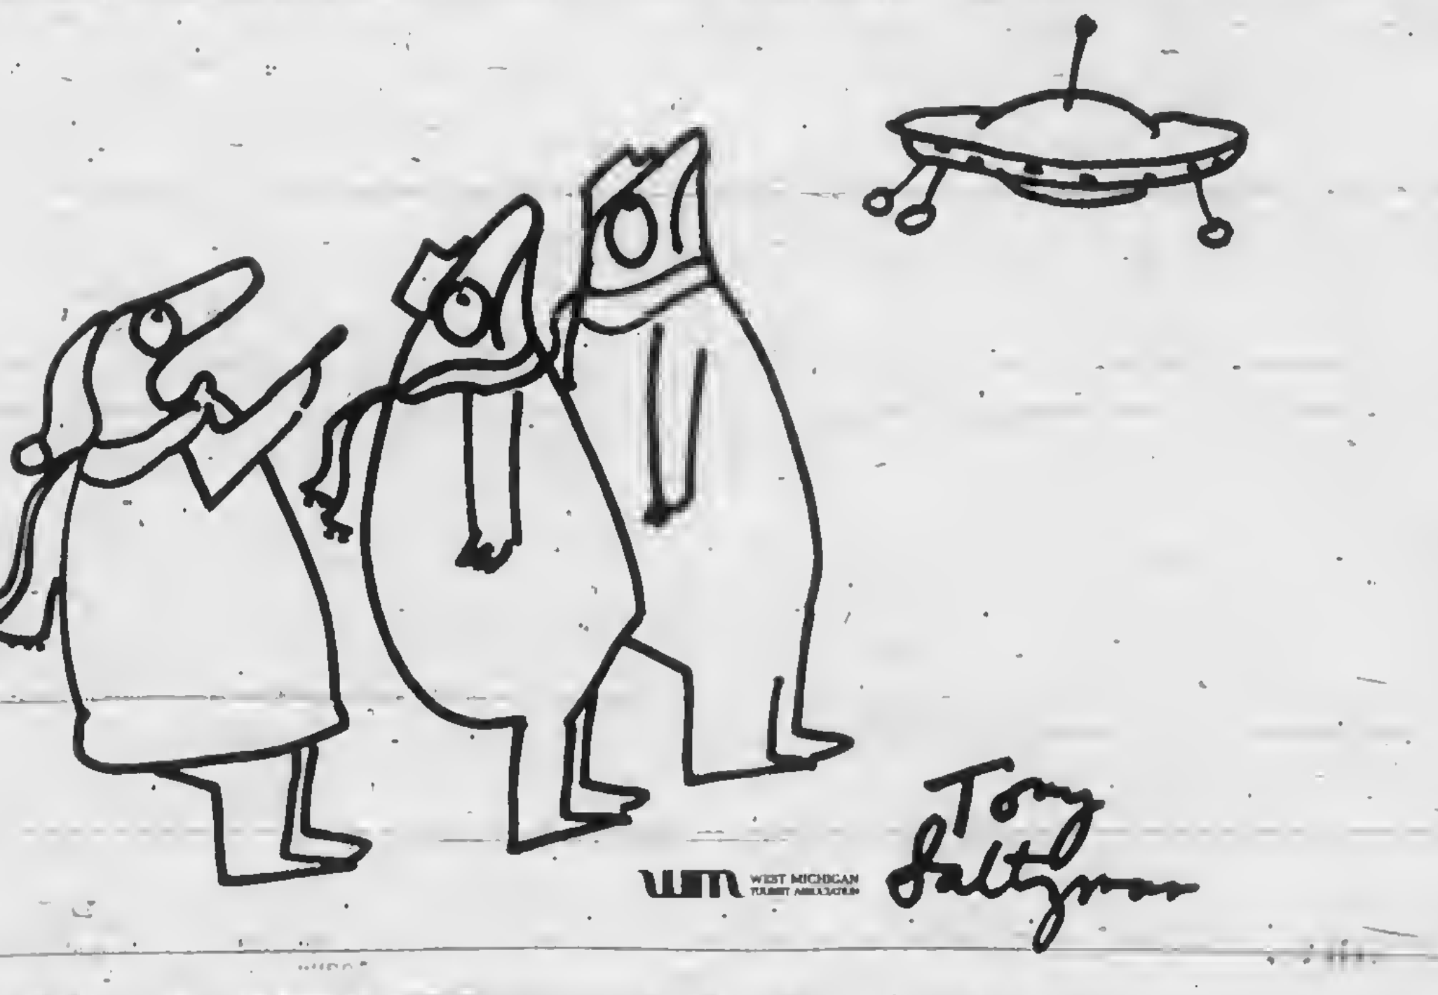
The world is full of tattletales, all doing their thing for a buck. Maybe it's ok, Certainly, this finking if what a lot of people want. Publishers wouldn't print "sensational, behind-the-scene" nonsense if there weren't a panting public eager to buy every word.

The tattlers always say they did it because "it's history" and "the public has a right to know" and all that crud. I wish just one squealer would honestly admit he sold out for money, the heck with loyalty. I can understand greed and it doesn't make me throw up as quickly as phoniness.

As a professional writer, maybe I should be expected to violate confidences – particularly when a stab-in-the-back might improve readership and put more bread in my box. But it was several years ago that I did considerable soul - searching and bookkeeping and discovered this marvelous fact: I can already afford more hangovers than I want to live through.

And a drink – or anything else – is 200 percent better shared with a friend who trusts you.

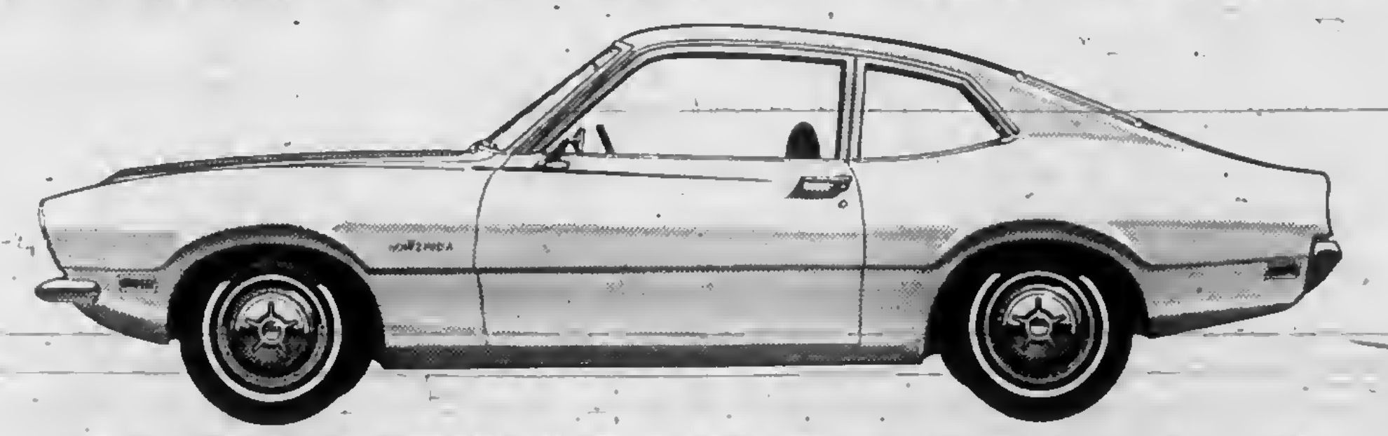
Heck, Dick Johnson wasn't even his real name.



"Whoever they are, be friendly. We want all tourists in Michigan to feel welcome."

MAVERICK. $1995*...it's a little gas.

*Ford's suggested retail price for the base Maverick model. White sidewall tires are not included, they are $30 extra. Since dealer preparation charges (if any), transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included, nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.



Our little Maverick is America's best selling small car. The reason is simple—solid value. Maverick is simple to drive. Turn on the engine and you turn loose the power of 105 horses. Yet Maverick rivals the economy imports in gas mileage. Simple to park. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle than the leading import. Simple to service. Maverick requires fewer oil changes, fewer chassis lubrications. You save time and money. Simple to repair. The Maverick Owner's Manual has 24 pages of instruction for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself. Simple to own. Save right from the start—the Simple Machine is your Ford Dealer's lowest priced car.

For a little more...it's a GRABBER!

The new Maverick Grabber has all the same features as our Simple Machine but we've added an extra sporty flare to it. Here's what Grabber gives you: ① Racy bodyside tape stripes, choice of five hot Grabber colors, 14-in. whitewall tires and wheel trim rings. High excitement, yes. High price, no. ② 200 CID Six and 3-speed fully synchronized manual transmission. Lots of pep, but not hard to tune. Grabber adds to your fun, not your mechanical problems. ③ Dual racing mirrors. But no high "muscle car" insurance rates. ④ Three-spoke woodgrained steering wheel just like the racing cars. But no hard, stiff ride. Grabber's sprung for comfort, not for the track. ⑤ Black-painted hood and grille. Grabber puts on a great front, but maintenance costs are low. Service is fast and simple. With lots you can do yourself. ⑥ Rear deck-lid spoiler. Even an economy car can dream, can't it?

'Wait 10 weeks'-IRS

Ten weeks from the date a Federal income tax return calling for a refund is mailed, the taxpayer should have either his check or a letter explaining why it is held up, Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan said today.

A taxpayer who has not heard about his refund should, therefore, wait ten weeks before writing IRS. Most taxpayers will find their inquiry unnecessary if they wait this long, Mr. Cardoza said.

Millions of tax returns are handled every filing season at the Central Service Center which serves Michigan taxpayers. That many returns makes it practically impossible to locate a particular return and to answer any question about it until processing cycles are complete.

If it does become necessary to write, the taxpayer should indicate where and when he filed his return and give his name, address and Social Security number, Cardoza said.

Our cold weather put a damper on the Maple Syrup industry, but it will soon have Ivan Parsons and others on the jump again gathering sap from the sugar maples for this most interesting spring work.

Did you know that all of the beginning of this was learned from the Indians in the New England States around 1670 and it was followed up in other states with sugar maple forests?

As the story goes, the Indians slashed the tree trunk with their Tomahawks inserted a hollow reed and collected the dripping sap in a bark trough. They boiled the sap down by dropping red hot stones into the trough.

Legend has it that the Indians discovered syrup when a squaw boiled her braves moosemeat in the sweet water dripping from a maple tree, the sap turned to syrup and her brave was overjoyed with the results. The Indians also believed that when the world was new, syrup flowed, ready made, from the trees. But the Great Spirit decided something so sweet, should not come so easy, and maple sugaring has been hard work ever since.

A tree must be at least forty years old and a foot through and about sixty feet high before it is mature enough for tapping.

When the weather is right, warm days and freezing nights, the sap rises in the tree and some drips through the inserted spout into the bucket. It takes forty gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup and what delicious things we can make with this one gallon of syrup and what delicious things we can make with this wonderful Maple Syrup. But the thing ends until another year, when the First Frogs sing in April.

Impala '400' Sale.

You save when you buy it. You save when you drive it.

When you buy any Impala V8 model during our "400" Sale, here's how you can get two popular extras at no extra charge.

You order your Impala equipped with a Turbo Hydra-matic transmission, radio, Comfortilt steering wheel, front and rear bumper guards and white stripe tires. Items you'd probably order anyway.

Then we add our big 400-cubic-inch V8 at 265 hp that runs on regular gas, along with dual exhausts—both at no charge. (The manufacturer's suggested retail price including Federal excise tax for the regular fuel 400 V8 and dual exhausts is $93.75.)

But that's only the beginning. Because your Chevrolet dealer is really anxious to deal these days.

And the Impala you're buying, of course, got to be America's No. 1 car, because of all the value features built right in. Features like flush-and-dry rocker panels that fight rust. Inner fenders to protect the outer fenders. Long lasting bias belted ply tires, steel guard beams in every door for added protection, an acrylic lacquer finish over its solid Body by Fisher.

All of which contributes to Impala's traditionally high resale value, too.

You're getting America's No. 1 car on sale. The car more people buy—year after year after year.

How can you beat that?

In brief

3 students visit

Three high school students from Charlevoix visited Evangel College, Springfield, Missouri, for college days.

The students were Connie Drost, Chuck Elzinga and Sandy Way. They were accompanied by Jerry Drost.

Evangel College is a national four-year accredited college of arts and sciences of the Assemblies of God.

On dean's list

Four Charlevoix students have been named to the Dean's list at Central Michigan University.

They are Betty Klooster, Joyce Matchett, Cheryl Meier, and James Racignol.

All have maintained a B or better average for the fall semester at Central.

Attends symposium

H. Jack Geiken of the Clinical Research Center, Stanford Medical Center in California, attended the first International Symposium of the Socio-Medical Aspects of Organ Transplantation in Human Beings at Houston, Tex. recently.

Geiken read a paper on Basic Hospital Considerations in a Transplant Program and also served as moderator for a panel discussion of administration.

Geiken is the son of Mrs. Harold Geiken of Charlevoix.

License bureau moves to new location

The Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office has changed locations.

Mrs. James Marshall, branch manager, announced that the office is now located in Oleson's Shopping Center in the store formerly occupied by The Loft.

In addition, the offices of Charlevoix Secretarial Service owned and operated by Mrs. Marshall, are also housed in the new location.

Grass fire at Petoskey Avenue home of Glenn Rose last week brought firemen on the run. Damage from the fire was confined to backyards by firemen. Photo by Nancy Kady.

Health test

Tuberculin testing for Charlevoix area food handlers will be offered by the local Health Department on Thursday, April 23. The tests will be offered in the Health Department in the County Building, between 2 and 4 p.m. Persons who are at present, or anticipate being a food handler are urged to take advantage of this program. All persons handling food in restaurants are urged to have the test before they start work.

Schools get $$

State Representative Robert W. Davis has announced the amounts of the latest 1969-70 state school aid payments for schools in the 106th District, which he represents in the Michigan House.

Charlevoix School District is listed to receive $41,010 and Ellsworth $18,210.

Each payment is determined by a formula combining enrollment and state equalized property valuation in the school district, according to Rep. Davis.

City elections

A "no contest" vote last week, all incumbent city officials were re-elected without opposition.

Returned to office were Mayor William Fochtman, city clerk Hugh Mayne, treasurer Annabelle Cunningham, and aldermen Jack R. Mol, Nate Boss, and Conrad Klooster.

Ensemble concert April 23

The Northern Michigan University Wind Ensemble from Northern Michigan University at Marquette will give a concert Thursday, April 23 at 8 p.m. in the high school gym.

The band, under the direction of Dr. Lorin C. Richtmeyer, is on its annual Spring tour and will be performing a mixed program of fine band music, including contemporary music as well as light novelties and serious music.

The Wind Ensemble is a select group of 50 players selected from a field of approximately 120 musicians enrolled in the NMU music department.

The Ensemble joins an impressive list of performers that have come here to add to the musical enrichment of the community.

The public is invited to the concert.

Student in contest

David Hess, a senior at the Charlevoix high school, has been declared eligible to participate in the annual John S. Knight Scholarship contest open to students who have excelled in the field of debate and/or forensics his coach, Mrs. Constance Ford, has announced.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Hess, Jr., is the first local student to participate in the state-wide contest which this year will be held in Detroit April 16 and 17.

A member of the high school debate-forensics team here for two years, he has participated in inter-scholastic debate, extemporaneous speaking and serious interpretation. He became eligible for the Knight contest when he received high speaker points after three rounds of district debate competition.

To be eligible, a participant must also have an average or above average scholastic standing and be a senior ready to accept the scholarship next year. He has been accepted at Central Michigan University.

As a contestant, he must be prepared to speak on either side of the current debate question which relates to prohibiting United States uni-lateral military intervention. There will be three preliminary rounds with each finalist drawing two topics dealing with the question.

He will have one hour to prepare for a four minute extemporaneous speech on one of the two topics.

Six finalists will be selected after preliminary rounds to compete in a final round of five minutes in length.

The contest, named for John S. Knight, Editorial Chairman of the Detroit Free Press, dates back to 1947 when it was established to give incentive to Michigan's high school debate programs. It offers $2,800 in college scholarships for qualified debaters.

Board hears plans for senior trip

The Charlevoix board of education met in special session Monday night chiefly to discuss the decision that had to be made by April 11 regarding teachers whose special teaching certificates expire June 30, 1970 and who cannot be legally employed for the school year 1970-71 for their present positions.

They are Norman, Cook, Louis Graham, Mrs. Marjorie Spence, Miss Janis Peckham, Mrs. Jeanne Jensen and Mrs. Emma Payne.

Decisions were also made on tenure and contracts for other teachers. They also heard reports on the proposed field trip by the senior government classes; the resignation of two teachers; the fire marshalls report on the middle school and Dr. William Ratigan's report on the guidance and counseling program in the local school.

Tenure was given the Mrs. Constance Ford who teaches English, journalism, speech and forensics; Mrs. Mary Seaman, foreign language, Mrs. Pauline Austin, Mrs. Barbara Berlage, and Mrs. Carolyn DeMoor, elementary teachers.

Contracts were offered to Albert Shindorf, eighth grade math, William Matchinski eight grade social studies; Miss Jeanne Keeny and Miss Joan Baumer, third grade; Dennis Carr, Special Education and Mrs. Arlette Harris, elementary teacher who is returning after a year's absence.

Senior Government teacher, Max Novak, appeared and gave an outline of the proposed field trip which includes visits to the State Legislature where they will be guests of Sen. Thomas Schweigert and Rep. Robert Davis, and overnight stay at the MEA Camp near Battle Creek, visits to the campus at Michigan State, the Kellogg Company and other plants as time allows. April 20 and 21 are the set dates for the trip that will be taken on school buses.

A spring weekend in Charlevoix. . . .Julie Selph, Midge Sandford and Lou Ann Mason enjoy last weekend's warm weather in northern Michigan while listening to latest hit record, sitting on bridge. Scene will become more familiar as warm weather approaches. Photo was snapped by Samuel Carlisle of East Jordan.

5 arrested in 2 B&Es

A rash of robberies, breaking and enterings and vandalism hit Charlevoix County in the past week, and thus far has resulted in the arrest of five men on charges of breaking and entering.

Arrested on charges of breaking and entering at the Woodshed and Neff's Food Store were Leander L. Sams, 38; Richard L. John, 21; Alvin W. John, Jr., 30; Darwin J. Honeysette, 38; and Jerry J. McCloskey, 48.

They were apprehended by Charlevoix policeman Sam Alexander at the Woodshed at 2:55 a.m., Monday.

The five waived examination in Judge W. Richard Smith's District Court and were bound over for the April term of Circuit Court.

Kusina Motors was robbed of over $400 in cash and $165 in checks sometime Sunday evening. Police are continuing the investigation, but no arrests have yet been made.

In East Jordan, Police are investigating a break-in at the Lutheran Church parsonage of the Rev. James W. Larson.

Township Board wants 2.7 mills

Charlevoix Township Board has agreed to ask voters to approve 2.7 mills for roads, boat ramps and other improvements at the primary election in August.

The proposed levy will replace two mills for township operation which is to expire this year. The township receives one mill of the county's 15-mill allocation.

There were about 15 residents at the meeting and according to Supervisor Oscar Stroud, it was the largest turnout in years.

The Board also turned down a proposed salary hike of board members as a curb on inflation.

Freedman earns safe pilot award

President Don Flower of the National Pilots Association has presented to Gordon L. Freedman, 409 Michigan Avenue, Charlevoix, NPA's highest award–the Safe Pilot Certificate granted to its members by the nation's largest non-profit pilot organization in recognition of skill and flying ability represented by 500 hours or more as pilot-in-command "without major accident involving damage to property or injury to person."

Freedman, whose pilot career began in 1934, accumulated a total of 4,400 accident-free hours to qualify for the coveted NPA recognition. His logs show flight time in almost every type of light plane made in America.

Council Proceedings

COUNCIL MINUTES
March 30, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding. Aldermen present: Sundberg, Gill, Klooster, Westenbroek, and Mol. Absent: Alderman Boss.

The Minutes of the March 16, 1970 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book.

Mayor Fochtman introduced Mr. James Muschell, of United Associates, present in regard to the Ferry Ave. Boat Launching Facility. After some discussion and minor changes, Mr. Muschell will submit the plans to the State Waterways Commission for approval. The plans include two ramps, Lavatory facilities, parking and lighting.

Richard Way presented his plans to the Council for a low-income housing sub-division, bounded by Grant, Carpenter and Garfield Streets. Plans call for 30 houses in the $25,000 to $30,000 range. The plans were tabled for further study.

Alderman Westenbroek offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Sundberg.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation has requested to purchase certain land from the City of Charlevoix adjacent to the manufacturing plant of said Corporation, plus removing certain easements and restrictions that would prohibit the construction of a building thereon, which is needed by said Company for the purpose of plant expansion for the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars plus certain commitments to move the airplane hangars and the aeronautical homing device, or parts thereof as required, as hereinafter recited, which land is part of that acquired by the City of Charlevoix for the Municipal Airport; and

WHEREAS, the Council deems that said parcel of land is not now, and will not hereafter be required by the City for aeronautic purposes; and

WHEREAS, in the judgment of the Common Council it is desirable to cooperate with and induce local industry to expand and such sale and the removal of said easements and restrictions would be for the best interest and the general welfare of the City of Charlevoix and its citizens and that the consideration offered therefor is deemed to be fair and adequate; and

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, that the City of Charlevoix sell and convey to the Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation, a Michigan Corporation, of the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, the above described parcel of land, including the removal of certain easements and restrictions on other land owned by the said Corporation and required for the construction of said building and as set forth in the descriptions incorporated herein, for the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars, subject to the following restrictions to be incorporated in the Deed conveying the same and, with the conditions regarding the removal of the hangar and the homing device, as follows:

1. Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation shall pay the City of Charlevoix the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars.

2. No activities shall be conducted on described parcel which shall interfere with the public use of the Charlevoix Municipal Airport.

3. No building or other structure shall be erected thereon which shall exceed a height of fifty (50) feet above ground level.

4. Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corporation shall, at its expense, remove and relocate the airplane hangars now located on said parcel of land, replacing any parts that may be damaged in removing same, so that the hangars will be in the same condition they were before moving, replacing the foundation and the black top aprons, as they now exist and also placing a cement floor throughout the entire inside of said hangars. And also shall, at its expense, do whatever required moving of the aeronautical homing device, or whatever parts thereof are required to be moved, which device is located adjacent to said land, all to be done to the satisfaction of the Charlevoix City Superintendent, under specifications and conditions agreed to between the parties, which shall be embodied in a written contract between the parties at the time of conveyance of said land.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Clerk be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to execute and deliver said conveyance and said contract for relocating the airplane hangars and moving the homeing device, or parts thereof as required, as recited above, on behalf of the City of Charlevoix, which contract shall be entered into at the time of said conveyance.

Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Sundberg, Gill, Klooster, and Westenbroek.

Nays: Alderman Mol.

Absent: Alderman Boss.

Minutes of the Charlevoix Planning Commission were read and approved as read.

Correspondence from the Department of Natural Resources was tabled for further study.

Alderman Mol offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption, supported by Alderman Klooster.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the City of Charlevoix and Annabelle Cunningham, its Treasurer, are parties defendant in a certain litigation presently pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, being Circuit Court File No. 29-2, and

WHEREAS, certain allegations against John R. Michael, City Attorney, have been made in such suit, necessitating John Michael's testimony as a witness in the trial of subject action,

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that Martin Breighner is hereby retained as attorney for the defendents in the above action and is hereby authorized to represent the defendents through trial of the issues, and that the said John R. Michael, City Attorney, is hereby relieved from further responsibility therefor.

Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Sundberg, Gill, Klooster, Westenbroek, and Mol.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Boss.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $26,573.81 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Sundberg, Gill, Klooster, Westenbroek, and Mol.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Boss.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

Hugh Mayne, City Clerk

BY WALLY LODER

These weeks really pass rapidly, and especially since returning from my vacation. Here it is Thursday again – the deadline for this column. I hope to continue your interest.

In connection with the step forward, as I think it is, I had reason to call Trans-Michigan Airlines yesterday as I had a couple of questions, which were answered and at that time I was informed that from their stand point or position, it does look very favorable because of the Board of Directors of said company reviewed certain reports and recommendation at their meeting last week. I expect one or two of these officials to be here one day the week of April 13 to meet with our city people and I most certainly hope this will pretty much end mutually satisfactory. Don't forget, as I urged last week, any of you interested people please make a telephone call in support to Tom Hanna, City Superintendent or to Mayor William Fochtman. Or better yet, write them a little letter. Thank you.

It was interesting to note that the Ferry Street beach area is up for improvement and will include additional boat launching ramps, parking area, lights, and toilets, etc.

For the convenience of all local people I now have a directory of Michigan Manufacturers which has a geographical section, alphabetical section, and products classified. It's yours to use here at the office.

With relation to the second annual Lakeside Hobbycraft Show scheduled Saturday, July 11 from 10 a.m. till 7 p.m. here in the parkway downtown at harbor side, we are in much need and it is also necessary to build up the committee handling this affair. There is not a lot of strenuous physical effort necessary nor is there in my opinion a great deal of one's time necessary. This show has unlimited merit and aroused considerable interest last year and the gain that was made then, most certainly should not be lost. I again appeal for volunteers to stop here at the office and get further acquainted with the subject, or contact Mr. Norman Helms over on Meadowlane.

The Venetian Festival, July 25 and 26 is already beginning to take shape. We have one confirmation now from one of our kindly pastors, that the Christian Troubadour's of which we spoke earlier, are being brought in by the Staff get-together at bank

The officers and staff of First State Bank of Charlevoix, believe that in order to offer the banking customers the assistance and the helpfulness in their every "banking need", they must first have a staff that is congenial to the public, and most importantly, congenial and co-operative with each other. This is one reason the staff at First State Bank meets regularly early each Tuesday morning for their "coffee and rolls" staff gathering and meeting.

The officers of the bank relate that they are very proud of their staff and the feeling all have towards one another. It's indeed a closely-knit group and it was from this that the staff came up with its name, the First Family of First State Bank.

At these early morning meetings, they share family tales, have surprise birthday or anniversary cakes for members of the staff that may be celebrating a special personal day. On occasion, they have even had "going away" coffee hours for a member who leaves their job to move to another city or state. Conversely, they celebrate and welcome a new member to its staff and First Family.

The bank's officers report they have many customers who relate to the bank how pleased and welcome they feel when they come into First State Bank's new building at 111 State Street. The bank also reports that they have enjoyed many new customers in the past several months and are looking ahead to serving the community.

Perhaps one of the highlights of the "red carpet" bank is the spacious community room, called the One-Eleven State Room. The bank is very pleased to offer this facility to any local civic or club group free of charge. They are proud that the community has accepted, utilized and enjoyed the convenient meeting room with kitchenette. Each of the staff thoroughly enjoy showing off this room as well as the rest of their new building.

Firm Gets OK for 32 FHA Homes with U.S. Subsidy

Frank Wangeman and Ed Colwell of Colwell-Wangeman Construction, Inc. announced today they have received notice from the Federal Housing Administration that their firm has been allocated funds to build 32 "economy minded" homes in Emmet and Charlevoix Counties.

"This is a major breakthrough in today's tight money market and high interest rates," Colwell said. "We can now offer up to a $21,000 package with as little as $200 down payment, including closing costs, at 3⁄4 annual interest rate of as low as one percent.

Wangeman stated that months of planning had been spent on their "quality economy series," homes which are specially designed to fit the standards fixed by FHA for approval of this program. He stated further that "We now have a model to fit any family requirements-two, three or four bedroom ranch, a two story or split level, all of which are conventionally built and employing local tradesmen.

Currently, mortgage limitations are $18,000 for a three bedroom and $21,000 for a four bedroom home including lot, sewer and water.

Colwell explained that the allocation for 32 economy homes was made under the federal governments' H.U.D. or housing and urban development interest subsidy program and cited an example of a test case where a family with three children and a gross income of $6,500 per year purchasing a home for $18,000. The down payment would be $200 including closing costs and the monthly payment $86.60 including taxes and insurance. The government subsidy is gauged by the income and size of the family with lower income families receiving more benefits.

Another section of the program for higher income families calls for a three percent down payment. For example, a family with four children could have an income of as high as $11,500 and still receive a subsidy of $43.98 per month on a $21,000 mortgage.

Outside of cities, lots must be one acre or less in size.

Sales of homes in Emmet and Charlevoix Counties will be handled by Colwell & Co. Realtors offices in Petoskey, Walloon Lake, Boyne City, East Jordan, and Charlevoix. Applications may be submitted at any office.

Reprinted from Feb. 19, 1970 Petoskey News-Review.

Area men at meet

Wm. Dunstan Supply Co., Petoskey, and Goulds Pumps, Inc., Seneca Falls, New York, recently sponsored a water systems seminar for pump dealers across the state. During the three-day meeting, 25 dealers attended a series of lectures at Goulds New York plant.

At the meeting, Frank Novotny, Charlevoix, and John Smith, Eastport, talked about modern pump building techniques and water systems problems with Goulds' factory engineers. As part of the discussions, Novotny and Smith were taken on a tour of Goulds factory. This operation is the world's oldest and largest manufacturing process of pumps only.

Also included in the classes were lectures on pump fundamentals, electrical theory and water systems applications.

"These classes were a real help," commented Novotny and Smith. "They give pump people the special knowledge to provide the public with one of life's most basic elements–water."

After spending a week with their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Bob Swaney of Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Joy Kuiper returned home after spending several months in Florida.

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
MARCH 6, 1970

The Charlevoix Board of County Commissioners convened in special session on March 6, 1970 at 6:30 P.M. in the County Building.

Meeting called to order by Chairman John Kujawski.

Roll call by the Clerk. The following members being present: Supervisor Ingalls, Cunningham, Smith, Davis, Richardson, Griffin, Kullik, Taylor, Milstein, Kassin, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, Staley, Moerland, 15. Absent, none.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Supervisor Staley.

MINUTES PREVIOUS SESSION

Moved by Supervisor Taylor and supported by Supervisor Richardson that the minutes of the February 1970 Session be approved as read. Motion carried.

COUNTY DEPOSITORIES

Mr. Howard Darby of the Northwestern State Bank of Boyne City met with the Board to explain that they had made a survey.

In view of this report, Chairman Kujawski appointed Supervisor Moerland, Davis and Taylor as a Depository Committee to make a report at the April Session.

LEASE AMENDMENT

Moved by Supervisor Tompkins and supported by Supervisor Taylor that the following Amendment to the Lease between the Board of County Commissioners and the Building Authority be adopted:

MADE AND EXECUTED THIS 6th day of March, 1970, by and between the Building Authority of the County of Charlevoix, A public corporation organized and existing under the authority of Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1947, First Extra Session, as amended, hereinafter referred to as the AUTHORITY, and the County of Charlevoix, a Michigan County corporation organized and existing under the constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, hereinafter referred to as the COUNTY:

IT IS HEREBY AGREED BY THE BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO for and in consideration of the agreement and covenants of each other and moneys to be paid one to the other, as follows:

Paragraph 3 of the Lease Agreement dated September 9, 1969 be amended to read as follows:

3. The annual rentals to be paid by the COUNTY and which the COUNTY hereby covenants and agrees to pay shall be Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars payable on the first day of June, 1970, and on the first day of June each year thereafter (which annual rental is hereinafter called "fixed annual rental").

The Authority hereby acknowledges the receipt of ——————————— ($———————————) Dollars (Which sum is hereinafter called "first annual rental").

The fixed annual rentals and first annual rental herein required are in an amount sufficient to meet as they mature, the principal and interest payments on the revenue bonds of the AUTHORITY in the total authorized principal sum of Five Hundred Thousand ($500,000.00) Dollars, and to provide for a debt service reserve therefor.

In the event an increase in the fixed annual rentals herein provided becomes necessary in order to provide adequate finds for the AUTHORITY to meet its debt service requirements on the bonds issued and outstanding, the necessary reserve requirements, the COUNTY agrees to pay the increased annual rental.

The COUNTY, in its sole descretion, in any annual period, may pay in advance any proportion of its fixed annual rental in excess of the annual requirement, in which event the AUTHORITY shall credit the COUNTY with advance payment of the next succeeding annual requirements to the extend of such excess payments.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Building Authority of the County of Charlevoix, by its Commission, and the County of Charlevoix, Michigan by its Board of Supervisors, have each caused its name to be signed to this instrument by its duly authorized officers and its seal to be affixed hereto on March 6, 1970.

This contract has been executed in duplicate.

CHAIRMAN AND CLERK EXECUTE LEASE

Moved by Supervisor Taylor and supported by Supervisor Kassin that the following resolution be adopted:

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Charlevoix deems it necessary and advisable for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, to acquire the use of a new county jail in said county and

WHEREAS, The Building Authority, of the County of Charlevoix, a public Corporation organized and existing under authority of Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948, (First Extra Session), as amended, has indicated that it is willing to undertake the acquisition of a site and the construction, and development of a county jail, thereon for such purpose and to lease the same to the County: and

WHEREAS, an amendment to lease which amends a written lease providing for the leasing of said building and site to the County has been prepared and submitted to this Board of Supervisors;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. The attached amendment to lease is hereby approved and the chairman of the Board of Supervisors and County Clerk of the County of Charlevoix are hereby authorized and directed to execute said amendment to lease for and on behalf of the County of Charlevoix.

2. All resolutions and parts of resolutions insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this resolution be and the same hereby are rescinded.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and complete copy of a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors on the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, at a Special Meeting held on March 6, 1970 at which meeting the following Supervisors were present and the following absent:

WAYS AND MEANS RESOLUTION

Moved by Supervisor Davis and supported by Supervisor Taylor that the following Resolution be adopted:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, MICHIGAN
Members of the Board:

We, Your Ways and Means Committee, respectfully request that the Board of Supervisors authorize the County Treasurer to transfer the sum of $3,000.00 from the General Fund of the County's Contingency and Emergency Appropriation to the Building Authority Jail Rental Appropriation, Account no. 103-051-914, making a total Appropriation of $45,000.00 Jail Rental for 1970.

Respectfully submitted, William D. Taylor, I. Lee Moerland, Ira L. Davis, Committee. Motion Carried.

CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEE

Moved by Supervisor Staley and supported by Supervisor Kassin that the following resolution be adopted:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors
Charlevoix County, Michigan
To Members of the Board:

We, the committee on Civil Defense, request that the following resolution be adopted.

Resolved that all county employees be allowed one day during working hours to attend a class on civil defense.

Respectfully submitted, Kenneth Staley, Kit Carson, Ralph Richardson.

Motion carried.

Moved by Supervisor Davis and supported by Supervisor Cunningham that the Board adjourn to March 17, 1970 at 9:30 A.M. Motion carried.

Small colleges are "good' bet

By Bernice Wexstaff

A recent communication from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids affirms the contention that Christian schools have fewer problem of confrontation with subversion than does the tax-supported school.

Director of Admissions, Jack Harris says "We have no problem at Aquinas College with student radicalism. The college prides itself in being small enough, intimate enough and concerned enough to resolve problems without confrontation."

Parents would do well to consider Aquinas College because of their high scholastic standards as well as their Student Financial Aids which helps qualified students who might otherwise be unable to attend a college to realize their educational goals. Interested parents may contact the Director of Financial Aids or Rev. Fr. E. Francis Denay or Sr. Ann of the local St. Mary's school and convent.

Holland, Michigan, is the site of the Christian Reform Church's largest college. Hope is a four-year liberal arts college that cherishes the conviction that life is God's trust to man. Hope College holds that a vital faith is central to education and that faith provides both the incentive and dynamic for learning and living.

Hope College is a participant with four other Michigan liberal arts colleges and the University of Michigan in a cooperative program to provide special curricular opportunities to academically talented students who are interested in college teaching as a profession.

Without doubt all colleges and universities are committed to prepare teachers not only complete qualified but imbued with a true sense of mission about their awesome responsibility in the teaching field: The teacher must carry on for the home.

Short term courses in area tax-supported schools may however, work out to advantage if the student can spend weekends at home. It appears the weekends are the worst times for students who feel the urge to experiment with drugs and other anti-social activities. They say "everybody" is doing it and they're square if they refuse.

Lake Superior College at Sault Ste. Marie offers excellent courses in computer engineering as well as machanical engineering, mechanical drafting, shorthand and secretarial education.

Alpena College has a special course in forestry, so those who prefer outdoor occupations may be interested in Alpena College. Northwestern in Traverse City offers courses in park and recreational work.

North Central College in Petoskey with a current student body of some 600 is also offers vocational training in drafting, nursing and general business secretarial work above the usual academic courses of the liberal arts junior college. Here, too, there have been no confrontations with militant elements, although there is, of course, no guarantee that none will develop.

There is little doubt that the Christian college as a private endowed school is best able to control and destroy subversive demonstrations.

Educational costs may be somewhat higher than in the tax-supported schools, but for concerned parents it may well be worth the cost to be able to insure a mind free from worry and in the long run an equalization due to uninterrupted education.

Charlevoix Ministerial Association for a display of their talent, Sunday evening, July 26 from 6:30 to 7:30. There really is a need for two more bands in the street parade. They are easy to get, of course, if you have the dollars. However, we must first try for voluntary groups. Accordingly, if you have any ideas, please be in touch with us.

Any of you air-minded folks interested in a Boeing 747 playing, those 300-odd passenger plus crew jobs, stop by the office and read over an interesting article I have direct from the horse's mouth, so to speak.

Again I call to attention the invitation given Charlevoix to participate in the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce beautification program trees and flowering shrubs sale. Any of you interested, I suggest you contact Mrs. Harley Ochs of our garden club. This shrubbery and trees would be made available on Arbor Day, April 25 at Parker Motor Freight terminal. However, place your order with Mrs. Ochs.

We have available at the office the 1970 schedule of the Beaver Island Boat Company.

I recently was told a message from Mr. Art Ribel, new owner of the former Castle Van Haver property, that Castle Van Haver will be open to the public on June 1.

The second Eye-Opener meeting will be held April 22, 7:30 A.M. at the Weathervane Inn. President of the Chamber Board, Bruce Bartlett, will preside. Of course, there will be coffee and rolls. Subject meetings around the state generally last about one hour allowing time for one to reach his or her business or office before the day really gets underway. The purpose is to give opportunity to meet the Directors, who hope there will be questions to answer and have limited discussion, to hear ideas and express your own, to fraternize, etc.

There's just one thing wrong
with this dandelion

It doesn't like to live alone. Generally, if you find one dandelion, you'll find a whole mess of them. And, that's exactly what they make your lawn look like—a mess. So even if dandelions aren't a problem yet, be ready for them when they start to bloom. Scotts PLUS-2 is the sure, easy way to get rid of dandelions. PLUS-2 penetrates to the roots, and dandelions soon begin to fade away. It also clears out a couple dozen other non-grass weeds and it full-feeds your lawn at the same time. Pick up your PLUS-2 this week end, and apply it after dandelions are in bloom.

Money Matters

Tight money hurts banks, too

Last week, I had a chance to visit with a friend of mine who teaches history in a small southern university. During the course of our conversation, the inevitable subjects of tight money and unemployment, high interest rates and high bank earnings were discussed. He had the idea that banks were making money faster than ever before and therefore did not want the interest rates to drop.

On the surface, it looks as if banks benefit from rising interest rates, for the rate they charge the customer for money, advances when interest rates rise. But there are several offsets:

1. The banks have less money to lend when interest rates rise. (It is this lessened availability of money that brings the higher interest rates.)

2. The banks have to pay the people who provide them with money (the savers and the companies with liquid funds) a higher rate for their money, too, as interest rates rise, or else they will move their money elsewhere. Thus banks are merely middlemen between the saver and the borrower.

3. As interest rates rise, the bonds that the banks have, fall in price, for they become relatively less attractive in yield as new securities come out that offer higher yields. The only way an old bond with a lower fixed interest rate can be made saleable, as new, higher yield securities come to market, is to cut the price. Thus banks find that their old bonds fall in price as interest rates rise.

As they have to sell these bonds to find money for their borrowing customers, the banks take marked losses on these bonds. In many cases these losses more than wipe out any increases in earnings that would otherwise result from the higher interest rates.

These three factors combine to curb bank profits as interest rates rise. The result is that bank earnings are hurt by tight money just as the earnings of other companies in other industries are hurt when economic restraint is necessary as part of the fight against inflation.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Instead of making an estimated tax declaration, can I just increase my withholding?

A) Yes. To determine your additional withholding, use the worksheet that came with the estimated tax package.

If you did not get an estimated forms package, the Form 1040ES worksheet may be obtained at your local IRS office.

Q) My father died last year and my wife and I are now supporting my mother. Are her social security benefits counted as income?

A). Social security benefits are not counted in determining whether she had gross income of $600 or more. These benefits are counted, however, in determining whether you provided more than half her support.

To meet the support test, you must provide more than half the cost of her food, clothing, shelter, medical and similar expenses for the entire year.

Q) I forgot to claim my Blue Cross premiums when I sent in my return. Is it too late to do it?

A) No. Generally you may make a change in your return by filing Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. Copies of this form and instructions are available at local IRS offices.

Q). Where on my tax return should I report the excess reimbursement I get from my company for travel expenses?

A) This should be reported on Schedule E, Part III. Other miscellaneous income that should be reported here include alimony, prizes, awards, and state income tax refunds.

Income from Schedule E should be entered on line 14 of your Form 1040 along with income from any Schedule C, D or F you are filing.

Q) Last year my teenager made about $350 a year on his newspaper route. Is this taxable to him or me?

A) His income is not taxable to you. Your son should report this income if his total earnings from all sources amount to $600 or more for the year.

If his total earnings were less than $600 but income tax was withheld, he must file a return to claim a refund.

Q) I'm moving in a few weeks and my refund hasn't come. What should I do?

A) If your refund does not come before you move, notify your postmaster of your new address so your refund can be forwarded. Lack of an up-to-date mailing address is a major cause of delayed refunds.

Q) Do you have to itemize deductions to claim moving expenses?

A) No, you may take the standard deduction and still claim your moving expenses. To do this, complete Form 3903 and enter the total on line 15b of Form 1040. Be sure to attach Form 3903 to your return.

Your local IRS office has copies of this form and the necessary instructions.

Q) My wife died last year. Can I still file a joint return?

A) Yes, a joint return may be filed by the surviving spouse for the year in which the death occurred and an exemption for the decedent taken on the return. You may also be entitled to the benefits of a joint return rate for the two years after your spouse's death. This is explained in the 1040 instructions.

Q) Can I deduct any part of my dues to a charitable organization as a contribution?

A) Dues paid to qualified organizations are deductible as contributions to the extent they exceed the value of membership services or privileges received in return. Any contributions you make to their fund raising appeals, however, may qualify.

Q) How do I figure my tax surcharge?

A) If your tax is less than $735, you may determine the amount of surcharge you owe from the Surcharge Tables on Page T 1 of the 1040 instructions package. For a tax of $735 and over, multiply the tax by 10 percent to figure the surcharge.

Q) My wife and I are filing separate returns. Can I itemize while she takes a standard deduction?

A) No, on separate returns each must use the same method of handling deductions. If one of you itemizes, then both must itemize deductions.

Medusa-GSM sale complete

The acquisition by Medusa Portland Cement Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, of substantially all of the assets of General Stone & Materials Corporation, of Roanoke, Virginia, became effective last week. The assets were acquired by a wholly-owned subsidiary of Medusa which will continue the business of General Stone under its established name and under its present management.

Under the terms of the merger, stockholders of General Stone will initially receive a total of 80,000 shares of Medusa common stock. Contingent upon Generals earnings for the fiscal years ending June 30 in 1970, 1971 and 1972, on the total market value of Medusa shares in 1972, and upon fulfillment of warranties set forth in the merger agreement, General stockholders can receive a maximum of 22,123 additional shares of Medusa common stock. A favorable federal income tax ruling has been received.

Medusa, traded on the New York Stock, Exchange, closed at 32-⅛ on March 31, and based upon this market price, the initial value of the transaction is $2,570,000.

Medusa manufactures gray and white portland cements, specialty cements and aggregates. General Stone produces decorative marble and quartz aggregates, manufactures a terrazo divider strip and related items, and imports marble. In addition, General operates sales and warehousing subsidiaries distributing these and other items to the building construction industry.

Medusa earned $2.31 per common share in 1969 against General's 32 cents per share for its fiscal year ended June 30, 1969.

Errors delay tax refunds

So far this year 18,402 income tax refunds of Michigan taxpayers have been delayed because of mathematical errors, Thomas A. Cardoza, IRS District Director for Michigan said today.

Under the IRS Automatic Data Processing System, computers verify mathematical computations. When an error is detected, IRS must determine the correct tax before a refund can be issued.

Teri Lynn Freedman

Miss Freedman is engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman, of 409 Michigan Avenue, Charlevoix, announce the engagement of their daughter Teri Lynn to P. Richard Weidner, Jr., of Boston, Massachusetts. Miss Freedman graduated cum laude with a B.A. in Psychology from the University of Arizona in 1968 and now lives in Boston where she is the executive secretary of the Advertising Club of Greater Boston.

Mr. Weidner, a 1966 graduate of Boston University with a B.S. in Broadcasting and Communications, is a writer in the creative department of N.W. Ayer & Son, Inc., a national advertising agency. His parents are Mrs. Paul Broman of Longmeadow, Massachusetts and Mr. Paul R. Weidner of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. An August 2 garden wedding is planned in Charlevoix.

Library Notes

In the spring a homemakers fancy lightly turns to thoughts of fixing, repairing, patching, remodeling, painting, spraying, clean-up and building. New on the Library shelves is a very comprehensive collection of Audel's do-it-yourself books which were especially published to assist the home owner in every phase of building and house repair.

The list of Audel books available include "Audels do-it-yourself encyclopedia"; "Audels commercial refrigeration"; "Audels domestic compact auto repair manual"; "Audels electrical power calculation, with diagrams"; "Audels gas engine manual"; "Audels house heating guide"; "Audels machinists library"; "Audels mason and builders guide"; and "Audels new electric science dictionary".

"Audels Home workshop & tool hand book"; "Audels architects and builder guide"; "Audels New electric science dictionary"; "Audels foreign auto repair manual"; "Audels Auto engine tune-up"; "Audels home appliance servicing"; "Audels 4-volume" set carpenters & builders guide; and "Audels Domestic water supply".

Additional do-it-yourself books include "The welders guide" by Graham; "Sheet metal workers handy book", also by Graham; "Architects and builders guide" by Ulrey; "Painting and decorating manual" by Highland and "How to use hand and power tools" by George Daniels.

Women's World

April meetings set

The following Interest Groups of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will meet during April:

Arts and Crafts Group will meet at 9:30, April 20 at the home of Mrs. Paul Santek. They will learn how to make decorative papers from original designs.

The Charles Dickens Group will meet at 1:30, April 20. Place to be announced later. They will make plans for the Graduation Tea, which the group will sponsor, in cooperation with other Woman's Club members, honoring girls who graduate this year from Charlevoix High School.

The Discussion Group will meet at 7:30, April 20 at the home of Joyce Hosmer. They will have a "Sound Off" program at which each member will introduce a topic of particular concern to her, for brief group discussion.

The Antiques Group will meet April 27. Plans for this meeting are incomplete at the present time.

The Book Review Group will meet at 1:30, April 27 at the home of Margaret Burns at Oyster Bay. Florence Uhrick will review "My Darling Clementine" by Jack Fishbein.

These April meetings will be the final Interest Group meetings for the 1969-70 club year. Each group should be sure to elect a chairman for the coming year, and report the Chairman's name to Mrs. James Driggett, who is 1970-71 Program Chairman (Phone 547-2270.)

Medusa Co. officers change positions

The Board of Directors of Medusa Portland Cement Company of Cleveland, Ohio, approved several changes in the corporate structure at their regular meeting recently, which followed the Annual Meeting of Shareowners.

Robert W. Fort, president since 1965, was also elected Chief Executive Officer, a position held for the past eighteen years by Ellery Sedgwick, Jr., who remains as Chairman of the Board. Fort joined Medusa in 1956 and has previously served as vice president-finance and senior vice president.

The Board also authorized creation of a Cement Division as a distinct entity within the company. James E. Poole was elected to the newly-created position of executive vice president-cement division, with overall responsibility for the manufacture, sale and distribution of cement. Poole joined Medusa as vice president-marketing in 1965 and was elected a director in 1967.

Frank C. Stevens, who joined the company in 1968, remains in charge of manufacturing and engineering as vice president of operations-cement division.

B.G. Neavill was elected to the new post of Vice President of Administration-Cement Division. Neavill's responsibilities will include customer and credit relations, and salaried employee relations. Since joining Medusa in 1957 he has served in several financial positions, most recently as secretary-treasurer.

William M. Troutman was elected to the newly created position of Director of Corporate Development and Secretary, reporting to Fort. Troutman will be responsible for community and public relations and manpower development, and will assist Fort in long range planning, and with acquisitions. Troutman joined the company in 1965 and for the past two years has been director of Industrial Relations.

Walter J. Spear, presently Controller, has been given the additional duties of treasurer and will report to the president. Spear joined the accounting department in 1961 and was named controller in 1968.

Sedgwick said that the growing involvement of the company in the aggregates and other construction-related business, together with his retirement as chief executive officer, had made it timely to realign the responsibilities of the key executives. With the new arrangement, Sedgwick pointed out that the cement division would continue to receive the daily attention of a senior executive, Poole, while Fort would have adequate time for corporate development and related matters.

Carswell vote

Those of us who believe in the integrity of the U.S. Supreme Court breathed easier last Wednesday after the Senate refused to confirm President Nixon's appointment of G. Harrold Carswell to the highest court in the land.

We were mightily afraid that confirmation of Carswell would have touched off a racial holocaust across America that would have made the 1967 riots in Detroit and Watts look like campus pep rallies.

Although his backers insisted that Carswell has long since abandoned the doctrine of white supremacy he apparently embraced as a young man, there is no accurate way to gauge subtle changes in political and social thinking.

Furthermore, Carswell's decisions as a federal district judge seemed to be highly suspect, with close to 60 percent of them being reversed by the appelate courts.

The incredible part of the Carswell nomination — as with the Clement F. Haynesworth nomination last fall — is that neither President Nixon nor Carswell himself attempted to withdraw the nomination, even when it appeared that Carswell might not be the best man for the job.

As a result, the President and the Republican party suffered their second embarrassing defeat over a Supreme Court nomination in less than five months, at a time when the GOP needs all the support it can muster.

The party also sustained a body blow shortly before the crucial Carswell vote by the President's ill-advised and schoolboyish attempt to minimize the Senate's role in "advise and consent" proceedings.

Surely in this broad land of ours is at least one conservative Republican, well versed in law, who has a reputation sufficiently unblemished to wear the robes of a Supreme Court justice.

It is up to President Nixon to find him. (B.C.)

Choosing new superintendent

Two years ago, Charlevoixans took considerable pride in the fact that bonds for the new elementary school sold so rapidly because "Charlevoix is Charlevoix" — a community with a fine reputation around the state and the nation for doing things right.

Charlevoixans can be equally proud of the fact that more than 100 educators from four states have applied for the superintendency of Charlevoix Public Schools, a job being vacated by Superintendent Rex Milligan at the conclusion of the school year.

Charlevoix's reputation as a good place to live and work certainly must be far greater than many of us suspect, with all due respect to the attractive "help wanted" brochure prepared and distributed by the Board of Education.

Competent, qualified school administrators don't grow on trees. The very fact that the Charlevoix board has more than 100 applicants to choose from virtually guarantees that we will find a top-notch man to fill Mr. Milligan's shoes.

The job of selecting a superintendent from so many candidates is not as formidable as it appears at first. Placement experts from the state's leading universities were in town all day Monday to review the applications and cull them down to a manageable number. They will now be reviewed by the board and the most promising applicants will be invited to Charlevoix for interviews.

Needless to say, a community with less to offer than Charlevoix would not be afforded the same opportunity to pick and choose in the selection of a new school administrator.

The abundance of applications speaks well not only for the community at large but also for the school system itself. Our pay scale, working conditions, curriculum, school buildings, discipline, community attitude and financial condition must have been deciding factors for many of the applicants.

We are confident the Charlevoix Board of Education will make the most of its unusual opportunity to find a worthy successor to Rex Milligan. (B.C.)

City election

Why must a city go through with the formality of holding an election when there are no contests on the ballot?

It happened last Monday in Charlevoix. And East Jordan. And Boyne City.

And the critics seem to have a valid point. Why go to the expense of holding an election when the outcome is a foregone conclusion?

Unfortunately, the critics are attacking the wrong problem.

Can the people of Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City be so completely satisfied with the operation of their city governments that they are reluctant to rock the boat?

We doubt it.

It is a disgrace for any community, regardless of size, not to have a flock of interested citizens vying for every single elected position.

We have traded the excitement and challenge of local politics — which have been part and parcel of American life for centuries — for a few more evenings at home every year in front of the boob tube.

It's not the cost of elections that bothers us. It's our total apathy toward public service. (B.C.)

Our representatives

As a public service, the Courier offers readers the address of our legislative representatives in Washington and Lansing.

Questions, problems, comments or opinions can be directed to them....the results are often surprisingly favorable.

State Representative Robert W. Davis, 106th District, Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan 48901.

State Senator Thomas Schweigert, Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan 48901.

U.S. SENATORS

Philip A. Hart, Senate Office Building, Washington D.C. 20515.

Environment

By Bernice Wexstaff

Seventy years ago, at the turn of the century, the people of Michigan were warned that the waters of the state were deteriorating. These warnings came from individual scientists and were largely ignored, often even ridiculed.

There have been later warnings of the imminent death of our natural, God-given resources but these too have gone virtually unheeded by the average citizen. The old fashioned maxim, "Things must get worse before they get better," proves once more that even intelligent humans will do nothing until conditions reach a peak that demands action.

There's little doubt that the 70s are the world's 11th. hour for saving our natural resources and it is encouraging that the government and individual alike is springing into action that may save us from extinction.

As Gov. Milliken said in his message to the Legislature: "There can be no frontiers, no boundaries, in the fight of the Seventies against pollution. The fight must be waged on local state and regional scales." He might have added, "also on an individual scale!"

It is encouraging to note that many college students, apparently tired of protest demonstrators and demonstrations are taking up a fight— a constructive fight, against pollution.

Scarsdale, New York--a city approximately the size of Traverse City, has come up with an ideal solution to one pollution problem: the annual leaf-fall disposal.

Scarsdale gathers the leaves in its own trucks and delivers them to a city-owned tract of land---There they are windrowed and composted. Last year the city piled 30,000 cubic yards of compost in a wholesale composting quite simple and with little cost...The October leaf-fall is stacked 8 feet high and 8 feet wide in 250-foot windrows.

Scarsdale has found that the 8-foot height is necessary for the volume and density of the pile to heat properly to 160 degrees Fahrenheit and so speed up the decomposition into leaf-mold that makes available a low-cost soil fertilizer which the city uses for park-grass rejuvenation and sells the surplus to residents for gardens and lawns.

Thus Scarsdale has turned an annual liability into an asset!

However, for Charlevoix citizens who wish to build private leaf composts it is advisable to pile the leaves to a height of at least 5 feet and width of a minimum of 6 feet. Other wise there will not be enough heat generated to break down leaf structure.

Baring space for the leaf pile, other composters have had success with oil drums set a few inches off the ground so air may circulate through leaves and household garbage or even old screen doors hooked together with screen door hooks to make an open wire frame. Still others have used 4 hay bales covered over with secondhand glass storm doors which gather the winter suns rays to keep the compost warm and the bacteria hard at work.

No matter which method is chosen, each is a step in the right direction to halt pollution by burning and or dumping with its attendant evil odors. Composting according to organic methods such as the leaf pile in the open or the container type which allows for adequate ventilation is a useful way to halt air pollution without offensive odor.

Wednesday women can't march

My first reaction was to grab a calendar to see what day Aug. 26 falls on this year.

Wednesday.

That's the day my wife goes to the beauty shop. Pardon me, but ha. In fact, ho.

I realize it's not nice to laugh at my wife's bad luck. But she laughed when I spent a week sweating over plans for a day of complete debauchery at the poolroom. And then the day came, and I dressed in my chalk-blue sport coat and cashed a big check only to find the poolroom was closed to honor the 50th anniversary of the death of the first rack boy to have his nose smashed between the cue ball and the rack. Oh yes, she thought that was funny. So now I'm laughing at the terrible thing that has happened to her plans.

As you probably know, the girls at NOW have designated Aug. 26 the day when women should refuse to work. NOW stands for National Organization of Women. Founder Betty Friedan explained lyrically what should happen on Strike Day:

". . .secretaries put a cover on their typewriters, telephone operators unplug their switchboards, waitresses stop waiting, and when it begins to get dark, instead of cooking dinner or making love, assembly and carry candles symbolic of that flame of the passionate journey of women down through history."

Gee.

My wife covered her typewriter and came home for good quite a while ago. She said there was no sense making that extra money if she never had time to spend it. Now she has time to spend it and I must earn it by covering my typewriter with my blood.

But that after-dark stuff is another brand of X.

Undeniably and exclusively, I depend upon my wife for hot meals and warm kisses. Oh, I may sometimes stray to Colonel Sanders for nourishment. But if the waitress ever suggested anything sexier than a chicken thigh, I would run for home, ever-certain I was being tailed by Efram Zimbalist Jr. and my wife's lawyer.

So ordinarily I wouldn't be looking forward to Aug. 26. My wife feels strongly that women are downgraded by men, especially me, and she would surely want to march passionately with candle held high. But first she'd have to have her hair done. Where?

Beauty operators certainly won't be working Aug. 26. Not even Mr. Phyllis. They'll cover their dryers and join the passionate journey down Main St. Women with Wednesday appointments that week will be out of luck. They won't be able to trade for Monday or Tuesday appointments because no one will trade. Every woman will want her hair done for the big march. No woman wants to hold a candle aloft over a rat's nest.

Every husband knows the importance of a fresh hair-do. It's not like a haircut that can be delayed until a guy happens to stumble upon an idle barber. A woman I know well once got out of a sickbed to get a permanent. She fainted under the dryer and was brought home in an ambulance, all the time mumbling "It'll look better when I comb it out."

No where does obsolescence set in faster than on a woman's head. It is of the utmost importance that she get her hair done not more than 2 days before a big event. And Aug. 26 may well be the biggest day ever for American women. The Wednesday appointments have really got a problem.

My only suggestion to my wife is that she get her wig done now and put it in the freezer. All Wednesday women are welcome to borrow this idea but, those without wigs will catch cold.

Our state's tourism

An Editorial
by
Wesley B. Tebeau, President,
West Michigan Tourist Association

The multi-million dollar Michigan tourist business is built on expectation and that quality of the spirit called hospitality.

Never before in history has the job future of so many persons been dependent on so fragile a commodity.

In tourism our major export is friendliness. People plan their vacation for 50 weeks. They place a large part of their discretionary income into the project. They anticipate relaxation, fun and enjoyment from the venture.

Needless to say, these vacation dreams can be easily destroyed. One unkind word, a careless act, a discourteous comment, and your area can be black-listed by one family to everyone they know back home.

Hospitality is more than person to person friendliness. Michigan's vacation charisma is beauty – beautiful water, greenery and people. Communities should concern themselves with the physical attractiveness of their downtown, their parks and playgrounds. Cleanliness is not only next to Godliness, it's next to being imperative in the competitive world of touristry.

Every major city, region, state, foreign country and island in the sun is competing vigorously for the travel dollar.

Once our visitors would chose between Michigan and Wisconsin for their vacation destination. Now Europe, Bermuda, Ontario and Hawaii are plainly within reach.

It is the announced goal of the West Michigan Tourist Association working with the state of Michigan Tourist Council to convince these vacationists they must see our area to really come alive. Our programs include advertisements, lure books, guides, maps, publicity stories and telephone information service.

Approximately 7,000,000 persons will visit west Michigan for pleasure in 1969! Fourteen million will tour throughout the state.

To make a community or area viable in tourism about 60 percent of the first-time visitors must return. They come back for a variety of reasons, not the least of which is friendliness.

Once they are here. . . someone must sell them on a repeat visit. Simple acts of courtesy, cheerful answers to questions and a general atmosphere of relaxed hospitality are the game winning ingredients.

Tourism is Michigan's Number Two economic force and growing. The development of your area will depend on your front-line of hospitality. Considerate treatment from your policemen, waitresses, gasoline attendants, and store personnel is the key to success.

Everyone in your area benefits from a healthy economy. More persons are employed, tax collections are up, sale of goods and services continue to increase.

This year our visitors will spend $97,500,000 per month in our state. This figure breaks down to $132,500 per hour every hour of the day, every day of the year.

We are all Michigan hosts together. Remember, the most wonderful memory of a visitor's vacation to Michigan. . . might be you!

Kiwanis Notes

The regular Monday dinner meeting of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club was held at the Charlevoix High School Cafeteria, at 6:30 p.m. on April 6.

Initial plans were made to publicize the Kiwanis Golf Tournament which will be held on June 13. Throngs of golfers and interested spectators are expected from as far away as Canada.

The Club was privileged to have as a guest, Ken Boss, who is a member of the Petoskey Kiwanis Club.

The cold nights and sunny days are causing the maple sap buckets to fill to the brim. More volunteers, of any kind, could be used to collect this valuable source of Kiwanis Kash.

The speaker for the evening was Jack Hale of Boyne City. Hale related a few of the very interesting and humorous experiences he had on a recent trip to South Africa. The trip was part of Michigan's People-to-People Goodwill Agricultural Tour. On the trip, Hale visited coffee plantations, tea plantations, large diary and beef farms, orchards and other large agricultural complexes.

FHA plans housing

The Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture, has announced it is now issuing Conditional Commitments on single-family dwellings in the open country or rural communities up to 5,500 population. The program is designed to encourage the construction or rehabilitation of single-family dwellings in rural areas for sale to low and moderate income families.

A Conditional Commitment is assurance to a builder or seller that the homes to be constructed or rehabilitated will meet Farmers Home Administration lending requirements if built as proposed and that, subject to the availability of funds, the agency would be willing to make loans to qualified applicants who may want to buy the homes.

An individual, partnership or corporation engaged in the construction or the rehabilitation and sale of homes may apply for a conditional commitment. Conditional Commitments will be issued by the Farmers Home Administration only for new homes, including manufactured homes, to be constructed, or homes which require major repairs, additions, structural changes or installations.

Assembly sessions

REV. IVAR FRICK

The Charlevoix Assembly of God, 203 E. Upright, will be engaged in Teachers' and Workers' Training Sessions on Tuesday through Thursday of this week.

The Training Course is being combined with the congregations of Boyne City and Petoskey. The Tuesday night session will be held at the Boyne City Assembly of God, 509 North East Street, and the Wednesday session will be conducted at the Petoskey Assembly of God, located at 600 Charlevoix Avenue. The concluding session on Thursday evening will be here at the local Assembly of God.

Reverend Ivar Frick, pastor of Flint Riverside Tabernacle for the last 10 years will be the guest speaker and teacher for the occasion. Rev. Frick has participated in overseas evangelism throughout Europe, Middle East, and Africa.

The theme of the sessions will be "Understanding the Times of Christ". The purpose of the three nights will be to expose the situations that existed when Christ walked upon the earth. After participating in these times of learning and inspiration the average Sunday school and churchgoer will have a fuller comprehension of the political, religious, social, and economic conditions of New Testament times.

The public is invited to attend all of the sessions which begin each night at 7:30 p.m.

In brief

Headstart plans are discussed

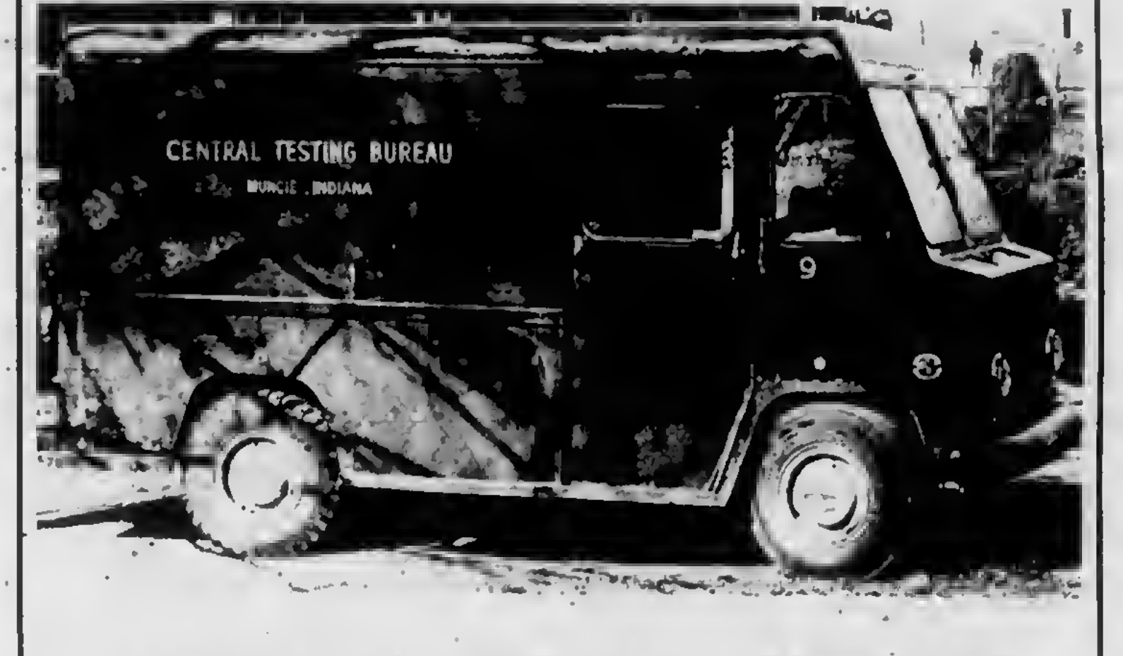
The Northeast Michigan Community Action, Inc. hosted approximately 35 mothers of Headstart children from a 12 county area in Gaylord last Wednesday.

The all-day meeting was held for the purpose of discussing a summer and full-year Headstart Program with emphasis on parental involvement. Robert Peters, Executive Director of NEMCA gave a brief explanation of other programs proposed by this Community Action Agency to effectively serve low-income families: Planned Parenthood, Emergency Food Fund, Drug Abuse and Housing Program.

A buffet luncheon was enjoyed by the mothers and staff of Community Organizers. Those attending the meeting from Charlevoix County were April Vallad, Eleanor Bradfield, Carol Crouterfield, Helen Steinbrook and Janet Dunnette.

Ruppe to visit

Congressman Philip Ruppe will be visiting Charlevoix County Tuesday, April 21. He will conduct office hours in Boyne City and East Jordan. The office hours in Boyne City will be from 9 to 10 a.m. in City Hall; hours in East Jordan will be from 11 a.m. to 12 noon in the City Building. Ruppe will also attend Rotary Luncheon in East Jordan at noon. That afternoon he will be in Gaylord and will attend the teach-in at Alpena Community College.



Central Testing Bureau of Muncie, Indiana, will be in Charlevoix for the next several weeks testing the accuracy of and cleaning electric meters. The city has contracted the firm for the work.

Boat delayed

Ice jammed into the harbor at Beaver Island delayed the opening trips of the Beaver Islander last week.

The ship was scheduled to begin its annual set of once-a-day Journeys last Wednesday, but ice conditions in St. James harbor made the trip impossible.

Beaver Island Boat Company manager James Gallagher said the boat was ready for the season and trips would begin when ice melted or was blown out of the harbor.

C of C 'eye-opener'

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce will hold an Eye-Opener Breakfast Wednesday, April 22 at 7:30 a.m. at the Weathervane Inn.

The coffee and roll breakfast is for all Charlevoix merchants and industrialists to have a chance to get together and work out the Chambers coming activities.

New club planned

Last Thursday about 18 people from Charlevoix, Petoskey and East Jordan met to discuss plans to organize a yacht club on Lake Charlevoix. This club would be for sail and power boats and would be open to residents and resorters alike. Josh Barnes led the discussion which was fruitful enough so that the group agreed to meet this Thursday, April 23, at the Weathervane at four o'clock to hold a brief meeting and visit proposed sites.

Anyone who is interested in helping to organize such a club is invited to attend the next meeting.

Wind rips city bldgs.

High winds Sunday night and early Monday ripped up a section of roof at the Woodshed, shattered two plate glass windows at the Hess Furniture Co., knocked down an antenna on the roof of the K & A Dodge building and toppled an exhaust pipe on Max Novak's Bridge-st. building.

Police said the wind also took down many tree branches and sent garbage cans careening through the streets.

The U.S. Coast Guard Lifeboat Station reports winds in Charlevoix gusted up to 50 knots during the height of the easterly blow.

Winds up to 60 knots were reported by men stationed at Lansing Shoal Light, about 60 miles northwest of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Richard Wood reported Monday morning that a large section of the Woodshed roofing had been lifted by the storm and rain water was dripping into the building and the north porch. The loss is covered by insurance.

Hess Furniture lost two plate glass windows facing Bridge St. Some rain entered the building before a plastic sheet could be tacked over the opening. The loss also is covered by insurance.

Cable TV service in Charlevoix went out about 11 p.m. Sunday, but was restored Monday morning.

George Baldwin, manager of the Lake Charlevoix Cable TV Co., says he isn't sure what happened, but he believes a wet limb may have fallen across a power line and the TV cable, shorting out the cable.

Bob Clock returns as CC editor

Bob Clock has returned as editor of the Charlevox Courier.

Fiske Martin recently resigned the post to assume the general managership of a newspaper in Pennsylvania.

Clock was editor of the Courier from 1965 until 1967. For the past two years he has worked for the Petoskey News-Review, covering Charlevoix County.

Beginning with the issue of April 28, the Courier will be printed Tuesday mornings, allowing for coverage of city council meetings, school board meetings and other Monday evening happenings.

Other advertising and news deadlines will not be affected.

Beer party in cemetery

Vandals held a beer party in Brookside Cemetery some time Saturday night, tipping over at least one tombstone, a government marker.

Caretakers report that a number of beer cans also were left in the cemetery.

Charlevoix police are investigating.

RED RAYDERS

Bob Talbert, columnist of the Detroit Free Press, was the featured speaker at last week's All Sports Banquet.

300 honor athletes at All-Sports fete

Bob Talbert, Detroit Free Press Columnist, was guest speaker at the Annual All-Sports Banquet last Saturday in the high school gymnasium.

Some 300 Charlevoix High School athletes, parents and guests attended the banquet to honor Charlevoix's athletes and listen to Talbert's speech.

Talbert, once a sports-writer in South Carolina, told of many instances where the press had made personalities out of many professional athletes but today the press is no longer doing this as in the case of Denny McLain, they are now writing the truth about the pros.

Coach Don Carey was honored for his fifteen years of coaching at Charlevoix High School. He was given a wristwatch and a plaque with his win and loss record for the fifteen years as well as the conference standings.

Coach Carey also introduced each football and basketball team member and praised the entire team for their efforts throughout both season as Charlevoix compiled a 6-1-1 football record and a 12 and 6 basketball record.

Following was Coach Barry Anderson who have the J.V. basketball and the golf team reports. He stated that there were 16 boys going out for the golf team and looked forward to a good season.

Del Terrill introduced the track team and stated that Charlevoix was 8 points behind St. Ignace for the Michigan Huron Shore Conference All-Sports Trophy and feets that if we beat Petoskey in track Charlevoix will have an excellent chance to receive the trophy.

Bill Supernaw acted as master of ceremonies for the banquet.

Kujawski to seek Davis' House seat

John Kujawski, 43, of 437 Elm-st., Boyne City, announced today he would seek the Republican Party nomination for 106th District Representative in the upcoming primary election.

Kujawski, chairman of the Charlevoix Board of Commissioners and president of the Second District Association of County Commissioners for the northern eight counties, has been a Boyne City commissioner (supervisor) for 11 years. He has chaired the county board the past two years.

He and his wife, Patricia, who is a receptionist at Consumers Power Co.'s Big Rock Plant, have five children. He is a salesman for Electra Machine Co. of Charlevoix.

Kujawski served in the Army in Germany during World War II.

He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a director of Community Chest, a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and started the Cub Scout program in Boyne City.

The seat is being vacated by Rep. Robert W. Davis who is a GOP candidate for the senate seat being vacated by Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey.

Council approves low cost homes

Charlevoix City Council last Monday night approved plans for Richard Way to built a 50-home subdivision on the west side of the city providing he complies with the plat act.

The subdivision will consist of federally subsidized houses costing between $21,000 and $24,000.

Council also said it will cooperate in any way possible with the U.S. Corps of Engineers if it is successful in obtaining funds for 358 feet of sheet piling for the north side of Pine River Channel, from the bridge west.

The project will widen the channel and complete the north side revetment from Lake Michigan to the bridge.

Heard Mayor William Fochtman declare May 4 to 9 "Clean Up Week." The city will pick up trash on curbs and along alleys, providing it is in containers.

Heard a complaint from several residents that the proposed boat launching ramp at Ferry Beach will eliminate about 50 percent of the present bathing beach. The council said it will look into the possibility of expanding the beach to the north of the present bathing area.

Proclaimed April 21 to May 1 "Clean Water Week." All citizens are urged to familiarize themselves with the problem of water pollution and learn what they can do about it.

Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. May 11 on the rezoning of airport property sold recently by the city to Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp. The change will be from Agricultural 2 to Industrial 2. The vote was four to one, with Councilman Jack Mol dissenting.

Approved the board of canvassers' report on the April 6 election.

Brownie banquet set April 23

The Brownie Father-Daughter Banquet will be held on Thursday, April 23, at 6:30 in the evening at the Elementary School.

Dave Fowler will be the master of ceremonics and the special guest speaker will be Mrs. Judith Bares, field director from the Traverse City council.

Mrs. Edwin Mann who is service team chairman for Charlevoix will be a special guest as will be Mrs. Leola Carter who is troop organizer at the junior level.

The Reverend Jack Harris will lead singing and six different troops will present skits.

Brownie Day Camp will be held from June 15, through June 19.

Junior camping will take place June 22 through June 24.

Miss Bolhuis wed

Ethel Bolhuis became the bride of Roger Grunch in ceremonies at St. Mary's Church April 11th. Arrangement of blue and pink gladioli set the mood for the double ring ceremonies performed by Father Glauber.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. C.D. Geiken.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown featured with a molded bodice of chantilly lace aglow with dainty seed pearls and French sequins. A panel of matching lace formed the front of the A-line floor length skirt and the detachable chapel train was richly trimmed with bands of scalloped lace. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Susan Welch of Saginaw assisted the bride as maid of honor. Attendants were Carol Gill of Charlevoix and Barbara Burgel of Livonia. They wore matching gowns of a floral designed bodice accented with satin and crepe. The maid of honor wore blue with the bridesmaids wearing pink. They wore matching dior veils and carried bouquets of white carnations and bridal pink roses.

Russell Grunch assisted his brother as best man and Richard and Ronald Grunch, both brothers of the groom served as groomsmen.

Flower girl was Kelly Herriman with James Herriman as Ringbearer.

Leon Bolhuis, brother of the bride and Nathanal Herriman seated the guests.

The brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.T. Bolhuis, hosted a reception in St. Mary's Hall.

Roger Grunch is serving in the United States Marines as a corporal after his duties in Vietnam and Okinawa as a Radar Technician.

Following a wedding trip to Southern United States the couple will make their home in Beaufort, South Carolina.

Guests attended from Port Huron, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Chicago, Ludington and Detroit.

Former resident is engaged

The Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Wood of Bad Axe, Michigan, and formerly of Charlevoix, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Wood, to Dale J. Bonge of Grand Rapids.

Miss Wood, a graduate of North Central Michigan Junior College, received her Bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in December. Bonge graduated from Calvin College, and is presently working towards a Doctorate in musicology at the University of Michigan. The wedding is set for May 2 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Bad Axe.

Obituaries

Mrs. Curtis

Graveside services for Mrs. Roy Curtis, 71, a former local resident who died March 22 at Riverside, Calif., were held Saturday at Brookside cemetery, the Rev. Elmer Faust officiating.

Mrs. Curtis, the former Clara Nowland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Nowland, was born here June 26, 1898 and in the 1930 went west to make her home. She lived in California and later in Washington and Oregon before returning to Riverside, Calif., last year.

Surviving are a son, Harry Gagin Jr. of Riverside; two grandchildren; a half-sister, Mrs. Lillian Moore of Charlevoix, and two brothers, Frank Nowland of Miami, Fla., and Maurice Nowland of Detroit.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

My files are increasing with applications for summer employment. They range from babysitting, mothers' helpers, general office work, typists, secretaries, and what have you. For the males, so far they all appear anxious for summer employment, period. They all seem to be of the trainable category. We certainly hope that a good number of employers will have room for some of these, who are all students.

I am yet searching to bolster the Lakeside Hobbycraft Show Committee for 1970. This event will be the second annual, on Saturday, July 11. I feel this event merits support and the idea should not be allowed to go by the wayside. However, without some personal interest and a little effort, where else can it go? This would not be fair, of course.

There is an extremely well-established and co-ordinated committee supporting this Chamber's sponsorship of the Water Front Fair (arts and crafts.) This show has purposes, one of which is to supply some working capital much needed for the Chamber and comes in at an appropriate time. This year, it will be the twelfth annual, Saturday, August 8.

I must call for some help for our Venetian Festival. We have a thousand and one ideas to bolster this long-standing annual event, like many of you folks have. However, as a general rule, all of the ideas to become effective, take some personal effort and more often than not, some dollars. I hope to hear from some of you folks.

There was a meeting scheduled for April 15 with representatives of Trans-Michigan Airlines. Sorry to report that by necessity it had to be postponed and it will be re-scheduled in the near future.

I should like to again remind you that we are continually getting calls for summer cottages and/or summer homes or homes in town for rent, parts and some for all season. Let's hear from you so we can get these people in here. The rentals referred to are ones preferring not to be at any commercial premises, so called.

Again be advised that this Chamber's Eye-opener meeting (and the meeting is wide open) will be 7:30 a.m., Wednesday, April 22 at the Weathervane Inn. Of course, there will be coffee and. . . Board President, Bruce Bartlett will preside and also have a short message. We hope to have all of the Directors there, who hope to be able to answer questions and in turn I assure you, they have questions to ask and all in all, this part alone should be worthwhile. Time permitting, you might have ideas you wish to have discussed and so might they. These meetings generally last about one hour, but there is no objecton if anyone must leave earlier because of his or her business or employment. The first meeting, I would say, was successful; however, the attendance was not as large as expected. Mark your calendars so as to help you remember Wednesday, April 22, 7:30 a.m. at the Weathervane Inn. I might add that this provides an opportunity for you to get down off the bleachers and get into the ball game, so to speak. Do not overlook the fact that this Chamber (or any other Chamber) is a community project, how much of one way or another are you putting into it for the overall betterment, etc.?

The following is taken from a recent release of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Washington, D.C.:

Tax Dollars Paying the Piper

"In this fiscal year, 1970, the U.S. government must pay $17 billion in interest on the debt there has already accumulated. In 1941 the total Federal budget was only $14 billion. So it is costing Uncle Sam $3 billion more to meet his simple interest obligations than it cost him to run the whole works just prior to World War II."

Jenkin Lloyd Jones,
President of the Chamber of Commerce
of the United States.

Where The Action Is

"The national chamber is an instrument of change–not the status quo. At the local level, there's no more natural organization to serve as the community's instrument for change and action than the local Chamber. Chambers of Commerce promote change rather than resist it. They instigate, lead, and foster change."

Arch N. Booth,
Executive Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce
of the United States.

And Maybe We'll
All Ride On Air

"In the next two decades–by 1990–we will have to duplicate all the transportation facilities we have put in place since the founding of our country."

Secretary John Volp of the Department of Transportation

I wish to add that we are receiving quite a few contacts for homes to rent beyond the season--two and three bedrooms, as well as the same for sale.

Miss Klein is bride

Miss Janet Lorraine Klein became the bride of Albert W. Solomon in a double ring ceremony, April 11, at the First Methodist Church of Boyne City. Rev. R. J. McBratnie officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie R. Klein of Boyne City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold DeYoung of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an Alfred Angelo original of embroidered organza with a crescent waist and a wedding band collar. White satin ribbon was drawn through the gown down the front, and through the wide cuffs. Orange blossoms and teardrops secured her veil, cascading over her train. The bride carried a bouquet of carnations and miniature roses.

Mrs. Sherry Ernst, as Matron of Honor, wore a jonquil gown of Dacron sheer with a full skirt, camelot sleeves, and jeweled neckline. Her headpiece was a floral clip with a velvet bow and tulle. Loretta and Diane, Klein, sisters of the bride, and Vicki Dawson served as bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses with matching headpieces. Each carried a bouquet of carnations.

James Plumm served as best man, with Tony Crnkovich, Donald Solomon, and Gordon Solomon as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Gordon Solomon and Tony Crnkovich.

Mrs. Klein chose a pink ensemble of shantique combined with matching Bordonne lace. Mrs. DeYoung chose a blue gown of Rare Moment, highlighted by a tunic and Juliet sleeves of scalloped Bordinne lace.

Mrs. Erling Strangstad provided traditional wedding music.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held at the V. F. W. Hall in Boyne City. Miss Susan Klein, sister of the bride, assisted with the guest book. Mrs. Kenneth Robinson and Mrs. Donald Solomon served the wedding cake.

A rehearsal dinner, given by the groom's parents, was held at the Red Fox Inn.

The groom attended Northwestern Michigan University in Traverse City for 2 years, and North Central Michigan college. He now owns the Texaco gas station in Charlevoix.

After a two week wedding trip to Florida, the couple will make their home on Burns St. in Charlevoix.

Out of town guests attended from California and several Michigan cities.

To mark 90th

Francis R. Dickenson will celebrate his 90th birthday Wednesday, April 22. Dickenson has spent his summers in Charlevoix for the past 55 years.

Chainsaw Big Meal Ticket for Deer

The whirring sounds of chainsaws wielded by commercial loggers, field workers for the Department of Natural Resources, and hired tree-cutting crews echo a welcome "come-and-get-it" call for thousands of deer in northern Michigan during the winter. This season, the DNR has programmed commercial logging operations on about 26,000 acres of state forests in that part of the state as part of its annual efforts to help deer through the winter and to generally improve the animals' range over the longer haul. In addition to that, commercial cuttings are humming this winter on an estimated 100,000 acres of private holdings and U.S. Forest Service tracts to provide vital lifelines for deer and upgrade future living conditions for these animals. Elsewhere, on about 8,000 acres of northern state forest lands where timber is non-merchantable, the DNR has set up tree cuttings with bulldozers and hand crews to boost deer food rations. Besides promoting these regular tree-cutting programs, which produce hundreds of deer-feeding scenes like the one above (left), the DNR stands ready to mobilize a more massive, emergency plan to step up relief for whitetails should the need arise as it did last winter. --Michigan Department of Natural Resources

Elk Rapids man to run

Ted F. Miller of Elk Rapids publicly announced that he will seek the Republican Party Nomination in the impending primary election for House District No. 106, State of Michigan which comprises Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Mackinac, Otsego counties, with parts of Kalkaska and Chippewa Counties to occupy the vacancy to be created by Representative Robert W. Davis running for a State Senatorial position.

Miller, a World War II and Korean veteran, retired from the Air Force as a Personnel Superintendent on 30 September 1960, and was immediately hired as a Field Service Officer, Veteran's Counselor, by the Department of Michigan American Veterans of World War II, Korea, Vietnam and intervening peacetime years. He currently is serving as an Antrim County Commissioner and has been a member of the Elk Rapids Village Council, is active in Republican participation on county, district, state and national, is a Shriner, current chairman of the Elk River Drainage Basin Council, and is currently President Elect of the Elk Rapids Rotary Club.

Auxiliary plans games party at Grandvue

On April 30 at one o'clock Grandvue Auxiliary is having a benefit games party at the Medical Care Facility. Members and friends are asked to make up a table, bringing their own game supplies and a one dollar donation.

There will be a Bake Sale along with the party. Refreshments will be served and numerous prizes awarded. Come and have a good time and help a worthy cause!

Census takers are easy to identify

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying enumerators for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing, District Manager Frank Lowry pointed out today. Enumerators, or census takers (most of whom are women), started making their rounds in the area on April 1 and are expected to complete their work in three to five weeks.

Each census taker will wear a red, white, and blue identification card. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce, and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. It bears the census taker's signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a census enumerator and has sworn to keep confidential all census information you provide.

Persons purporting to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local police or to the census district office, which is located at Traverse City, Michigan.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is blue and bears the legend, "1970 Census." In the portfolio, the census taker carries her supplies of report forms, maps, pencils, and other tools necessary for her work.

Judge Smith hears cases

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix Thursday by District Judge Wayne Richard Smith:

Mrs. Bonita Louise Warner, 22, East Jordan, waived examination on a charge of petty larceny and was bound over to the April term of Circuit Court. She was released on personal recognizance. Mrs. Warner is accused of attempting to take a bottle of spirits from Neff Brothers market on Feb. 27.

Mrs. Alice Hickcox, 49, South Arm Township, paid a fine and costs totaling $50 on a charge of simple larceny from Glen's market in East Jordan April 2.

Paul Antoine, 18, East Jordan, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on a charge of petty larceny. He was assessed $25 in fine and costs and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. He also was placed on probation for three months. Antoine was charged with attempting to take cigarettes from the Clark gas station in Charlevoix.

Edward J. Kaskey, 23, Lyons, Mich., pled guilty to a charge of driving while his operator's license was suspended. He was assessed $50 in fine and costs.

Consumers' scientists survey lake ecology

Teams of scientists and technicians are working hard to probe the timeless secrets of nature locked in water, land and air surrounding the Lake Michigan shore site of Consumers Power Company's Palisades nuclear plant.

Instruments – in little blue boxes, under tin "hats", on top of poles, or resting in scattered locations on the bottom of Lake Michigan – are helping the scientists.

The instruments never stop working.

Data is being gathered on such things as air currents, water temperatures, the natural radiological background of the area, and habits of plant and fish life.

Some of the studies being made by Consumers Power are required by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, which wants to know before the plant starts operating just what the radiation count in the area normally is. Other tests are being conducted to learn about the ecology or natural life of the area, before the plant begins operating. These studies will form the background against which measurements will be made after the big power plant starts sending its 710,000 kilowatts of power to Consumers Power Company customers.

These tests, in turn, will indicate any effects the plant may have on the environment.

The sampling and analysis programs are in three main groups: Marine biology, water temperatures and currents, and background radiation.

The careful probing of the area's marine life is conducted in part by a team of Canadian experts from T.W. Beak Consultants, Ltd., of Toronto, one of two companies in the world which specialize in commercial work in the field of applied biology. The other company is in South Africa.

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources is a participant in much of the Palisades area study, and has made a boat available to the Consumers Power and Beak technicians.

The conservation people operate the test boat, making their own fish biology samplings. They are getting an index of 1970 fish population in the area against which they can measure future fish populations.

Another boat which leaves the plant site regularly is used by Consumers Power in its own water temperature testing program.

Considerable attention is being paid to biological conditions in Lake Michigan because the Palisades plant will use water for cooling purposes. And the scientists are going to find out, in their scientific way, just what the fish think about this. And the bottom life. And the plankton. And the slime.

More directly related, perhaps, to the nuclear aspects of the Palisades plant are the land and air environmental studies involving the measure of natural radioactivity and the many tests which are being conducted to establish this level as the bench-mark against which future readings will be compared.

The instruments in little blue boxes and under tin "hats" which look like coolie hats, tell this story. The boxes hold fans which force air through filters that catch particles for testing. The boxes sit at a dairy in South Haven, in a vineyard at Covert, at the plant site and in places as far away as Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Dowagiac.

The little tin hats simply shield a plastic bag from the weather. The bag contains a very sensitive piece of film, much like that used in any camera. The film is replaced monthly and the exposed negative shows the amount of radiation received during that time.

All parts of the world have a natural radioactivity level. Therefore, the films provide a direct measure of the natural level in the South Haven area.

The testing and monitoring of the Palisades area will continue, the company states, for as long as the plant operates.

News from Ellsworth

Mrs. Anne Osterbaan
Phone 588-2433

Miss Agnes Helene Timmer of Fort Collins, Colorado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Timmer of Ada, Mich., formerly of Ellsworth and Allen Leroy Heersink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Heersink of Alamosa, Colorado, were married March 23 in the Alamosa Christian Reformed Church. About 35 guests, near relatives attended the simple wedding ceremony performed by Rev. Van Essens of Fort Collins.

Agnes was given in marriage by her father and carried a bouquet of red roses. Attending her was her sister, Kathleen of Fort Collins. Myron Heersink was his brother Allens' attendant.

Agnes graduated from the 8th grade in the Ebenezer Christian School in 1957 and from the Ellsworth High School in 1961, and from Calvin College Grand Rapids in 1965. She then attended the University of Michigan for a year and received her Masters Degree in Mathematics. She spent 3 years teaching math in Madison, Wisc. high school. Last fall, she entered Colorado State University where she has a teaching assistantship and is in a Ph.D. program. Mr. Heersink recently served in the U.S. service and was in Vietnam a year. After his discharge from the service in Sept. he attended Colorado State University. He is a brother of Mrs. Andrew Veenstra of Atwood.

Attending the wedding besides her parents were her brothers, Earle of Calvin College, Richard of the University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., where he recently received his Master of Science Degree.

Coming events: The Ebenezer Christian School P.T.A. will sponsor a Community Auction sale April 28 at 1 p.m. at the Cadet Building. Donations will be appreciated.

The Ellsworth Community School P.T.A. will meet April 21 at 8:15 p.m. The Home Ec girls will give a dress review. Election of officers will also take place.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rubingh and daughter Eleanor of Fremont left Wednesday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Rubingh and Mrs. Mettie Vander Ark.

Tuesday, April 7, was Harold Jansens' birthday. He was honored over WJML Petoskey as man of the day. Harold is manager of the Ellsworth Farmers Exchange, elder in the Christian Reformed Church and Sec'y-Treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boss spent a few days down south last week. Mrs. Maggie Heeres, who spent some time with her son John and family in Kalamazoo and relatives in Hudsonville returned home with them Wednesday.

Cornie Klooster spent Sunday with Jake and Kathryn Timmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Sexton and Clinton jr., of Grand Rapids were weekend visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. John De Vries, who are quite "homebound" appreciated being asked to spend Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rubingh where several others came to sing Dutch Psalms with the DeVries. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kuiper, Mr. and Mrs. John Veldkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Wynsma, Mettie VanderArk and Anne Osterbaan. Mrs. Rubingh served ice cream and birthday cake in honor of her fathers' Mr. Kuiper birthday which was April 15.

Tuesday evening a personal and linen shower was given for Francis Potter by the women of the Wesleyan Church at the home of Mrs. Bill Kirby.

The Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Church had an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Larry Essenberg. Potluck dinner was enjoyed.

Brownie Troop 228 visited WJML at Petoskey Saturday afternoon. They were given a grand tour of the studio and were so pleased to have their names and ages read over the radio. To top the afternoon, they were given a treat at the dairy queen. Leaders, Mrs. Nels Nelson and Mrs. Grover Evert accompanied them.

Mrs. Donald Powers and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Archer of Lansing, Miss Bonnie Peebles of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Nancy) Mikey of Traverse City came Saturday to attend the wedding of Wayne Peebles and Barbara Moses at St. Marys Church at Charlevoix.

The last of the snowpiles have melted from the sidewalks. Drenth Bro. were along last week to clean up the dirt and leaves at the curbs. Looks much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Petrie of Durand were weekend visitors with the Walter Petries of Echo Twp. and the William Petters. They came to see Mrs. Walter Petrie who is in Charlevoix Hospital, with a broken arm, the result of a recent fall on ice.

Sarah Meyer, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Meyer preparing her exhibit for the Charlevoix Hobbycraft show on July 11. Sarah is the talented granddaughter of Robert Frantz and the late Salli Frantz, well-known artists of the Belvedere Club.

Hobbycraft show planned July 11

BY BERNICE WEXSTAFF

Norman and Verna Helms have announced that plans are well underway for the second Annual Lakeside HobbyCraft Show which will be held Saturday, July 11, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The show, as usual, will be located at Charlevoix's East Park and it is open to all qualified exhibitors--children, teens, in-betweens and senior citizens.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the show is promoted and planned by the local citizenry and is separate and district from the later Art Show which takes place in August.

However, more interested persons are needed to work on the committee with Mr. and Mrs. Helms and it is hoped that Chamber of Commerce members and others will find time to contribute a few work hours to this worthwhile project, that it may become as successful as hobby shows in other Michigan resort cities, and Charlevoix-the-Beautiful may one day be rated the summer art and hobby center of the state.

All interested in lending a helping hand please phone the Chamber of Commerce office---547-2101 and leave your name and telephone number with Wally Loder, chamber manager.

COMMON COUNCIL

April 13, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding. Aldermen present: Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

The Minutes of the March 30, 1970 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book.

Several citizens of the City appeared before the Council expressing their opinions on proposed Waterfront Development on Ferry Avenue beach.

Moved by Alderman Sundberg and supported by Alderman Gill that the proposed plan of Richard Way for a sub-division development on the West side of the City be approved.

Motion adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Boss that the week of May 4 to May 9, 1970 be designated as clean-up week in the City of Charlevoix.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Alderman Boss offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption supported by Alderman Klooster.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the residents of the City of Charlevoix are dependent on the natural waters of the states lakes and streams for their health, economic welfare and recreation; and

WHEREAS, these lakes and streams are being polluted with industrial, domestic and agricultural wastes; and

WHEREAS, the continued pollution of our natural waters would be disastrous to the health and welfare of the people; and

WHEREAS, the members of Lions Clubs of Michigan are working to eliminate the hazards of water pollution; and

WHEREAS, it is equally important that all of the people of this community are made aware of water pollution hazards and of their responsibilities for pollution abatement; and

WHEREAS, the Lions of Michigan have designated the week of April 25th through May 1st as a period during which special attention will be focused on water pollution;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William Fochtman, Mayor of the City of Charlevoix do hereby proclaim the week of April 25, 1970 as

and sincerely urge all citizens to join with me in gaining a wider understanding of water pollution and of the contribution we can make toward the protection of our most valuable resource.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand, on this 13th day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine-hundred and seventy.

(signed)
William E. Fochtman,
Mayor

ATTESTED Hugh Mayne,
City Clerk

Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Alderman Gill offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Sundberg.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED, that the meeting of the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix be held on Monday, May 11, 1970, at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Room in the City Hall in said city, be and is hereby designated as the time and place for a public hearing upon proposed Amendments to Ordinance Number 203, entitled "The Zoning Ordinance," wherein it is proposed to amend said Ordinance by amending Sections 2109 and 2107 of Article XXI thereof, as follows:

Article XXI
Section 2109

Section 2109 of Article XXI of Ordinance Number 203, as amended, is hereby further amended by excluding from Agricultural I District the following described land:

Article XXI
Section 2107

Section 2107 of Article XXI of Ordinance Number 203, as amended, is hereby further amended by adding unto and including in Industrial District II the following described land:

In City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan; Commencing at an iron stake which is 1435 feet South and 913 feet West of the Northeast corner of Section 34, Town 34 North, Range 8 West; thence West 64.30 feet to an iron stake; thence at an angle of 90° 30' to the left 127.85 feet to an iron stake; thence East, perpendicular to the last described course, 25 feet to an iron stake; thence South perpendicular to the last described course, 159.95 feet to an iron stake, being the point of beginning of this description; thence East, perpendicular to the last described course, 167.95 feet to an iron stake; thence at an angle of 40° 45' to the right 12.08 feet to an iron stake; thence at an angle of 40° 15' to the left 50.00 feet to an iron stake; thence at an angle of 72° 43' 11" to the right from the last described course 133.38 feet; thence at an angle of 107° 16' 49" to the right from the last described course 265.62 feet; thence at an angle of 89° 30' to the right 133.71 feet to the point of beginning; being a part of the Southeast Quarter of the Northeast Quarter of Section 34, Town 34 North, Range 8 West.

This Resolution replaces the Resolution passed at the March 30, 1970 meeting of the Common Council.

Adopted by the following Yea and Nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: Alderman Mol.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Moved by Alderman Mol and supported by Alderman Klooster that the report of the County Board of Canvassers on the City Election held April 6, 1970 be accepted and placed on the records of the City Council.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $35,562.37 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Mol, Sundberg, Boss, Gill, and Klooster.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

Hugh Mayne, City Clerk

Letters to the editor

Uof M student scores 'report'

Dear Editor,

As a student at the University of Michigan, I read the "College Report" in the March 30 issue of the Courier with a great deal of interest. Anything the Courier can do to help a high school graduate find the college that meets his needs and desires is certainly a worthwhile public service. If this was the purpose of the article, I laud the intent, but at the same time recognize that it failed miserably. I certainly hope that the graduates of Charlevoix High School can obtain some more professional counseling elsewhere to help them make the important decisions regarding the selection of a college.

The article itself was not a "College Report", but merely a sounding board used by the writer to present her ideas on campus disruption, and as such should have been placed on the editorial page. To be sure, the writer did include some specific comments on a few church schools and a couple of state supported institutions. Unfortunately, the attempts to evaluate these schools were so brief that they were practically meaningless and were marred by the fact that the writer felt it her duty to endorse each school on the basis of its campus being free of disruption. Certainly such brief comments did not do justice to the schools mentioned while dozens of other fine small institutions throughout the country were ignored completely.

The writer is also guilty of making the generalization that campus disruption is a phenomenon that is common to large state-supported universities when she refers to "the violence that prevails on university campuses" and the "violent disruption of classes and destruction of property, which has become the norm in State (Why the capital S?) tax-supported schools."

In the past year, I have visited the campuses of several large state universities and have found that many of them such as the Universities of Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Purdue were relatively free of campus unrest while others such as the Universities of California, Wisconsin and Michigan were seething with political activism.

It is equally false to assume that state supported universities have a monopoly on campus disruption. Both Harvard and Columbia have long histories of campus disorder and even violence although they are privately supported and Denison, a small private school in Ohio, has recently been closed as a result of campus disorders stemming from racial problems. I could cite several more examples, but I think those already mentioned are sufficient to make the point that the factors leading to problems on college campuses are much more subtle and much more fundamental than size or funding.

It does not seem to me that the writer of the "College Report" has identified these causes in her own mind, for if she had, she could not be so adamant in condemning all colleges which have been rocked with disruptions.

There are two very important points that she seems to be ignoring in her thinking. The first is that we live in a world filled with problems that have no obvious solutions. Secondly, a good education is both liberal and relevant. This is to say that a good education teaches the eager student to investigate the world as it really exists and encourages him to question and objectively evaluate what he finds. The result of providing such an education is that conflict and even violence often erupt when students recognize social ills and see the necessity for change for the benefit of society. This is not to say that disruption and violence are always a necessary or even a desirable step in solving all social problems. Neither do I mean to excuse all acts of campus disruption as well-intended movements for social improvement. It is, however, inevitable that in a world of conflict, any college that tries to give its students a liberal and relevant education is going to find some of the world's conflicts creeping into its classrooms.

Just as disruption often stems from education, it is also true that education often stems from disruption. In my years at Michigan, a good many of the lessons I have learned have been taught by a shouting demonstrator. Just this past week, I was made aware of the subtle ways in which institutional racism works to deny equal rights to all citizens by a group of black students who engineered a student strike that nearly closed this university. This was a very valuable lesson and I am especially glad that my parents were in Ann Arbor and also had a chance to learn this lesson even though they were forced to listen to the taunts (some of them obscene) of demonstrators and to smell the foul odor of a stink bomb. In many ways, this lesson and others I have learned as a result of unrest on this campus have been as

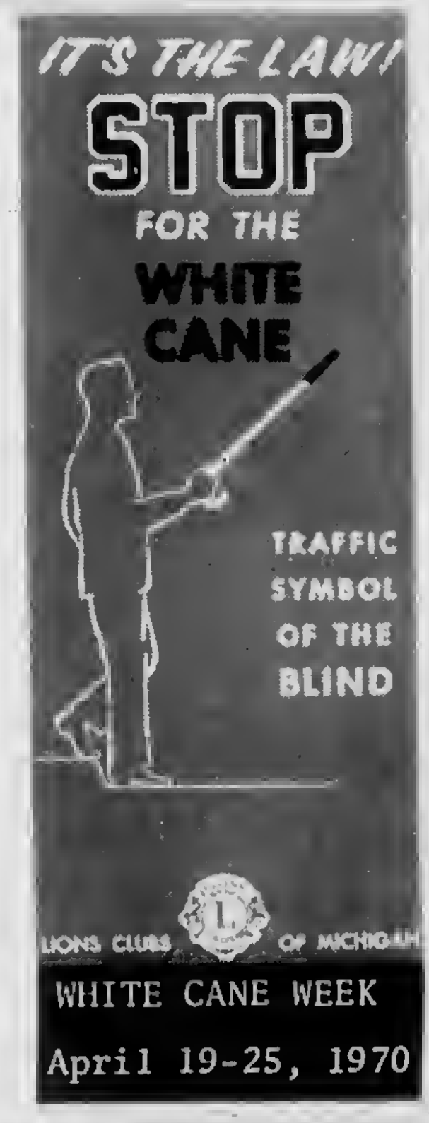
Hospital confab set in Chicago

The Michigan health care field will be heavily represented in the program of the 40th Annual Tri-State Hospital Assembly, scheduled to get underway May 4 at the Palmer House in Chicago. H. Allan Barth, executive director of the Michigan Hospital Association, who serves on the Educational Committee, the coordinating body of the three-day annual meeting, has stated that the Tri-State Assembly is one of the largest of its kind in the nation and is expected this year to attract hospital personnel numbering nearly 15,000 and representing over 1,000 hospitals in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin...the states which make up the Assembly.

Among those who plan to attend is Rollie M. Dudik, administrator of Charlevoix Hospital.

This year's convention will be highlighted by five general assemblies, two of which will feature Michigan speakers. Theodore Goldberg, Ph. D., Senior Medical Care Consultant, Social Security Department, International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace & Agricultural Implement Workers of America-UAW of Detroit, will address one of the assemblies on the topic, "Organized Labor," and John A. Callahan, president, Georgian Court of America, Inc., of Grosse Pointe, will speak on "The Non-Profit Hospital and the For-Profit Nursing Home."

According to Barth, three major seminars will also include Michigan participants. One of the discussants in a seminar program, "The Student Challenges the Health Care System" will be Nathaniel L. Wesley, Graduate Program Hospital Administration, University of Michigan.



Dean's list

Miss Deborah Potter has been named to the Dean's List at North-Western Michigan College in Traverse City.

Miss Potter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Potter of Charlevoix.

GOP meets

Charlevoix County Republicans met in the Court house Thursday night, April 9.

There was general business, a report from the registration committee, the membership drive committee, and a financial report.

Afterwards, the committee for promoting Bob Davis for State Senator met. A chairman was appointed to the committee for the Bob Davis for State Senator Promotion Luncheon to be held at the Weathervane, $25 per couple. Ted Browe, chairman.

Rayder trackmen take 1st meet

Dump St. Ignace, T.C.S.F.

RAYDER LARRY POTTER tackles the high jump in Friday's track meet with St. Ignace and Traverse City St. Francis. Charlevoix took the meet.

Charlevoix thinclads ran, jumped and "shot-putted" to a narrow victory over Traverse City St. Francis and by a wider margin over St. Ignace at the Rayders' first track meet of the season Friday.

Originally scheduled for Thursday, the meet was put off a day after rain dampened the track grounds at CHS.

Charlevoix rang up a total of 69½ points, compared to 65½ for Traverse City St. Francis and 14 for St. Ignace.

The Rayders took seven firsts in the shot put, high jump, 880 relay, 120-yard high hurdles, mile run, 100-yard dash, and the 220-yard dash.

Following are the Charlevoix winners by event:

Shot put: 1st, Kevin Swanson, 41 feet, 4 inches; 3rd, Kraag Lieberman, 37 feet, 6½ inches; and 4th Joe Jones, 37 feet 6 inches.

Pole Vault: 2nd Terry Elzinga, 10 feet, 6 inches; and 4th, Dan Berg, 9 feet, 6 inches.

High Jump: 1st, Bruce Meggison, 5 feet, 8 inches.

Broad Jump: 3rd, C. T. Martin, 17 feet, 3¼ inches.

880 Relay: 1st (Larry Potter, Jerry Pease, Stewart Coleman and Kraag Lieberman), 141.1.

880-Yard-Run: 2nd, Martin Couisnau, 2.159.

120-Yard High Hurdles: 1st Larry Potter, 16.9; 4th, Mike Wheat, 19.15.

Mile Run: 1st, Jerry Parsel, 5.037; 3rd, Carl Novak, 5.126; and 4th, Mark Westenbroek, 5.142.

100-Yard Dash: 1st, Kraag Lieberman, 10.6; and 3rd, Jerry Pease, 11.

440-Yard-Dash: 2nd, Dan Berg, 58.2; and 3rd, George Anderson, 58.28.

180-Yard-Dash: 2nd, Joe Jones, 23.35; and 3rd, Bob Crain, 23.7.

Two Mile Run: 2nd, Charles Novak, 11.265; and 4th, Charles Borths, 11.416.

220-Yard-Dash: 1st, Kraag Lieberman, 23.9.

Mile Relay: 2nd, (Jerry Parsel, Carl Novak, George Anderson and Don Berg).

The next meet will be at Gaylord either Thursday or Friday. The Huron Shores Conference match will be with Alpena Catholic and Gaylord.

CHARLEVOIX'S Joe Jones winds up for the shot put during Friday's track meet. The next will be with Gaylord and Alpena Catholic on Thursday or Friday.

Ex-patient likes her apartment

New patients at Grandvue include: Edward Beene of Ironton, April 6, and Agatha Fasczewski of Boyne Falls, April 11.

Helen Rothenberger has left Grandvue to make her home in the Litzenburger Place apartments in Boyne City. Reports from her say she is very happy there and getting along beautifully. Angeline Gregory is joining her this week when she moves into the same apartments.

Dr. Robert Luke of Petoskey called April to attend to the foot needs of our patients. Robert Hooper was also here that day to hold an in-service training session for the staff on the social needs of our patients. Hooper is a medical social worker.

Grandvue residents were also included in the 1970 census reports, and Helen Deming and Virginia Uhlinger spent several days completing the census forms for the patients.

Irene Behling and her husband, Shirley, spent several days in and around Adrian recently, visiting Irene's sister who is a patient at Adrian Hospital. Betty Robertson also spent a long weekend in the Grand Rapids area recently, visiting with friends.

The Grandvue MCF Auxiliary met April 9 at the facility, with 26 members present. Plans were completed for the Benefit Games party and bake sale which will be held at the facility on April 30 at 2 p.m. A complete announcement of this party will be issued at a later date. Auxiliary members also voted to purchase a new roster, bearing the names, room numbers, and home towns of the patients, which will be placed in a convenient spot for easy reference.

Mrs. Hilda Watkins and Mrs. Irene Behling attended a meeting in Traverse City on April 9.

Edward Lorch has returned to Grandvue, after having been a patient at Little Traverse Hospital for two weeks. It's good to have him back. He is really the type of person who is missed when he is away.

We can tell spring is here, because Sims Baker and Paul Carson, our maintenence men, have been busy in the yard, raking and cleaning up. On rainy days, they have stayed inside and finished painting the trim around doors.

Pat Craft is back to work, after having been off three months to care for her new little son, Chad, who was born Jan. 1. Chad came to join his brother and four sisters. Dad takes care of him during the day when Pat is working.

Diversional Therapy is still at work making Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls. It looks like a nursery in their room, with all the little dresses and suits hanging up. They took time out during Easter to make Easter Bunnies and baskets, but have now returned to the dolls. Orders are still coming in for these dolls, which have been a real "hot" item. We have already sold 73 of these darling little dolls.

Magistrate hears cases

The following cases were heard by District Court Magistrate John C. Connolly last week:

Irvin Burns, 21, Walloon Lake, was assessed $25 for speeding.

Barbara Duncan, Orion, Mich., was assessed $23 for speeding.

Mary Simon, Bay Shore, was assessed $15 for a stop sign violation.

Michael E. Thorpe, Charlevoix, was assessed $10 for having no valid vehicle registration.

Robert DeYoung, Charlevoix, was assessed $10 for having no valid vehicle registration.

Barry Vetting, 20, Charlevoix, was assessed $15 for violation of the basic speed law.

Lessons From Space

"The tree the tempest with a crash of wood,

Throws down in front of us is not to stop

Our progress from our journey's end for good

But just to ask us who we think we are,

Insisting on our own way so."

These words, penned years ago by poet Robert Frost, may well serve as a footnote to the sage of Apollo 13, the ill-fated spaceship which arrived back on Planet Earth Friday with her crew alive and well.

It's mission was aborted after an explosion -- or collision with a meteorite -- made the scheduled moon landing impossible. The world waited breathlessly while the crippled ship completed its orbit of the moon and then limped back toward home.

Of prime concern all week was the safety of astronauts James A. Lovell, John L. Swigert and Fred W. Haise who were aboard the stricken craft.

After their safe splashdown in the South Pacific, the entire world breathed a collective sigh of relief.

Of course, the scientific community will sorely miss the rock samples and other lunar data the astronauts were expected to bring back with them from Fra Mauro, a mountain valley in a hitherto unexplored portion of the moon.

The rocks at Fra Mauro are believed to be far older than those from the Ocean of Storms or the Sea of Tranquility where American's first two moon-landings were made. In fact, the valley may contain the oldest rocks ever seen by the eyes of man.

A few beleagured taxpayers may cry the blues at the expenditure of $375 million for a space venture which was forced to terminate prematurely.

But we believe that the flight of Apollo 13 eventually will yield a wealth of information relative to space travel and survival in space that could have been gained in no other way.

The aborted mission should give us an accurate appraisal of the various back-up systems incorporated in our spacecraft and how they can be improved.

If the cause of the explosion can ever be determined, we should be able to redesign the spacecraft to guard against the eventuality of the same thing happening again.

Physicians and psychiatrists also should have gained an encyclopedia of information relative to how astronauts react in space to the pressure of life-and-death situations.

The failure of the Apollo 13 mission certainly is to be regretted. But it may be just what we needed to introduce a modicum of humility into our space program. Since the first successful landing near the Sea of Tranquility last July, we have been by turns both cocky and blase about America's prowess among the stars.

Like the tree that fell in front of Frost's traveler, the explosion aboard the Apollo 13 is only a temporary roadblock in our eventual exploration of outer space. It should give us an opportunity to look outward and inward before we look upward again.

Spring Tonic

The wind Ensemble concert presented by Northern Michigan University at Charlevoix High School last Thursday was just the tonic many of us needed to tackle the myriad activities of spring and summer.

Under the baton of Dr. Lorin C. Richtmeyer, the 50 musicians presented a program to suit every musical taste -- from rock-ribbed traditionalists who want their music to "sound nice" to members of the avant-garde who believe music should serve as a springboard for the imagination.

Thanks to the tireless efforts of CHS Band Director Clarence Odmark, bands and orchestral groups from most of Michigan's leading universities have made Charlevoix a port-of-call when they tour the state.

We hope the NMU Wind Ensemble will add Charlevoix to its itinerary when it takes to the road again. It was fun having them.

Massachuetts and the Vietnam war

Thanks to the Massachusetts legislature, the way is now open for the United States to get out of the war in Vietnam without the loss of face President Nixon so greatly fears.

The Massachusetts lawmakers, have, in effect, declared the war in Vietnam unconstitutional, because there never has been a formal declaration by Congress.

If Massachusetts is upheld by the Supreme Court, the President will be forced to exact a formal declaration of war against North Vietnam from Congress. If Congress fails to concur, the President will have no choice other than to withdraw U.S. troops from the fighting, with all due apologies to South Vietnam.

And the war, at least our involvement in it, will be over.

Even more important, Congress would reaffirm the role assigned it by the Constitution relative to the waging of war. The position of Congress has been in limbo in this respect ever since former President Harry S. Truman sent troops to Korea 20 years ago without a formal declaraton of war by our elected lawmakers.

We trust the Supreme Court will give the Massachusetts legislation all the consideration it merits before reaching a decision. Remember, this was an action by a duly elected state governing body -- not the long-haired, unkempt hippies who traditionally have been in the vanguard of the peace movement.

The Massachusetts attorney general has recommended that draftees from The Bay State obey all federal laws relative to the Vietnam war until the Supreme Court reaches a decision on the legislation.

We hope the court's decision will be both fast and favorable. There is no other end in sight to the fighting in Vietnam. Our losses to date have been horrendous. We are squandering manpower and military supplies in a war the French proved long ago was hopeless.

It is perhaps fitting that the descendants of the Boston Tea Party have shown us how to end it.

Editorial incorrect

To the Editor
THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Sir:

The editorial in the March 30 issue of the Charlevoix Courier, headlined "Oil and Citizens," has just been called to my attention.

While we are not disposed to argue with the general stand taken in the editorial, the last paragraph contains a factual misstatement which should be corrected. That is the reference to "the money it (the Department of Natural Resources) would derive from the oil and gas leases."

This is to advise you that payments for oil and gas leases on state-owned lands, as well as any royalty payments for production of oil and gas on state-owned lands, go into the state's General Fund and are appropriated by the Legislature for general purposes. The DNR derives nothing from them, and its budget is in no way affected by them.

The only exception is a small amount of revenue from leases and royalties on lands purchased by the state out of the Game and Fish Protection Fund (license fees). These lands are located primarily in southern Michigan and make up a very small proportion of total state ownership.

Sale of oil and gas leases on public lands is mandated by the Legislature, which has enacted laws declaring the DNR "shall" conduct such sales. Having made the rules, the Legislature can, of course, change them at any time, which it did in the case your editorial refers to.

As an administrative agency responsible and responsive to the Legislature, the DNR postponed the scheduled March 25 sale as the Legislature directed, pending further consideration and public hearings.

Sincerely yours,

William J. Mullendore, Chief
Information and Education Division

Veterans hospitals

We have heard reports that our men in Veterans Hospitals are not receiving up-to-date care. What is being done about this?

~~Rep. Phil~~ Ruppe answers: "The Veterans Administration hospital system is under considerable pressure right now, because of the high rate of discharge from the Armed Services. In the past five years, the rate of separation from the armed forces has doubled. Many of our newest veterans are in need of intensive care, as well as complex health care equipment. The staffs and facilities of the VA hospitals are consequently, being worked beyond their capacities to assist our boys who have recently returned from Southeast Asia and all parts of the world.

The President, to alleviate the staff and facilities shortage, has approved a $50 million increase in the Veterans Administration medical care budget request for fiscal 1971. This would increase the money allotted to veterans hospitals by a sum of $210 million over the current year's approved appropriation. The funds will be used to activate over a thousand new beds for specialized medical care programs and nursing care.

Another bachelor confirmed

And then I wrote.....

The names have been changed to protect the guilty but 3 guys we'll call Don, Jim and Buster had a conversation which bears repeating. The subject was matrimony. As they argued over their tea cups, we eavesdropped and took notes in the wet rings on the bar.

Buster and Jim are married (not to each other, this is a family newspaper) and Don is not. Jim said Don was lucky to be a bachelor and would be smart to stay that way. Buster said nuts, marriage is great and Don should leap in, the water's fine. Don didn't get a chance to say much of anything but he didn't complain, probably because his married friends were popping for the tea.

"Nothing can take the place of the love of your children," Buster insisted. "When I come home at night and the kids greet me at the door I am overwhelmed at my good fortune."

"Your kids must stay up late," Jim said, "you usually don't get home until 2 a.m."

"I'm out of tea," said Don.

"I don't know what I'd do without my wife," Buster continued. "She listens to my troubles. She feeds me and encourages me and sends me off to work in a clean shirt everyday."

"These are all services available to any bachelor intelligent enough to locate a sympathetic barmaid, a good restaurant and the same laundry, your wife sends your shirts too," Jim answered.

"Put a bigger head on the next cup of tea," Don requested.

"Let me tell you about my wife," said Jim. "She fills a steel wastebasket with water and sets it in the bathroom. In the basket she puts 3 goldfish. I am always forgetting and dropping old razor blades on the goldfish. This makes my wife angry. When I ask her why she doesn't keep the goldfish in the goldfish bowl she says she can't on account of the cat. She says the cat will go into the bowl after the fish but he won't go into the basket, probably because he's afraid of being cut by old razor blades."

Even Buster had to admit that Jim's tale of woe was incredible and Don ordered 2 cups of tea. Obviously sensing victory, Jim forged on:

"Another thing about wastebaskets. My wife had dozens of them scattered all over the house. She lined them all with pretty paper so as to keep the baskets clean. Then she decided that the pretty paper was too pretty to soil so she added huge paper bags as second liners. Then she hid all the baskets in the basement to save for when company comes."

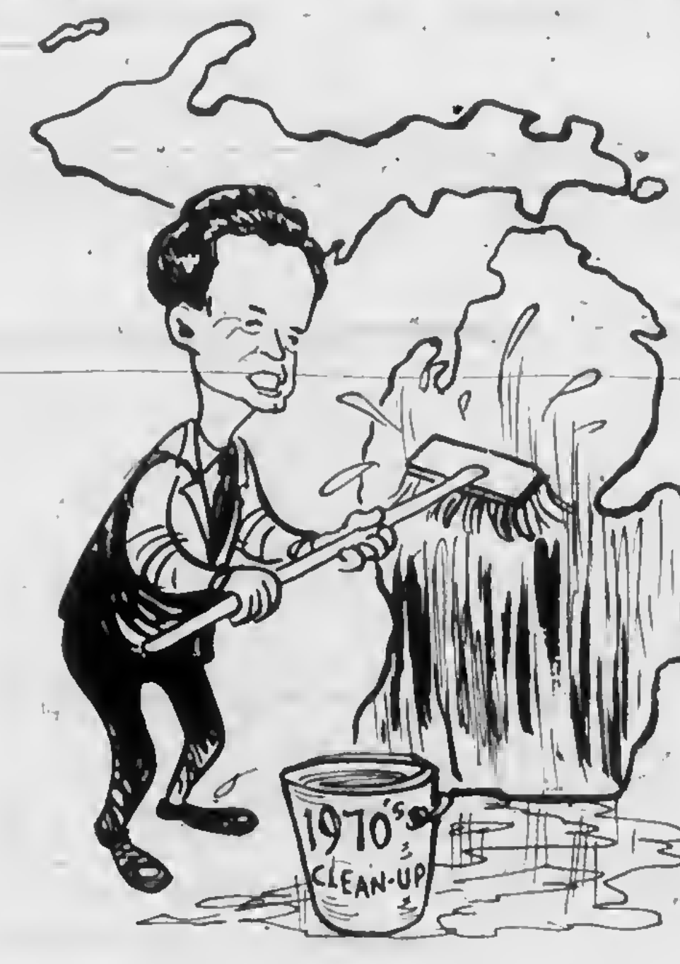
Buster was speechless and Don, between sips, said he thought he'd cancel the date he had that night. Standing atop his stool, Jim thundered on:

"My wife wanted a new entrance on the front of the house because she said she was ashamed to have people use the old entrance. I bought her a new one for a few hundred bucks and she loves it. She loves it so much she keeps the door locked and no one can go in or out for fear they might soil it. You have to go to the back door.

"She also got a new carpet because she said she was sick of throw rugs. She loves the new carpet but you can't see it because she has covered it with throw rugs so no one will walk on it."

Buster said he thought he'd go find a poker game and Don began looking up monasteries in the phone book. Jim said he could tell them a lot more but he had to get home to dinner because, if he was 5 minutes late, his wife would feed his dinner to the cat which must be kept full at all times to protect the goldfish.

Pollution ...the biggest problem of the '70s



"I pledge to you a new commitment by the State to preserve our environment . . . We can't have prosperity at the expense of posterity . . ."

Out of the past

2 years ago

The Charlevoix School Board submitted a $924,475 tentative budget for the 1968-69 school year. That was $151,958 more than the 1967-68 school year.

A city building permit was issued for the construction of a six-unit luxury apartment building on the Pine River channel, next to Weathervane Inn.

XAE sorority rushes Charlevoix members

The Xi Alpha Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in Petoskey hosted a rush party for 19 prospective members at the One Eleven room of the First State Bank here on Monday, April 13. Forty women attended including members from Petoskeys' two chapters Delta Tau and Xi Alpha Eta.

Mrs. Donald Greenwell, the extension officer, and Mrs. William Steffel of Petoskey working with five local women planned a "fun" meeting and get acquainted event. Those attending wore their version of "hippie" style dress.

A brightly colored floral centerpiece was won by Mrs. Dean Wilson and a prize was won by Mrs. Vernon Mathews Jr. for a get acquainted game.

The Petoskey chapter is sponsoring the organization of a local chapter for the women in Charlevoix who are interested in the cultural and social international sorority whose headquarters are in Kansas City, Mo.

Beta Sigma Phi was founded in 1931 by Walter W. Ross. It is a nonacademic sorority with chapters in 15 countries with an active membership of 200,000 in the 9,000 chapters throughout the United States and other countries. A member in good standing may transfer her membership to another city should she leave the town where she is residing.

A preferential tea for the prospective members was held on Sunday at the home of the group's social sponsor, Mrs. Julius Gilbert.

Five local women - - Mrs. Walter Hufford, Mrs. James Bell, Mrs. Thomas Pence and Mrs. Patrick Donnelly, members of the Xi Alpha Eta chapter in Petoskey and Mrs. Gunnar Lundtiegen, a member of the Eta Nu chapter of Boyne City, will form the nucleus for the local chapter.

The next major event will be a pledge meeting at the home of Mrs. Bell at 8:30 p.m. Monday, April 27. At the time, prospective members will make their decision regarding membership in the sorority.

MRS. WALTER HUFFORD presided at tea table Sunday as Xi Alpha Eta sorority held its second organizational meeting in Charlevoix. Here Mrs. Hufford serves Mrs. Claire C. Martin.

I would not think of trading this part of my education for all the false sense of security I could obtain at a school less responsive to the needs of society. As long as there are problems in the world, I hope to be made aware of them.

In the future, I hope that the Courier continues its attempt to aid the graduates of Charlevoix High School, but in a more objective manner that is more responsive to the needs of students seeking a suitable college.

"If you're unhappy with the phone company. I'll get you action."

"It happens.

"Sometimes people have a legitimate complaint against the phone company.

"But too often they go to someone else for an answer. When I should be the first to hear about it.

"I'm a service representative at Michigan Bell, and if you need an answer for a service slip up, call me first.

"We have a new way to handle complaints and unusual service requests much faster. Now if you should ever have a question for the phone company, you don't have to contact someone else.

"To take care of these hang ups, Michigan Bell has set up 'Customer Service Action Teams' in its local business offices.

"These teams are here to make sure you get what you're used to getting: the tops in service from Michigan Bell. Even on those out-of-the-ordinary requests.

" 'Customer Service Action Teams' are made up of specially trained people.

"They know the best ways to track down misplaced orders. To answer uncommon questions. To process even the most complicated service requests.

Lansing Shoal Damage $4,500

FOUR OF the five Coast Guardsmen who survived 75 mph winds on Lansing Shoal light last Sunday night were happy to be back on dry land after being picked up by the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew. From left are Chief Dale C. Hoosier, EN1 Robert Wojtaszek, SA William Chase and FA Leonard Pantoja. Missing from photo is SA Paul Atkinson who took his compensatory leave as soon as he hit Charlevoix.

WET AND COLD, Coast Guardsmen stationed aboard Lansing Shoal light were picked up by the Sundew cargo boat Sun 11 after the 75-foot lighthouse was badly damaged by high winds and waves last Sunday night.

Men Tell Of Wind, High Seas

Waves driven by winds up to 75 miles per hour did an estimated $4,500 worth of damage at Lansing Shoal light the night of April 19, Lt. Donald D. Luedke, commanding officer of the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station, reports.

He said the cost of revamping equipment damaged during the blow would come at about $3,500, with another $1,000 needed for other repairs.

Luedke visited the light Friday aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Woodbine with Cmdr. R.R. Morgan and Lt. (JG) Jerry Montague of the District Office in Cleveland.

Three civilian technicians also inspected the light, including a diver who determined that no structural damage resulted from the pounding seas.

Luedke says he hopes to have the light reopened within two weeks. It is located in northern Lake Michigan, about 60 miles northwest of Charlevoix.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guardsmen who survived one of he worst storms in northern Lake Michigan history are back at station in Charlevoix, still reliving their incredible 19 hours aboard the light during the height of the storm.

They are Chief Dale C. Hoosier, officer in charge; EN1 Robert Wojtaszek, SA William Chase, FA Leonard Pantoja and AS Paul Atkinson.

They will never forget how three 24-inch portholes in the crib went out one-by-one during the blow, allowing tons of water to pour into the engine room and the radio beacon room every time a wave smashed against the east wall of the light house.

The winds had been picking up all day Sunday, but the men didn't think the storm would be any worse than others they had experienced on the light.

Then, about 8:30 p.m., Hoosier had just returned to the day-room after checking the radio beacon gear when they heard a loud crash. A wave had broken out a port, including a heavy steel exterior storm hatch, and the light was taking on water.

About a half hour later the second port, went, followed by the third port.

The engines were shut off and Hoosier and Pantoja climbed to the top of the 75-foot beacon to hook up a series of four batteries to run the light.

The lighthouse was swaying so much

Allocators To Divide 15 Mills

The County Tax Allocation Board elected Sherman Thomas, manager of the East Jordan Co-op, as president at its first meeting April 20.

The board will decide on a formula for dividing the county's 15-mill allocation for the coming year.

Treasurer Anah Potter says the county's current evaluation of $95,291,320, which means the allocation board will have $1,429,369 in taxes to disperse.

Last year, schools received 8.3 mills, the county 5.5 mills, townships 1 mill and the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District .2 of a mill.

The Intermediate District is seeking to increase its share this year to help finance a mobile career guidance-counselling center.

Members of the allocation board in addition to Thomas, the at-large member, and Mrs. Potter, are Donovan Fox of Boyne City, representing schools; Ed Hansen of Charlevoix, representing communities; William A. Parsons, representing the Intermediate District; and I. Lee Moerland, chairman of the finance committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

The next meeting will be May 18.

'Walk-Through' Set for May 6

Charlevoixans will have an opportunity Wednesday, May 6, to see their tax dollars at work at the new elementary school on Division St.

Principal Glenn Snider has scheduled a "walk through" at the school from 1 until 2:30 p.m. to allow parents and other tax payers to visit the school while classes are in session.

Snider said time will not permit parent-teacher conferences, but parents are welcome to stop and see their youngsters at work in the classroom.

CHS Seniors Take Trip

By Chris Carey

Lansing was the destination of the Senior Class as they set out Wednesday morning on their Senior Trip.

The group arrived in Lansing approximately 10:30 a.m. and went directly to the capital building where they were welcomed by Sen. Thomas Schweigert and Rep. Robert Davis. They visited sessions of the senate and the Legislature before heading for Battle Creek where they stayed at the Michigan Education Association Conference Center.

Thursday morning the class went to the Kelloggs factory and then traveled back to Lansing where they toured the Oldsmobile plant.

They then headed home and arrived at 7:00 p.m. at the high school.

The class was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Max Novak, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Boss, Ted Heeres and Harold DeYoung.

Medusa Land Eyed For Sewage Plant

The city council Monday night set May 19 as the date for a public hearing on a proposed land swap between the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Medusa Portland Cement Co. to provide the city with a 10-acre site for its new sewage treatment plant.

The council wants the DNR to trade 10 acres in the Jordan River State Forest, south of Bells Bay Rd., for a 10-acre tract on the Lake Michigan shore, owned by Medusa about one-half mile south of the hospital.

The city would then buy the land from the DNR for the sewage treatment facility. The site is the first choice of sanitary engineers.

The state land in question is part of a much larger tract Medusa wanted to buy from the DNR two years ago. The deal was squelched after a public hearing revealed wide-spread opposition to the transaction.

The upcoming public hearing will be held in the community room at the city hall at 8 p.m.

In other business, the council: Set May 25 as the date of a public hearing on the 1970-71 budget calling for revenues of $385,900 and expenditures of $410,525. The deficit, plus a $59,250 deficit resulting from the transfer to monies to the street fund from the general fund, will be covered by transfers totaling $83,875 from the electric fund. Last year's budget was $234,511.87. Major increase is $144,000 for the Ferry Beach boat ramp, which will be contributed by the state Waterways Commission.

–Agreed to pay one-half the cost (about $325) for refurbishing and providing a canvas cover for the Chamber of Commerce float.

Pay, Fringes Are Studied

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate Board of Education heard an appeal Monday night by members of the Special Education staff for higher salaries and more fringe benefits.

Mrs. Max Ellison, Mrs. Hans Wiemer and Miss Joan Richie pointed out that many local school districts in the area have higher maximums than the Intermediate district for teachers with B.A. and M.A. degrees. They also said their salaries are below the state average.

In the area of fringe benefits, the group asked for income protection insurance, group auto insurance or financial aid on insurance premiums, and an equalization of transportation reimbursements.

No action was taken.

2 Marinas Have New Owners

Brow Marina and Walker Marine—two Round Lake landmarks—have changed hands.

Brow Marina, formerly owned by Thomas H. Loeb, was purchased by Eino Nurme of Birdland, Harvey Rattner of Strawberry Cove and Kenneth Robinson, a Birmingham attorney.

Jim Shepard has been retained by the new owners as sales and service manager, along with the rest of the Brow Marina crew.

The new owners plan to improve the physical plant. They will continue to hold the Chris Craft franchise for this area and sell Gulf Oil marine products.

The ship's store will be re-stocked with the latest marine equipment and accessories.

The main building at Brow Marina was constructed about 1922 by the late Logan G. Thompson to provide dockage and shelter for the Sylvia III.

It was later purchased by automaker R.E. Olds for the Reomar IV, skippered by Capt. Alfred Brow. Brow eventually bought the business from his old boss, selling it to Loeb eight years ago.

D.D. Walker, owner of Walker Marine, reports he has sold the business to Richard Hodgson of Grosse Pointe. Closing date for the transaction is June 1.

The business formerly was owned by Robert Schleman of Charlevoix and the Streameze Corp.

Facilities include two showrooms on Belvedere Ave., and various docks, repair and storage buildings.

Chemist To Inspect Medusa

Dr. Thomas L. Sweeney of the Chemical Engineering Department at Ohio State University will visit the Medusa Cement Co. plant here May 8 in an effort to determine the adequacy of the plant's air pollution control system.

The visit was announced by Donald J. Berlage, a special attorney for Charlevoix Township.

Dr. Sweeney will be accompanied by Dr. Bernard Bloomfield, director of the state's air pollution control section, Dean Mikulski, township health officer; and Berlage.

Berlage said the visit was scheduled to acquire independent advice on the effectiveness of the system and suggestions on how it can be improved.

Plant Manager Fred Cohrs has promised full cooperation with tha investigating team.

Following the inspection, Dr. Sweeney will conduct a briefing on his findings at 2 p.m. at the First State Bank in Charlevoix.

Courier Classified Ad Brings Step-Sisters Together at Last

Do Courier classified ads bring results?

Just ask Mrs. Clyde (Emily) Harman of Tillamook, Ore.

Last July, Mrs. Harman ran a classified ad in the Courier asking if the former Alma Hartwell of Charlevoix would please contact her in Tillamook.

The ad started the telephone ringing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stub Swanson on Norwood-rd. as old friends of the Hartwell family called to make sure the former Alma Hartwell (now Alma Swanson) had seen the ad, which had been placed by her step-sister, Emily, whom she had never seen.

The ad also launched a flurry of correspondence between the two sisters, culminating in a reunion last Wednesday at the Swanson home.

Members of the Hartwell family separated in 1916 following the death of the sisters' father, Thomas Hartwell, of pneumonia.

Hartwell's second wife, Belle, was expecting at the time of his untimely death and his children by a previous marriage, including Emily, were farmed out to other relatives.

Emily, then 14, was sent to live with a number of different relatives from Michigan to California. But she never returned to Charlevoix to see her baby step-sister Alma who was born three months after her departure.

Last summer Emily decided to attempt to contact the step-sister she had never seen. She wasn't sure where Alma lived or even, for that matter, if she were still alive.

One of the few things she could remember about Charlevoix was that the town had a newspaper called the "Courier." So she sent the ad in hopes that someone would remember Alma Hartwell.

Last week, Emily and her husband, Clyde, a Tillamook letter carrier, traveled across the country in their camper for the long awaited reunion.

"Family talk" has been flowing thick and fast across the breakfast table at the Swanson home ever since.

Mrs. Harman said she would never have known Charlevoix, it has changed so much since she left.

But she did remember the former Hilton School in Norwood Township which she Plan Teen Center On Stover Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Wojan have announced plans for a non-profit teen center to be housed in their former aluminum products plant on Stover Rd.

To be called "Tony's Teen Center," the building will moved a few feet to a new location and house a teen lounge, pool hall, kitchen, dining room with fireplace, dance floor and office.

Mrs. Wojan estimates the cost of the project will be about $12,000 and several teenagers in town already are planning fund-raising activities, including a rummage sale May 2 at the plant and a car wash at a future date.

Teens working on the project are Louann Mason, Trudy Goldstick, Debbie Thuss, Midge Sanford, Julie Selph, Dick Bogart, Jeff Vetting, Joe Avery and June Izzo.

Mrs. Wojan says the center is a non-profit venture, but that she will accept a salary as the adult supervisor.

She said the center is being started to give kids something to do and a place to go.

"I have faith in our teenagers," she said. "If we show our faith, they won't let us down."

"I think our kids are worth the effort," she added.

Mrs. Wojan said the youngsters will be encouraged to do charitable work through the center, such as acting as hosts for senior citizens banquets.

She envisions the center being operated by teenagers themselves, under a committee system, with adult supervision.

Committees already lined up are entertainment, clean-up, projects, finance, posters, decorating and court. The court committee will meet out punishment for infringement of teen center rules.

Mrs. Wojan hopes to have the center in operation by early September.

PTO Hears Talk On Kids' Behavior

Mrs. Max Ellison of Bellaire discussed some of the problems she has encountered as school social worker for the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District at a meeting of the Charlevoix Parent - Teacher Organization at the middle school Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ellison deals principally with youngsters who are having trouble in school because of serious emotional or perceptual problems.

Such children become the under-achievers, a group of youngsters who have the ability to compete with their classmates, but for extraneous reasons are unable to do so. They often become so-called behavior problems in the classroom because of their repeated failures.

She said she has great expectations for an experimental class for perceptually handicapped youngsters being conducted this year at the Charlevoix elementary school by Mrs. Doris Lundtiegen.

Mrs. Ellison said many of the children she comes in contact have poor self-images. Because of their failures, they feel they cannot do the work so they give up trying.

"Kids, need a good self-image," she claimed.

She said many parents complicate the problem by continually pointing to a child's errors, rather than the things he does well.

"A child must feel he can do things," she commented. "Point to the things he does well, not to the things he does wrong," she added.

She said she is surprised in talking with parents how frequently they are unable to recall anything their child does well.

"How many of you would stay at the same job, day after day, if you never received any praise or recognition for your work?" she asked.

Mrs. Ellison said the schools as well as the parents are often guilty of emphasizing the negative when they should stressing the positive.

She also said a serious communication gap exists between many parents and their children.

"When children talk, listen to their feelings as well as their words. When you don't listen, you are telling your children that they aren't very important."

Turning to area of punishment for misbehavior, Mrs. Ellison said that punishment works "only when a child gets angry with himself."

"He must regret what he did and resolve not to do it again," she said, pointing out that punishment does no good if it merely makes a child angry with his parents.

When dealing with more than one child, parents should also make sure they punish the right one. Often the instigator of mischief goes Scot-free.

In conclusion, she said the secret to solving many behavioral problems lies with motivation.

"It is better to lead a horse with a carrot, than to prod him with a pitchfork," she said.

Following the meeting, PTO members were escorted on a tour of the refurbished middle school library by Mrs. Robert Martin.

Social Agency Heads Mull Environment

Herman Janke of North Central Michigan College discussed environmental problems at the noon meeting of the Charlevoix County Council of Social Agencies at its meeting April 17 at the Weathervane.

Janke cited several things the human race is doing to bring about its own destruction. Among them are the introduction of DDT into the environment, the lack of birth control and the resulting population explosion and the excessive use of fuel-burning machines.

He suggested:

–That the size of families be limited.

–That the nation turn to smaller automobiles.

–That pleasure driving be limited.

–That smaller homes are needed to decrease fuel consumption, and –That more muscle power be used instead of fuel-burning machines.

A nominating committee was selected to provide a ballot for the election of a new chairman and secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

The next meeting will be May 15 at the Weathervane with radioman William Supernaw as speaker. Supernaw is expected to "sound off on social issues from the Sound-Off program."

TWENTY members of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce met for an "eye-opener" breakfast at 7:30 Wednesday to discuss plans for the Venetial Festival and other chamber activities. Standing is Bruce Bartlett, chamber president.

Claims Airline Fate Up to City Council

Whether or not Trans-Michigan Airlines establishes an air terminal in Charlevoix rests with the city council, Chamber of Commerce Manager Wally Loder told an "eye-opener" meeting of chamber members at the Weathervane Inn Wednesday morning.

He said the city would have to invest between $20,000 $25,000 in electronic landing equipment to bring the Charlevoix Airport up to minimum standards for airline service.

"I would say the decision now rests with the city," Loder said.

Trans-Michigan would offer airline service to Marquette in the Upper Peninsula and many southern Michigan cities, including Detroit. The airline also serves northern Ohio.

The chamber also discussed:

–Establishment of a skiing program for young people next fall under the supervision of Hall Hill.

–Plans for the September Fly-in, which is still awaiting city approval.

–The sale of golf hats during the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament in June.

–Possible establishment of a Retail Merchants Association to coordinate such things as store hours on Friday nights. Bill Ploch said some residents leave town to shop Friday nights because they aren't sure what stores are open or for how long.

The chamber members also heard a report by Mrs. Paul Olson, Mrs. James Driggett and Mrs. Jack Rader on plans for the Waterfront Fair for Artists and Craftsmen, scheduled the second Saturday in August.

Mrs. Driggett said that 43 applications for spots in East Park already have been received.

Mrs. Rader suggested that the Venetian Festival committee be organized along the lines of the art fair committee, with a chairman and a co-chairman, so there is always a new chairman coming up who is thoroughly acquainted with what must be done.

Mrs. Olson said the art fairs have been successful because they are run by people who are genuinely interested in art.

She suggested that the chamber seek people genuinely interested in promoting the Venetian Festival to serve on the festival committee.

George Richardson said festival falls at the peak of the tourist season when most businessmen are tied up. He suggested that the chamber seek more festival workers from the community at large.

John Michael added that chamber directors should not be the festival's chief workers and planners.

Elzinga, Best Honored

John Best and Charles Elzinga, Farm Bureau Insurance Group representatives in Ellsworth and Charlevoix, have earned the firm's top sales designation of All American and will be awarded an all expense-paid trip to Clearwater, Florida. Best and Elzinga and their wives will be leaving next week.

Best and Elzinga gained a berth on the All American team by combining high production in total new premiums for 1969 and policyholder service.

A Farm Bureau Insurance Group representative for eight years, Elzinga, his wife, Bonnie, and their three children live in Charlevoix.

John Best joined the Farm Bureau Agency in early 1969. Best was the top producer of the new agents appointed by the Farm Bureau Insurance Group in 1969. Best, his his wife, Joan, and their three children live in Ellsworth.

Farm Bureau Insurance Group, a multiple line firm headquartered in Lansing, operates throughout Michigan in 52 offices staffed by 300 agents. Policyholders number approximately 200,000.

Chamber Chat

BY WALLY LODER
CHAMBER MANAGER

Many of you might have read about or even might have been there, Boyne City Queen Contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at Boyne City. Imagine there were 13 contestants. How interesting. Our Dave Juilleret, Queen Committee Chairman, struggles and scratches and is lucky with some assistance, to come up with five or six gals.

With much interest I recently read in the Northland Press a letter to the editor from Mr. Andy Bogema, Pres., Boyne City C of C. He stated, "When a community the size of ours, is able to hold an event of this type and have the turn out we did of workers, contestants and the audience so large, that some had to be turned away, then truly the real winner is the community itself."

As for myself, I would say, our neighbors got together with determination and willingness, took the plan of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce directors, which plan was nothing more or less, but a few words, and turned it into a highly successful venture.

I feel sure we here at Charlevoix are also capable, so let's GO and make this year's queen contest one for the book. Venetian Festival (July 25 and 26 plans have been started. We have all sorts of talent here. We are trying to get them away from running the ball game out in the bleachers, down to the playing field to exert their energy. Do not wait for a call. Step down and out: Let us hear from you.

The second eye-opener meeting, very informal of course, at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 22, at the Weathervane Inn, was successful, an improvement over the first one a month ago. Several reports were volunteered, a few questions were asked and answered. George Richardson is thanked for allowing the facilities of the Weathervane and he certainly knows how and when to pour the stand-by beverage. This time the attendance was fair, certainly hope for many more the next time, which will be Wednesday, 7:30 a.m. May 20, same place. Now, you all come.

Moonlighting is defined at the holding of two jobs at the same time.

There's new kind of moonlighting going on in communities all across the country. Free moonlighting, that is. Volunteers who are using special talents and their time to help others. Persons who are working through voluntary organizations to solve community problems. If you have a special talent or desire and willingness, or a few hours or less a week to spare for the common good - - volunteer for any our projects or our annual events.

Next regular meeting of the Board of Directors will be May 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the chamber office. If any of you have something to bring up, please brief it in writing to me before April 29 and I will schedule it on the agenda.

Ver Wys Promoted

George A. Ver Wys, a native of Charlevoix and present resident of Vestal, N.Y., has been promoted to a senior engineer in System Analysis at IBM's Electronics Systems Center in Owego, N.Y.

Ver Wys joined IBM in December 1963 at Owego as a staff engineer on the B-52 program. He was promoted to advisory engineer in 1967 with responsibility for system design and analysis on a variety of advanced systems.

A graduate of Charlevoix High School, he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering and a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering - Mathematics from the University of Michigan in 1956 and a Masters degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Pennsylvania in 1961. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

Ver Wys' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Abe Ver Wys, 108 W. Hurlbut.

2 More Running For Davis' Seat

Del Terrill

Richard Friske

Delbert R. Terrill, teacher, coach and former administrative assistant at the Charlevoix High School, has announced his candidacy for the post of State Representative from the 106th District being vacated by Robert W. Davis of St. Ignace.

A graduate of Wayne State University with B.A. and M.A. degrees, he was a teacher and head football and basketball coach at Charlevoix from 1950-55 and, after three years in the business world and four years at Muskegon's Reeth-Puffer High School, returned to Charlevoix in 1962, again as a teacher and track coach.

He is a past vice-president of Region 14 of the M.E.A., served six years to the State Representative Assembly of the M.E.A., from the same district and for two years was a delegate to the Michigan High School Athletic Association representing Michigan coaches.

He also served three years on the Charlevoix City Council. He has owned and operated the Charlevoix Play Camp, a children's day camp, for 18 years.

Born to farming parents at Linesville, Pa., he served 5½ years with the U.S. Army during World War 11, including duty in Europe with the 28th Division. He was awarded the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart and Cluster. He has been a Boy Scout leader, Christian Youth Director at Westminister church in Detroit and the Christian church in Traverse City, where he taught and coached before coming to Charlevoix, and business manager at the Westminister church camp.

He is a member of the First Congregational church here and of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A.M.

His wife, Eleanor, is a nurse at the Emmet County Medical Care Facility. They have three children, Delbert R. Jr., who will be commissioned in June from the U.S. Air Force Academy; Cathy, who is enrolled at Massey College in Atlanta, Ga., and Charles, a freshman at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

Charlevoix County orchardman Richard Friske, 45, has announced his candidacy for the 106th representative district seat in the House of Representatives currently held by Rep. Robert Davis (R-St. Ignace).

Davis has announced that he is a candidate for the state Senate seat held by Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey). Schweigert is considering an appointment in the federal government.

Friske was born in Poland of German descent and emigrated to the United States in 1952. He became a citizen in 1959.

He worked as a tool and die man in Boyne Falls and operated a coal business in Boyne City before purchasing a 240-acre fruit farm in southern Charlevoix County.

He and his wife, Olga, have three children.

Judge Smith Hears Cases

The following cases were heard this week by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Emmett Brown, 27, East Jordan, pled not guilty to two charges of assault and battery. He was found guilty and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Paul LaFreniere, 22, St. James, waived examination of a charge of arson and was bound over to the May term of circuit court. Bond of $500 was continued.

Tommy Hayner, 22, Petoskey, charged with unsafe starting of a motor vehicle, was found not guilty.

John Kullik, 65, Boyne City, forefeited $25 bond on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Donald Wiser, 17, Charlevoix, pled guilty to a charge of malicious destruction of property. He will be sentenced at a later date.

Grant Replogle, 24, Kalamazoo, and Dwight Replogle, 23, Delton, were assessed $25 on a charge of trespassing.

Hospital Guild Plans Coffee

The annual membership coffee of the Charlevoix Hospital Women's Guild will be held on Tuesday, May 5, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon as the home of Mrs. Gordon Freedman, 409 Michigan ave.

This yearly membership drive coffee is open to all women of the community. Present and past members as well as anyone interested in becoming a new member are urged to attend.

Members meet the second Tuesday evening of each month at the hospital.

Band Gets III Rate

The Charlevoix High School Concert Band was awarded a III rating in the State Band and Orchestra Festival, held in Flint last Saturday.

While disappointed in receiving a III, the group was far from discouraged for as Director Clarence Odmark commented, "the band played as well as it ever had – but we just didn't have the maturity and technical proficiency to measure up to the standards of Class C High School competition."

The judges, Glenn Smith of the U of M, Jack Saunders of Central Michigan University and Dascho Dachoff of Ferris State College, all commented on the potential of the young group, but were unanimous in the criticism of poor intonation. Of the three concert judges, the band received one 11 rating and two 111's.

James Niblock, of M.S.U., the sightreading judge, also gave a III rating.

The Band was housed overnight in the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge at Flint, the major portion of the cost of these accommodations being paid by the Charlevoix Band Booster Association.

Mrs. Bruce Bartlett and Mrs. Kenneth Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Odmark, Miss Kathy Miles, Miss Julie Odmark and Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Odmark accompanied the group as chaperones. Drivers were Mr. Al Smith and Theodore Heeres.

CHS, Ellsworth Students Mark Earth Day

38,000 Bottles, Cans Picked From Roads

TOP: Students who helped with beer can collection at Charlevoix High School pose behind impression mound of rubbish with earth science instructor Bruce Morgan. From left are Charles Borths, David Hinebauch, Rich Donaldson, Morgan, Leslie Lugibihl, Tom Bergmann and Clarence Russell. Bottom: At Ellsworth, assembly followed pollution seminars. Speaker is teacher Jack Gebott who organized program. At speakers' table are Stan Broome of Elk Rapids, Mrs. Jane Janis of Elk Rapids, representing Leagues of Women Voters, and Warren Studley of the Antrim County Soil Conservation Service.

Earth Day. Ecology Day. Environment Day.

Call it what you will, April 22, 1970, was a red-letter day for the people of America who are interested in doing something at long last about pollution of the environment.

Parades, marches, protests, clean-ups, lectures, demonstrations took place in virtually every city and village from coast to coast.

The nation's press went all out to promote the day and report its activities, a concerted effort that pointed up the inherent danger of continued pollution of our air, our water and our landscape.

In Charlevoix, earth science classes taught by Bruce Morgan conducted a campaign to collect the beer cans and broken bottles that have littered every highway and by-way around the city all winter. They dumped 38,000 of them in front of the high school as dramatic testimony to the wantonness of the litterbug.

At Ellsworth, regular classes were suspended for the afternoon while students attended seminars on the various pollution problems that confront us.

From where we sit, Earth Day -- Ecology Day--Environment Day was an enormous success, something to be remembered the other 364 days of the year.

The 1970's have never looked cleaner or brighter.

CANDY OLSON and Kim Hufford, 8th graders, prepare to add their collected rubbish to growing mound in front of the Charlevoix High School. The big clean-up was part of Earth Day observances in the area.

ACP and pollution

The Agricultural Conservation Program is America's oldest and best pollution-control program. Eighty-five percent of Michigan ACP cost-share funds have contributed to abating pollution of streams, rivers and lakes. Soil conservation experts have testified that the ACP program has eliminated the run-off of millions of tons to top soil. The program has kept the soil where it can feed future generations and greatly reduced pollution of the nation's waterways.

Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, states that one of the major changes under the 1970 ACP is the authorization to cost-share with farmers for carrying out pollution abatement practices with soil and water conservation benefits.

Smith emphasized that two practices, approved for Michigan, include reducing pollution of water by farm waste which will apply to barnyards, feed lots, milkrooms and other farm areas from which run-off constitutes an actual or potential pollution hazard, and the other practice, Controlling Sedimentation, applies to critical areas on farms adjacent to streams, ponds and lakes which are subject to erosion and which constitute a significant pollution hazard.

More than two-hundred million people in this country benefit from conservation each day whether we realize it or not. Each time we take a drink of water or a breath of fresh air we are enjoying the benefits of conservation.

The Venetian Festival Needs New Blood--Yours

Members of the Chamber of Commerce may have hit upon one of the major problems of the Venetian Festival at their meeting Wednesday morning at the Weathervane Inn.

As one might suspect, the chamber is made up largely of Charlevoix businessmen. And Charlevoix businessmen are their busiest during the summer.

In fact, the Venetian Festival, which is held traditionally the last weekend in July, falls at the height of the Charlevoix tourist season.

Members of the chamber feel that much of the responsibility for organizing the festival should rest with the non-business community -- housewives, retirees and other members of the community who are no busier in mid-summer than they are in mid-January.

They would like anyone in town interested in working on the festival to step forward and lend a hand.

It is no secret that the past few Venetian Festivals have not lived up to the tradition established in the early days. The paucity of entries in both the street parade and the boat parade last year was scarcely worth a trip downtown to see.

The number and quality of other activities during the festival have also been the subject of criticism.

The festival in years past has provided a healthy boost to Charlevoix's summer economy. Many of our resort families try to schedule their vacations to coincide with the festival. The annual mid-summer shindig also is becoming sufficiently well-known downstate to attract many weekend vacationers.

But the festival's good name has been tarnished by substandard productions in recent years.

To keep what we already have and to build for the future, the Venetian Festival needs new blood -- yours.

If you have some time to spare and want to get involved, stop at the chamber office and leave your name with Manager Wally Loder. He'll be happy to put you to work, using your ideas and your talent to make the 1970 Venetian one for the books.

City Band in Danger

The City Band, which presents band concerts every Wednesday evening during the summer in East Park, is in danger of folding, according to Band Director Clarence Odmark.

Odmark reports that the band has only three adult members at present and may have to disband unless more city musicians step forward and offer to lend a hand.

The City Band is augmented every summer by college students who return home for the summer, but Odmark says a strong nucleus of local talent is necessary if the band is to continue.

He believes there are many Charlevoixans who have studied music at some time during their lives who might welcome an opportunity to exercise their musical talents.

Persons interested in helping the band should contact Odmark promptly. The band rehearses every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Charlevoix High School band room.

The loss of the City Band would rob Charlevoix of much of its summer fun. There are few activities in town enjoyed more often by more people -- young and old, rich and poor, year-round resident and visitor -- than our Wednesday night band concerts in East Park.

Let's not lose them.

Beer in the Cemetery

Is there any place in God's green earth that is immune from the ravages of the beer party?

Apparently not.

Last Monday, Carl Mitchell, caretaker of Brookside Cemetery and his helpers were aghast to find that the party crowd had invaded the cemetery sometime over the weekend and had hoisted a few among the tombstones.

The cemetery was littered with beer cans and other debris of a night's revelry. One tombstone, a government marker over a soldier's grave, was tipped over and chipped.

From the beginning of time, mankind has held that the burial ground of human remains is sacrosanct above all other property.

There is ample evidence that even the most primitive peoples laid their elders to rest with due pomp and ceremony and regarded their burial places ever after with all the awe and respect that most of us, even today, associate with the mystery of death.

But some elements of the "Now" generation apparently want to kick over the traces -- and the tombstones to boot.

With all the wide-open spaces in Charlevoix county, we think the party-goers should find some place other than the cemetery to do their drinking.

Tutoring Park of U-M Plan

(Mrs. C.J. Bieha believes th following article, which appeared in the April 20 issue of "Teachers Voice", will be of interest to many Charlevoixans. It concerns the recent decision by University President Robben Fleming to strive for a 10 percent enrollment of black students by 1973)

+ + +

One result of the University of Michigan's settlement with the Black Action Movement (BAM) will be the increased presence of U-M recruiters in predominately black Michigan high schools to seek out potential black students.

A major point in the settlement was that by 1973 the U-M will attain a 10 percent (it is now three percent) black enrollment.

A long-term result should be the emergence of more qualified Negroes to assume responsible positions in areas where they are in high demand and short supply.

One of these areas is public education, where schools attempt to respond to community demands for staffs that reflect the racial composition in a community. A major barrier often is the non-availability of Negroes who are prepared to assume the positions.

The U-M said that it would "modify" entrance requirements to enroll more Negro students but that its generally recognized high standards for completion of work leading to a degree will not be relaxed.

To accept black students who normally do not meet the entrance requirements because of past deprivations and to assure their successful career at the university will require special tutorial assistance.

Additional expenses

Tutorial costs are among the additional expenses, now estimated at $5 million a year, to bring the U-M up to a 10 percent black enrollment. Other expenses will involve direct financial help to students and recruitment efforts.

The U-M indicated it would attempt to find some of the funds by adjusting the budgets of its various schools and colleges.

A firm commitment to the 10 percent black enrollment was what it took to end a boycott called by the BAM and which received considerable white support.

Writer Fears For Safety Of Viet Allies

Route No. I
Charlevoix, Michigan
April 20, 1970

Dear Editor,

I pray this letter would somehow speak to the few foolhearted people that like to appease just for the sake of appeasing. Or, if my analogy is wrong, they hope, because of collaborating with our common enemy, the Communist is to save their life at the cost of all the good patriotic citizens. They even mention love and God in their ignorance.

Suppose the vociferous supporters of the Vietnam moratorium get what they want. Suppose they are finally able to force what the President succinctly calls a "bug-out." Then what?

For the students who advocate a violent revolution in this country, the fore-going question has no importance, of course. They may be, indeed they are, irresponsible, self-intoxicated young fools. But they are at least more forthright than the senators and college professors and other bug-out advocates who pretend to be responsible persons, yet will not face the predictable consequences of the bug-out they are calling for.

According to Joseph Alsop, "The first consequence, anyone can foresee, will be the cold-blooded massacre of a couple of million South Vietnamese who have put their faith and trust in the United States. If anyone doubts this, he had better study the hideous massacre of about 3,500 old men, women, and children that was perpetrated by the Communists when they occupied the city of Hue for a couple of weeks.

The Hue massacre was largely irrational. The people who were killed were not government officials, or soldiers in the South Vietnamese army, or even, in the main, blood relations of such wicked "imperialist lackeys."

These people were instead buried alive, or mowed down with automatic weapons, or chained together and brained with mattocks in reprisal for Hue's infuriating failure to produce the "popular uprising" the Communist leaders expected."

A few were Catholics, to be sure and the Catholics in Hue were reportedly treated with particular brutality. There are above a million Catholics in South Vietnam today; and either they or their parents were brought down from the North by the United States in 1954, because it was correctly considered they needed a safe haven in the South.

So what of them? And what of the million South Vietnamese who are now under arms for the Saigon government? And what of the hundreds of thousands of members of the People's Self-Defense Force in the villages, who are regularly chosen as targets by the Communist assassination squads?

American intelligence has officially predicted that most of these people will be killed out of hand-the conservative predicted figure is about 1,500,000 -- after an American bug-out leading to a victory for Hanoi. Is that what Sen. Fulbright and Sen. Goodell really want; and if not, how do they propose to avoid it?

The truth is that a great many seemingly intelligent Americans are now behaving like mindless lemmings.

The danger to themselves is of course their own business. But they might at least consider the danger to all the values they pretend to cherish.

For God, Family, and Country.
Truly yours,
Richard Friske

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

Hello, again!

It's nice to be back at the editor's desk at the Charlevoix Courier.

After my wanderings during the past two and one-half years, I think I know how Ulysses must have felt when he returned to Greece.

Perhaps you'd like to hear how I spent my "vacation" and what I learned.

After a brief venture into the publishing business, I spent a winter at Boyne Mountain, running the top of the "Top Notch" chair lift and writing for Boyne Mountain's public relations department.

The job was a surprisingly pleasant break from office routine. I did most of my writing on-the-job in a four by eight foot shanty half-way up the mountain.

Two years ago I went to work for the Petoskey News-Review, covering everything in Charlevoix County outside of the city of Charlevoix, which is Fran Martin's baliwick. Some assignments took me as far south as Traverse City and as far north as St. Ignace, so I spent a good deal of time on the road, meeting and working with a wide variety of people.

Probably the most important thing I learned working for the News-Review is that Charlevoix has some mighty fine neighbors.

I have learned, for example, that the people of East Jordan and Boyne City are just as anxious to clean up the pollution of Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan as are the folks in Charlevoix.

I particularly liked a statement made at an East Jordan City Council meeting one night by Alderman (now Mayor) Harry Watson to the effect that he wanted East Jordan to be the first city in northern Michigan to be able to make the statement that it is not contributing one iota to the pollution of Michigan's public waters.

I can't think of a better kind of neighbor to have.

Likewise, the people of Charlevoix can only admire the mamoth job undertaken by the residents of the former Boyne City and East Jordan school district to improve their schools. As if the decision to consolidate wasn't hard enough, the residents of the new Twin Valley District will be asked to vote on a school construction bond issue May 4 which will increase their taxes by 11 mills. They have all my sympathy and support. I'm only glad I don't have to vote.

And so it goes throughout the county with people and problems. There's a lot of good, solid thinking and doing in progress from Chandler Hill to Lake Michigan and it was interesting to be a part of it for a while.

But, as I was saying, it's nice to be back.

Touring With the Military

When I read what U.S. Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said about me, I felt too important to empty the garbage.

Proxmire obviously had me in mind when he complained loudly about the military spending $700,000 a year to "fly leading businessmen and community leaders around the country on free guided tours."

I went on one of those tours in 1968. I was a last minute substitution when the manager of a dime store got sick.

Proxmire charged the Pentagon was using taxpayers' money to brainwash Rotary-type citizens "to back its huge budget and to lobby for its weapon systems."

My flying tour included missile bases in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. "This," said Proxmire, "was a thinly disguised attempt to sell influential citizens on the ABM," (anti-ballistic missile).

So that's what it was. I thought the purpose of the whole trip was to see the dog races in Juarez, Mexico.

There were 12 businessmen on our 6-day tour. We sat through countless lectures and demonstrations concerning the ability of the North American Air Defense Command to push buttons and thus blow an enemy, miles away, into small bits of metal and flesh.

"They use radar and tracking and computers to destroy targets thousands of miles away," I explained to the boys at the poolroom in my most sophisticated manner. With my usual modesty, I tried hard to cloak the aura of worldliness and importance which clung to me after my VIP tour (I always wear a sticker from the White Sands Proving Grounds on my forehead).

"Yeah," asked a stranger, obviously a spy, "but exactly how do they make the missiles hit the targets?"

"I'm sorry," I said, "that's classified information. But let me tell you about Juarez..."

This is a marvelous town for pudgy businessmen whose wives don't appreciate them. All of a sudden, an ugly newsman becomes Robert Goulet. The girls just won't leave you alone. Frenkenstein could get 12 propositions in half a block. Every little boy has a lonely sister and every cab driver knows where there's the greatest party in the world and you're invited.

To make out like Errol Flynn in Juarez, all you must do is smile, make charming conversation, and bring your wallet. If there's money in the wallet, you can leave your teeth home and never open your mouth.

You can see what I remember most vividly, 2 years later, from my tour with the military. I can thank you taxpayers for my introduction to Sin City No. 1. But I can also assure Sen. Proxmire I wasn't converted into a Pentagon puppet.

I asked many of our military guides and lecturers the same question: "Does it bother you, maybe late at night, that your sole occupation is to perfect and manipulate machinery which has one ultimate purpose — to kill people?"

The usual answer was no surprise: "Yes, it bothers me but the Russians are doing it so we have to do it too.".

Yeah, man. That's our world and who is going to change it?

Only in such a world would the Very Important People flock for fun to a cruddy town like Juarez, with or without a military escort.

I think I'll empty the garbage.

Begrow Honored At Cowboy Hall

Trustees of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Museum of National Heritage, meeting at Oklahoma City, Okla., honored H. Jack Begrow of Charlevoix for his contribution to the West in designing this building which has since been designated by Congress as a national shrine.

The awards banquet was held Friday, April 25, in the Cowboy Hall of Fame, with governors of the western states, trustees and prominent figures in the world of entertainment on hand for the presentations.

The National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Museum of National Heritage was opened in 1965 through the efforts of men and women from all of the 17 western states who felt that a quality building should be erected to house the arts and artifacts which were a part of the western life and to honor the great men and women who contributed to the development of the West.

In 1957 the governors of the 17 western states joined with other interested people to initiate a national architectural contest for a design that would worthily capture the feeling of the West. Over 500 architects entered this competition which was won by Begrow and Brown Architects who earned a prize of $10,000 and the contract to build the National Cowboy Hall of Fame. This museum is located on Route 66 just north of Oklahoma City and is visited by thousands of people each year. It houses a unique collection of Remington and Russell work along with that of contemporary artists and sculptors. Tours of the building always include a stop in the amphitheatre so that visitors can see films of the Old West.

Office Closed

The secretary of state's office in Charlevoix will be closed this week, according to Mrs. James Marshall, manager.

Were You Counted?

Were you counted in the 1970 census?

Some local census workers are afraid some Charlevoixans may have been missed, with all the coming and going to and from the southern states.

Frank Lowry, district manager for the 1970 Census in Traverse City, also wants to make sure the Charlevoix County census is as accurate as possible.

"Representation in the U.S. Congress and the State Legislature is determined by the population count as ascertained in the census," Lowry said. "Federal funds are allotted to the states and state funds, in turn, are allotted to counties and municipalities on a per capita basis. So a short count means under representation in the federal and state law-making bodies and under allotment in government funds."

Art Fair Workers Invited to Party

By Edith Gilbert

"The Eye of Picasso", a 52 minute, 16 mm, color, sound film will be the highlight of a "May-day Thank You" party given by the Waterfront Art Fair Committee on Friday, May 1, at 1:30 p.m. at the Community Room of the First State Bank of Charlevoix at 111 State St.

The Art Committee extends a special welcome to the many men and women who have helped make the Waterfront Fair such a resounding success over the last eleven years but everyone interested may attend. Wally Loder estimates that there were over 4,000 people at the one day Fair last summer and 254 exhibitors reported over $20,000 in sales.

This year's chairman, Mrs. James Driggett, reports that she has already received over 100 applications and preparations are well under way to make this summer's fair to be held on Saturday Aug. 8, one of the best ever. Hugh Riiker has designed an attractive poster which will be distributed throughout the state.

The film, "The Eye of Picasso" is a penetrating view of the work of the most prolific and unusual artist of the 20th century. It was filmed at the great Homage to Picasso exhibit in Paris commemorating his 85th birthday --the most complete representation ever given to a living artist. It won the Silver Lion Award at the Venice Film Festival in 1967.

The subject of this film is Picasso's art. It puts aside any reference to his life, friends or the events in France. With sensitivity and understanding, the camera penetrates the work, helping the spectator discover what the artist's eye saw. The film insists that we look--and we understand what the genius of the artist found.

The sound track consists entirely of Picasso's comments regarding his work and art in general.

After the showing of this film, there will be a brief intermission when refreshments will be served. Then a 37 minute film will be shown called Kaleidoscope Orissa for those who wish to stay.

Kaleidoscope Orissa is a new 16 mm sound, color film dealing with the art and culture of India. It shows the process of molding and baking ceramic pottery as well as the art of "tie-dying". The film shows weavers, their looms and the extraordinary colors and designs of their fabrics.

Both films are made available to the community through the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District Film Library. Mrs. Alessandra Spieles, film librarian says both films have received the highest praise from the critics and she would like to see Kaleidoscope Orissa added to our film library to be used in both geography and art classes and for adult general-interest audiences.

Anyone interested in obtaining rules and entry forms for the Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair may write to P.O. Box 435, Charlevoix, Mich. 49720.

Wants Moratorium On Does and Fawns

State Rep. Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) has repeated his request for a one-year moratorium on antlerless deer hunting throughout Northern and Upper Michigan.

"My position has not changed since February when I co-sponsored a resolution to discontinue shooting does and fawns in the Upper Peninsula for the 1970 hunting season," Rep. Davis said. "Since then I have also asked the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to consider extending such a moratorium to the Lower Peninsula as well."

Indications are that the Natural Resources Commission may not go along with the request, Rep. Davis said, so he has countered by asking for a drastic reduction in the number of antlerless deer permits issued. The DNR issued 172,314 such permits for Northern and Upper Michigan in 1969 and 165,360 in 1968, he said, with an estimated 31,500 antlerless deer being taken in 1969 and 35,250 in 1968. "The DNR is considering this request for a drastic reduction and I am optimistic that they will find it biologically feasible to do so," added Davis, "but it will not be until July when its recommendations are made."

"I respect the department's overall expertise," Rep. Davis said, "but, I think in this case a credibility gap exists between the department and the deer hunters, to say nothing of the general public. In my opinion, we can close this gap by declaring a one-year moratorium and thus determine whether the department's deer herd management program is actually working."

"Even if it is proven that for the good of the herd a number of antlerless deer should be taken, the situation won't get so out of hand in one year that it can't be corrected," he commented.

Rep. Davis said he is aware that the problem of adequate food for the herd is a main reason for an antlerless deer season, but explained that this is the reason he and Senator Thomas Schweigert (R-Petoskey) have introduced companion bills to earmark $1 of the $5 resident deer hunting license for deer feed and range improvement.

Scout-O-Rama Set May 16 at Petoskey

Fifty Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops in five northern Michigan counties are making plans for their annual Scout-O-Rama, scheduled Saturday, May 16 at the Emmet County fairgrounds in Petoskey. Hours of the event are 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

The Scout-O-Rama is sponsored by the Northern District, Scenic Trails Council, with a membership of more than 1,500 boys in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties.

As in past years, Scouts will erect booths at the fairgrounds to demonstrate various Scouting activities and handicraft.

Out-of-town senior Scouts will camp at the fairgrounds during Scout-O-Rama. Cubs will stay at the 4-H center and other buildings.

Adult leaders also have been busy preparing for the program, according to Chairman Carroll Seelye of Boyne City.

Working with Seelye are Guy Molby of Traverse City, co-chairman; Thomaa Walenta, Petoskey, district chairman, in charge of physical arrangements; John Wynn, Petoskey, district commissioner, in charge of judging; and Tom Thrall, Petoskey, district Scout executive.

Other committee members are Emmet County Probate Judge John Murphy, in charge of tickets; Ken Harrold of Petoskey, in charge of concessions; Lew Edwards, Charlevoix, in charge of the reception and guests; and Bob Clock, Charlevoix, in charge of publicity.

Grandvue Plans Games Party

The Auxiliary of the Grandvue Medical Care Facility will sponsor an all-games party and baked goods sale at the facility beginning at 1 p.m. April 30, Mrs. A. G. Boswell, president of the group, has announced.

Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase a patients' roster to be located near the entrance and pictures to be hung in the hallways of the hospital.

Plans for the fund-raising event were made at the regular meeting of the auxiliary held recently at the facility. William Underhill and Harry Tompkins of Boyne City addressed the group on the new low cost housing including apartments and homes built in Boyne City with federal assistance.

Mrs. Ben Schenck and Mrs. Lawrence Schumacher of East Jordan and Mrs. Alfred Loughry of Boyne City were named to a committee to select pictures for the hospital.

The next regular meeting will be held at the facility on May 14.

Captain honored--Capt. Donald E. Nowland (right) receives an Oak Leaf Cluster to his Army Commendation Medal, with Brig. Gen. Howard P. Persons Jr., deputy chief of staff for plans and combat developments, Army Air Defense Command, officiating at the ceremony. The captain was cited, among other things, for his "outstanding technical expertise, sound judgement, and professional competence" as plans officer in ARADCOM's Directorate of Ballistic Missile Defense Plans and Requirements. The captain's original Army Commendation Medal was for duty with an ARADCOM unit in Michigan from 1965 to 1967. He also wears the Bronze Star Medal for an assignment in Vietnam from 1967 to 1968. Captain Nowland, who holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y., will now, under an Army education program, attend the University of Texas at El Paso to work for his master of science degree in nuclear physics.

Captain Nowland was brought up in Charlevoix and is a graduate of the Charlevoix Public High School, class of 1961. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Nowland of Charlevoix. The captain's wife, Marilyn Joyce, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Pernar, 3130 Edgewood Park Court, Union Lake, Mich. The couple have a 2-year-old son and 5-month-old boy twins.

Funds OK'd For North

Gov. William G. Milliken said Wednesday the Economic Development Administration has approved a $48,253 grant to the Northwest Michigan Economic Development District Commission to help pay administrative costs of the district organization for one year.

Counties in the district include Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee and Wexford.

The funds were made available under the 1965 public works and economic development act. The district organization will provide $20,104 to complete the $68,357 cost of the program.

Concert Kick-Off Is Set for May 4

Preparations are well underway for the annual Membership Campaign Week for the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association.

It is expected that the coming 1970-1971 season will also be a sellout of the seating capacity of the Petoskey Junior High School Auditorium, where all concerts are held.

The Association, composed of some twenty communities in the Northern Michigan area, has its large group of workers poised and ready for the Campaign week.

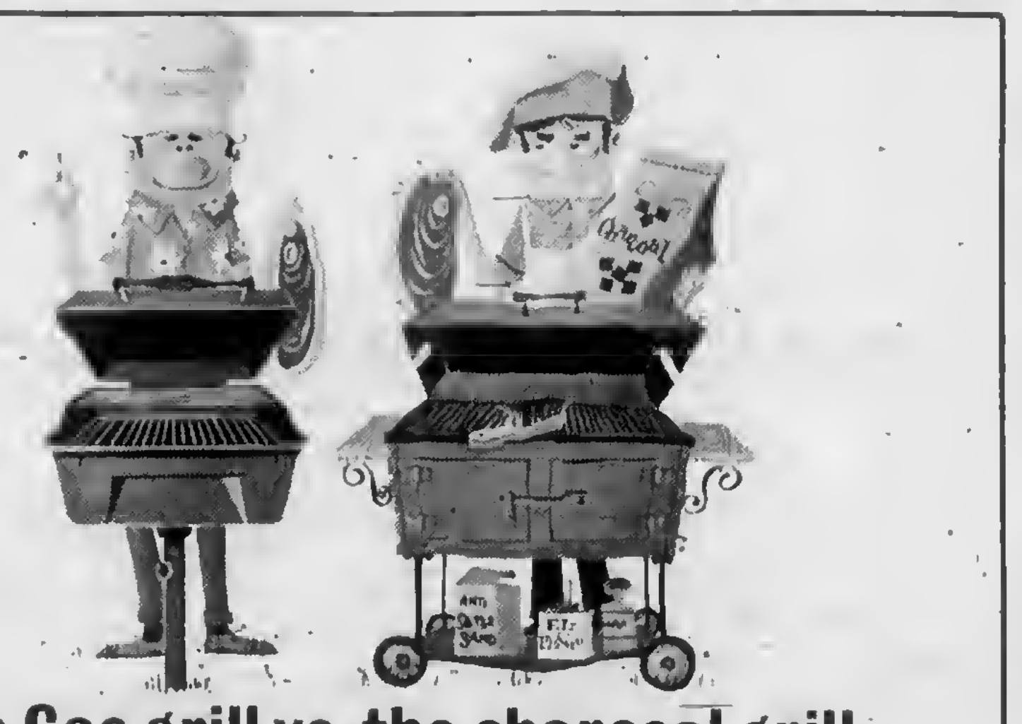
The kick-off dinner will be held in Petoskey at the Perry-Davis Hotel at 6:30 P.M. on Monday, May 4.

Present members of the Association will be given first chance to renew their memberships, then new members will be sought by the workers. If by some chance your worker does not get in touch with you early in the week, it would be advisable to call the Headquarters, which will be, as usual in the Noggin Room of the Perry-Davis Hotel.

The Artists' Selection Committee and the Board of Directors is now ready to announce the two 'hold' attractions already secured for the coming year. The committee is composed of: Mr. Jack Perry, chairman; Mrs. Ross W. Stoakes, Jr., Mrs. Jack Finlayson, Mrs. Alfred Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Moyer and Dr. and Mrs. William Todd, all of Petoskey; Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Odmark, Charlevoix; Mrs. Quincy Leslie, Cheboygan; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Janke, Harbor Springs and Mrs. Wilfred Roisen, Boyne City.

One 'hold' has been put on the WHIT/LO SINGERS. This is a mixed chorus of 35 voices, and was introduced in 1967 by Whittemore and Lowe, the famed duo-piano team. They appeared on a Concert series here several years ago. Columbia Artists Management encouraged this introduction to fill a need in the concert field for a chorus of high musical standards produced with showmanship, and a penchant for the classical as well as the folk, modern and Broadway music so loved in the United States and Canada.

The second 'hold' the committee has chosen is the famed Dorian Woodwind Quintet, formed in 1961 and composed of five dynamic young musicians who have become major innovators in their field. The quintet is composed of flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and French horn.



The Gas grill vs. the charcoal grill.

- Raise grill cover.
- Light grill.

- First, find grill in basement, shed or garage.
- Haul it to desired spot.
- Remove old ashes and clean grid. (It was too hot to handle when you put it away.)
- Load with dirty, dusty charcoal.
- Sprinkle liberally with costly, oily, smelly charcoal lighter fluid.
- Stand back and light (carefully).
- Wash hands thoroughly so you can handle meat.
- Repeat entire process because charcoal didn't catch.

Library Notes

The recent Earth Day has made Charlevoixans aware of the important task ahead if we are to protect and save our environment. One of the most pleasant tasks and responsibilities we face is to devote our energies to making things grow. Spring is the growing season, and the ground is eager and waiting. Books to help with gardening problems are also eager and waiting on the shelves of the Library.

"Gardening Without Poisons" by Beatrice Trum Hunter is an important volume, with constructive answers to the pesticide problem. The author shows how natural protections against insect plagues and pestilence work and how we can make these forces help us if we understand them. There are, for example, viruses which will attack specific caterpillars. Dormant ladybugs can be purchased ready for release in the garden. A preparation is now available that will cause Japanese beetle grubs to sicken and die but will not infect other insects of the birds that feed on them. This book tells what you can do in your own garden to induce such safe and sound techniques and to enjoy the benefits of them.

"Gardening With Nature" by Leonard Wickenden is an informative book for beginning gardeners. There is a chapter about soil, how it is formed, how it is destroyed, how it is worn out and how it is restored. There is a chapter on organic matter and its inexhaustible supply; a chapter on cultivating the soil and another one on seedlings and how to bring young plants through infancy. There are attractive color plates and a special glossary in the back.

"All About Perennial Gardens" is an attractive handbook for the amateur gardener of hardy flowers, herbaceous and woody perennials, including bulbs and shrubs, biennials and annuals. There are 153 photographs and five full-color illustrations and 22 line drawings. The back of the book includes a 30-page tabular list of perennials, an extensive blooming calendar and a large section listing perennials by color.

"A Picture Dictionary for the Home Gardener" gives hundreds of practical, easy-to-follow suggestions and short cuts to a more beautiful home garden. Attention is given to utilizing a poor area, controlling pests without spraying, landscaping a small plot and how to deal with bulb cuttings. It is profusely illustrated.

"Tree Care" by John M. Haller is a particularly important book at this time when every single tree has become to vitally important to our environment.

Sandra Jean Sundberg, Barry Kiefer Are Wed

Sandra Jean Sundberg became the bride of F. Barry Kiefer in ceremonies at St. Francis Solanus Church in Bay Shore Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Fr. Adolph Thillman officiated at the double-ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Sundberg of Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kiefer.

Approximately 100 guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed before an altar decorated with yellow mums. Church decorations were white candles and daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Juliet style gown of white crepe and satin, trimmed with Venice lace. Her Camelot style headpiece was trimmed with the same lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

Wedding music was played by organist Mrs. Mary Margaret Geiken of Charlevoix.

Mrs. John O'Dell was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a short-sleeved version of the bride's gown in pastel yellow dotted Swiss, trimmed with embroidered daisies. She wore a picture book white hat and carried a basket of white daisies.

Bridesmaid was Mrs. Charles Sullivan, who wore the same style gown in green.

William Kiefer, the bridegroom's brother, was best man and Jeffrey Kiefer, the bridegroom's nephew, was ringbearer. Edward McPeak was groomsman and ushers were James Sundberg, the bride's brother and Thomas Byrne.

A reception followed the wedding at Stafford's Bay View Inn.

Out-of-town guests attended the ceremony from Detroit, Kalamazoo, St. Ignace, Ottawa Lake, Sault Ste. Marie, Escanaba, Manistee, Elkhart, Ind., Monclova, Ohio, and Chicago.

The bridegroom teaches at Hopkins High School in Hopkins, Mich., and attends Western Michigan University as a graduate student.

The bride is a receptionist for the Stewart-Clark Co. in Kalamazoo.

The couple will make their home at 1032 Second Division, Plainwell, Mich.

Six Honored In Forensics

Six of Charlevoix's eight entries in the regional debate and forensics competition at Mt. Pleasant last week returned home with excellent ratings, their director, Mrs. Constance Ford, has announced.

One of the eight, Rindi Luedke, placed fourth and was named as an alternate in the serious interpretation division. If any of the top three winners is unable to attend the finals in Ann Arbor May 2 she will be called on to fill in.

Others who received excellent ratings and their divisions follow: David Hess, serious interpretation; Jeanne Smith, humorous reading; Lynn Fiedorek, girls extemporaneous speaking; William Moore, declamations and Sandy Gigg, girls original oratory.

Others who competed were Ronald Bindi, boys' extemporaneous speaking, and James Wilson, radio broadcasting.

Mrs. Ford said this was only the second year her students had participated in the program and that she was well pleased with their accomplishments.

Rep. Weldon O. Yeager

Yeager Seeks Hare's Post

State Rep. Weldon O. Yeager (R-Detroit) has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Secretary of State.

The only Republican representative from the city of Detroit, Yeager will attempt to unseat Democrat James Hare who has held the post for the past 16 years.

Yeager, who does not intend to run again for the House, pledges "a strong, clean, state-wide campaign to bring before the voters all of the issues so that they will have good information upon which to make their decision."

He plans to stump the state seeking support.

Charlevoix Kids Will Get Fluoride

Charlevoix topical fluoride program dates have been set for May 26 through June 3.

According to Mrs. Jeanne Miles, school nurse, about 100 youngsters will receive the fluoride treatment to help reduce tooth decay.

The clinic will be held in the basement of the library. Children will be released from school to receive treatments.

Parents who have not received application forms should send a signed permission slip to Mrs. Miles or telephone the chairman, Mrs. Jacqueline Klooster, LI 7-2070.

Children in grades two, five and eight are eligible, as are pre-schoolers aged three to five.

The treatment consists of cleaning the teeth on the first visit, followed by application of sodium fluoride on three successive visits. The treatments are effective in reducing new cavities by from 40 to 60 percent.

Dental hygienist will be Lorie Sue Robinson, a student at the University of Michigan.

The clinic is sponsored by the dental division of the state Department of Public Health.

Takes Part In Festival

FT. MYER, VA. - Spec/4 Howard E. Majors, 21, son of Rev. and Mrs. George L. Majors, formerly of Charlevoix, was featured March 30 - April 11 in "Prelude to Taps," the U.S. Army's salute to the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.

This is the 10th annual production by his unit, the 1st Battalion, 3d Infantry (The Old Guard; from nearby Ft. Myer, Va.; The U.S. Army Band, Ft. Myer, and the Military District of Washington.

Spec/4 Majors, parents moved last year from Charlevoix to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Over the Top

Final contributions to Michigan's 1969 Christmas Seal campaign, which ended on March 31, totaled $1,692,753. The campaign went over the top, reaching an increase of three percent over the 1968 campaign, which is an increase of $49,833.

Money Matters

This column attempts to answer your questions about banks, bankers and banking.

Q-Last summer I received a letter from the bank telling me that my mortgage had been sold to the National Bank of Detroit. Why did you do this? How could you without my permission?

A-To answer this question clearly, I must first of all attempt to explain how your bank works. When you deposit your pay-check, the money is placed in a common pool or fund. From this, the law requires the bank to take a certain amount out and place in liquid assets, such as Treasury Bonds and cash.

Let's say, for example, we must hold 5 percent of each dollar put in savings and from each dollar put in checking accounts we must hold out 10 percent. So, now we have to look at the type of deposit.

We know a checking account will have a large balance at payday and be depleted later in the month. We know this money is not available for long term loans.

When we look at saving accounts we see a different picture. Here we have stable long-term money, this will be available for mortgage lending. Of the total savings on deposit, we may take around 45 percent of the money and place it in long term mortgage loans. The other 50 percent must be held to cover installment and commercial loans. Only by our doing this are you assured of having money available when you come into the bank and ask to cash a check.

Now we get back to the question. When we mortgage loans totaling 40 percent to 45 percent of our total savings deposits, what can we do? There are only two roads open -one is a dead end! We stop all mortgage lending and wait for some of the loans to pay off. The other is to contact some of the large city banks that have excess funds and attempt to sell some of our loans to them. When we do this, the city bank will buy the loans and allow the original bank to collect all the payments and retain control of the loans. We, then, are paid in full for each loan thus allowing us to re-loan this same money over and over again.

Without methods such as this we would have very little growth in our community. At the present time, we have very little money for mortgage lending because we have been unable to sell our existing mortgages to downstate lenders.

In late 1968 and early 1969, there was a reallocation of funds from Michigan to other out-state lenders due to the high interest rates being paid. It was not until mid - 1969 that the State legislature removed the usuary limit on mortgage loans in Michigan but by this time it was too late. Large investors such as insurance companies had already made out-state commitments. This left Michigan with very little money for mortgage lending, and Charlevoix with even less.

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN signs proclamation declaring April 25 to May 2 "Clean Water Week" as Lions Club executives look on. From left are Hal Johnson, Cheboygan, district governor; Don Shine, Wyoming; Ed Barnes, Fenton; and Dick Fochtman, Charlevoix, all clean water chairmen; and Gerald Knape, Fenton, and Orvill Zorn, Wyoming, district governors.
